Founded in 1876 at the foot of the Flatirons, over 144 years has transformed the University of Colorado from a lone building on a bleak, windswept hill to one of the nation's leading public research institutions. Established in 1861, the University was formally founded in 1876, the year Colorado became a state.

The Boulder campus encompasses over 1,100 acres on the main campus in the heart of town, east campus (which includes a research park), south campus, Williams Village and the Mountain Research Station north of nearby Nederland (which supports ecology, chemistry and geology).

While over 35,500 students are educated on the Boulder campus, another 34,000-plus study at the University of Colorado at Denver, the University of Colorado Anschutz Campus (Aurora) and the University of Colorado at Colorado Springs. Nine elected Regents and President Mark Kennedy lead the four-campus system, while each campus has a Chancellor who serves as the chief academic and administrative officer. Dr. Phil DiStefano is in his eleventh year as the chancellor of the Boulder campus.

Students can enter any of 10 schools and colleges offering more than 3,900 courses in 150 fields, representing a full range of disciplines in the humanities, social sciences, physical and biological sciences, the fine and performing arts, and the professions. CU-Boulder is regularly ranked among the best of the United States' public universities by the Fiske Guide to Colleges, and a 2010 USA Today/Princeton Review survey rated the University of Colorado as the fifth-best value among American public colleges. CU was recently ranked as the No. 33 university in the world by the Times Higher Education.

CU-Boulder has played a major role in NASA space programs, designing and building many scientific instruments flown in outer space, and graduated 17 men and women who became astronauts, including the late Jack Swigert, one of the three astronauts in the crippled Apollo 13 mission who made it back to Earth safely from the moon. When the Hubble Space Telescope was launched in 1990, it was carrying seven major instruments, including a high-resolution spectrograph to study the evolution of stars and designed and built by an international science team led by astronomer Jack Brandt of CU-Boulder. Since Hubble has been deployed, CU-Boulder faculty and students have been among the top users of Hubble of any institution in the world. CU- Boulder is the only university in the country where undergraduate students have operated a NASA satellite.

The University has produced 20 Rhodes Scholars, five of which were former football student-athletes at CU, with Jim Hansen the most recent recipient in 1992. Faculty member Thomas Cech, a distinguished professor of chemistry and biochemistry, won the 1989 Nobel Prize in chemistry. Other notable alumni other than athletes include former United States Supreme Court Justice Byron "Whizzer" White, former big band leader Glenn Miller and actors Robert Redford and Chris Meloni, the latter starring for years on Law & Order: Special Victims Unit, the creators of South Park, Trey Parker and Matt Stone, and Philip Bailey, co-founder of the popular music group Earth, Wind & Fire.

If the aphorism, "Somewhere between the Rockies and reality," seems too good to believe, then come for a visit. Start with a walk on the historic Pearl Street Mall, a downtown pedestrian mall that is the ceremonial heart of the city. Visitors may be so taken in by the scenery they may not realize the University that put it all together. From Pearl, Broadway leads directly onto campus where the University of Colorado Museum and the CU Heritage Center, in the original Old Main building, both introduce the University's past and present. The hub of campus activity can be found at both the University Memorial Center (UMC) and the Center for Community (C4C). The ATLAS building is one of the most state-of-the-art structures on any college campus.

Take in the fresh mountain air on any part of 100 miles of trails and 30,000 acres of open space. Climb the Flatirons or in Eldorado Canyon State Park. Swim or board sail at the Boulder Reservoir while elite runners sprint around it. Take in a pro sporting event down the road in Denver, just one of 13 cities with teams in all four pro leagues.

> "The University of Colorado, and Boulder, is a town which stops where the Rocky Mountains begin. Normally in America such a superb site would be occupied by a golf course, but somebody goofed and instead they built what may be the most beautifully situated campus in the world… if anyone asks you to Boulder, I have one word of advice: 'Go.'"

PRESIDENT MARK KENNEDY

Mark Kennedy was named 23rd president of the University of Colorado on May 2, 2019, and officially started leading the CU system July 1, 2019.

Kennedy, 63, is now in his second year overseeing a university system with four campuses (Boulder, Colorado Springs, Denver and the Anschutz Medical Campus in Aurora), some 67,000 students, 35,000 employees and a $4.8 billion annual budget.

Before assuming the presidency of CU, Kennedy distinguished himself in successful roles in business, government and higher education. He came to CU from the University of North Dakota, where he served as president for three years (July 2016 through June 2019).

Kennedy firmly believes in the power of a public research university such as CU to improve lives and have a positive impact at home and around the globe. A first-generation college graduate from a family of modest means but a strong belief in education, Kennedy is a staunch advocate for increasing first-generation college graduates while providing educational opportunities for all.

His focuses at CU include fiscal sustainability, keeping a CU education affordable and accessible, elevating student success and growing CU's significant research portfolio and economic impact.

During his time at UND, Kennedy led the adoption and implementation of a strategic plan that positioned the university for success in a fast-changing higher education environment. UND increased graduation rates by 10 percentage points under his leadership, also expanded research and online offerings, underwent significant campus renewal and was listed among the 25 Most Innovative Universities by U.S. News & World Report.

Before the UND presidency, Kennedy served as director of the Graduate School of Political Management at George Washington University. He has lectured or led research projects on five continents, including at the University of Cambridge, University of Pennsylvania, Johns Hopkins University, University of Notre Dame, New York University, University of Tokyo, National University of Singapore and Tecnológico de Monterrey in Mexico.

From 2001 to 2007, Kennedy served in the U.S. House of Representatives, first for Minnesota's Second Congressional District (which includes the south Twin Cities metro area and all or parts of six counties) and then for its Sixth Congressional District (seven counties to the northwest of Minneapolis). While in Congress, he sat on the Agriculture, Financial Services and Transportation committees, where he established a reputation for bipartisanship. After leaving Congress, Kennedy was appointed to the Advisory Committee on Trade Policy and Negotiations, serving under both Presidents George Bush and Barack Obama.

Before his time in government and higher education, Kennedy had a successful career in business, including helping Pillsbury buy and expand Häagen-Dazs and serving as an executive on the leadership team of the company that is today known as Macy's. Kennedy also served as the Global Retail Business Development Lead for Accenture, a global management consulting and technology firm.

Kennedy is the founder of the Economic Club of Minnesota and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. He founded the Frontiers of Freedom Lecture Series at his alma mater, St. John's University, and authored Shapeholders: Business Success in the Age of Activism, published by Columbia University Press.

He earned a bachelor's degree in 1979 from St. John's University in Collegeville, Minn., and a master's in business administration (MBA) with distinction from the University of Michigan in 1983.

He was born April 11, 1957 in Benson, Minn., and graduated from Pequot Lakes (Minn.) High School. Kennedy and his wife, Debbie, have four adult children and six grandchildren.

CHANCELLOR PHIL DISTEFANO

Dr. Philip P. DiStefano is in his 12th year as the Chancellor at the University of Colorado Boulder. Prior to his appointment on May 5, 2009, Dr. DiStefano was the top academic officer at CU-Boulder for eight years as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs. He had also served as interim chancellor twice during pivotal times in the university's history.

Dr. DiStefano, 73, co-chaired the steering committee for CU-Boulder's visionary strategic plan, Flagship 2030, conceived with campus, community and statewide input, to guide the university for decades to come. Today, Dr. DiStefano is shepherding its implementation as Flagship 2030 has moved from vision to reality.

Dr. DiStefano has served CU-Boulder for 46 years, first coming to the University of Colorado in 1974 as an Assistant Professor of Curriculum and Instruction at the School of Education. His academic career flourished as he assumed a series of academic and administrative positions, including Professor, Associate Dean, Dean and Vice Chancellor. He was appointed Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs in 2001.

He has established new initiatives to support students in their success, including an increased graduation rate. He also has set forth plans to create alternative sources of revenue and further advance CU's reputation as a top comprehensive national research university.

Dr. DiStefano is considered a national authority on integrating intercollegiate athletics into the university academic mission. For the seventh consecutive year under Chancellor DiStefano, CU's NCAA Academic Progress Rate, which tracks student-athlete progress toward graduation, is the best in school history.

He serves on the board of directors of the Association of American Universities, an association of North America's most prestigious research universities.

Dr. DiStefano recently completed a two-plus year term on June 30, 2020 as the chairman of the Pac-12 Conference's CEO group, and also served a three-year term in (August 2016-July 2019) on the Board of Governors of the NCAA representing the Pac 12 (within that role he was a member of the NCAA's revenue distribution working group). He also served five years as the University of Colorado's faculty representative to the Big 12 Conference, as he assumed the role on June 1, 2000, and held it until appointing Dr. David Clough to the position in the spring of 2005. He has been closely involved with the athletic program for most of his time at CU, and in June 2016, was accompanied by athletic director Rick George to Italy to promote the university and the success of its international students.

As Chancellor he works closely with students, faculty, staff, alumni, donors, governing officials, and business and community leaders in extending CU's legacy as a preeminent national comprehensive research university.

A first-generation college graduate, Dr. DiStefano earned a Bachelor of Science degree from Ohio State University in 1968 and a Master of Arts degree in English Education from West Virginia University in 1971. He holds a Doctorate in Humanities Education from Ohio State University, where he served as a teaching and research associate.

Dr. DiStefano began his educational career as a high school English teacher in Ohio. He has authored and co-authored numerous books and articles on literacy education.

He was born September 21, 1946 in Steubenville, Ohio, and graduated from Steubenville Catholic Central High School. He has been married to the former Yvonne Pasquarella for 50 years, and the couple has three grown daughters, Gia, Nicole and Jennifer, and two granddaughters.

In 2015, he served as the official starter for the 37th annual Bolder Boulder, the city's 10-kilometer race that is the fourth largest in the nation. He has been very active throughout his career in the Boulder community, having previously served on numerous boards, including the Chamber of Commerce and the Rotary Club

PROVOST RUSSELL MOORE

Dr. Russell L. Moore is now in his 11th year as the Provost and Executive Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs for the University of Colorado, having assumed the position July 1, 2010.

Dr. Moore has enjoyed a long and distinguished career at CU, having previously served as interim vice chancellor for research from May 2009 to July 2010, and prior to that appointment, he was the associate vice chancellor for research since 2006.

Dr. Moore served as chair of Kinesiology and Applied Physiology (now Integrative Physiology) from 1994 to 2001, and was an assistant professor (1984-86), associate professor (1993-96) and full professor (1996-present) in that department. He is also an adjunct professor in the Department of Medicine at the University of Colorado Anschutz Medical Campus.

He co-chaired the Flagship 2030 Task Force on Research, Scholarship, and Creative Works.

He holds an adjunct professorship in medicine (cardiology) at the University of Colorado's Anschutz Medical Campus at the University of Colorado Denver.

He was an assistant and associate professor (1986-91) in the departments of medicine, cellular and molecular physiology at the Pennsylvania State University College of Medicine in Hershey, Pa. His research focused on adaptations of the heart to physiological and pathological stress, particularly as they related to the development of heart failure.

Dr. Moore earned a Bachelor of Science degree in biochemistry from the University of California at Davis in 1976, and a doctorate from Washington State University in 1982. He did postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas (1981-84).

FACULTY REP JOE JUPILLE

Dr. Joseph (Joe) Jupille, an associate professor of political science, is in his fourth year as the University of Colorado's Faculty Athletics Representative (FAR) to the Pac-12 Conference, as he assumed the position on July 1, 2017.

Dr. Jupille, 49, is only the seventh FAR in CU history, joining a very prestigious list: Walter Franklin (1947-1948), Warren Thompson (1949-1966), William Baughn (1967-1989), James Corbridge (1989-2000), current CU chancellor Phil DiStefano (2000-2005) and Dr. David Clough (2005-2017).

Now in his 15th year at CU, he joined the faculty in 2005 and became an Associate Professor in 2007. He founded and served as Director of the Colorado European Union Center of Excellence (CEUCE) from 2008-15.

Professor Jupille's research specializes in rules and institutions, which comes in handy in the world of intercollegiate athletics. With James Caporaso (University of Washington) he is completing Theories of Institutions, which distills understandings of rules across a range of disciplinary orientations. He has previously published Institutional Choice and Global Commerce (2013, with Walter Mattli and Duncan Snidal) and Procedural Politics (2004), the latter of which centers on his core substantive and teaching expertise in the European Union (EU). He has been published widely in peer reviewed journals and edited volumes, including in the Annual Review of Political Science, Comparative Political Studies, European Political Science Review, International Organization and West European Politics.

Jupille has been involved with student-athletes almost since arriving at CU over a decade ago, serving on and then chairing the Boulder Faculty Assembly's Intercollegiate Athletics Committee (IAC), which works with the Department of Athletics in managing and thriving at the nexus of athletics and academics. He has served or continues to serve on a number of student-athlete-centered bodies such as the AD's Academic Risk Assessment (ARA) committee, the Title IX Task Force chaired by Senior Woman Administrator (SWA) Ceal Barry in addition to many others.

Jupille wants it all for CU student-athletes: a gold standard education, unparalleled opportunity for personal growth and professional preparation, a chance to enjoy year-round fresh air and sunshine and develop ways of being well, and of course, a world class athletic experience. It is the FAR's job to bring a faculty sensibility to the pursuit of these goals.

He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Political Science from UC Santa Barbara in 1992, a Master of Arts in International Public Policy from the Middlebury Institute of International Studies at Monterey in 1995, and his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Washington in 2000.

Prior to joining the CU faculty in 2005, he was an Assistant Professor of Political Science at Florida International University for almost six years (2000-05).

He was born in Chicago in 1970. He is married to the former Lisa Avanzino and the couple have four children (Michael, Alex, Jackson and Julia). An avid cyclist, he commutes daily to CU by bike from the town of Superior (six miles southeast of Boulder). He grew up as a fan of the Pacific 10 Conference and in particular the California Bears but his allegiance is now sworn to the Buffaloes.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR RICK GEORGE

Rick George was named athletic director at the University of Colorado on July 17, 2013, returning to Boulder where he helped play a role in the school's first and only national championship in football some 23 years earlier.

George, 60, came to Colorado from the Texas Rangers baseball club of the American League, where he was named chief operating officer on October 5, 2010 with a promotion to president of business operations in February 2013. He agreed to a 5-year contract at CU, and he officially started on the job on August 12, 2013. In June 2016, the Board of Regents approved a contract extension through 2020-21, and in June 2019, the Regents once again extended him through the 2023-24 academic and athletic year.

He is just the sixth full-time athletic director in Colorado history, following in the footsteps of Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84), Bill Marolt (1984-96), Dick Tharp (1996-2004) and Mike Bohn (2005-13). Two others have bridged directors in interim capacities, Jack Lengyel (six months between Tharp and Bohn) and Ceal Barry (two months between Bohn and George).

His list of achievements in his first 1,000 days in the position were many, but none more significant than shepherding through a $156 million Athletic Complex Expansion from creation through fruition, gaining approval from the Board of Regents and then raising nearly one-half of the estimated cost to initiate construction, which began May 12, 2014. The project was the core of the Sustainable Excellence Initiative (SEI), the jewel of which was a long-awaited indoor practice facility. Once green-lighted, he spearheaded the most successful fundraising campaign in athletic department history, raising over $100 million for the project.

By the end of his second year, George implemented the department's first-ever comprehensive strategic plan, which mapped CU's immediate and long range purpose and goals. He also redesigned the management teams, made tough budget decisions that reduced deficits he inherited (and has since produced two budget surpluses), and canvassed the state, region and nation in both friend- and fundraising. The department is now in the second year of the second three-year plan orchestrated by George (through 2020-21).

In his fourth year in the position (2016-17), 13 of CU's 16 athletic teams were at one time or another ranked among the nation's Top 25 (including all five in the fall; skiing is a coed program with combined rankings). Included in that group was the football team, as the Buffaloes returned to the national rankings for the first time in 11 seasons. All but one team competed in the postseason, most in NCAA Championships, with football making it to a bowl game for the first time since 2007 and both basketball teams going to their respective NIT events.

In 2019, he was one of 30 named to the prestigious National Football Foundation's "Team of Excellence," highlighting those NFF board members who played football and have gone on to success in life. In the spring of 2020, on the 50th anniversary of "Earth Day," he was the recipient of the individual achievement award recognizing his leadership in the sports sustainability programs he developed in the athletic department, as well as the Pac-12 Conference (in which in 2015 he drove the creation of the league's sustainability conference).

His dedication in the area of sustainability that has attracted many purpose-driven corporate sponsors; engineered the global debut in the summer of 2019 of the novel Ball aluminum cup that eliminates the use of recyclable or compostable plastics; hosted the first Fan Engagement for Sustainability Think Camp that produced a strategy that inspires fans to be more sustainable at home, work and play; signed the first U.S. collegiate commitment to the U.N. Sports for Climate Action charter; and continued to lead the nation's first NCAA Division I greensports program, Ralphie's Green Stampede.

He has been recognized three times (2014, 2018, 2020) by CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee as its choice for Staff Member of the Year; no token award, the group acknowledged his attendance at most home athletic events, regular meetings with team captains of all programs to interact with them and receive their feedback, his willingness to meet with any student-athlete and that his door is always open to them and his overall leadership, especially through times of crises, such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

George brought the most diverse background to the position than any before him at Colorado: all five others had extensive and primarily exclusive college athletic histories, the only exceptions being when Marolt left CU after 10 years as ski coach to lead the U.S. Olympic ski team before returning, and Tharp, who was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties. While George began and worked in the college athletic world for the first half of his professional career, he stepped outside that box for the second half.

George was with the Rangers for less than three years, but saw the team win two American League championships and compile a 243-176 record (.580 winning percentage) during his time there, second-best in the major leagues during that time frame. As the COO, he worked closely with team president and CEO, baseball Hall-of-Famer Nolan Ryan, and was responsible for all facets of the Rangers' business operations, including oversight of all sales and marketing efforts, broadcast and communications, ticket and suite sales, naming rights, etc., in addition to overseeing the finance, human resource and operations departments.

Among his many accomplishments with the Rangers was a comprehensive branding study that successfully rebranded the ball club, and an implementation of a new ticketing strategy that over the course of three seasons increased ticket revenues by over $30 million. The club's attendance saw an increase of 40 percent from the 2010 season to nearly 3.5 million in 2012, second in the American League (behind the New York Yankees) and third in the majors. The 2013 numbers were on pace to exceed the 3 million mark again when he left the franchise for CU.

Prior to joining the Rangers, George served as executive vice president and chief of operations for the PGA TOUR for two-and-a-half years (beginning in June 2008). While with the TOUR, he worked with the corporate marketing department in renewing sponsorships and creating new events. He also oversaw the Tournament Business Affairs division that worked with Tournaments to increase tournament revenue.

He also worked for the PGA TOUR as president of the Champions Tour from 2003-08, and as the executive vice president for championship management his last three years there. His major accomplishments included increasing revenues and sponsorships and the development of strategic plans, the latter including a vision and mission statement as well as core values. The Champions Tour had grown to a minimum 29 events with over $55 million in prize money when he left for the PGA TOUR.

From 1998-2003, George served as President and CEO of the Fore!Kids Foundation, a 501(c)(3) organization that raised money for children's charities via golf-related events, where he led rebranding and organizational efforts that resulted in increases in charitable giving to the Foundation.

At the collegiate level, George worked in three major conferences (Big Ten, Big 8, Southeastern) in football operations, beginning with his alma mater, the University of Illinois, as football recruiting coordinator (1983-87).

He graduated from Illinois in 1982 with a Bachelor of Arts in Liberal Arts & Sciences Individual Study that had an emphasis on Sports Communication and Journalism. He was a four-year letterman at cornerback for the Illini, playing in 44 straight games and starting in 27 games in all, as he played two years each under coaches Gary Moeller and Mike White. He was a two-time recipient of the school's Bruce Capel Award, given for dedication and courage to honor Capel who lost his life serving his country in Vietnam; George received the honor for his junior and senior seasons.

Upon his graduation, White named him the assistant director for player personnel for the Illini, and a year later (1983), he assumed the all sports recruiting coordinator. In March 1984, George took over the recruiting chores solely for football, with his first class ranked No. 1 in the nation by the recruiting services with all in the top 20; he coordinated five classes in all at Illinois when the call came to take him out west to Colorado.

On March 2, 1987, Bill McCartney hired him as Colorado's football recruiting coordinator. Two-and-a-half years later (Dec. 21, 1989), George was promoted to assistant athletic director for football operations, not coincidentally after the Buffaloes finished the regular season with an 11-0 record and the school's first-ever No. 1 national ranking in the polls. CU lost to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl and would finish No. 4, but came back to go 11-1-1 in 1990, this time defeating the Irish in the Orange Bowl to earn consensus national champion honors.

Shortly thereafter, he left the Buffaloes for Vanderbilt University, where he was reunited with former CU offensive coordinator Gerry DiNardo, who was named the Commodores' head coach a year earlier. In eight years at Vanderbilt (1991-98), he also served as associate athletic director for external operations in conjunction with overseeing the football program. This was where George first expanded his professional role outside of solely football, as he had oversight over all external departments, particularly in the area of managing budgets and developing marketing and promotional strategies for all sports.

George was born April 3, 1960 in Woodstock, Ill., and graduated from Collinsville (Ill.) High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Nancy Green, and the couple has two grown daughters, Jenni Reed (husband Tom) and Christi, and two granddaughters (Harper and Maddie). In 2016, he was presented with an "Honorary C" by CU's Alumni C Club for his years of dedication to Colorado Athletics.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE WORK. George was named to the 13-member selection committee for the College Football Playoff, signing on for a three-year term that begins for the 2020 season. He also serves on the Division I Council of the NCAA, is part of the NCAA's D1 Council Transfer Working Group, and is serving on an 18-member committee – the NCAA Working Group on State and Federal Legislation – which is exploring the ability of student-athletes to profit on his or her name, image and likeness (or NIL). He served two years (Sept. 2017-Sept. 2019) as the chair of the LEAD1 Association, which represents the athletic directors, programs and student-athletes of the 130 member schools of the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS).

Conference History

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back nearly 104 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland. The original membership consisted of four schools — the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin Atherton was commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference, essentially replacing Colorado, which left for the Big 7 two years earlier. The PCC continued as a nine-team conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed commissioner of the new league. The original AAWU membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as commissioner of the Pac-8.

On July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Tom Hansen was named the commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded by current commissioner Larry Scott, who took on the new role in July 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the conference into a modern 12-team league by adding the University of Colorado and the University of Utah. The addition of CU and Utah led to an agreement to equal revenue sharing for the first time in conference history, created two divisions (North and South) for football only, established a football championship game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

After a courtship of several months, Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 10, 2010, as the Buffaloes were the first domino to fall in a change of the national landscape. Within the next week, Nebraska also left the Big 12 to join the Big 10, Boise State departed the WAC for the Mountain West, and TCU jumped from the MWC for the Big East (before eventually landing in the Big 12). A week later on June 17, Utah agreed to join CU to make it an even dozen in the Pac-12. Big-time rivals for the first half of the last century, the Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference on July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Pac-10 teams claimed 258 NCAA titles (130 women's, 128 men's).

Pac-12 Commissioner Larry Scott

At present, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 13 women's sports. Additionally, the conference schools are members of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and two women's sports. CU participates in the MPSF in indoor track and has competed since 1950 in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) in skiing, which is a coed sport.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located in the heart of San Francisco's downtown district and are headquartered in the same building as the Pac-12 Network.

Conference of Champions

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushered in a new era on July 1, 2011, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah.

Just 27 days after the Conference officially changed its name, Commissioner Larry Scott announced the creation of the Pac-12 Networks, solidifying a landmark television deal and putting the Conference on the forefront of collegiate athletics. The Networks, including one national network, six regional networks, and a robust digital network marked the first-ever integrated media company owned by a college conference. In addition, the "TV Everywhere" rights allow fans to access Pac-12 Networks outside the home on any digital device, including smartphones and tablet computers.

That same year, the Pac-12 also launched its Globalization Initiative to proactively promote the Conference and member institutions through student-athlete exchanges and sport, as in the first five years, Pac-12 student-athletes have enjoyed unique cultural and athletic experiences in several foreign nations. In the past year, the Pac-12 became the first conference to have all of its schools become members of the Green Sports Alliance.

On the field, courts and in the pools of play, the Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions®," claiming an incredible 191 NCAA team titles since 1999-2000. For the 15th consecutive year, the Pac-12 had the most NCAA titles of any conference in the country, having won at least six every year from 2000-01 through 2018-19 and three of the seven awarded before the COVID-19 pandemic ended all competition in 2019-20; those include 51 over the last five years. No other conference has ever won 10 or more in a single athletic year, looking up at the record 14 the Pac-12 won in 1996-97 and 13 in 2016-17 and 2018-19. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 31 different men's, women's and/or coed sports. The Pac-12 has led or tied the nation in NCAA Championships in 54 of the last 60 years (and was second four times and third twice), never finishing lower than third.

Spanning over a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 200, 300, 400 and now 500 championships; despite having two fewer members than three of the other four so-called "Power 5" conferences, the Pac-12 outdistances the next conference by over 200 crowns (the Big Ten is a distant second with 291). In all, Pac-12 conference teams have won 529 NCAA Championships (305 men's, 193 women's, 31 coed).

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA individual champions, as through the 2019-20 school year, 2,379 individual crowns have been won by Pac-12 student-athletes over the years (1,383 in men's championships, 808 in women's and 188 in coed, e.g. skiing).

And since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 38 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 29 occasions, with a record 10 during the 2016-17 school year followed by another nine in 2017-18.

2019-20 QUICK REVIEW

In the 2019-20 shortened academic year, the Pac-12 won three of the seven NCAA championships that were contested before the pandemic cancelled everything after March 11; the titles came in men's water polo and women's soccer and volleyball.

Stanford also posted top-four finishes in women's cross country and men's soccer, while Colorado came in third at the men's cross country national meet and USC tied for third in men's water polo. Three-quarters of the NCAA Women's College Cup hailed from the Pac-12 for the first time ever with Washington State making its first-ever appearance in the national semifinal, joining the Cardinal and UCLA. The only other sport to have its championship held in 2019-20 was women's field hockey. The first championships of the spring – skiing – were halted at the midway point with no champion crowned, though Utah was ahead at the time.

Colorado last added to its national championship count in 2018-19 with the school's third women's cross country crown, bringing the school's total to 28. Last year, the Buffaloes finished third in men's cross country and 10th in women's cross country; but the skiing, indoor and outdoor track, lacrosse, men's and women's golf and tennis championships were canceled, along with both NCAA basketball tournaments due to the COVID-19 pandemic. CU has won 20 skiing titles (11 men's, one AIAW women's and eight coed) and eight cross country (five men's, three women's); the Buffs also were the consensus national champions in football in 1990, but since it is not an NCAA-sanctioned championship, it doesn't count toward the Pac-12's total of 529.

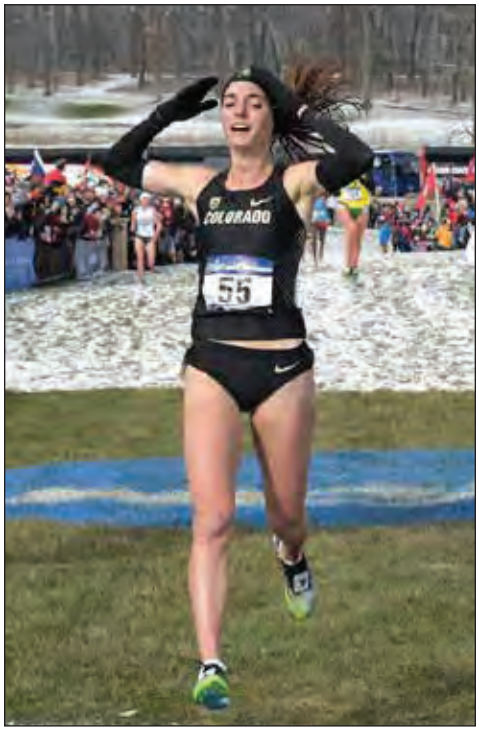

The CU women won the 2018 NCAA cross country title, their third overall.

Petra Hyncicova won both the classic and freestyle races at the 2017 NCAA's.

Erik Dengerud was the 2019 national freestyle titlist, winning his first NCAA race.

Dani Jones was a two-time NCAA champion, claiming the cross country and outdoor 5,000-meter run.

Folsom Field, named after legendary University of Colorado Coach Frederick Folsom, opened for the 1924 season and has been the football team's home field ever since. The Buffaloes have played 96 seasons on the "hilltop," and own a 318-178-10, a winning percentage of .637 in the 21st oldest stadium and one of the most scenic in college football.

In 2018, the home finale against Utah on November 17 was the 500th regular season game at Folsom.

The stadium was dedicated on October 11, 1924, as Colorado defeated Regis College, 39-0. It actually was the second home game of the season, as CU closed out playing at Gamble Field the week before with a 31-0 win over Western State.

Folsom is tied for the 21st oldest venue among the 130 NCAA Division I-A/FBS stadiums; it is the fifth oldest in the Pac-12 Conference. Through the years many improvements have been made, but the original beauty and intimate feeling has remained making it one of best venues in college football, if not all sports.

It originally was called Colorado Stadium, the name being changed to Folsom Field in 1944 following Folsom's death. In addition, old 24th Street was also changed to Folsom Street to honor the man who coached Colorado teams three different times totaling 15 years between 1895 and 1915. His 76.5 winning percentage (77-23-2) is still tops among all coaches ever at CU.

CU had played its games at Gamble Field for two decades, where seating was limited to temporary bleachers. In the winter of 1923-24, CU President George Norlin studied the possibility of a new stadium, as the approaching completion of a sparkling new gymnasium (Carlson Gym), the inadequate number of seats at Gamble Field (roughly 9,000) and the growing interest in physical education and intercollegiate athletics demanded that a remedy needed to take place soon.

The beginning of work on the stadium in January, 1924.

Investigation of a natural ravine just east of the site of the gymnasium as a site for the new stadium, suggested by professor Whitney Huntington, was not only a convenient location, but by using it a great expense could be avoided. After a financing plan was worked out, CU's own construction department began moving dirt with a steam shovel on January 14, 1924.

The new structure had an original capacity of 26,000, featuring wooden bleacher seating over cement, and quarter-mile running track. A California red wood, dipped in creosote, was selected as the initial material, as estimates at the time put a lifetime of around 13 years for the wood. There were 22 sections divided by radial aisles installed, the same set-up in the lower bowl that still exists today.

Accounts at the time put the cost of the stadium at around $2.60 per seat, instead of $10 had concrete been used; the total cost was $65,000. By comparison, the cost to construct Carlson Gym was $350,000.

With expansion in mind when originally built, it was by design rather easy to add an upper deck. In 1956, Folsom Field's capacity was upped to 45,000 when a second deck was erected around two-thirds of the stadium. Some 6,000 more seats were added in 1967 when the running track was removed and the team dressing facilities were constructed at the north end of the field.

Improvements continued, as the gigantic six-level press box facility was added on the west side for the start of the 1968 season. It also serves as the home for CU's Flatirons Club, a group of donors who financially support the athletic program.

In the summer of 1976, Folsom Field had another face-lift, as the wooden bleacher seats were removed and replaced with silver and gold aluminum bleachers, expanding the stadium to a capacity of 52,005.

The renovation of CU's team house in the summer of 1979 took away a few seats, changing the capacity to 51,463. The construction of the magnificent Dal Ward Center in 1991 added new bleacher seating in the north end zone and increased the capacity to 51,748. In 1992, the addition of a yellow concourse wall on the southeast side took away a few hundred seats, and corporate boxes (in 1995) lowered the capacity to 51,655.

The removal of a set of old rickety bleachers in 2001 and a few other changes placed the stadium capacity at 50,942, but that figure stood for just two seasons. The addition of suites and club seating on the east side (at a cost of $45.2 million) completed in August 2003 increased the capacity to 53,750, an all-time Folsom Field high.

Prior to the 1971 season, the playing surface at Folsom Field was natural grass. Monsanto of St. Louis, Mo., replaced the natural grass with Astroturf for the 1971 campaign, with the first game being played on the artificial surface against the University of Wyoming on September 18 (the Buffs won 56-13); it was a godsend, as that very morning, Boulder received a rare late summer snowstorm that blanketed the field with more than two feet of snow.

The original Astroturf surface was replaced with a "new rug" for the start of the 1978 season, and in the summer of 1989, "Astroturf-8" was installed, the third artificial surfacing in the school's history. Folsom was covered with artificial surfaces for 28 seasons (168 games), and it was fairly friendly for the Buffs, which posted a 110-56-2 record in those games.

In the spring of 1999, Folsom Field returned to natural grass, as "SportGrass" was installed on the stadium floor. The project, which included bio-thermal heating, drainage and a sub-air system, cost $1.2 million. Video display boards, known as "BuffVision" were also added in the summer of 1999 at a cost of $3.6 million; those were updated with state-of-the-art HD technology in 2012 at a cost of about $6.5 million.

In 2003, completion of a $45.2 million east side renovation added 1,903 club seats and 41 suites, increasing Folsom's capacity to its all-time high of 53,750. The state-of-the art complex remains one of the best in college football, is not nearly as high as many clubs and suites at most stadiums, and offers a great view of the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and when clear, the Continental Divide.

The capacity of Folsom was 53,613 from 2007-13, following the removal of the fourth rows from three different levels of the Flatirons Club prior to the 2007 season (seats that always had some kind of obstructed view). In 2014, the north end zone bleachers and two northeast corner sections of the stadium were completely renovated into loge and club seating, altering the capacity to its current number of 50,183.

FOLSOM CONCERT HISTORY

Folsom Field was one of the premier venues for stadium concerts at the height of their popularity in the 1970s and 1980s. In fact, the largest crowd in its history was for what was billed as the Folsom Music Festival on May 1, 1977: 61,500 people attended the rain-soaked mega concert featuring Fleetwood Mac, Bob Seger's Silver Bullet Band, Boulder's own Firefall and John Sebastian. Eventually for assorted reasons, Folsom hosted less concerts and a 15-year dormancy in shows ended in the summer of 2016 with the Dead & Company performing two concerts. It all started in 1969 with a show headlined by The Byrds and the Steve Miller Band. And a side note: at CU's 2000 graduation ceremony, with his daughter graduating, Neil Diamond sang the national anthem. Balch Fieldhouse, the CU Events Center and Macky Auditorium have also played host to other concerts on campus. Here's the list of Folsom's stadium shows:

The official groundbreaking took place on May 12, 2014, signifying the start of CU's $156 million Athletics Complex Expansion (ACE), the most aggressive construction project undertaken by the university in relation to athletics since 1924, when Folsom Field was built. The project had three distinct phases: first was to renovate seating in two areas of Folsom, the north bleachers and the northeast corner (sections 121 and 122), both replaced with high-end club seating (1,876 total). The second was a combination of renovating a good portion of the existing Dal Ward Athletic Center (built in 1991) and building a massive new structure that would be named the Champions Center. The third and final phase was a long-awaited Indoor Practice Facility (IPF) that would also include a state-of-the-art 300-meter track.

All three phases took less than two years to complete through the combined efforts of Populous (the designer) and Mortenson Construction, with an official dedication on February 26, 2016 that was hosted by CU graduate and long-time ESPN college football reporter Chris Fowler.

DAL WARD ATHLETIC CENTER

The 1990-91 athletic season was a landmark one for the University of Colorado in two areas. The year produced two national championships, CU's first in football and its 14th at the time in skiing, and the men's basketball team reached the NIT Final Four. That was also the year that the magnificent Dal Ward Athletic Center became a reality.

The entire construction process was completed in less than nine months, from ground-breaking in December 1990, to completion the following August. The $14 million building was completely funded through private donations. The multi-functional, state-of-the-art structure was one of the top facilities anywhere in college athletics upon its completion. The DWAC boasted 92,000 square feet that included academic, sports medicine and weight training centers, a full-service kitchen and daily dining area, an auditorium, men's and women's locker rooms, a player's lounge and offices for athletic administration and coaches.

Construction on the project actually began in November 1990, with the demolition of the old team house building, which had stood in the north end of Folsom Field since its erection in 1967. The foundation was dug and concrete poured over the next couple of months, with construction of the actual building starting in February 1991. The structure was available for the football team's use by mid-August, with the remainder of the building completed later that fall.

The building is named for Dallas Ward, the football coach who led CU into the Big Seven Conference in 1948. Ward was the head coach for the Buffaloes for 11 seasons (1948-1958), compiling a 63-41-6 record, which made him the third-winningest coach in CU history at the time. His teams, noted for the single wing offense, were a constant threat to Oklahoma's supremacy in the Big Seven Conference.

The tile roof, native stone walls and traditional Italinate architecture were selected to compliment the style of the Boulder campus, and it also established a new sense of entry to the campus coming from the north. The building features a dramatic two story entry and lobby space with a grand staircase. In 1999, a state-of-the-art video replay board, known as "BuffVision," replaced the original scoreboard.

"We have built something that will truly give our athletes a chance to compete with the best," then-athletic director Bill Marolt said. The building was designed by the architectural firm of Sink Combs Dethlefs of Denver, with construction performed by Gerald H. Phipps, Inc.

But over the course of time, as is often the case with many new buildings, the needs of athletics and the football program outgrew what the Dal Ward Center could provide. Sure, there were a few tweaks and minor remodeling through the years, but as part of the ACE, there was a 37,000-square foot renovation that included the addition of men's and women's Olympic sports locker rooms, expansion of the Herbst Academic Center and a new weight room. The former athletic director's offices were converted into a leadership development program suite and a Touchdown Club created overlooking Folsom Field.

CHAMPIONS CENTER

The jewel of the ACE was no doubt the construction of the state-of-the-art Champions Center, a 212,000-square foot, six-story structure erected on the northeast corner of Folsom Field. The building houses new football offices, almost all of the athletic administration and Olympic sport coaches, new areas for sports medicine, strength and conditioning and equipment, meeting rooms, a dining facility and a rooftop terrace for game days and year-round special events.

There are five hydrotherapy pools (hot, cold, treadmill and two recovery), the weight room spans 11,285 square feet and massive meeting rooms that are comfortable and not cramped. The second floor also houses a Sports Medicine and Performance Center that is open to the public and provides medical services on game day that few if any other stadiums offer in the nation, college or pro. The maintained through the years is one of the reasons the CU campus always is at or near the top of the list of the most beautiful in the nation.)

INDOOR PRACTICE FACILITY

When inclement weather hit during the fall or during spring practices, there were two choices prior to 2016: practice inside Balch Fieldhouse, or since 2006, an erected bubble-like complex that stood on the west practice field for six months out of the year. But that all changed with the third phase of the ACE, which added a 108,000-square foot, net zero energy (NZE) indoor practice facility (IPF), easily one of the best-ever constructed in college athletics.

The facility can serve all sports programs, has a 90-foot maximum clear height to aid the kicking game, and has a six-lane, 300-meter competition-venue track allows CU to host IAFF and NCAA-sanctioned indoor track events. There are 2,604 solar panels on the roof that create approximately 1,200 MWh/year of power generation. A 534-space underground parking garage below the IPF was constructed and will be a boon to the game day experience for CU fans. The final part of this phase was the re-sodding of Franklin Field, a 106,000-square-foot outdoor grass practice field adjacent to the IPF that is the outdoor practice home for the Buffaloes.

Less than one month after it opened, the Bleacher Report came out with its list of the top 15 indoor football practice facilities in the nation, and Colorado's was included among them. The only other Pac-12 school was Oregon, and most of the others were at southern schools, likely built to deal with oppressive heat, hurricanes and tornadoes.

rooftop terrace offers stunning panoramic views of Boulder's signature Flatirons as well as all the way out to the peaks of the Continental Divide.

"Our vision of sustainable excellence is about transforming opportunity," said athletic director Rick George, who spearheaded the project from the very start of his tenure (construction started none months to the day of his first on the job). "In achieving this vision, each student-athlete that takes the field in black and gold will do so bolstered with the knowledge that we've provided them with every resource necessary to be successful – both in competition and in life beyond graduation."

The Mortenson design/build team completed the fast-paced project without significant disruption to daily campus activity. The facility was also designed with bricks, mortar and masonry work in the familiar CU style of architecture – Tuscan vernacular. That style was adopted for the campus nearly 100 years ago, to be reminiscent of the hill towns around Florence and Siena, Italy. (The consistency

The University of Colorado has one of the more unique mascots in all of intercollegiate athletics, a real buffalo named Ralphie. The tradition celebrated its 50th anniversary during the 2017 season.

The live buffalo leads the football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, especially for opposing teams, who often stop in their tracks watching the massive buffalo round the end zone and head directly at their sideline.

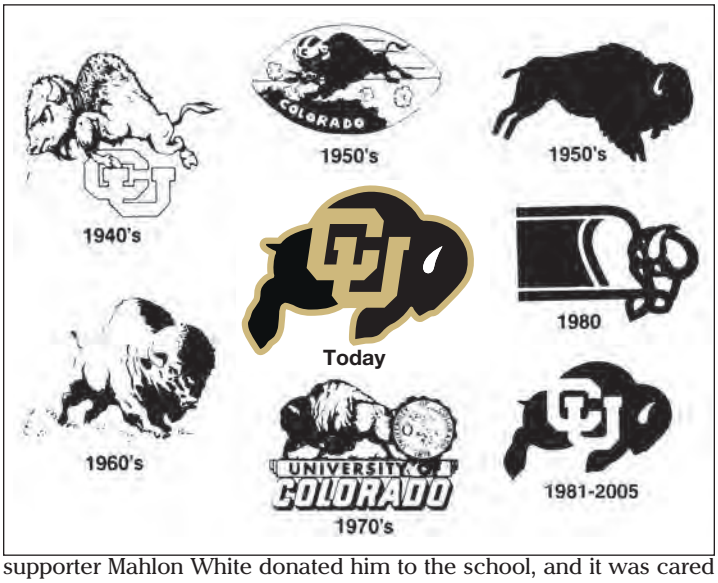

The buffalo first appeared in 1934, three weeks after a contest to select an official school nickname by the Silver & Gold newspaper had come to an end and "Buffaloes" was the winning entry. For the final game of the '34 season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines, a 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. The student newspaper decided to sponsor a national contest in the summer of 1934, with a $5 prize to go to the author of the winning selection. Entries, over 1,000 in all, arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy of the Silver and Gold were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of the original winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Buffs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

Live buffaloes made appearances at CU games on and off through the years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage; in the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary.

A few years passed between a live mascot on the sideline and the tradition Colorado fans have come to know so well. In 1966, John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf from Sedgewick, Colo., and first appeared on Oct. 1, 1966 when the Buffs defeated Kansas State, 10-0.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name is in some doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would pick her up from caretaker C.D. "Buddy" Hays, who kept her at the Green Mountain Riding Stables during the season at Hidden Valley Ranch in the off season. The officers would run her for two hours in the morning to tire her a bit to keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on Sept. 16, 1967, and was celebrated with a 27-7 win over Baylor and the tradition was here to stay. The five sophomores appointed themselves as the board of directors of a fundraising effort to bring Ralphie to the '67 Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, raising the necessary money through selling stock. (Eventually, those who had training in working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores.)

Ralphie attended every CU home football game for 13 years (including all bowls), and retired at the end of the 1978 season. CU's first Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

In 1976, The Bank of Boulder and its president Steve Bosley, proposed to Crowder they would do a fundraiser to send Ralphie I to the Orange Bowl Game with Ohio State.

When a reporter asked Bosley how Ralphie would travel to Miami, he explained that the information was top secret since CU was concerned that Ohio State students would try to kidnap (or "buffalo-nap") Ralphie. The story of the potential "buffalo-napping" made newspapers nationwide, featuring a picture of Ralphie in full charge with her handlers. The story stimulated over $25,000 in donations. Ralphie's trip to the Orange Bowl cost $2,500, and the balance was put into a fund for Ralphie's future care.

In 1978, when the original Ralphie became ill, Bosley organized a search for a new buffalo headed by Buddy Hays. Hays discovered a calf named Moon, short for Moonshine, which was owned by Gregg Mackenzie. Bosley, The Bank of Boulder, and bank director Robert Confer bought Moonshine from Mackenzie for $1,000 and donated her to the university. Since "Ralphie" had become the well-known and popular name of the buffalo, then-athletic director Eddie Crowder made it permanent.

Ralphie II made her first appearance at CU's final home game of the 1978 season. At age 12, after serving the Buffs for 10 years, she passed away on Sept. 19, 1987, following a 31-17 CU win over Stanford.

Ralphie III, donated by the C-Club, was pressed into action earlier than anticipated, as she had been in training for the 1988 season. Originally named "Tequila," she made her debut on Nov. 7, 1987, when the Buffs beat Missouri, 27-10. After over 10 years of service, she passed away in January 1998, at the age of 13.

Ralphie IV was donated to the university by media and sports entrepreneur Ted Turner in 1998. Born in April 1997 on the Flying D Ranch in Gallatin Gateway, Montana, which is a part of Turner Ranches, she was named "Rowdy" by ranch hands. She was separated from her mother when she was about a month old and was literally found in the jaws of a coyote with bite marks around her neck. She survived the attack and was bottle-fed by the hands for four months. She was released back to the herd but wouldn't bond with them, so the ranch hands took her back in and fed her grasses and grain. It was then that she was donated to CU as a yearling early in the spring of 1998.

John Parker, who trained and housed both Ralphie II and III and supervised the early training of Ralphie IV, retired after 12 years of service as caretaker in May 2000. His assistant, Ted Davis, assumed the program duties for the next year, while long-time CU supporters Dale and Lynn Johnson housed Ralphie for the following season.

Ralphies IV and V together in November 2007

In 2001, two former Ralphie Handlers and CU graduates, Ben Frei and Kevin Priola, took over as volunteer directors of the program. Together they coordinated the selection and managing of up to 15 student handlers along with all aspects of training. The overall program was managed from 1994-2013 by Gail Pederson, the CU Athletic Department's Chief of Staff.

Ralphie IV made her debut against Colorado State at Mile High Stadium in Denver on September 5, 1998. She appeared at six bowl games and four Big 12 Championship games. In November 2007, "Ralphie's Salute To A New Era" was held, where Ralphie IV was semi-retired and a 14-month old Ralphie V was officially introduced to the public. Ralphie IV's last game was the 2008 season opener, as she led CU on to the field one last time, again versus CSU in Denver. She died on March 19, 2017, due to liver failure just one month shy of turning 20.

Ralphie V, known as "Blackout," (she was the darkest calf in the herd), also from a Ted Turner Ranch, Ver-mejo Park in New Mexico, was donated to the university in January 2007 as a 325-pound, four-month old calf. She made her debut on April 19, 2008 at CU's annual spring game (which drew a record 17,800 spectators) and her regular season debut five months later on Sept. 6 at Folsom Field. She served the school well for 12 years and retired at the end of the 2019 season.

At press time, who will be Ralphie VI is not known; but with no mascots allowed for the 2020 season due to the coronavirus pandemic, when one is anointed, she will make her expected debut in 2021.

All of the previous Ralphies, when they reached full maturity, weigh in at approximately 1,200 pounds and can reach speeds up to 25 miles per hour (which they can attain during runs on Folsom Field).

The Ralphie Live Mascot Program as it is formally known is currently under the direction of first-year program manager Taylor Stratton, who previously had served as assistant coach for four years and was a handler herself when she was a CU student.

RALPHIE STATS: The five Ralphies have led the Buffaloes on to the field for 352 games (not including spring games): 296 home games, 24 bowl games, 19 Rocky Mountain Showdowns in Denver, nine regular season road games and four Big 12 Championship games.

NOTE: In 2016, President Barack Obama signed into law a bill that declared the bison as the official "National Mammal of the United States."

Karl Dorrell was named the 27th full-time head football coach at the University of Colorado on February 23, 2020, very much a "homecoming" for him as he twice served as an assistant coach for the Buffaloes in the 1990s.

Dorrell, 56, returned to CU from the National Football League's Miami Dolphins, where he coached the receivers for the 2019 season; two days prior to accepting the Colorado position, he had been promoted to Miami's assistant head coach. He replaced Mel Tucker, who coached the Buffs for one season before accepting the head coach position at Michigan State 12 days before Dorrell was hired.

He replaced Mel Tucker, who resigned 12 days earlier when he accepted an offer to become the new head coach at Michigan State after coaching the Buffaloes for just one season. Dorrell came back to Colorado from the National Football League's Miami Dolphins, where he was the receivers coach for the 2019 season; he had just been promoted to assistant head coach by Dolphins head coach Brian Flores two days before accepting the CU job.

Dorrell was coaching his second time as a member of the Dolphins staff, as he returned as the team's wide receivers coach on February 8, 2019. He previously served as the receivers coach from 2008-10 and was the quarterbacks coach in 2011, all four years under the late head coach at the time, Tony Sparano (who passed away in July 2018).

Bill McCartney hired him at Colorado as his receivers coach on February 20, 1992, Dorrell's first full-time job on the Division I-A (now FBS) level. In his first year on the staff, two of his players, Charles Johnson and Michael Westbrook, became just the fourth pair of receivers on the same team at the time to each have over 1,000 receiving yards in NCAA history; the first two do so at Colorado, Johnson caught 57 passes for 1,149 yards and five touchdowns, while Westbrook pulled in 76 receptions for 1,060 yards and eight scores. Westbrook earned first-team All-America honors for that season, becoming just the third Buffalo wide receiver to do so, joining Cliff Branch (1971) and Dave Logan (1975). Johnson added another 1,000-yard season in 1993, again hauling in 57 balls for 1,082 yards and nine TDs, earning second-team All-American accolades, with Westbrook repeating as a first-team his senior year in 1994.

The Buffs were 17-5-2 those two seasons, which included a win over Fresno State in the '93 Aloha Bowl.

After leaving for the 1994 season to coach the receivers and serve as the passing game coordinator at Arizona State under coach Bruce Snyder, he would return to Boulder in 1995 as a member of Rick Neuheisel's staff, reuniting with his quarterback from their playing days at UCLA. Neuheisel, on the legendary McCartney's final staff in '94, replaced him as CU's head coach and brought back Dorrell to be CU's offensive coordinator and receivers coach on January 12, 1995. He would add coaching the quarterbacks to his duties in 1998, the last season on the CU staff. CU's offense under Dorrell's direction proved electric, as the '95 Buffaloes were eighth in the nation in scoring (36.9 points per game), sixth in total offense (486.6 yards per game, still the second most in a single season at Colorado) and eighth in passing offense (297.2 yards per game). CU was 33-14 in his second go-round on the staff, which included three bowl wins, two over Oregon in the 1996 Cotton and 1998 Aloha and over Washington in the 1996 Holiday.

It's actually his fourth time he'll be establishing roots in the state of Colorado. In addition to his two previous stints as an assistant coach for the Buffaloes, he was the receivers coach for the Denver Broncos for three years (2000-2002) under Mike Shanahan. Rod Smith's first two career Pro Bowl selections coincided with Dorrell's first two years with the team, and Smith surpassed the 1,000-yard receiving mark all three years under Dorrell's tutelage. In Dorrell's first season with the team in 2000, Smith and Ed McCaffrey combined for 201 receptions for 2,919 yards and 17 touchdowns.

He originally came to Colorado from Northern Arizona University, where he was the offensive coordinator and receivers coach in 1990 and 1991; in his last year there, NAU set school records for first downs (255) and total offense (4,539 yards). That followed his first full-time job as receivers coach at the University of Central Florida in 1989, that on the heels of his first taste in coaching as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, UCLA in 1988.

The Dolphins finished with a 5-11 record in 2019 after starting 0-7, showing dramatic improvement over the second half of the season. Miami averaged 276 passing yards per game during that stretch, with the season ending with a dramatic 27-24 win at New England which cost the Patriots a first round bye. Under Dorrell's tutoring, DeVante Parker led the team in receiving with 72 catches for 1,202 yards and nine touchdowns, with 48 for 859 yards and six scores the final nine games of the year.

Prior to his second stint with Miami, Dorrell spent four seasons (2015-18) with the New York Jets as their wide receivers coach. During that span, the Jets had five different players record at least 50 receptions in an individual season while often enduring coaching a unit ravaged with injuries. Two of his receivers were former Denver Broncos in Brandon Marshall (who he previously coached at Miami) and Eric Decker. In Dorrell's first season with the Jets in 2015, he helped Marshall set franchise records for receptions (109), receiving yards (1,502) and receiving touchdowns (14). All three marks ranked in the top five in the NFL that season, while Decker caught 80 passes for 1,027 yards and 12 touchdowns. The pair combined for the most receptions (189) and receiving touchdowns (26) by any wide receiver duo in team history, while setting an NFL record by scoring touchdowns in the same game on nine occasions.

He had returned to the NFL after one season (2014) at Vanderbilt University, where he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach under first-year head coach Derek Mason.

He was the quarterbacks coach for the Houston Texans in 2012 and 2013, where he worked with Matt Schaub and Case Keenum. Schaub passed for 4,008 yards and 22 touchdowns in 2012, leading the Texans to a 12-4 record, the AFC South Division title and a wild card playoff victory over Cincinnati before falling to New England in the divisional round.

After five years as head coach of UCLA, Dorrell went back to the NFL, where he served as Miami's wide receivers coach (2008-10) and then its quarterbacks coach (2011). In his last year there, the Dolphins lost quarterback Chad Henne to a season-ending injury in the fourth game; Dorrell helped Matt Moore step in and pass for 2,497 yards and 16 touchdowns, with an 87.1 quarterback rating for his 12 starts. In 2010, Dorrell tutored Marshall and Davone Bess to form one of the top pass-catching combinations in the NFL, as the two would combine for 165 receptions for 1,834 yards and eight touchdowns (the receptions were the most by a Dolphins duo in team history). In his first season in 2008, Miami won 10 games more than the previous season, posting an 11-5 mark and winning the AFC East, as three of Dorrell's receivers – Bess, Ted Ginn Jr. and Greg Camarillo – all had over 50 receptions and 500 yards (165 catches for 1,957 yards and 10 touchdowns combined).

In 2003, Dorrell was named head coach at his alma mater, UCLA. During his time heading up the Bruins' program, the school posted a 35-27 record (24-18 in Pacific 10 Conference games) and earned a bowl berth all five seasons. His first team finished 6-7 and his second 6-6, with both suffering defeats in their bowl games. In his third season in 2005, UCLA went 10-2, recorded a victory over Northwestern in the Sun Bowl and finished with a No. 13 national ranking in the USA Today Coaches poll (No. 16 by the Associated Press). For the team's performance that year, Dorrell was named the Pac-10 Conference co-Coach of the Year. In 2006, his Bruins upset cross-town rival and second-ranked USC, 13-9, knocking the Trojans out of a second straight BCS Championship game. That team finished the year with a 7-6 mark, and his final squad there was 6-6 before he was dismissed as head coach prior to the Bruins' Las Vegas bowl date against BYU.

Dorrell's first game as a college head coach was actually in Boulder, as UCLA opened the 2003 season in week two after CU defeated CSU opening week. The Buffs rallied late to spoil his debut, with Joel Klatt (now of FOX Sports) throwing a 6-yard touchdown pass to Joe Klopfenstein with 2:15 to play to give CU a 16-14 victory.

He twice worked with the Denver Broncos' staff during training camp in both 1993 and 1999 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program, first under Wade Phillips and then under Shanahan, who would give him his first full-time position in the professional ranks the following spring.

Dorrell is not the first to be hired as the head coach at Colorado who previously was an assistant coach at the school; in fact, he is the fifth. He joins an impressive list of those who spent time in Boulder as an assistant before being named head coach: Frank Potts (assistant for the 1927-39, 1941-43 and 1946-47 seasons), Rick Neuheisel (1994), Gary Barnett (1984-91) and Jon Embree (1993-2002). Dorrell joined the Buffs the season after Barnett was named head coach at Northwestern, and Neuheisel actually had replaced Dorrell on the Colorado staff under Bill McCartney.

Dorrell in the 1984 Rose Bowl.

He also becomes the third CU coach to take over the program after signing day: Chuck Fairbanks arrived in Boulder on April 4, 1979 after a lengthy court battle with the New England Patriots to release him from their contract, and McCartney was hired on June 9, 1982 after Fairbanks left to coach New Jersey in the fledgling United States Football League (USFL).

As a student-athlete at UCLA, he lettered four times at wide receiver under coach Terry Donahue from 1982-86. He caught 108 passes for 1,517 yards and nine touchdowns, and at the time of his graduation, he was second in receptions and fourth in receiving yards on the Bruins' all-time charts. He played on five UCLA bowl champion teams, the 1983 Rose (def. Michigan), 1984 Rose (def. Illinois), 1985 Fiesta (def. Miami-Fla. the year he redshirted), 1986 Rose (def. Iowa) and the 1986 Freedom (def. BYU); in three of those games, he combined to have 14 receptions for 203 yards and three touchdowns. During his career, the Bruins had a record of 43-13-4 and won three Pac-10 titles.

He graduated from UCLA in 1986 with a degree in Psychology while earning a minor in Business Administration. He signed as a free agent with the Dallas Cowboys and played half of the 1987 season before he was placed on injured reserve.

Dorrell was born on December 18, 1963 in Alameda, Calif., and graduated from Helix Charter High School in La Mesa, Calif. (a San Diego suburb), where in football he was a two-time all-league performer and an honorable mention All-American as a senior and also lettered in basketball, baseball and track. He is married to the former Kim Westley, and the couple has two grown children, son Chandler, who was a receiver at both Stanford and Vanderbilt and is CU's assistant director of player personnel, and daughter Lauren, who lettered three times on CU's volleyball team from 2016-18.

AT-A-GLANCE—As a full-time coach, he has coached in 428 career games: in Division I-A (FBS) 168 games, with his teams owning a record of 98-68-2 which includes eight bowl games (1993 Fiesta, 1993 Aloha, 1996 Cotton, 1999 Holiday, 2003 Silicon Valley, 2004 Las Vegas, 2005 Sun, 2006 Emerald). In his two previous stints at Colorado, the Buffaloes were 50-19-2. He coached in 22 games in Division I-AA (now FCS), 10 games in Division II, and in the National Football League, he coached in 224 regular season games (80 with Miami, 64 with the New York Jets, 48 with Denver and 32 with Houston) as well as in four NFL playoff games (2 with Houston, 1 each with Denver and Miami).

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING ABOUT KARL DORRELL

BRIAN FLORES — Miami Dolphins Head Coach (2019-present)

"The University of Colorado hit a home run hiring Karl as their head coach. I'm excited for him to have this opportunity. He is a great teacher and excellent leader. He is a coach I would want my kids to play for."

BILL McCARTNEY — University of Colorado Head Football Coach (1982-94)

"Awesome, that's fabulous. Karl Dorrell is the real deal. He's genuine, he's authentic and extremely talented. I'm a Buff to the core, through and through, and this really excites me. This is a big, big deal and I am thrilled and overjoyed. Why? Because you have to get the right people in leadership, everything comes down to leadership. And with CU getting a man like Karl to lead the program, that's a feather in Rick George's cap. When Rick came on board for us (as recruiting coordinator in 1987), he improved our recruiting, and 30 years later, he's still getting it done."

ED McCAFFREY — Denver Bronco Receiver (1995-2003)

"Coach Dorrell is a true pro with a wealth of football coaching experience. I enjoyed my time with him as my position coach with the Broncos. His strong communication and intelligent leadership helped us achieve great success as a unit. His return to CU is a good hire for the program and will bring steady hand."

RON MERKERSON — Colorado Outside Linebacker (1994-97)

"Excellent hire of Karl Dorrell at my alma mater, the University of Colorado! Karl recruited me out of high school and brought me to Boulder. He's a perfect fit and will do great things. He's also a true Buff! Congrats to Coach Dorrell, his wonderful family and the University of Colorado. Welcome home and go Buffs!"

MIKE MOSCHETTI — Colorado Quarterback (1998-99)

"Karl is a smart, hard-nosed football coach who isn't flashy. When he says something, you will trust it, you will run through a wall for him. He has incredible experience, and he knows the challenges and in is previous stops coaching at Colorado in the 1990s, he has recruited to the academic challenges that coaches face with the high standards academic-wise at the University of Colorado. I was at the game in 2006 when his UCLA team beat No. 2 ranked USC and Pete Carroll that kept them out of the BCS title game. I can't wait to see what he does with the Buffs – we have been to just one bowl game in the last 12 or so years, and he led UCLA to five straight bowl games. He knows the tradition, and I know he's grateful for the opportunity to be a head coach again."

RICK NEUHEISEL — University of Colorado Head Football Coach (1995-98)

(Rick and Karl were also teammates at UCLA.) "I'm very happy for Karl. Colorado definitely hit a home run. Karl's very knowledgeable, very passionate, and I know he loved his time in Boulder. His strong point is organization and leadership. He's always been an offensive guy, and by spending a lot of time in the NFL, he's learned even more. This is making me a bit nostalgic about the fun we had coaching together with the Buffs and when we played together at UCLA – he was my go-to guy (Neuheisel was a quarterback at UCLA, Dorrell his top receiver).

ROD SMITH — Denver Bronco Receiver (1995-2007)

"I want to say congratulations to Coach Karl Dorrell and the CU Buffaloes. I had personal experience with him, he took my game to a whole new level. I was doing really well, but when I got with him, in three years (under him) I had over 300-plus catches, pro bowls and all that stuff. He's a technician, he knows what he's doing, he's been around and he's studied with some of the best. I can tell you right now, this team, this program is about to take off. Coach Dorrell, I appreciate you and thank you for everything you've done for me and I'm looking forward to the CU Buffaloes go to a whole new level."

KORDELL STEWART — Colorado Quarterback (1991-94)

"Karl was and is a smart coach, understands all aspects of the game of football. When he was at Colorado when I was there, he had what I would call 'young energy,' to where I think Michael (Westbrook), CJ (Charles Johnson), Phil Savoy and the other receivers really respected him. He made them understand the game through the eyes of a quarterback, which isn't always easy to do. I'm excited about this opportunity for him. With his combination of head coaching experience at UCLA and his time as a position coach in the NFL, he brings a tremendous amount of credibility to the table. I would hope that the players on the team now and the incoming recruits will appreciate that – he's got the background that should earn him an enormous amount of respect. He understands how CU operates, understands the community, knows the lay of the land. It was important for Rick (George) to hire someone who understands the Colorado way and our tradition. Karl fits that mold of what CU is trying to do and will pick up the pieces that were broken with the last coach and put them back together. In time, he will make this thing really work."

MICHAEL WESTBROOK — Colorado All-American Receiver (1991-94)

"I'm glad to hear that someone with Karl's character will be CU's new coach. I loved Karl. He was a huge disciplinarian, but in both a good and tough way. It was definitely brought to your attention if you weren't doing what you're supposed to do. You come to realize that he'll be tough when he has to be, which is what young kids need, and in the end, that makes you a better player and a better person. He was very much like Bill McCartney in that manner, that was Karl's thing as well, they are cut from that same cloth. I know him, trust him, the program is in good hands and I'll enjoy coming back to watch the Buffaloes play under Karl."

DARRIN CHIAVERINI

Offensive Coordinator / Wide Receivers

Darrin Chiaverini is entering his fifth year on the Colorado staff, returning to his alma mater on January 1, 2016 from Texas Tech University, where he had spent the previous two seasons on the Red Raiders' staff.

Chiaverini, 43, was retained by new head coach Karl Dorrell after he assumed the duties on February 23, 2020; he promoted Chiaverini to offensive coordinator in addition to coaching the wide receivers, which he has done since he joined the staff. He was also one of three coaches retained from 2018 by then head coach Mel Tucker; who added the responsibilities of assistant head coach to his duties of coaching the receivers. After Tucker left CU for Michigan State, Chiaverini was appointed interim head coach on February 12, 2020 and served in that role until Dorrell was hired.

He continues to be nationally recognized as a top recruiter; Rivals.com has now named him one of the top 25 recruiters in the country for the last three recruiting classes (2018, 2019 and 2020).

Chiaverini served as co-offensive coordinator, receivers coach and recruiting coordinator for his three seasons (2016-18) under previous head coach Mike MacIntyre. He had returned to his alma mater where he lettered four times as a wide receiver under head coach Rick Neuheisel from 1995-98. He accepted his new roles on December 15, 2015, but remained with Tech for its bowl game.

In 2016, his first season on the CU staff, he helped guide the Buffalo offense to one of its best years overall in recent memory. Colorado averaged 446.3 yards per game, its best figure in 20 seasons, with the school's fourth-best conversion rate in the red zone in school history dating back to 1957 at 89.5 percent (51-of-57, with 37 touchdowns). His receiving corps hauled in 199 catches for 2,724 yards (13.7 per) with 19 touchdowns that season, and over the course of his three years, have 653 receptions for 8,208 yards and 49 scores.

In his third year co-coordinating the offense in 2018, the Buffaloes had a surprising historical first, as CU boasted in the same season for the first time a 1,000-yard rusher (1,009 by Travon McMillian) and receiver (1,011 by Laviska Shenault, though he missed three-plus games with a foot injury and still earned first-team All-Pac 12 Conference honors from the league coaches as he led the nation in receptions per game). And for second straight year, quarterback Steven Montez just missed becoming the second player at Colorado to throw for 3,000 yards in a season (2,975 in 2017; 2,849 in 2018).

Tony Brown joined Shenault as two of the top receivers in the nation for the 2019 season, each catching 56 passes for nearly 1,500 yards combined. Both players were invited to the NFL Combine.

Chiaverini spent the 2014-15 seasons as the Red Raiders' special teams coordinator and outside receivers coach. At Tech, he recruited the Dallas, Houston and the Southern California areas, and one of his players, Jakeem Grant, earned second-team All-America honors at kick returner for the 2015 season.

One of Neuheisel's first commitments as head coach in Colorado's 1995 recruiting class, Chiaverini earned four letters from 1995-98 and served as one of the team captains his senior season. He caught 97 passes for 1,199 yards and six touchdowns, averaging 12.4 yards per reception in his career, exiting at the time as CU's seventh all-time receiver (he remains in the top 15 in both catches and yards). He led the team as a senior with 52 catches for 630 yards and five scores.

He was a member of three CU bowl champion teams (Cotton, Holiday and Aloha), making an additional 10 catches for 190 yards and two touchdowns, one a 72-yard bomb from his best friend, quarterback Mike Moschetti against Oregon in the '98 Aloha Bowl.

He was a fifth-round selection by the Cleveland Browns in the 1999 National Football League Draft, and went on to set the club's rookie receiving record with 44 catches for 487 yards and four touchdowns. He spent four years in the NFL, also playing for Dallas and Atlanta; he would conclude his NFL career with 62 catches for 662 yards and seven scores. He then finished his professional playing days with the Austin Wranglers in the Arena Football League.

Chiaverini then turned his attention to coaching, tutoring the receivers at Mt. San Antonio College in 2007 and was promoted to co-offensive coordinator in 2008. In 2009, he rejoined his college coach, Neuheisel, as the assistant special teams coach at UCLA. He helped pilot one of the top units in the Pac-10 and the Bruins captured the Eagle Bank Bowl with a 30-21 win over Temple.

He returned to the junior college ranks for the next four seasons (2010-13) at Riverside (Calif.) City College, where he was the associated head coach, co-offensive and special teams coordinator in addition to being in charge of recruiting. Riverside was 40-5 in the four years there and produced 15 Division I players, three of whom would head to his next stop, Texas Tech.

His special teams units at Riverside from 2010-13 were some of the best in all of the junior college ranks with an impressive 22 blocked kicks in four seasons. Chiaverini coached the top punt returner in the state of California in 2011 and 2012, while Riverside's offense led California in scoring in 2011 and in total offense in 2013.

He was one of 30 coaches across the country selected to participate in the 2015 NFL and NCAA Coaches Academy. Initiated in 2011, it is a collaborative effort between NCAA Leadership Development and NFL Player Engagement to positively influence diversity numbers in the college game and as a way for talented young football coaches to get exposure.

Chiaverini earned his bachelor's degree in Communications from CU in 1999, and earned his master's degree in Human Performance and Sports Sciences from New Mexico Highlands University in 2007.

He was born on October 12, 1977 in Orange, Calif., and graduated from Corona (Calif.) High School where he was a USA Today honorable mention All-American in football and an All-County performer in baseball. He is married to the former Shannon Burchfield, and the couple has two children, Curtis (19), a sophomore wide receiver for the Buffaloes, and Kaylie (16).

AT-A-GLANCE—He has coached in 88 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, and has coached in three bowl games (2009 Eagle Bank, 2015 Texas, 2016 Alamo).

TYSON SUMMERS

Defensive Coordinator / Inside Linebackers

Tyson Summers is in his second year on the Colorado staff as the defensive coordinator, as he joined the Buffalo staff under then-head coach Mel Tucker on Dec. 11, 2018. He was one of four coaches retained by new head coach Karl Dorrell and will remain coordinating the defense in addition to coaching the inside linebackers. He coached the safeties for the 2019 season.

He came to Colorado from the University of Georgia, where he spent a year-and-a-half as a defensive analyst for quality control. While in Athens, the Bulldogs won two Southeastern Conference East Division titles, the 2017 SEC championship and the College Football Playoff semifinal to earn the opportunity to play for the national championship.

Summers, 40, returned to the Centennial State where he spent the 2015 season in Fort Collins at Colorado State, also as the Rams defensive coordinator and safeties coach under its first-year coach and former Bulldog, Mike Bobo. The CSU defense made remarkable strides defensively that season under his tutelage, improving 30 spots or more in several categories from the previous year, including 85th to 55th in total defense, 32nd to ninth in passing defense and 114th to 21st in tackles for loss.

He had three players he coached selected in the 2020 NFL Draft: CU safety Davion Taylor (Philadelphia, third round); and Georgia Southern cornerback Kindle Vildor (Chicago, fifth round) and placekicker Tyler Bass (Miami, sixth round). And a fourth, Georgia safety J.R. Reed, signed as a free agent with Jacksonville.

He left CSU after just that one season to become the head coach at Georgia Southern, a program entering its third year in the Football Bowl Subdivision and the Sun Belt Conference. Summers would spend almost two years in the role, guiding GSU to five victories, but oversee the program show significant improvement in the classroom with a program-high NCAA APR score. Seven of his players in his first season earned All-Sun Belt honors, and placekicker Younghoe Koo was a finalist for the Lou Groza Award (now with the Atlanta Falcons). He also showed his prowess on the recruiting trail as the Eagles boasted one of highest-ranked classes in the Sun Belt as ranked by 247Sports.

Prior to be hired at Colorado State, Summers spent three years on the Central Florida staff under coach legendary coach George O'Leary, with the Knights posting a 31-9 record during his time there. He coached the UCF linebackers his first two seasons (2012-13), and for the Fiesta Bowl and the spring of 2014 he was made the interim defensive coordinator; he would be named to the full-time role ahead of the season. In his first year coordinating a defense, Summers saw his Knights emerge as the top defense in the American Athletic Conference and one that ranked in the top 10 among FBS schools in total defense (fifth, 298.5 yards per game), rushing defense (sixth, 104.3), scoring defense (ninth, 19.2) and red zone defense (sixth, 71.4 percent); in addition, UCF was 11th in pass efficiency defense (107.8 rating).

That season, UCF opened the season with a 26-24 loss to Penn State … in Dublin, Ireland … and rebounded from an 0-2 start to finish 9-4. The Knights would hold nine opponents under 200 passing yards and six under 100 yards rushing, as well as under 300 yards total offense on six occasions (twice under 200). Three of his players earned first-team All-AAC honors, including cornerback Jacoby Glenn, the conference's co-defensive player of the year and first AP All-American (second-team) since it joined the AAC in 1996. One of his linebackers, Terrance Plummer, earned back-to-back All-AAC honors; safety Clayton Geathers was a fourth-round pick by Indianapolis in the 2015 NFL Draft, and another defensive back, Brandon Alexander is playing for Winnipeg in the Canadian Football League.

He moved to UCF from the University of Alabama-Birmingham, where he worked for five seasons (2007-11). He coached the linebackers his first four years there, switching over to tutor the safeties in his final year there, when he also took on additional duties as the co-special teams coordinator.

In 2006, he had his first stint at Georgia Southern, coaching the safeties. That had followed two years as a graduate assistant, in 2004 at Troy University and in 2005 at the University of Georgia, where he was a member of the Bulldog staff that won the Southeastern Conference championship.

Summers lettered four years (1998-2001) at linebacker at Presbyterian College, where he earned All-South Atlantic Conference honors as a sophomore and was a team captain as a senior. He graduated with a bachelor's degree in Political Science in 2002; after coaching the defensive backs at his high school alma mater that fall, his first full-time position was at Presbyterian in 2003, also working with the secondary.

He was born April 11, 1980 in Tifton, Ga., and graduated from Tift County High School where he lettered in football and baseball. His father (Andy) was a running back at the University of Florida in the early 1970s. He is married to the former Beth King, and the couple has three sons, Jake (10), Walker (8) and Anderson (5).

AT-A-GLANCE— He has coached and/or worked as a quality control specialist in 158 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-timer, including three bowl games (2012 Beef O'Brady's, 2014 Fiesta, 2014 St. Petersburg, 2017 Rose/CFP Semifinal, 2017 CFP Championship; he also worked three Southeastern Conference championship games and two additional bowls as a grad assistant: 2004 Silicon Valley, 2006 Sugar).

DANNY LANGSDORF

Passing Game Coordinator / Quarterbacks

Danny Langsdorf was named the passing game coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Colorado on March 4, 2020, as he joined the Buffalo staff after brief stop at UNLV, where he was in the same roles for a little less than two months. He spent the 2019 season in similar roles for Fresno State after serving as an offensive analyst in 2018 at the University of Oregon.

Langsdorf, 48, brings 23 years of experience on the collegiate and professional levels with him to Colorado, all on the offensive side of the ball augmented by some extensive special teams coaching. He has 14 years of Power 5 Conference experience, including 12 as an offensive coordinator.

Prior to his one year at Oregon, he was Mike Riley's offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for nine seasons at Oregon State (2005-13) and then for three more at Nebraska (2015-17). The Beavers earned six bowl berths (four wins) and the Cornhuskers two in his time with Riley, of which he coached both school's all-time leading quarterbacks, Sean Mannion (OSU) and Tommy Armstrong, Jr. (NU).

Langsdorf oversaw a Nebraska offense in 2015 that was one of the most prolifically balanced in team history, which is saying something. For only the third time ever, the Huskers had over 3,000 passing yards and over 2,000 rushing yards (3,470 and 2,340, respectively, for 5,810 yards total). Nebraska finished in the top three in the Big Ten in passing, scoring, total offense and third-down efficiency. The 2016 Huskers posted a 9-4 record and earned a Music City Bowl berth opposite Tennessee. The offense was among the nation's leaders in fewest turnovers committed (14, its fewest since 1992), quarterback sacks allowed (15) and in time of possession (32:30). Five Husker offensive players earned All-Big Ten honors in 2016, including quarterback Armstrong, who became NU's career leader in passing and total offense.

His first stint with Riley covered the Beavers' time from being a longstanding Pac-10 Conference member into the expanded Pac-12, when Colorado and Utah joined the league in 2011. Langsdorf's Oregon State offenses were regularly among the most productive in conference, with nine of OSU's top 13 single season total offensive yardage outputs coming under Langsdorf's coaching. He coached three of the top six all-time leading passers in OSU history (Mannion, Sean Canfield and Matt Moore), along with his schemes producing two of the top three rushers and the top three receivers, including Brandin Cooks, the 2013 Biletnikoff Award recipient.

He had many good offensive units at Oregon State, but the 2013 Beaver offense was his best. It racked up a school record 6,071 yards (467.0 per game, third in the Pac-12) while leading the league in passing (372.6 yards per). Cooks set Pac-12 records with 128 receptions for 1,730 yards, while Mannion finished his career as the conference's all-time leading passer (13,600 yards). His 2009 offense also led the Pac-10 in passing, pass efficiency and first downs.

In-between in 2014, he was the quarterbacks coach for the New York Giants, where he worked with Eli Manning, the two-time Super Bowl champion who enjoyed one of his best seasons under Langsdorf's tutelage. Manning threw for 4,410 yards, the second-most in franchise history, and 30 touchdowns that year, completing then a career-best 63.1 percent of his passes (which he has topped just once since).

Langsdorf began his collegiate coaching career as the quarterbacks coach at California Lutheran in 1996, after serving as a player/coach earlier that year in Germany for the Deggendorf Blackhawks. He then moved to Oregon State, serving two years as a graduate assistant coaching the tight ends in 1997-98, the first time he was hired by Riley. He got his first taste of coaching in the professional ranks for Edmonton in the Canadian Football League, where for the 1999-2001 seasons he was the Eskimos' offensive coordinator and the quarterbacks and receivers coach. His teams averaged 26.3 points per game, including a 56-26 win at Winnipeg in 1999, still to date the most points Edmonton has scored in a road game.

He then returned to the states joining the New Orleans Saints for three years (2002-04) as an assistant coach, handling offense quality control duties along with assisting with the receivers and special teams. After his stint in New Orleans he began what would be a 13-year association with Mike Riley.

He played quarterback at Boise State (1991-93) and Linfield (Ore.) College (1994-95). He was a two-year starter and an All-Northwest Conference performer as a junior at Linfield playing for his father (Ed), and earned his bachelor's degree in Exercise Science from there, graduating in 1995. In 17 games, he threw for 2,724 yards, completing 195-of-356 passes with 28 touchdowns and just 10 interceptions. He also rushed for 107 yards and three touchdowns, as Linfield was 14-5 during his time there winning back-to-back Mt. Hood League titles.

Langsdorf was born June 28, 1972 in Fargo, N.D., but grew up in McMinnville, Ore., and graduated from McMinnville High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His hobbies include water and snow skiing. He is married to the former Michele Bertrand (a Lindfield graduate and letterwinner in softball who still holds several school pitching records); the couple has two sons, Dawsen (9) and Carter (7).

In May 2007, Langsdorf underwent surgery to donate a kidney to Laurie Cavanaugh, the wife of Oregon State offensive line coach Mike Cavanaugh, who coached with Langsdorf at the time; she is also the daughter of Kevin Gilbride, the longtime NFL assistant coach (and one-time head coach of the San Diego Chargers).

AT-A-GLANCE—He has coached in 285 games as a full-time coach, including 164 Division I-A (FBS; 114 at Oregon State, 38 at Nebraska, 12 at Fresno State), and has coached in eight bowl games (2006 Sun, 2007 Emerald, 2008 Sun, 2009 Las Vegas, 2012 Alamo, 2013 Hawai'i, 2015 Foster Farms, 2016 Music City). He coached in 64 NFL games (48 New Orleans, 16 N.Y. Giants) and in 57 CFL games (54 regular season, 3 playoff).

TAYLOR EMBREE

Tight Ends

Taylor Embree was named tight ends coach at Colorado on March 1, 2020, joining the inaugural staff hired by the school's new head coach, Karl Dorrell.

Embree, 32, spent the four years prior to coming to CU in the National Football League. He began his professional coaching career with the Kansas City Chiefs in 2016 as a defensive assistant, and was an offensive quality control coach for three years (2017-19) under Kyle Shanahan for the San Francisco 49ers, the '19 NFC champions (who ironically lost the Super Bowl to the Chiefs). At the 49ers, he also worked with the tight ends and receivers, including All-Pro and 1,000-yard tight end George Kittle.

At Kansas City under head coach Andy Reid, he worked with the Chiefs defense that led the NFL with 104 passes defensed and tied for the most interceptions (18). The team won its first AFC West Division title in six years and posted its best record (12-4) in 13 years.

His first taste of the coaching profession came as a graduate assistant working with the offense at Nevada-Las Vegas under coach Bobby Hauck in 2012; he was well connected to Hauck who coached at Colorado with his father under Rick Neuheisel from 1995-98. He would then return to his alma mater for two-plus years as a grad assistant under Jim Mora, Jr., working with the defense in 2013 and the offense in 2014. The Bruins went 10-3 in 2013 and were the Sun Bowl champions with a 42-12 win over Virginia Tech and repeated that record the following year and won a wild Alamo Bowl over Kansas State, 40-35.

A 2012 graduate of UCLA, he played in 50 games (starting 32) for the Bruins from 2008-11; he set a UCLA record for the most receptions by a true freshman and led the team in receiving as a sophomore and junior. He made 137 career receptions for 1,776 yards with four touchdowns, averaging 13.0 yards per catch; he is still 11th on the Bruins all-time receptions list (eighth at the time of his graduation). He signed as a free agent with the San Diego Chargers and participated in their training camp in the summer of 2013 and started his coaching endeavors with UCLA as a graduate assistant for the offense in 2014 and 2015.

He was born October 3, 1988 in Denver, and graduated from Blue Valley West High School (Overland Park, Kan.), where he was an All-District performer in both football and basketball. His hobbies including golf and skiing when he can, movies, watching the NBA, spending time with his family and enjoying Colorado's mountains. He is the oldest son of Jon Embree, who lettered four years at tight end for the Buffs (1983-86), was a CU assistant coach for 10 years (1993-2002) and head coach for the 2011 and 2012 seasons. The elder Embree is the assistant head coach and tight ends coach for the 49ers; his younger brother, Connor, is a defensive assistant with the Kansas City Chiefs (former Buff Eric Bieniemy, Kansas City's offensive coordinator, dubbed Super bowl LIV the "Embree Bowl" with family members on the staff of both teams). He is married to the former Kristina Madsen and the couple have two children, son Grayson (2) and daughter Peri (born this past January).

His hiring is also believed to be historic: he is the first son of a former Buffalo player to join the full-time CU coaching staff, and just the second whose father also coached at Colorado (joining Greg Brown for the latter; his father Irv coached both football and baseball at Colorado).

AT-A-GLANCE— He will be coaching in his first college games this fall as a full-time coach. He coached in 68 NFL games (San Francisco 51, including three playoff and Super Bowl LIV, Kansas City 17, including one postseason).

DARIAN HAGAN

Running Backs

Darian Hagan, one of the names synonymous with Colorado's rise to glory in the late 1980s, is in his 16th season overall on the CU football staff, now in the fifth season of his second stint as the school's running back coach, a position he held for five years last decade. He experienced his 250th game as a Buffalo against UCLA in 2018, when counting his time on the staff and as the director of the Alumni C Club.

Hagan, 50, spent the first three seasons on Mike MacIntyre's staff as the director of player development for the Buffaloes (2013-15), as he shifted into that role from one as the director of player personnel (2011-12) under head coach Jon Embree. He worked five seasons (2006-10) as running backs coach for head coach Dan Hawkins, as he was one of two assistant coaches retained by Hawkins when he was named to the position in December 2005. He was retained as running backs coach by both Mel Tucker for 2019 and now by Karl Dorrell ahead of the 2020 season.

He was named an offensive assistant coach on Gary Barnett's staff on February 9, 2005, and worked with the skill position players on offense in the spring and fall in his first year as a full-time collegiate assistant.

A popular coach with his players yet with a stern touch, he was coaching true freshman Rodney Stewart on the way to a 1,000-yard season in 2008 until a season-ending injury at Texas A&M sidelined him in the ninth game of the year. Stewart's 622 yards were the third most by a CU freshman in school history. In 2010, Stewart hit the plateau and then some, rushing for 1,318 yards and in position to threaten many of the school's all-time rushing marks. In 2007, Hagan tutored Hugh Charles to a 1,000-yard year including the Independence Bowl; he went on to have a successful career in the Canadian Football League.

He coached his third thousand-yard rusher for the Buffaloes in 2016, when Phillip Lindsay recorded 1,189 yards in the regular season, the first to reach the mark since Stewart did so six years earlier. When Lindsay rushed for 1,474 yards in 2017, he became the first player in CU history to run for 1,000 or more yards in consecutive seasons.

Hagan made a difference in his first season (2006) mentoring the running backs, as CU had three 500-plus yard rushers for just the 10th time in its history. He also played a role in the development of quarterback Bernard Jackson, as Hagan's own skills of blending the run and the pass rubbed off on the Buff junior in his first year as a starter.

He had a brief taste of coaching in the spring of 2004 as he subbed as secondary coach when the staff was minus a full-time assistant. Otherwise, he was the defensive technical intern for the '04 season, assuming that role in February of that year. It marked the third time he has made the University of Colorado his destination of choice.

He starred at quarterback for the Buffaloes between 1988 and 1991, leading the school to its first national championship, and following his professional playing career, returned to CU in the mid-1990s to work as the Alumni C Club Director.

Hagan left CU in the spring of 1998 to work as an area sales manager for the Transit Marketing Group. Three months into his new position, he was promoted to Southeast Regional Sales Manager. He remained in that position for over five years until deciding to pursue his dream as a coach and return to his alma mater for the third time. By working as a technical intern, he learned the intricacies of the profession in a hands-on role in his desire to coach; when a temporary vacancy opened on the staff, he was "activated" as a coach to work with the defensive backs and it added to his penchant for the profession.

Arguably the best all-around athlete in the history of the CU football program, he was an integral part of CU's run at two national championships in 1989 and 1990. The Buffs were 11-1 in 1989, losing to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, but went 11-1-1 in 1990 with a win over the Irish in an Orange Bowl rematch to give CU its first national title in football. CU was 28-5-2 with him as the starting quarterback for three seasons, including a 20-0-1 mark in Big Eight Conference games as he led the Buffs to three straight league titles in 1989, 1990 and 1991. His 28-5-2 record as a starter (82.9 winning percentage) is the 37th best in college football history.

In 1989, he became just the sixth player in NCAA history at the time to run and pass for over 1,000 yards in the same season, and finishing as just a sophomore, fifth in the balloting for the Heisman Trophy. He established the school record for total offense with 5,808 yards (broken three years later by Kordell Stewart), and is one of two players ever at CU to amass over 2,000 yards both rushing and passing along with Bobby Anderson. He was a two-time all-Big Eight performer, and the league's offensive player of the year for 1989 when he also was afforded various All-America honors. He still holds several CU records and was the school's male athlete-of-the-year for the 1991-92 academic year.

In 2002, he was a member of the fourth class to be inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame, and his jersey (No. 3) is one of several to have been honored. The Colorado Sports Hall of Fame finally recognized his achievements as well, inducting him into its prestigious group in the Class of 2014.

Hagan played for Toronto, Las Vegas and Edmonton over the course of five seasons in the Canadian Football League, mostly as a defensive back and special teams performer. He returned to CU to earn his diploma just prior to his last professional season, and graduated with a bachelor's degree in sociology in May 1996. He was hired later that year (December 1) as the Alumni C Club Director, a position he held for 16 months until leaving for an incredible opportunity in private business.

In the summer of 2015, he served as an assistant under former CU head coach Dan Hawkins for the champion Team USA in the Federation of American Football (IFAF) World Championship in Canton, Ohio.

He was born February 1, 1970 in Lynwood, Calif., and graduated from Los Angeles' Locke High School in 1988, where he lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track. He was drafted in two sports, football (by San Francisco in the fourth round in the 1992 NFL Draft) and baseball (selected as a shortstop by both Seattle and Toronto). He is married to the former Donnah Phipps, and is the father of three sons, Darian, Jr., who played defensive back at California, the late DeVaughn (who passed away on December 4, 2010 at the age of 19) and DeMari Lamon (born last Sept. 19), along with one daughter, Danielle.

AT-A-GLANCE—He has coached in 124 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach, and has coached in three bowl games (2005 Champs Sports, 2007 Independence, 2016 Alamo).

DEMETRICE MARTIN

Cornerbacks

Demetrice Martin was named the cornerbacks coach on March 1, 2020, as he joined Karl Dorrell's inaugural CU coaching staff from the University of Arizona.

Colorado is his latest stop in a coaching career that has been spent almost entirely in the Pacific 10 and Pac-12 conferences. In addition to having a wealth of experience in developing defensive backs, he has also been long-regarded as one of the top recruiters on the west coast.

Martin, 47, coached the cornerbacks for the Wildcats the for the 2018-19 seasons under head coach Kevin Sumlin, which followed six years on the UCLA staff (2012-17) tutoring the defensive backs for Jim Mora, Jr. At UCLA, he earned the title of assistant head coach in 2014, ahead of his third year on the staff. Bruin defensive backs earned a host of honors during his time there, with several of those secondary units having outstanding seasons.

After inheriting a veteran group in his first year at UCLA, led by future Indianapolis Colt Sheldon Price, he had to oversee a rebuild in 2013 with three new starters. By the next season (2014), four of his defensive backs were honored with All-Pac-12 accolades: Ishmael Adams (first-team), Anthony Jefferson and Fabian Moreau (second-team) and Jaleel Wadood (honorable mention). The unit ranked third in the Pac-12 conference in pass defense, as Jefferson, who signed with the Chicago Bears, and Moreau led the team with eight passes defensed.

In 2015, the Bruins secondary led the Pac-12 in pass defense, allowing the fewest average yards per game (203.2), the lowest average yards per pass attempt (5.78; which was also the eighth-best figure in the NCAA) and in pass defense efficiency (113.4; 27th nationally). Three players received all-conference recognition: Wadood and Randall Goforth (second-team) and Marcus Rios (honorable mention). His 2016 group may have been his best, as UCLA was seventh in the nation in pass defense efficiency (105.8), seventh in passing touchdowns allowed (12) and 22nd in the nation in interceptions (15); those marks were second, first and third, respectively, in the Pac-12. The 5.73 yards per pass attempt allowed was the fifth-lowest figure in the country. Goforth, Moreau and Wadood each again earned honorable mention all-conference recognition.

His time at UCLA followed three years (2009-11) coaching the secondary for Washington after it named Steve Sarkisian as its new head coach. The Huskies defeated Nebraska in the 2010 Alamo Bowl, 19-7, in one of the lowest scoring bowl games that season; UW limited Nebraska to just 189 yards of offense, 98 through the air, as Washington showed off what was ranked as the second-best pass defense in the Pac-10. Fast-forward to 2011, the Huskies were involved in one of the wildest bowl games of all time – and to date the highest scoring in regulation – when Baylor rallied late for a 67-56 win over UW in the Alamo Bowl.

And prior to that in 2008, he returned to Mt. San Antonio (Mt. SAC) College for a second time as its pass defense coordinator and defensive backs coach under longtime coach Bob Jastrab. Mt. SAC won the Mission Conference with a 9-1 record as opponents completed just 49 percent of their passes in averaging a paltry 5.7 yards per attempt. In 2006 and 2007, he received his first taste of big-time college football, hired by head coach Pete Carroll as a defensive graduate assistant at Southern California. Martin worked with the Trojan secondary; USC shared the Pacific 10 titles both years in compiling a 22-4 record and defeating Michigan and Illinois in back-to-back Rose bowls.

He began his coaching career at Monrovia (Calif.) High School, where he was the defensive coordinator and secondary coach for the 1999 and 2000 seasons; he moved on to his high school alma mater, Pasadena's John Muir, coaching there in 2001, also coaching the secondary at Pasadena City College for the 2001 and 2002 seasons. The Lancers went 18-4 those two years, won the Mission Conference title both seasons and appeared in two bowl games. He remained in the junior college ranks the next three years (2003-05), actually staying in the same division in the Mission Conference, serving in his first stint as the pass defense coordinator and secondary coach at Mt. SAC. Martin was on the staff of legendary coach Bill Fisk for his final two seasons as head coach (and Jastrab's first), with Mt. SAC posting a 23-9 record during those three seasons, with the Mounties playing in the National Bowl in both 2003 and 2004.

Martin played collegiately at Michigan State, lettering four years as a wide receiver and cornerback (1992-95). He earned first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1994 when he led the conference with seven interceptions. He had 10 career interceptions and was a member of two Spartan bowl teams (1993 Liberty and 1995 Independence). He played professionally as a cornerback for the Scottish Claymores in NFL Europe (1997) and for the Houston Thunderbears (1998-99) in the Arena Football League. He signed as a free agent with the St. Louis Rams in the NFL and spent time on the practice squad.

Martin earned his bachelor's degree in Liberal Arts from Excelsior (N.Y.) College in 2006.

He was born February 28, 1973 in Pasadena, Calif., and graduated from Pasadena's Muir High School, where he lettered in football, baseball and track. Hobbies include taking long walks and "watching my kids grow." He is married to the former Tiffany Martin, and the couple has two sons, Cole (16) and Cassius (3) and daughters, Kori (13) and Quincee (9). Nickname is "Coach Meat" (first name is pronounced dee-meat-riss).

AT-A-GLANCE—He has coached in 204 games as a full-time coach, 140 on the FBS/I-A level (all in the Pac-10/12: 78 at UCLA, 38 at Washington and 24 at Arizona) and 64 on the junior college level. He has coached in seven bowl games (2010 Holiday, 2011 Alamo, 2012 Holiday, 2013 Sun, 2014 Alamo, 2015 Foster Farms, 2017 Cactus).

BRETT MAXIE

Safeties

Brett Maxie joined the Colorado staff as the safeties coach on March 5, 2020, as he completed Karl Dorrell's inaugural coaching staff, coming to CU from the IMG Academy in Bradenton, Fla.

Maxie, 58, is a veteran secondary coach of 21 combined seasons between the professional and collegiate ranks, which followed 13-year career as a defensive back in the National Football League. He had spent the 2019 season as the defensive coordinator at the IMG Academy, a preparatory boarding school and sports training destination founded in 2002.

In 1998, after he retired from playing, the NFL's Carolina Panthers gave him his start in coaching, as he was the team's quality control coach along with working with the defensive backs. He moved on to the San Francisco 49ers for five seasons (1999-2003), the first three seasons as the assistant secondary coach and the last two years (2002-03) as the secondary coach. During the three-year period from 2001-03, Maxie's secondary totaled 66 interceptions – the third highest number in the NFL in that time frame. Atlanta then hired him as its defensive backs coach for three seasons (2004-06).

Maxie moved on to the Miami Dolphins for the 2007 season as their secondary coach, with Dallas his next stop, as he was the Cowboys defensive backfield tutor for four years (2008-11). He then served in a similar capacity for the Tennessee Titans for the 2012 and 2013 seasons, remaining in Nashville for the following two years, coaching Vanderbilt's entire secondary in 2014 and specifically the cornerbacks in 2015. He returned to the NFL in 2016 as the secondary coach for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he would tutor the defensive backs for three seasons (2016-18). After landing at Tampa Bay (NFC South), he became one the few coaches in NFL history to coach at all four teams in the same division.

He coached several players who earned Pro Bowl selections, including two-time pick DeAngelo Hall (Atlanta, 2005 & 2006), Mike Jenkins (Dallas, 2009), Terence Newman (Dallas, 2009), Alterraun Verner (Tennessee, 2013) and Brent Grimes (Tampa Bay, 2016). While with the Dallas Cowboys, he had the honor of serving as the defensive coordinator in the 2010 East-West Shrine Game.

A 1985 graduate of Texas Southern University, where he earned a degree in Biology and was an active member of the Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity Inc., he signed with the New Orleans Saints as an undrafted free agent and went on to play with the team for nine seasons (1985-93). He played four more seasons in the NFL, with Atlanta (1994), Carolina (1995-96) and San Francisco (1997). In 153 NFL games that included 104 starts, Maxie had 588 tackles with six fumble recoveries along with 23 interceptions he returned for 300 yards and three touchdowns while playing primarily at strong safety throughout his career.

In 1987, he was credited with a key fourth down tackle against the Pittsburgh Steelers that enabled the Saints to clinch their first winning season in the 20-year history of the franchise. As a member of the Carolina Panthers in 1995, the team's first year of existence, he was the recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award and recorded the first interception in franchise history, which came in the season opener against Atlanta (Carolina opened 0-5 but would finish 7-9, the best record of an expansion team in its first season of competition). During his career, he also served as a player representative and executive board member under NFLPA Executive Director Gene Upshaw.

He was born January 13, 1962 in Dallas, Texas, and graduated from its James Madison High School where he lettered in football and baseball. His hobbies include fishing, golfing and reading (favorite books include Malcolm X and Mark Batterson's Chase the Lion. He is married to the former Angela Mayon (also a Texas Southern University graduate), and the couple has four grown children (all attended college at four different universities): Brett, Jr. (Kent State), Adam (Kent State & Coastal Carolina), Maya (UT-Chattanooga) and Olivia (South Florida); Brett Jr. played football at Kent State and has been in the scouting department for the Dallas Cowboys for over five years (Midwest college area scout), while Adam played football at both Kent State and Coastal Carolina and is in his second year as pro scouting assistant with the Las Vegas Raiders.

AT-A-GLANCE— He has coached in 335 games as a full-time coach, 24 Division I-A (FBS) games (all with Vanderbilt) and 311 in the National Football League (San Francisco 83, including three postseason; Dallas 66, two postseason; Atlanta 50, two postseason; Tampa Bay 48, Tennessee 32, Carolina 16, Miami 16).

BRIAN MICHALOWSKI

Outside Linebackers

Brian Michalowski is in his second year as outside linebackers coach at Colorado, as he was promoted into the position in mid-February 2019 after he originally joined the staff as the director of quality control for the defense on January 7 of that year. He was one of four assistant coaches retained by new head Karl Dorrell ahead of the 2020 season.

Michalowski, 31, came to Boulder after spending one season in a similar capacity at the University of Georgia, where he worked alongside former CU head coach Mel Tucker and CU defensive coordinator, Tyson Summers. At UGA, he worked with outside linebackers and helped the Bulldogs post an 11-3 record, claim the Southeastern Conference East Division title and earn an invitation to the AllState Sugar Bowl. Georgia was ranked No. 8 in the final polls and was 13th in the nation in total defense.

In his first year at Colorado, he coached the outside linebacker position, which included the star (OLB/safety hybrid), where Davion Taylor emerged at the latter as a potential high NFL draft pick as he finished second on the team in tackles.

He was a graduate assistant for the defense at the University of Memphis for two years (2016-17), where he coached the "Kat" outside linebacker position. During those two seasons, Memphis won 18 games and ranked in the top 10 nationally in defensive takeaways each year.

Prior to his time at Memphis, Michalowski spent the 2015 season as the defensive coordinator for Garden City Community College, a member of the Kansas Jayhawk Conference, one of the nation's premier junior college conferences. That season, he coached Jeremy Faulk, the NJCAA Defensive Player of the Year. Garden City led the league in passing defense, holding opponents to 169 yards per game while making 14 interceptions; the Broncbusters also recorded 31 sacks in 11 games.

In 2014, Michalowski spent the season overseas coaching in the 16-team German Football League (GFL) as the defensive coordinator for the Cologne Falcons. He assisted in the club's dramatic six-game improvement from a 2-12 record the to an 8-6 mark, the latter including the team's first-ever playoff victory before falling in the semifinals to the eventual league champion. Cologne improved in every defensive statistical category from the previous year, ranking third in the GFL in pass defense and turnover margin, fourth in interceptions, and sixth in total defense and scoring defense.

Michalowski was a defensive graduate assistant at University of Wyoming under head coach Dave Christensen, coaching the Cowboys' "Buck" outside linebacker position and also had coaching responsibilities in all phases of special teams.

From 2007 to 2012, Michalowski climbed up the coaching ladder at his alma mater, Arizona State University. In 2012, he was a defensive graduate assistant for a Sun Devil team that had an 8-4 record and finished the season with a victory over Navy in the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl. He worked with the defensive line and held responsibilities coaching on special teams as the Sun Devil defense was second in the Pac-12 in total defense (first in pass defense) and second in the nation in both quarterback sacks and in tackles for loss.

He had spent the 2011 season as a defensive quality control assistant for head coach Dennis Erickson. In that role, Michalowski assisted with defensive backs and special teams, including a kickoff return unit that finished 10th in the nation and had six returns for touchdowns over the course of two seasons. He was a student assistant at ASU for four seasons, initially working with recruiting and special teams, and eventually began working on the defensive side of the football in 2009, assisting with the secondary for the next two seasons. During this time, he also completed a training camp internship with the Buffalo Bills in the summer of 2010, where he had responsibilities with pro personnel and camp operations.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Marketing with a minor in Psychology in 2011 from Arizona State University.

He was born June 10, 1989 in Morristown, N.J., and graduated from Notre Dame Prep (Scottsdale, Ariz.), where he lettered in football; that's where he got his first taste of the coaching profession in the fall of 2007. His hobbies include hiking, skiing and golf. He is married to the former Kristin Ruffin. (last name is pronounced michael-ow-ski).

AT-A-GLANCE— He has coached in 12 Division I-A (FBS) games as a full-time coach.

MITCH RODRIGUE

Offensive Line

Mitch Rodrigue joined Colorado as offensive line coach on March 4, 2020, as he joined Karl Dorrell's inaugural staff after coaching two years in the high school ranks in Alabama. He brings 27 years of full-time experience in the collegiate ranks, he m majority working with offensive linemen, with him to the Buffalo staff.

Rodrigue, 55, coached two years at Spanish Fort High School after a seven-year stint at the University of Louisiana (Lafayette), where served as the Ragin' Cajuns run game coordinator and offensive line coach. In his tenure in Lafayette, Rodrigue was credited with developing an offensive line that ranked among the most efficient groups in the country. In 2014, he had brothers Daniel and Mykhael Quave named to the preseason watch list for Lombardi Award – the first and only set of brothers named to a national watch list at any position.

UL was 51-38 in his seven seasons there under head coach Mark Hudspeth, were co-Sun Belt Champions in 2013 and earning five bowl berths, all in the New Orleans Bowl where the Cajuns recorded a 4-1 record. He recruited Robert Hunt from Burkeville, Texas to UL; Rodrigue was his first college coach and Hunt was considered by him and many others to be the top guard in the 2020 NFL Draft – and was (39th pick overall by Miami). At UL, he also coached guard Kevin Dotson, a first-team All-American in 2019 and who was selected by Pittsburgh in the fourth round.

Prior to his seven-year run at UL, he was on the South Alabama staff for three seasons (2008-10), the school's first foray into football. The first year he was heavily involved in the set-up of the program ahead of its inaugural season of competition in 2009; on the field, he was the Jaguars tackles and tight end coach. That position played a significant role in helping the offense average 439 yards and just under 46 points per game. Playing an assortment of opponents from the FCS, Division II and select others, USA was 17-0 over the 2009 and 2010 seasons as it prepared to enter FCS play in 2012.

Several of his players matriculated into the NFL, including Chris Clark (Houston, the most recent of six teams), Jeremy Parquet (Pittsburgh), Ryan McKee (Kansas City), Chris White (Seattle) and Daniel Quave (Dallas). Parquet earned a Super Bowl ring with the Steelers in Super Bowl XLIII, while Clark played in Super Bowl XLVIII as a member of the Denver Broncos.

COACHING EXPERIENCE

1987-88	Nicholls State	Student Assistant (Offensive Line)
1989-90	Southern Mississippi	Graduate Assistant (Offensive Line)
1991-92	Pearl River (Miss.) CC	Offensive Line
1993-98	Nicholls State	Offensive Coordinator / Offensive Line & Tight Ends
1999	Southern Mississippi	Running Backs
2000-02	Southern Mississippi	Tight Ends
2003-07	Southern Mississippi	Offensive Line
2008-10	South Alabama	Tackles & Tight Ends
2011-17	Louisiana-Lafayette	Run Game Coordinator / Offensive Line
2018-19	Spanish Fort (Ala.) HS	Co-Offensive Coordinator / Offensive Line
2020-	Colorado	Offensive Line

His first full-time coaching position was as an assistant coach at Pearl River (Miss.) Community College (1991-92). From there, he returned to his alma mater, Nicholls State, serving as tight ends and offensive line coach as well as offensive coordinator for six seasons (1993-98). The Colonels were 0-11 in 1995, but came back with an 8-4 record the following year, one of the most improved teams in the nation and qualified for the Division I-AA (now FCS) playoffs. That same year, his offensive line blocked for Nakia Lumar, the first 1,000-yard rusher in school history. He also served at various times as Nicholls' recruiting coordinator and was NSU's interim head coach.

He then was a mainstay at Southern Mississippi, where he spent nine seasons (1999-2007), first coaching the running back for one year, followed by the tight ends (2000-02) and the offensive line (2003-07). A valuable member of the staff in many areas, in 2006, he was named one of Rivals.com Top 10 recruiters from a non-BCS conference. Working under head coach Jeff Bower, Southern Miss recorded several victories over teams now referred to as members of the Power 5, including Alabama, Illinois, Louisville, Nebraska, N.C. State, Oklahoma State (twice) and TCU.

The Golden Eagles won the 1999 and 2003 Conference USA titles, went to bowl games in eight of his nine seasons there, winning five including the '99 Liberty Bowl over Colorado State (when he was and the 2000 Mobile Alabama Bowl over TCU. Southern Miss was 69-43 during his time there, with winning records all nine years; the '99 team finished 9-3 and was ranked No. 14 in the final Associated Press poll, the highest to date in school history.

Rodrigue was an offensive lineman in college at Copiah-Lincoln (Miss.) Junior College for one year and at Nicholls State for three years, where he helped the Colonels win the 1984 Gulf Star Conference title along with advancing to the second round of the 1986 NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. He began his coaching career at Nicholls as a student assistant for the 1987-88 seasons before coaching two years (1989-90) as a graduate assistant at Southern Miss under head coach Curley Hallman. The Golden Eagles beat Alabama, Auburn and Florida State when he was on the USM staff his first time.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Health & Physical Education from Nicholls State in 1988, also earning a minor in Social Studies; he received his master's in Educational Administration and Supervision from Southern Mississippi in 1990.

Rodrigue was born January 2, 1965 in Thibodaux, La., and graduated from Thibodaux High School where he lettered in football and track (discus). His hobbies include spending time with family and friends, cooking, playing golf and the outdoors. He is married to the former Sherri Marcet, who hails from Mobile, Ala., and he is the father of three grown children, daughters Maci and Mallori and son Madden. (Last name is pronounced row-dreeg, but everyone calls him Coach Rod.)

AT-A-GLANCE— He has coached in 285 college games as a full-time coach (201 Division I-A/FBS, 67 I-AA/FCS and 17 assorted). He has coached in 14 bowl games (1990 All-American, 1999 Liberty, 2000 Mobile Alabama, 2002 Houston, 2003 Liberty, 2004 New Orleans, 2005 New Orleans, 2006 GMAC, 2007 PapaJohns.com, 2011 New Orleans, 2012 New Orleans, 2013 New Orleans, 2014 New Orleans, 2016 New Orleans)

CHRIS WILSON

Defensive Line

Chris Wilson joined the Colorado staff for the second time on February 29, 2020 as defensive line coach, joining head coach Karl Dorrell in a homecoming of sorts back to Boulder, where he coached the defensive line under Gary Barnett for five seasons from 2000-04.

Wilson spent the 2019 season as a defensive assistant with the National Football League's Arizona Cardinals, and from 2016-18, he was the defensive line coach for Philadelphia under head coach Doug Pederson, where in 2017, the Eagles won the NFC East with a 13-3 record and defeated the New England Patriots in Super Bowl LII.

In all, he has coached 17 years at six different schools on the FBS level, with those teams posting 14 winning seasons in earning as many bowl berths and compiling a won-lost record of 137-83.

Wilson, 51, coached All-Big 12 performers Justin Bannan and Tyler Brayton at Colorado, the latter of whom also earned third-team All-America honors, along with other familiar names to CU fans like Marques Harris, Matt McChesney, Brandon Dabdoub, Gabe Nyenhuis and James Garee. He was on the staff that won three Big 12 Conference North Division titles (2001, 2002, 2004) and the 2001 Big 12 Championship, when the Buffs narrowly missed finishing second in the BCS Standings which would have earned CU a berth into the title game.

He left the CU staff after the 2004 season to join coach Bob Stoops at Oklahoma, his alma mater. He was the defensive ends coach for the Sooners for 2005-06, and added special teams coordinator to his duties there the next three seasons (2007-09). He was on the Sooner staffs that won the 2006, 2007 and 2008 Big 12 titles, the latter team earning its way into the BCS Championship game where second-ranked OU fell to No. 1 Florida, 24-14.

Wilson moved on to Mississippi State, where he was the co-defensive coordinator and line coach in 2010 before taking over the sole coordinator role the next two years (2011-12). He went on to coach the defensive line at Georgia in 2013 and then at Southern California (2014-15) before taking the similar position for the Eagles in the NFL. At USC, the Trojans won the 2015 Pac-12 South Division title but lost the league's title game to Stanford.

He began his coaching career at Indiana State as a graduate assistant in 1993, and was promoted to linebackers coach the following season. He was the outside linebackers coach for Northern Illinois (1995) and the defensive coordinator and line coach at Northeastern (Okla.) A&M in 1996 before returning to Indiana State as its OLB coach in 1997. He then moved on to become the defensive line coach under Todd Berry at Illinois State for two seasons (1998-99), with the Redbirds earning its first-ever playoff appearance his first year there and then posting an 11-3 mark his second year, as ISU won the Gateway Conference title and advanced to the Division I-AA semifinals.

In January 2000, Berry was named the new head coach at Army, and Wilson originally accompanied him to West Point. But in May of that year, CU's defensive line coach at the time, Buddy Wyatt, left for Texas A&M and Barnett subsequently hired Wilson at Colorado.

A four-year letterman at linebacker for Oklahoma from 1988-91, he was a two-time team captain, recorded 303 tackles, was a three-time second-team All-Big Eight Conference performer, a third-team All-American as a junior and was on the watch list for the '91 Butkus Award. He was recruited by and initially played for Hall of Fame head coach Barry Switzer, finishing his career there under coach Gary Gibbs. Ironically, some of his top career games came against Colorado, as he had 11 tackles, a pass broken up and a forced fumble in the '89 game in Norman won by CU, 20-3 (he was OU's Big Eight defensive player of the week nomination). He had nine tackles in the '90 game in Boulder and led the Sooners with eight stops in the '91 contest, again both games won by the Buffs; in all three, he was chasing CU quarterback Darian Hagan, of whom he is now working with on the same coaching staff.

He was a 12th round draft pick by the Chicago Bears in the 1992 NFL Draft and went to camp with the team, but didn't make the final roster. The NFL would be kind to him down the road, however, as he served three minority coaching internships in the league with Dallas (1995), Arizona (1997) and Miami (1998).

He was born January 8, 1969 in Dallas, Texas, and graduated from Richardson (Texas) High School, where he lettered in football and track. He is married to the former Tina Brown, and they have two grown children, son Caleb and daughter Colby. His hobbies include collecting old music, particularly jazz.

DREW WILSON

Director of Football Sports Performance

Drew Wilson is in his fifth year as the director of football sports performance (strength and conditioning) at the University of Colorado, officially joining the Buffalo staff on January 4, 2016.

Wilson, 42, coordinates all aspects of training and development of the football team and manages a staff of four full-time assistants dedicated solely to the football program.

He is a veteran who brought with him to CU over a decade of experience working with Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) programs in strength and conditioning. Wilson joined the CU staff from the University of Maryland, where he spent the previous five years (2011-15) as the Terrapins' director of strength and conditioning.

Wilson had the same responsibilities at Maryland under its then-head coach Randy Edsall, where his duties also included working with the training staff in the design of both prehabilitation and rehabilitation programs for the student-athletes in injury prevention and healing. During his time there, Maryland transitioned from the Atlantic Coast Conference into the Big Ten, and he was credited with improving the Terps interior lines on both sides of the ball. He was also the liaison for the program to the National Football League.

He has attained several certifications with the respected national organizations in his profession. Wilson is a registered strength and conditioning coach (RSCC) through the National Strength and Conditioning Association; a strength and conditioning coach certified (SCCC) through the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Coaches Association; he is certified as a Level 1 coach by the United States Weightlifting Association; and is also certified in the Functional Movement Screen (FMS).

Prior to his time at Maryland, he had been at the University of Connecticut for five years (2006-10) with Edsall, working primarily with the Huskies' football program as the assistant strength and conditioning coach. UConn was invited to a bowl each of his last four seasons there. He also worked one year with the women's lacrosse team.

He has a little familiarity with the Buffaloes, as he was an assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Kansas from January 2005 to May 2006 when both schools were members of the Big 12 Conference. Prior to his stint at KU, he spent five months at Florida State University assisting with football, baseball and the track and field programs.

A 2000 graduate of King's College, earning his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice & Sociology, he lettered in football. He was a preseason All-American and earned first-team All-Mid-Atlantic Conference honors at inside linebacker as a senior in 1999, when he was a team co-captain. He was on the Dean's List for five semesters at King's, which is located in Wilkes Barre, Pa.

He earned his master's degree in Exercise & Applied Science, with emphasis in Strength and Conditioning, from Springfield (Mass.) College in 2004. He had his first experience coaching while at Springfield, serving as an intern for the 2001-02 academic year. He was then named a graduate assistant strength and conditioning coach at the school, a position he would hold until he received his master's. During that time, he also fulfilled two summer internships, at Maryland (2003) and at Auburn University (2004).

He was born July 11, 1978 in Levittown, Pa., but grew up in nearby Yardley, both in suburbs of Trenton, N.J. He is married to the former Marguerite Widdoes and the couple has a daughter, Makaela, and two sons, Andrew Jr., and Isaac.

LANCE CARL
Associate AD/Football

Lance Carl, who participated in one of the key plays on the football field as a player for the University of Colorado in the mid-1980s, returned to his alma mater for the fourth time in his career when he was named to a newly created position, associate athletic director for business development on November 5, 2013.

Carl, 55, was also simultaneously the sports supervisor for the football program, which eventually grew into a more streamlined role in the department that he transitioned into ahead of the 2019 season. Now the associate athletic director for football, he has daily interactions with head coach Karl Dorrell, the assistant coaches, support personnel and the student-athletes. He is also CU's liaison to the National Football League and its member teams with scouts and personnel staff, having worked as a scout in the late 1990s himself. In addition, he has long been active and on the board of directors with Buffs4Life, an organization of former CU athletes that help former Buffs in need.

He spent five years in his initial role, one that largely encompassed business development, community partnerships and served as the coordinator for non-game day events. His duties included working to build strategic community partnerships, improve the department's engagement with local community entities and work to attract non-game day event business to CU's athletic facilities. He has developed over two dozen key partnerships to date, as he is working to change the image and perception about athletics and its interactions in the business world. He also was the point-person working with AEG Rocky Mountain to bring the first concerts to Folsom Field in 15 years when Dead & Company played the stadium in July 2016 (and who has since returned for three additional shows).

He rejoined the CU staff after spending the last six years with the Colorado Department of Higher Education, where he was a director for student motivational outreach. He was a direct liaison to all middle and high schools throughout the state, as well as for parents and administrators. He developed the Umbrella of Success motivational presentation and delivered that message to 160,000 students, parents and administrators during that time.

As a junior split end in 1986, he led the team in receiving with nine catches for 171 yards and two touchdowns, as with the Buffaloes in their second year of running the wishbone offense under coach Bill McCartney, Colorado didn't throw the ball very often.

But one of those scores was as big as they come, a 52-yard reception from O.C. Oliver on a perfectly executed halfback option that answered a Nebraska touchdown put CU back up by two scores (17-7) on the first play of the fourth quarter. That helped keep the third-ranked Huskers at an arm's length and the Buffaloes went on to win, 20-10, in a game referred to as "the turning point" for the school under McCartney.

He graduated from CU in 1991 with a Bachelor's of Arts degree in Sociology; he had first returned to CU to finish his degree after signing as a free agent with the Washington Redskins and returning to his native Iowa.

Carl then came back to CU as a graduate assistant coach under Rick Neuheisel for the 1996 season. He also spent four years as a regional scout for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League.

He was born September 13, 1965 in Burlington, Iowa, and graduated from Fort Madison (Iowa) High School, where he was a four-sport letterman (12 letters total) in football, basketball, baseball and track. His hobbies include coaching his kid's sports teams, golf, hiking and mountain biking; he was an assistant coach of the North Boulder Wildcats team that reached the Little League World Series in 2015. He is married to the former Jennifer Mysonhimer, also a CU graduate; she worked as a teaching assistant on campus and in the Herbst Academic Center when Carl was a graduate assistant. The couple has three children, sons Savoy (23) and Jackson (18) and daughter Alana (11).

BRYAN McGINNIS
Director of Football Operations

Bryan McGinnis is in his eighth year as the director of football operations at the University of Colorado, originally joining then-head coach Mike MacIntyre's new Buffalo staff on January 2, 2013. When Mel Tucker and Karl Dorrell retained him in the same position following MacIntyre, he became the first to serve two head coaches (and then three) as their ops director at CU since the position was created in 1988.

In his position, in which he has now served the longest-ever at Colorado, he coordinates many facets for the football program, including team travel arrangements, itineraries and scheduling.

McGinnis, 39, had served in the same capacity under MacIntyre for two seasons at San Jose State University, and thus accepted the invitation to follow him to Boulder. A life-long resident of the San Francisco Bay area, his time in Colorado has marked the first time he has ever lived outside of northern California.

Prior to being promoted to being in charge of San Jose State's football operations, he spent six years on the Spartans' coaching staff, working a variety of positions as an operations assistant in recruiting, equipment and video services. He also was a student assistant working with the defense, the linebackers in particular, the 2005 through 2007 seasons, and then switched sides, working as a graduate assistant on offense (running backs) for the 2008 and 2010 season; in-between, in 2009 he was the staff's operations assistant.

At San Jose, he was on the staffs of two teams that earned bowl invitations: the Spartans defeated New Mexico, 20-12, in the 2006 New Mexico Bowl (their first bowl since 1990) and beat Bowling Green, 29-20, in the 2012 Military Bowl. Those are the only two bowl games SJSU has ever played outside the state of California.

McGinnis played wide receiver for two years (2000-01) at Cabrillo College in Aptos, and then got into coaching, beginning his career at his alma mater, Harbor High School, where he spent two years as the school's offensive coordinator and wide receivers coach. In 2003, he joined the San Francisco 49ers staff as an intern in the player personnel department.

He then returned to school to finish his degree, graduating from San Jose State with Bachelor's in Kinesiology in 2007. While working with football, he took several graduate courses in Hospitality, Tourism and Recreation Management.

He was born June 22, 1981 in Santa Cruz, Calif., and graduated from its Harbor High School where he lettered in football and track. He is a certified speed training coach by SAC (Speed, Agility & Conditioning USA/Canada). He is married to the former Vrinda Murphy, who is a behavior therapist for children with autism; the couple has two daughters, Emily Margaret (6) and Maddaline Grace (3) and one son, Jacob Thomas (1).

BOB LOPEZ
Director of Player Personnel

Bob Lopez joined the Colorado football staff as the director of player personnel on February 28, 2020, one of the first hires by Karl Dorrell, CU's new head coach, as the pair have been reunited from their time together at UCLA.

In his role, Lopez, 65, a veteran sports administrator and football coach, coordinates all aspects and details of recruiting including prospect evaluation. During a professional career that has spanned over 40 years, he has significant football coaching experience while on the administrative side, he has been an athletic director, a head coach, a director of football operations, student-athlete services, enrollment and admissions, and has worked on several levels of college administration, working with 16 different sports during his career.

He was the director of football operations for five-plus years at UCLA (2003-08), where Dorrell had hired him to be on his first staff as a head coach. The two also were together on the Northern Arizona staff in 1990-91.

Lopez came to CU from the University of Delaware, where he was the associate athletic director for sport administration and student services since November 2017. He was heavily involved in all sports throughout the Blue Hens athletic department, including team planning and operations, student-athlete engagement, as well as working closely with the school's fledgling BLUE initiative (Building Leaders Utilizing Education), a four-year educational leadership program that focused on student health & wellness, personal success, community engagement, diversity and inclusion and career preparation.

He spent the previous six-plus years at the University of Michigan, joining the Wolverines' staff in January 2011 as the director of football operations. He then served as the assistant athletic director for football from May 2013 through December 2014, which overlapped with sports administrator duties from June 2014 until he accepted the Delaware position. In his final role at UM, he worked directly with several sports, including men's and women's cross country and track & field, men's basketball, women's field hockey, men's gymnastics, and men's and women's tennis. Prior to working at Michigan, he was the director of football operations at San Diego State for three years (2008-11).

Lopez has crossed paths with CU a few times in his career, last while he was at Michigan when the Wolverines rallied for a 45-28 win over the Buffaloes in 2016. His first game as the ops director at UCLA in 2003 was in Boulder, a game CU rallied to win, 16-14. He has been involved in bowl game preparations for nine games, five at UCLA (2003 Silicon Valley, 2004 Las Vegas, 2005 Sun, 2006 Emerald, 2007 Las Vegas), one at San Diego State (2010 Poinsettia) and three at Michigan (2012 Sugar, 2013 Outback, 2013 Buffalo Wild Wings).

He spent 12 years coaching football at the college and high school levels, including stops as the head coach at Fort Scott (Kan.) Community College

(1983-87) and assistant roles at Arizona Western College (1981-83) and Northern Arizona University (1987-91). He also served as Fort Scott's athletic director almost the entire time he was also the football coach for the Greyhounds, and was also NAU's recruiting coordinator during his time in Flagstaff.

His first job in coaching was a football assistant at the Loyola Academy (Wilmette, Ill.) a private school just north of Chicago's downtown. He was also a language arts teacher at the school, where he worked two for two years (1979-81). At various times, he also worked in the admissions fields at Northern Arizona, Peru State College and University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire before permanently staying in the field of athletics.

Lopez lettered four years at quarterback at Illinois State University (1973-76), where he was team's most valuable player as a senior under coach Gerry Hart. A team captain as a junior and senior, he set the school record at the time for season passing yards his senior year. The Redbirds competed on the Division I-AA level, now known as the FCS.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Health and Physical Education from Illinois State in 1977, where he also received his Master's in Educational Administration in 1979.

Lopez was born March 19, 1955 in Tacoma, Wash., but his family moved to Illinois when he was a youngster; he graduated from Mendel Catholic Prep (Chicago, Ill.), where he lettered in football and basketball. One of his favorite hobbies is playing golf. He is married to the former Nancy Leek (a retired teacher) and is father of two adult sons, Tyler and Daniel; they have five grandchildren.

CHANDLER DORRELL
Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Chandler Dorrell is in his first year as the assistant director of player personnel, joining his father's inaugural staff on February 27, 2020.

Dorrell, 25, returned to the state in which he was born from the Miami Dolphins, where he spent the 2019 season as a volunteer assistant. In that role, he was involved in roster organization and internal team matters, assisted in practice with the wide receivers, along with handling any administrative matters needed for coaches with team, staff, and position meetings.

He was also a volunteer assistant with the New York Jets for the 2018 season, where he learned basics of contract negotiations in the NFL with the team's business office. He also assisted with the receivers in practice and handled several administrative matters for the coaches and staff.

Over the course of 2018-19, he was a football consultant with Pando Pooling, based in San Francisco. Pando is a financial services startup focused on helping athletes mitigate the risk of their careers by partnering with other athletes through income pooling. He joined the company after Seed Round, signed over 15 NFL football players to the pooling platform and assisted in the company's growth through Series A funding. He is certified in Operational Excellence (LEAN)/Six Sigma.

Dorrell graduated from Vanderbilt University in 2017 with a bachelor's degree in Economics. He lettered three years at wide receiver playing for coach Derek Mason, and was the team's fifth-leading receiver as a sophomore (10 catches for 118 yards). He began his collegiate career at Stanford University, where as a true freshman, he was a member of the Cardinal team that played Michigan State in the 100th Rose Bowl game (January 1, 2014).

The fall after he graduated from Vanderbilt, he was a volunteer video and operations assistant for the Commodores, as he assisted in logistics surrounding summer prospect camps, helped make video cutups alongside the graduate assistants for the position coaches.

He was born March 26, 1995 in Louisville, Colo., and graduated from St. Thomas Aquinas High School (Fort Lauderdale, Fla.), where he lettered in football (his position coach was Pro Football Hall of Famer Cris Carter, and he was teammates with the Bosa brothers (Joey and Nick) among numerous teammates who eventually made it to the NFL). His hobbies include playing golf (an accomplished player with a 6 handicap), basketball, snowboarding and anything outdoors. His father, Karl, is the head coach of the Buffaloes, his third tour of duty with the school; he had a long career as an NFL assistant; his younger sister, Lauren was a member of CU's volleyball team for three years. In high school, he was selected as the Junior Orange Bowl Scholar Athlete of the Year as a senior (presented to the player with the highest grade point average of each of the Florida state football championship teams.

SCOTT UNREIN
Assistant Director of Operations

Scott Unrein is in his ninth year on the University of Colorado football staff as the assistant director of operations, named to the position in July 2012. His previous duties included assisting in recruiting.

In August 2017, he was named to the "30 under 30" team of rising stars in college football by 247Sports, as he was nominated as CU's "jack-of-all-trades life saver" for the football program, as he does a little bit of everything in his split roles between operations and recruiting.

His primary duties include overseeing the parents program, assisting with on-campus recruiting and daily football operations, including the team's social media coordinator. He also advances all football road trips and works with hotel staff in coordinating all aspects of the team's stay in opponent cities.

Unrein, 32, joined the football staff basically from the other side of Folsom Field, as he worked as an intern for coach Roy Edwards with the CU men's golf team for the 2010-11 season. His role with the team included helping to facilitate and organize the 2011 NCAA Men's Regional Championships that the Buffaloes hosted at Colorado National Golf Club in Erie, Colo.

He graduated from CU in 2011 with a bachelor's degree in Business Administration with an emphasis in Marketing. He also earned his Business of Sports Certificate in 2010.

He was born on August 31, 1988 in Sterling, Colo., and graduated from Rocky Mountain High School in Fort Collins where he played baseball and basketball. His hobbies include basketball, golf and hiking. He is married to the former Lauren Fowler, who is CU's Assistant Director of Student-Athlete Leadership and Career Development.

REGGIE MOORE
Quality Control/Offense

Reggie Moore is in his first year in quality control for the offense at Colorado, having joined new head coach Karl Dorrell's staff on March 9, 2020. Moore and Dorrell were teammates at UCLA in 1986, his true freshman year there when Dorrell was a senior.

Moore, 52, came to Colorado after spending most of the last decade in his native state of Texas. He was the running backs coach and run game coordinator at Cypress Christian High School in Houston for the 2018-19 seasons, which followed three years as the receivers coach and performance liaison at Prairie View A&M (2015-17). He had also worked as a coach for CES Performance Sports, a premier physical fitness center in the Houston area. He was the receivers coach at Westbury Christian High School in 2011; its head coach was Charlie Ward, the 1993 Heisman Trophy winner from Florida State.

He spent three seasons (2008-10) as the wide receivers' coach at his collegiate alma mater, UCLA, where he coached current CU tight ends coach Taylor Embree for the first three years of his career. He was also reunited with head coach Rick Neuheisel, who had given him his first collegiate coaching position in 2003 when he hired him as a graduate assistant and the team's pro liaison at the University of Washington (though he would coach there under Keith Gilbertson after Neuheisel was dismissed in the summer).

Moore returned home to UCLA after spending four years (2004-07) coaching the wide receivers at North Dakota State University under head coach Craig Bohl, where he also was the pro liaison. During his time there, NDSU made its move from Division II to I-AA (now the Football Championship Subdivision, or FCS), with the Bison posting an overall record of 35-9 during his tenure, including a 20-2 mark his last two seasons which included a 14-game winning streak. NDSU notched its first wins ever over FBS opponents, all on the road, defeating Ball State in 2006 and then Central Michigan and Minnesota in 2007 on its way to earning a No. 9 final national ranking in the final FCS polls. While on the Bison staff, in the summer of 2004, Moore was awarded the prestigious Bill Walsh Minority Scholarship and served an offensive internship with the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars (he also was the recipient of the same on two other occasions, spending it with the Seattle Seahawks in the summer of 2010 and again with the Green Bay Packers in 2016).

He graduated in 1991 with a bachelor's degree in History from UCLA, where he lettered four years (1986-90; a three-year starter his sophomore through senior seasons) at receiver under coach Terry Donahue. He led the team in receptions as a senior, with 40 catches for 643 yards and three touchdowns, averaging 16.1 yards per, which was also his career average for 92 receptions (which totaled 1,483 yards along with scoring 10 TDs). He had three 100-yard career games, including a 105-yard effort at Washington in 1988 when he caught a 48-yard touchdown pass from Troy Aikman with 1:22 remaining to beat the Huskies, 24-17.

At UCLA, Moore was a member of three bowl champion teams for the Bruins: the 1986 Freedom (def. BYU, 31-10, when he redshirted), the 1987 Aloha (def. Florida, 20-16) and the 1989 Cotton (def. Arkansas, 17-3). He was a Sporting News Sophomore All-America team member in 1988 and a preseason All-Pac 10 selection ahead of his junior year ('89). An honorable mention Pac-10 All-Academic Team member as a senior, when he was UCLA's Kenneth S. Washington Outstanding Senior Award recipient. He received an invitation to and played in the 1990 Blue-Gray All-Star Game as a senior in 1990, playing for the Blue squad that won, 17-14.

He signed as a free agent wide receiver/kick returner with the New York Jets and was with the club for the 1991 and 1992 seasons; he was with the Los Angeles Rams in 1993 and before suffering a severe hamstring injury, wrapped up his pro career in 1995 with the San Antonio Texans of the Canadian Football League (during the time the CFL expanded into the U.S.). After ending his playing career, he returned to his native Houston where he served as a fire fighter and paramedic with the Houston Fire Department from '96 to '03 (where he participated in two calendars to benefit the Houston Burned Children's Fund in both 1999 and 2000). He simultaneously began his coaching career at his high school alma mater, James Madison, where he was an assistant for four years (1999-2002) tutoring the wide receivers and working with the offense, which included quarterback Vince Young. He then went on to join the collegiate coaching ranks by accepting a grad assistant position at Washington.

Moore was born March 23, 1968 in Houston, Texas and graduated from James Madison where he lettered in football and baseball. He was a Parade All-American as a senior in 1986 (among a host of national honors), selected to play in the Texas State High School All-Star game and was an adidas Scholastic All-American; he graduated ninth in his class. A talented infielder (shortstop), he was drafted in the 44th round by the Texas Rangers in the 1990 amateur draft. His father, Zeke, spent 12 seasons with the Houston Oilers (AFL 1967-69, NFL 1970-78) and played in two Pro Bowls; a brother, Trey, played basketball at Mississippi State and in Europe (he still does shows with the Harlem Globetrotters organization). He is longtime friends with CU's "H-Boys" from 1986-90, who prepped at rival high schools: All-American and College Football Hall of Famer Alfred Williams (Jesse Jones), Kanavis McGhee (Wheatley) and Arthur Walker (B.T. Washington).

BRYAN COOK
Director of Quality Control/Defense

Bryan Cook is in his second year on the University of Colorado football staff, as he joined the program on March 1, 2019 as the director of quality control for the defense.

Cook, 43, a veteran coach of 20 seasons in the collegiate ranks, came to Colorado from Georgia Tech. He was on the Yellow Jackets' staff as a quality control specialist for defense in 2018, his third stint with the school, assisting and focusing in particular with the play of outside linebackers. He previously had served as Georgia Tech's quarterbacks and "B-backs" coach (2013-16) and as a graduate assistant with the Yellow Jackets (2001-03).

For the 2017 season, he was the offensive coordinator at Georgia Southern under head coach Tyson Summers, who is now CU's defensive coordinator.

During his four seasons on Paul Johnson's offensive staff at Georgia Tech, he helped game plan one of the most dangerous offenses in college football. In 2016, the Yellow Jackets had over 5,000 yards of total offense (3,335 rushing) en route to an 8-win season, one that included wins over Virginia Tech and Georgia in earning a TaxSlayer Bowl bid. Tech featured a top-10 rushing attack nationally and also led the country in yards per completion under Cook's tutelage.

In 2014, Georgia Tech was 11-3 and finished as the No. 8 team in the country, claiming the Coastal Division title in the Atlantic Coast Conference and narrowly missing winning the league title, falling 37-25 to Florida State in the championship game. The Yellow Jackets defeated Mississippi State, 49-34, to win the Orange Bowl. That season, Cook tutored All-ACC signal caller Justin Thomas, who set the school's single-season rushing record for quarterbacks with 1,086 yards, while also recording an impressive pass efficiency rating of 153.90. Tech's backfield consisted of three career 1,000-yard rushers – Thomas, Zach Laskey and Synjyn Days.

The '14 Tech squad led the nation in rushing offense with 4,789 yards (342.1 per game), both marks shattering the previous school records. Days (924) and Laskey (851) accounted for 1,775 of those yards as well as 18 rushing touchdowns (nine each). The Jackets also led the nation in third down conversion percentage (57.9) and yards per completion (17.8) and led the ACC in 11 offensive categories.

In 2013, Cook saw the Georgia Tech offense put up huge numbers, ranking sixth nationally in rushing yards (299.3 per game), tied for fourth in third down percentage (51.4) and led the nation in yards per completion (18.4). Tech produced 48 rushing touchdowns, tying Oregon for the most nationally. The Jackets had 41 rushing plays of 20 yards or more, second only to Oregon (43). Cook tutored a pair of young quarterbacks – sophomore Vad Lee and redshirt freshman Thomas – who combined for 747 yards rushing and 10 touchdowns. Senior B-back David Sims earned honorable mention All-ACC honors.

At GT, he coached five student-athletes that received all-Atlantic Coast Conference recognition, including quarterback Justin Thomas, who became the 39th player in NCAA Division I FBS history with 4,000 passing yards and 2,000 rushing yards in a career. Cook also helped the Jackets rank among the top 10 nationally in both rushing offense and passing yards per completion in each of his four seasons.

Prior to his second time in Atlanta, he spent four seasons (2009-12) as the co-offensive coordinator at Cal Poly (Pomona, Calif.). The Mustangs had a 9-3 record in his last season there and reached the second round of the FCS playoffs. It was Cal Poly's first year as a member of the Big Sky Conference, with the Mustangs earning co-champion honors with a 7-1 mark in league play. Under Cook, who also coached the quarterbacks and fullbacks, the Mustangs ranked third nationally that season in the FCS in rushing offense (324.2 yards per game), seventh in scoring offense (36.7) and first in pass efficiency (175.7). In his four years in Pomona, the Mustangs were 26-19.

Cook spent four years (2005-08) as head coach at West Point Prep in Monmouth, N.J., where his teams compiled a 28-22-1 record, with is two best teams in 2006 (8-2) and 2008 (7-3). He was the defensive coordinator at West Point Prep in 2004 before being promoted to head coach.

His first "tour" at Georgia Tech came over the 2001-03 seasons, when he worked as a graduate assistant coach (under two different head coaches). In 2001, when Tech went 8-5 and played in the Seattle Bowl, Cook helped coach the Yellow Jacket defensive backs and special teams under George O'Leary; in 2002, he coached tight ends under Chan Gailey and helped Tech produce a 7-6 record and a Silicon Valley Classic appearance. In 2003, Cook worked with the safeties for a team that earned a berth in the Humanitarian Bowl.

Over the course of his 20-year coaching career, he has been a part of six bowl games, all with Georgia Tech (2001 Seattle, 2002 Silicon Valley, 2003 Humanitarian, 2013 Music City, 2015 Orange and 2016 TaxSlayer).

Cook lettered in both football and lacrosse at Ithaca College, where he was a starting strong safety for two Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) championship teams (1996, 1998) along with earning all-conference honors as a defenseman in lacrosse. He earned two degrees from Ithaca, his bachelor's in health and physical education in 1998, graduating with magna cum laude honors, and his master's in exercise science in 2000. He was a member of the Dean's List all four years as an undergrad, and he had his first experience coaching while in grad school, coaching the wide receivers for the Bombers for the 1999 season. After earning his master's, he was a defensive assistant coach for Lafayette (Pa.) College in the fall of 2000.

He was born on December 29, 1976 in Syracuse, N.Y., and graduated from C.W. Baker High School (Baldwinsville, N.Y.?) where he lettered in football and lacrosse. His hobbies include skiing and most anything that has to do with the outdoors. He is married to the former Julia Bell, and the couple has two children, son Jackson (10) and daughter Reagan (8).

WILLIAM VLACHOS
Quality Control / Defense

William Vlachos in his first year in quality control for the defense, as he joined Karl's Dorrell's inaugural Colorado staff in March 2020.

Vlachos, 32, came to Colorado from the Buffalo Bills, where he was an offensive assistant for the 2018 season. He previously worked in quality control for the offense for the University of Alabama, his alma mater, for three seasons (2015-17). He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for the Crimson Tide, working for the offense in 2013 and 2014.

He was a first-team All-American center at Alabama as a senior in 2011, when the Crimson Tide won their second BCS national title when he was a starter, defeating LSU, 21-0 in the Sugar Bowl; as a sophomore, Alabama defeated Texas, 37-21, in the Rose Bowl which completed a perfect 14-0 season.

He earned a third national championship ring with the Tide as an offensive graduate assistant for their 2014 team, when Alabama defeated Clemson, 45-40, in the first College Football Playoff championship game in Glendale, Ariz. He then won a fourth ring for the 2016 season after he was promoted to the quality control position with the Crimson Tide, who rallied to defeat Georgia in overtime, 26-23, in Atlanta. (He actually missed out on a fifth title with 'Bama, when Clemson scored with one second remaining to win the 2016 CFP title game, 35-31, in Tampa).

Also a two-time, first-team All-Southeastern Conference performer, he redshirted as a freshman at Alabama in 2007, but was on the sidelines when the Tide held off a furious Colorado rally to defeat the Buffaloes, 30-24, in the Independence Bowl. After seeing limited action in 2008, as a sophomore he started every game in 2009, blocking for Heisman Trophy winner Mark Ingram, who rushed for 1,658 yards and 17 touchdowns; he also helped Greg McElroy throw for 2,508 yards and 17 TDs en route to winning both the SEC and BCS titles. He started every game as a junior, that season ending with a 49-7 victory over Michigan State in the Capital One Bowl. And as a senior, he once again helped pave the way for another prolific running back, Trent Richardson, who rushed for 1,679 yards and 23 touchdowns and finished third in the race for the Heisman. He ended his career starting 40 consecutive games and played in 48 games overall.

Alabama was 55-12 when he was a player, and 64-7 when he was on its staff for a combined record of 119-19; he was named to Alabama's second-team All-Decade (2010-19) squad. He signed as an undrafted free agent with the Tennessee Titans and was with the club through the preseason in 2012.

Vlachos earned two degrees from Alabama, his bachelor's in Consumer Economics in 2011 and his Masters in Sport Management in 2012.

He was born May 26, 1988 in Athens, Greece; his family moved to the United States when he was a year old. He graduated from Mountain Brook High School in Birmingham, Ala., where he lettered in football. His hobbies include hunting and fishing. His maternal grandfather, Bill Nichols, was a Democratic member of the U.S. House of Representatives from the state of Alabama for 22 years (1967-88). (Last name is pronounced vlay-hoas, as in dose.)

CHRIS REINERT
Quality Control/Special Teams

Christopher Reinert is in his first year in quality control for the special teams on the Colorado staff, having joined new head coach Karl Dorrell's team on March 9, 2020.

Reinert, 34, came to Colorado from Arizona State University, where he served as the special teams analyst for head coach Herm Edwards and coordinator Shawn Slocum for the 2019 season. Three ASU special teams performers, receiver/returner Brandon Aiyuk, punter Michael Turk and contributor Case Hatch, earned postseason honors. Aiyuk, a first round selection by the San Francisco 49ers in the 2020 National Football League draft, finished third in the nation in both kickoff and punt return averages and was a second-team All-American (first-team All-Pac-12). ASU defeated Florida State in the Sun Bowl to cap an 8-5 season.

Prior to joining the Arizona State staff, he was the wide receivers coach and special teams coordinator for the Arizona Hotshots in the inaugural season of the AAF (Alliance of American Football League). He joined coach Rick Neuheisel's staff in 2018 in preparation for the 2019 season; he had coached with Neuheisel at UCLA seven years earlier. The Hotshots opened with a 5-3 record and was leading the Western Conference when the league suspended operations in early April.

In 2016, Reinert had a second stint at UCLA, working as a special teams analyst for the 2016 and 2017 seasons, and toward the end of 2017, was promoted to the Bruins' special teams coordinator. That year, the Bruins earned a bid to the Cactus Bowl against Kansas State. That followed two seasons as a defensive graduate assistant at Washington State University under head coach Mike Leach, where he was on the defensive staff working with the defensive backs and special teams in 2014 and then switched to the offensive side of the ball for 2015, where he worked with the quarterbacks and helped tutor All-Pac-12 quarterback Luke Falk. He also assisted Leach in game planning as he gained additional responsibilities as the special assistant to the head coach, with the Cougars leading the nation in passing and red zone offense and would go on to beat Miami (Fla.) in the Sun Bowl.

He graduated with a bachelor's degree in Economics in 2009 from Vanderbilt University. He lettered four times at wide receiver for the Commodores (2005-09) under coach Bobby Johnson. He was a five-time member of the Academic All-Southeastern Conference team, and was Vanderbilt's Football Dedication Award winner as a senior (the school's most prestigious honor), when he was the SEC's special teams player of the week against Georgia. He was the team's holder that season, returning from a leg fracture that cut his junior season short after two games. He was a member of Vanderbilt's Music City Bowl champion team (a 16-14 win over Boston College), the school's first bowl game since 1982.

Reinert returned to where he grew up in southern California for his first job after graduation, serving as the defensive backs coach at Harvard-Westlake High School in Studio City for the 2010 season. He then joined Neuheisel's staff at UCLA for the 2011 season, working that year as a defensive intern for the Bruins, who would win the first Pac-12 Conference South Division title after the league expanded. Jim Mora, Jr., was named head coach ahead of the 2012 season, and retained Reinert as a graduate assistant for the defense for the 2012-13 seasons. In 2013, he was part of a Bruin staff that produced a defense that finished among the top three in the Pac-12 in pass defense, passing touchdowns allowed and third down defense. As a member of the UCLA staff, he coached in three bowl games: 2011 Kraft Fight Hunger (vs. Illinois), 2012 Holiday (vs. Baylor) and 2013 Sun (vs. Virginia Tech).

He was born November 9, 1985 in Sarasota, Fla., and graduated from Servite High School (Anaheim, Calif.) where he lettered in football and track and field. His hobbies include golf, skiing and fishing. He is married to the former Emily Tyson, an instructor, trainer and development Jazzercise specialist. An older brother, Matthew, was a wide receiver at the University of Pennsylvania; a younger sister, Rachel Reinert, is a country music artist; a former member of the band Gloriana, in March 2020 she released her first solo album, Into The Blue.

JUNIOR TANUVASA
Quality Control/Recruiting

Junior Tanuvasa is in his first year in quality control for recruiting, joining the Colorado staff on April 13, 2020.

Tanuvasa, 38, came to Colorado from Northern Arizona University, where he served as the linebackers coach for the 2019 season. That followed one year as linebackers coach at Dixie State College in St. George, Utah.

Tanuvasa spent nine seasons (2009-17) on the coaching staff at Mount San Antonio College (Mt. SAC), where he tutored the linebackers, was over strength and conditioning and was the Mounties' co-defensive coordinator for the last five seasons there. He was inducted into the 2020 Mt. SAC Hall of Fame as a coach for the school's 2009 & 2010 football teams, which won 26 consecutive games, claiming the JC Gridwire national championship both seasons.

Mt. SAC won several other titles while he was on staff, including the Southern California Bowl (2009, 1011, 2014), the National Bowl (2010, 2012), the Golden State Bowl (2013, 2015, 2016) and the CCCAA California State championship (2009, 2010, 2014).

All told in 11 seasons of coaching, the teams he was a part of compiled a 103-29 record (10 winning seasons), and on the JUCO level, he personally coached 13 All-American linebackers, 14 All-State linebackers and 26 All-Conference performers. On three occasions, he coached the conference's defensive player of the year (2011, 2014, 1015).

Also while at Mt. SAC, at CCCAA Statewide Academic Convention, he developed, proposed and operated G.R.A.S.P. (Grey & Redshirt Academic Support Program) for underserved student-athletes at the state's community college level, which has since been adopted at several campuses across California.

Tanuvasa played one year at linebacker for the Mounties and earned All-Mission Conference honors for the 2003 season as a freshman, when he was in on 108 tackles, 17 for losses with five quarterback sacks. He then spent two seasons at San Jose State (2004-05) before concluding his career at New Mexico Highlands, where as a senior linebacker in 2007, he recorded 97 tackles, 24 for losses including seven sacks.

He earned his A.A. degree in Sociology from Mt. SAC in 2005, and earned his bachelor's degree in the same field in 2009 from New Mexico Highlands; he was a member of the Dean's List at NMHU.

He was born May 15, 1982 in Fort Lewis, Wash., and graduated from Tacoma's Henry Foss High School, where he lettered in football and in track & field (relays, shot put). He was a two-time All-State performer at linebacker, also earning three-time All-Area honors and four-time All-Conference accolades. His hobbies include sports, grilling (barbecue), spending time with family, watching movies, amusement parks and traveling; he once played an extra in an episode of Key & Peele, a sketch comedy show that aired on Comedy Central. He is married to the former Anetero Uiagalelei, and the couple has three children, sons Manaia (17) and Malaki (12) and daughter Maliah (9). He has a large extended family, as he is the youngest of 11 siblings; he had 45 nieces and nephews between himself and his wife's brothers and sisters. His nicknames include Junior and June; first name is Tamafaiga.

JASON GROSSMAN
Offensive Graduate Assistant

Jason Grossman is in his first year as graduate assistant for the offense, as he joined the Colorado staff in April 2020.

Grossman, 23, came to CU from his alma mater, the University of Akron, where he was a graduate assistant coach working with the wide receivers starting in March 2019.

He also worked as the assistant speed-strength conditioning coach for a time in 2019 at St. Vincent-St. Mary's High School in Akron, and also staffed the 2017 UCLA Skills Camp as the wide receivers coach. After his Culver City high school playing days (2011-14), he served as the school's wide receivers coach in 2015, one of the youngest varsity assistant coaches in the country at the time (barely 18). He also coached there throughout the spring and summers from 2016 through 2018.

He graduated from Akron in 2019 with a bachelor's degree in Sports Studies-Coaching Education. A wide receiver on the football team, he was named to the 2017-18 Mid-American Conference Honor Roll and was the MAC Commissioner's Award recipient. He was on the Dean's List and graduated cum laude.

Grossman is working toward his Master's in Organizational Leadership at Colorado; he did the same while serving as a graduate assistant at Akron, also studying to complete his Master's in Sports Administration. He was also an academic advisor at Akron.

He was born June 4, 1997 in Culver City, Calif., and graduated from Culver City High School, where he lettered in football (2013 Ocean League champions) and track and field (jumps). His hobbies include traveling, kayaking and barbecuing. His father (Jay) was a high school teammate of Warren Moon. On May 13, 2018, he ran down a purse snatcher in Las Vegas while taking in a basketball game with his father. He chased the suspect, tackled him, and then subdued him until police arrived.

B.J. JOHNSON
Defensive Graduate Assistant

B.J. Johnson is in his first year as graduate assistant for the defense, as he joined the Colorado staff in March 2020.

Johnson, 27, comes to CU from Savannah State, where he was the school's wide receivers coach for the 2019 season under its new head coach, Shawn Quinn. The Tigers were 7-3 overall, the first winning season at the school in 21 seasons, and posted a 5-0 mark in Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference play (the team was ineligible for the league championship as it was transitioning into Division II).

He lettered four years as a receiver at Georgia Southern (2013-16), including his senior season when current CU defensive coordinator Tyson Summers was the Eagles' head coach. He finished his career with 93 receptions for 1,338 receiving yards and six touchdowns, averaging a healthy 14.4 yards per catch. A six-time member of the school's Honor Roll, he earned his bachelor's degree in 2016 from GSU in Sports Management. He was a member of the school's 2015 GoDaddy Bowl champion team that defeated Bowling Green.

He signed as an undrafted free agent with the San Francisco 49ers and made the team, but a serious hamstring injury suffered in practice the first week of the 2017 regular season which cut his career short. He then started his coaching career in 2018 as a volunteer assistant coach at his alma mater, Woodruff High School in South Carolina.

He was born Bill Johnson III on February 22, 1993 in Greenville, S.C., and graduated from Woodruff where he lettered in football; a two-time All-State performer, he set all major school single season and career receiving records (he had 165 in his career for 2,780 yards and 30 touchdowns). His hobbies include spending time with his family and friends. Nickname is B.J.

AZIZ SHITTU
Defensive Graduate Assistant

Aziz Shittu is in his first year as graduate assistant working with the defense, as he joined the Colorado staff on April 1, 2020.

Shittu, 26, joined the Buffaloes after he retired from professional football, as he signed as an undrafted free agent with the Philadelphia Eagles, and spent the 2016 season on the practice squad. After suffering a knee injury, he was placed on the team's injured reserve list but was still a member of the Super Bowl XLII champion Eagles' 2017 team that defeated New England. He spent the 2018 in two different stints on the Dallas Cowboys and was resigned by Philadelphia just ahead of the 2019 season, but again was soon placed on injured reserve.

He lettered four years (2012-15) at defensive tackle for Stanford University, playing for head coach David Shaw. He recorded 78 career tackles (33 solo, five-and-a-half quarterback sacks), with three passes broken up, two fumble recoveries and one forced fumble. He was a regular starter as a senior, when he was in on 58 of those tackles. In Stanford's 45-16 rout of Iowa in the 2016 Rose Bowl, he was named the Most Outstanding Defensive Player of the Game when he was in on 10 tackles, with eight solo, four for losses including two quarterback sacks, and a third down stop. He earned first-team All-Pac-12 honors on the field as a senior, when he was also named to the first-team All-Academic Pac-12 team.

Shittu earned his bachelor's degree in Psychology from Stanford in 2016.

He was born July 27, 1994 in Merced, Calif., and graduated from Buhach Colony High School (Atwater, Calif.), where he lettered in football and basketball. On the gridiron, he earned All-America honors on the Parade, Rivals, Sports Illustrated and SuperPrep teams and played in the U.S. Army All-American Bowl; Rivals.com ranked him as the nation's 27th overall recruit (all positions) coming out of high school. His first language is Yoruba, native to several countries in West Africa where his family originated from. Full name is Abdulaziz Shittu, Jr.

DONOVAN WILLIAMS
Offensive Graduate Assistant

Donovan Williams is in his first year as graduate assistant for the offense, as he joined the Colorado staff in March 2020.

Williams, 27, came to Colorado from the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor (Belton, Texas), where he was a graduate assistant coach for the 2018 and 2019 seasons. He worked with the offensive line in 2019 and with the running backs and the A-backs the previous year. He was a member of the Crusaders Division III national championship staff in 2018, when the team went 15-0 and defeated Mt. Union, 24-16, in the title game.

His began his coaching career in the summer of 2017 as a student assistant at his alma mater, Louisiana-Lafayette, where he lettered twice as an offensive lineman (guard) for the 2014-15 seasons. He started all 25 games over the two seasons, and helped spark a rushing attack that finished 23rd in the NCAA in 2014 and produced the school's fourth 1,000-yard rusher in ULL's history (Elijah McGuire, who also gain over 1,000 in 2015). The Ragin Cajuns' won the 2014 New Orleans Bowl, besting Nevada, 16-3.

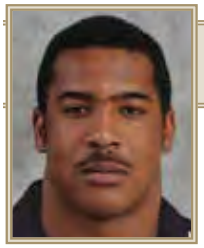

At Louisiana, he played for head coach Mark Hudspeth and offensive line coach Mitch Rodrigue, who also joined the CU staff ahead of the 2020 season. He was a first-team All-Southwest Junior College Football Conference performer at Blinn College, which reached the SWJCFC semifinals his sophomore season (2013).

He was invited to and played in the 2016 NFLPA Bowl and signed as an undrafted free agent with the Chicago Bears and then with the Indianapolis Colts. He also played with the Green Bay Blizzard in the Indoor Football League.

Williams earned his bachelor's degree in Anthropology from Louisiana-Lafayette in 2017, and received his master's in Administrative Education from Mary Hardin-Baylor in 2020.

He was born September 21, 1993 in San Antonio, Texas and graduated from its Madison High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and track; he earned first-team all-district and all-area honors and was also an academic all-district team member.

D.J. BRYANT
Recruiting Assistant

D.J. Bryant is in his first year on the University of Colorado staff as a football recruiting assistant, as he joined the staff full-time on October 19, 2020. His primary duties are assisting the defensive coaches in recruiting.

Bryant, 31, joined the CU program from Townson (Md.) University, where he had been the defensive quality control assistant since September 2018. At Towson, he worked with the full-time coaching staff with game scouting reports, videotape and other materials to develop schematic game strategies on upcoming opponents, along with a significant role in helping to coach the defensive ends.

He also was in defensive quality control for his alma mater, James Madison University, from September 2017 through July 2018. JMU was ranked No. 1 most of the '17 season, finishing 14-1 overall and No. 2 after a 17-13 setback to North Dakota State in the FCS Championship game. He was on the staff at Furman University for the 2015 and 2016 seasons, first as an intern working with the defensive line and in quality control, and then coaching the defensive ends in his second year.

He graduated from James Madison in December 2011 with a bachelor degree in Health & Physical Education and Recreation. He lettered four times for the Dukes at defensive end, making 123 career tackles (60 solo), recording 29 tackles for loss that included 13½ quarterback sacks. As a senior, when JMU lost in the second round of the FCS playoffs to eventual champion North Dakota State, he earned second-team All-America honors at end, along with first-team All-Colonial Athletic Association recognition and was the Dukes' most valuable player on defense.

He signed as an undrafted free agent with the National Football League's Houston Texans and participated in the team's 2012 preseason training camp, playing the outside linebacker position. He then went on to be on the practice squads for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, the Indianapolis Colts and the New York Jets that same season, before signing in December with the Baltimore Ravens and remaining with the team into 2014 until knee injuries cut short his career. He was a member of the Ravens' Super Bowl champion team that defeated San Francisco, 34-31, to cap the 2013 season. He did remain in football, spending the fall of 2014 as the defensive backs coach at Milford Mill High School (Windsor Mill, Md.).

He was born March 3, 1989 in Baltimore, Md., and graduated from Randallstown (N.J.) High School, where he lettered in football and basketball (forward; he was member of a 3-time state champion and his teams lost just five games in three years). His hobbies include playing basketball, Xbox and spending time with family. He is engaged to be married Annell Barrimond; he has a son Camryn (6).

ANDY WANG
Recruiting Assistant

Andy Wang is in his first year on the University of Colorado staff as a football recruiting assistant, and his second year overall, joining the staff full-time on July 1, 2020. His primary duties are assisting the defensive coaches and running backs coach in recruiting, as well as assisting in managing graphics and social media.

Wang, 26, was an intern in the football office for the 2019 season. He came to Colorado from Miami (Ohio) University, where he was an intern with the RedHawks' football program through May 2019, simultaneous when he was in graduate school at nearby Xavier University. He also spent a year as a financial advisor.

He graduated from the University of Kentucky in 2017 with bachelor degrees in Business Administration and Business & Economics, as his fields of study included Economics, Business Management, Marketing and International Business. He earned his Master's of Education in Sports Administration from Xavier University in 2019.

He was born August 29, 1994 in Dalian, China, and graduated from duPont Manual High School in Louisville, Ky. His hobbies include spending time with his dogs, Kilo (an American Bulldog) and Clementine (a Doberman) and loves all animals. He's lived on three different continents (Asia, Europe and North America) and speaks three languages (English, Mandarin and Portuguese)

JUSTIN BRENNAN
Assistant Strength & Conditioning Coach

Justin Brennan is in his fifth year as an assistant strength and conditioning coach, joining the department on April 1, 2016. He works primarily with Colorado's football program.

Brennan, 33, came to Colorado from Arkansas State University, where he spent the previous year-and-a-half as the Red Wolves assistant director of strength and conditioning. Previously, he was the assistant football strength and conditioning coach at the University of Maryland from 2013-15. He began his career in the field as a volunteer coach at the University of Mississippi in 2012.

He graduated from the College of Mount St. Joseph in 2010 with a bachelor's degree in Athletic Training. He earned three letters playing linebacker and safety, starting for two seasons for the Lions. He was named to the Academic All-Heartland Conference team. He earned his Master's degree in Exercise Science from Springfield College in 2013.

He was born May 20, 1987 in Hamilton, Ohio, and graduated from Badin High School there, where he lettered in football. His hobbies include weightlifting and playing with his dog.

TEDDY O'CONNOR
Assistant Strength & Conditioning Coach

Teddy O'Connor is in his second year as an assistant strength and conditioning coach, joining the department on March 18, 2019. He works exclusively with Colorado's football program.

O'Connor, 30, came to CU from the University of Maryland, where he had spent the better part of three months working as a volunteer with the football strength and conditioning program under Coach Ryan Davis. When the opportunity to join the Buffalo staff opened up, he made the move out west.

He previously had spent five seasons on the University of Louisville's football staff as an assistant strength and conditioning coach as well as a sport science coordinator. While assisting with the standard strength and conditioning duties with the football program, in the area of sports science he oversaw the Catapult GPS units, which is used to track data to help further the student-athlete's performance.

While at Louisville, O'Connor worked with Lamar Jackson, the 2016 Heisman Trophy winner, and 16 other National Football League draft picks. While with the Cardinals, he was a staff member for four consecutive bowl game appearances: the 2014 Belk, 2015 Music City, 2016 Florida Citrus and 2017 Gator/TaxSlayer games.

Prior to his time at Louisville, he had a one-year stint at Western Kentucky University, working directly as an assistant with the football team while also coordinating all the needs as the head strength and conditioning coach for the men's and women's tennis teams.

He started his professional career at Boston College, where he served as a strength and conditioning intern for three years. He worked primarily with the Eagles' Olympic sport teams in his first year there (2011-12) before joining the football staff for the 2012 season and the 2013 spring practices.

O'Connor earned his bachelor's degree in Kinesiology and Exercise Science from the University of New Hampshire in 2012, and completed his Master's in Sport Administration from the University of Louisville in 2015. He has his CSCS certification from the NSCA and his SCCC certification from the CSCCa; he is also certified in CPR/AED.

He was born in Salem, Mass., and graduated from Newburyport (Mass.) High School, where he lettered in football and hockey (defenseman). After graduating from high school, he served as a volunteer assistant strength and conditioning coach at his alma mater for four years (2008-11). His hobbies include anything outdoors, working out, skiing, fishing, golf and hockey. He is married to the former Kelsey Todesca, and the couple has a son, Colin (1).

CODY STOUT
Assistant Strength & Conditioning Coach

Cody Stout is in his third year as an assistant strength and conditioning coach, joining the department on December 1, 2017. He works primarily with Colorado's football program.

Stout came to CU from the University of Southern Mississippi where he was responsible for the development of the strength and condition program of the Golden Eagles' baseball team while assisting with the football staff in 2017. He was also in charge of the graduate assistant career development program at Southern Miss.

In 2015 and 2016 he worked at Arkansas State as an assistant director of strength and conditioning and helped lead the Red Wolves football team to a pair of Sun Belt Conference championships.

Other past strength and conditioning experience comes from his first stint at Southern Miss, where he was a graduate assistant coach from 2014-15, and in the spring 2014 semester he was a volunteer intern at LSU. At Southern Miss, he was responsible for the development of the strength and conditioning program for the baseball team while assisting with football and at LSU he worked with the football, baseball, women's soccer and women's volleyball program.

During the 2013 season he worked at the University of Missouri as a volunteer intern athletic performance coach where he assisted the strength and conditioning staff in the training of the Tigers' football team. He additionally was responsible for the daily maintenance of the training facility under Rusty Burney, Assistant AD for Athletic Performance.

Stout earned a Bachelor of Science Degree in Exercise Science from the University of Indianapolis in 2014 and his Master of Science in Exercise Science from the University of Southern Mississippi in 2015.

He holds certifications from the National Strength and Conditioning Association (Certified Strength and Conditioning Specialist), USA Weightlifting (Level 1 Sports Performance Coach Certification) and the American Red Cross (First Aid).

Stout played on the defensive line at the University of Indianapolis in 2010 and 2011 under head coach Bob Bartolomeo. He is a native of Rockville, Ind. and graduate of Rockville High School.

BO SAVAGE
Football Graphic Designer

Bo Savage is in his first year as the graphic designer for the football program, joining the CU staff on April 1, 2020.

Savage, 27, came to Colorado from Kansas State University, where he was the Wildcats' director of creative media from June 1, 2019 until taking a similar position for the Buffaloes. He previously was the lead graphic designer and assistant creative director at the Air Force Academy for a year-and-a-half, and was a creative designer and a video production assistant at Lipscomb University (in Nashville, Tenn.) for a year. The latter was his first full-time position after graduating from college; Lipscomb's nickname is the Bisons, so in a sense he is reunited with the "national mammal of the United States."

He earned his bachelor's degree in Sports Management (emphasis on sports communication and multi-media) in 2015 from Bethany College (Lindsborg, Kan.). He participated in both football (quarterback) and in track (hurdles).

He was born on September 15, 1993 in Lander, Wyo., and graduated from Central Burden (Kan.) High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and track. He set numerous high school records, including 52 touchdown passes in one season (with nine in one game), along with 143 for his career.

EMILY FUNKE
Assistant to the Head Coach

Emily Funke is in her first year as the assistant to head coach Karl Dorrell, assuming the role on March 2, 2020.

Funke, 23, transferred over to the football department from CU's athletic events and facilities department, where she was working for assistant athletic director Orville Jennings since August 26, 2019.

She graduated from Texas A&M University (College Station) in 2019 with a bachelor's degree in Business (Marketing), with an emphasis in Professional Sales, along with earning a minor in Sports Management. As a student, she worked in the athletic department in facilities and operations for a year with Kyle Field/Football as her main area of focus; she also helped manage the daily upkeep and operations of each athletic venue.

She also served on two organization committees at A&M, President of the 12th Man Student Foundation and Vice President of External Operations for Sport Management Society. She also was an intern for the Texas Bowl for its 2017 and 2018 games.

Funke was born December 18, 1996 in Corpus Christi, Texas, and graduated from Sinton (Texas) High School, where was a three-sport athlete in volleyball, basketball and tennis. She is bi-lingual, as she is well-versed in American Sign Language. Her hobbies include watching college sports and the NFL, taking long runs throughout the Colorado mountain sides, going to the beach and traveling around the United States. She also studies famous quotations, her favorite being the anonymously penned, "Don't count the minutes, just the laughs. Enjoy the little things and make them last."

JEAN ONAGA
Administrative Assistant

Jean Onaga is in her 35th year with the Colorado football program as the administrative assistant to the assistant coaches, handling all secretarial duties for both the offensive and defensive coordinators and each staff. She also assists the director of football operations and director of recruiting in administrative duties.

Onaga, who is currently the second-longest tenured employee in all of the athletic department, also coordinates all football office volunteers regarding security for spring and fall practices. She facilitates program activities and events including all pro scout visits year-round and the school's annual pro timing day every March. She also assists with the coaches' clinic as well as registration for various football camps.

She joined the football staff in January 1986 and is the longest continuous employee in the football department; only three current employees have been associated with the entire athletic department longer than her. She has worked under seven CU head coaches: Bill McCartney, Rick Neuheisel, Gary Barnett, Dan Hawkins, Jon Embree, Mike MacIntyre and now Mel Tucker.

For her years of service, Jean was recognized as an honorary member of the Alumni C Club by the Board of Directors during CU-Missouri game on November 3, 2007.

Originally from Honolulu, Hawaii, Jean and her husband Loren moved to Boulder in 1985. She graduated from McKinley High School and graduated from Kapiolani Community College with a degree in business.

SUPPORT PROGRAM STAFF

(Biographies for those who have considerable daily interaction with the program.)

LAURA ANDERSON
Associate AD/Performance Nutrition
Sports Dietitian

Laura Anderson is in her seventh year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic staff, having first joined the program in August 2014 as the department's first-ever dietitian. She was promoted to the associate athletic director for performance nutrition on August 1, 2018.

In her role, she oversees all of the nutritional needs for all of Colorado's 380-plus student-athletes, in addition to coordinating the kitchen staff in CU's Champion Center.

Anderson, 41, came to CU from the 10th Group Special Forces in Colorado Springs, where she was the performance dietitian for the Tactical Human Optimization, Rapid Rehabilitation & Recovery Program for just under four years (November 2010-August 2014). Among her many responsibilities was to provide individual and group performance nutrition counseling to enhance the health and performance of the Active Duty Special Forces tactical athlete, assisting with menu development, and education material for both food service staff and customers and directing nutritional care activities for active duty soldiers, including those with complex medical and nutritional needs. In 2012, she received the Commander's Award for Civilian Service 10th Special Forces.

She previously has spent nearly three years (January 2008-November 2010) as a sport dietitian with the United States Olympic Committee, working with a wide diversity of male and female athletes for both winter and summer sports. Her duties ranged from performing assorted tests on the athletes to conducting educational seminars to even include the coaching staffs. She was also the official "team baker" for the men's and women's alpine ski teams at the 2010 Vancouver Winter Olympics.

Anderson also has worked in various other positions along the Colorado Front Range as a program dietitian, a nutrition services dietitian and as a dietitian/strength and conditioning specialist.

She earned her bachelor's degree in Health and Exercise Science from the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse in 2001, and received her master's degree in Interdisciplinary Health and Exercise Science and Nutrition from Colorado State University in 2004. She also performed two internships (Exercise Physiology at St. Andrews War Memorial Hospital in Brisbane, Australia, in 2001; Dietetic at James A. Haley Veterans Hospital in Tampa, Fla., in 2005).

A registered dietitian with the American Dietetic Association, she is also board certified as a specialist in sports nutrition, by the American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) as a health and fitness instructor and by ISAK (International Society for Advancement in Kinanthropometry); she is also certified in CPR and first aid.

She is a member of the American Dietetic Association and the Colorado Dietetic Association, and an affiliate with SCAN (Sports, Cardiovascular and Wellness Nutrition), Weight Management and CPSDA (College, Professional, Sports Dietitian Association).

A native of Richland Center, Wis., and graduated from Richland Center High School, where she lettered four years each in softball and volleyball. Her hobbies include biking (mountain and road), rock climbing, trail running and cooking. She is married to Chris Alstrin, and as she says, the couple has one "crazy" dog (Lexi, a pointer lab).

MICHELE BRANNIGAN
Associate Director of Academics

Michele Brannigan is in her 13th year as a member of the CU athletic department, originally joining CU's Herbst Academic Center staff on Sept. 3, 2008 as a senior learning specialist. She was promoted to an associate director of academics in 2017. Her qualifications now include over 20 years of teaching experience and in-depth academic administrative knowledge, and extensive work with CU's football student-athletes in her time in Boulder.

Brannigan's daily responsibilities consist of providing academic services to high risk/high need student-athletes who are diagnosed with learning disabilities (e.g., dyslexia), ADHD or require additional support services for their academic endeavors. She works with and meets one-on-one with student-athletes across all of CU's 17 intercollegiate sports to develop strategic plans for improving academic performances. This is done in a focused learning environment in which the athletes gain awareness of their individual learning styles and strengths, organization and time management strategies, test taking and various other critical thinking skills.

Brannigan also identifies potential educational, emotional, focus and attention concerns and works closely with university resources and makes any necessary referrals.

Brannigan earned obtained her bachelor's degree in Elementary and Special Education from Boston College, where she graduated cum laude in 1986, also earning a minor in English. At BC, she played on the school's club rugby team for three years. She earned her master's degree in Educational Administration, Supervision and Curriculum Development from the University of Colorado at Denver in 1990.

BRIAN CABRAL
Character Coach

Brian Cabral, a Colorado Buffalo to the core, came out of retirement in May 2019 to become the school's character coach. Brought back to the program by then-head coach Mel Tucker, new head coach Karl Dorrell maintained his presence on the staff. He works primarily with football, though he has worked with the basketball programs and is available to all 17 of CU's varsity programs.

Cabral, 64, was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in its 2018 class, as he spent 24 years on the sidelines as an assistant coach (1989 through 2012) – the last 23 full-time in assorted capacities including interim head coach, associate head coach, assistant head coach and defensive run game coordinator. Those 23 years as a full-time assistant rank as the most in CU history, not only for football but for all sports, as he passed the previous record holders (two legendary "Franks," Potts and Prentup, both of whom assisted Buff head football coaches for 18 seasons).

From 2013-16, he was the defensive coordinator at Indiana State University, where he also coached the inside linebackers. The Sycamores were 1-11 in his first season there, but went 8-6 in year two, advancing to the second round of the FCS playoffs. The six-game improvement was the best in the FCS ranks that season.

He first joined the Buffalo staff as graduate assistant in 1989. and has always coached the inside linebackers, and occasionally had the outside 'backers under his direction. From 1999 through 2005, he also coached the punt return unit on special teams, and served as the director of CU's summer football camps from 1995 through 2005 and for a brief time as recruiting coordinator. He had returned to Colorado, his alma mater, from Purdue, where he coached the inside linebackers for two seasons (1987-88).

Cabral worked under five head coaches during his coaching tenure: Bill McCartney, Rick Neuheisel, Gary Barnett, Dan Hawkins and Jon Embree. For all seven seasons under Barnett, Cabral also was the assistant head coach, which included a three-month period in 2004 as interim head coach when Barnett was on paid administrative leave. In that role, he continued to coach his position players but also took care of day-to-day operational details of the program.

Hawkins promoted him to associate head coach in February 2008, citing his leadership in noting that "no one person has had more influence in the success of Colorado football than Brian Cabral." When Hawkins was relieved of his duties as head coach on November 8, 2010, Cabral was once again named interim head coach, this time having to finish out the season and pilot the Buffs in game situations. He led Colorado to a 2-1 record, with wins over Iowa State (34-14) and Kansas State (44-36) before a 45-17 loss at Nebraska ended CU's hopes for a bowl invitation as the Buffs finished the year with a 5-7 record.

You could also call him an ambassador for his native Hawai'i, as he has worked youth camps in the state as well as all-Polynesian camps in the states. He is a founding board member of the Polynesian Coaches Association, formed ahead of the 2007 season.

In the summer of 2002, he was one of 500 nationwide recipients of the AFLAC National Assistant Coach-of-the-Year Award. Coaches on all levels were honored, from youth to professional, and he was one of 10 selected regionally to receive the award. In 2008, CBSSportsline.com selected him to its "All-Coach" team at the linebacker position.

Known as one of the top linebacker coaches in the nation, his students have included Matt Russell, the 1996 Butkus Award winner, all-Big Eight performers Greg Biekert, Chad Brown and Ted Johnson, all of whom went on to stardom in the National Football League, and all-Big 12 linebacker Jordon Dizon, a consensus All-American who was also the league defensive player of the year for 2007. He also recruited tailback Rashaan Salaam, the 1994 Heisman trophy winner, and Chris Naeole, a 1996 All-American guard.

His 2001 punt return team led the nation with a 17.4 average, and also boasted the nation's top individual return man in Roman Hollowell, who averaged 18.0 per return and scored two touchdowns. In 2002, Jeremy Bloom averaged 15.0 yards per return and was 13th in the nation as a freshman (ranking 21st as a sophomore in '03). Cabral prided himself on the team being composed largely of non-starters, drawing comparison to his roots when he was special teams captain of the Chicago Bears.

He is a 1978 CU graduate, as he earned a B.S. degree in therapeutic recreation. He lettered three seasons for the Buffs at linebacker from 1975 to 1977 under Coach Bill Mallory, as he was a captain and played a big role on CU's Big Eight champion team in 1976. He led CU with 13 tackles (12 solo) in the 1977 Orange Bowl against Ohio State. As a senior, he was honored as the Big Eight Conference's player of the week for a monster 25 tackles in a CU 27-21 win over Stanford and shared the team's Sure Tackler Award with Mark Haynes. That 25-tackle game included 13 solo stops and is still tied for the fourth most in a single game in CU history.

Cabral had 297 tackles in his CU career (120 solo, 177 assisted), a number that still has him tied for 16th on Colorado's all-time list. A unique fact is that he has coached 10 of the other 19 players in CU's all-time top 20, including eight players on the list ahead of him: Matt Russell, Greg Biekert, Ted Johnson, Chad Brown, Michael Jones, Jashon Sykes, Thaddaeus Washington and Jordon Dizon (seven rank in the top nine). His players through the years have registered over 6,000 tackles wearing the Black & Gold he once wore.

He was a nine-year NFL veteran, as Atlanta drafted him in the fourth round in 1978. He played two seasons with Atlanta, one with Green Bay and six with Chicago. As the captain of the Bears' special teams, he was a member of Chicago's Super Bowl XX champion team in 1985. He was selected as the Frito-Lay Unsung Hero in the Bears' win over New England, as he had two solo and two assisted tackles on special teams.

He was born June 23, 1956, in Fort Benning, Ga., but grew up in Kailua, Hawaii. He is married to the former Becky Lucas, and they have three grown children, son Kyle and daughters Maile and Mele. He is an active member in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He has authored a book ("Second String Champion"), and his hobbies include surfing, skateboarding and snowboarding.

RECORD—He coached in 352 Division I-A games as a full-time coach, owning a record of 154-124-4 at Colorado (165-125-4 including his graduate assistant year); Purdue was 7-14-1 when he was on the Boilermaker staff and Indiana State was 18-30. He coached in 14 bowl games (six New Year's Day).

CHRIS DeCARLO
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Chris DeCarlo is in his fifth year as an assistant athletic trainer at Colorado, as he was hired on August 15, 2016. He works primarily with CU's football and women's golf programs.

DeCarlo, 33, joined CU from the National Football League's Seattle Seahawks, where he had worked as a seasonal athletic trainer for the 2014 and 2015 seasons, and was prepared to do the same when hired by CU. The Seahawks were the NFC West champions in 2014, the club had a 22-10 record when he was on their staff and was a part of Super Bowl XLIX.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Athletic Training in 2010 from Kean (N.J.) University, where he also lettered four years in lacrosse. He earned his master's degree in Kinesiology from Auburn University in 2014. While at Auburn from 2011-14, he served as a graduate assistant athletic trainer for the SEC champion football team which played in the last BCS National Championship game against Florida State. Prior to enrolling in graduate school, he worked one fall (2010) as an assistant athletic trainer at Newberry (S.C.) College.

He was born March 26, 1987 in Sandy, Utah, and graduated from Juan Diego Catholic High School (Draper, Utah), where he participated in football and lacrosse. His hobbies include lacrosse, snowboarding, anything outdoors and listening to good music.

JASON DePAEPE
Deputy AD/Internal Operations

Jason DePaepe is in his first year as CU's deputy athletic director, and is now in his third year overseeing the department's internal operations, having been promoted to a senior associate AD for that position on August 1, 2018. He is in his 21st year overall at the University of Colorado.

DePaepe, 46, who is also a member of athletic director Rick George's executive team and the sports administrator for the men's basketball program, had served over four years (2013-18) as the associate athletic director for facilities and game day operations (promoted to that post in February 2013). He coordinated game day management and operations, specifically for football and CU's other outside sport programs. He was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award in 2017 for his dedication to the department.

In addition to overseeing all staff members who coordinate the facility and maintenance needs for Folsom Field, the Dal Ward Athletic Center, the Champions Center, Balch Fieldhouse, Prentup Field, Potts Field, the Indoor Practice Facility (IPF), Kittredge Lacrosse Field, and the South Campus Tennis Facility, he now oversees human resources and the stadium's concessionaire, Levy.

DePaepe's responsibilities also include managing capital projects and he oversaw the recent Champions Center Complex facility expansion project from 2014-16 – working as the Athletic Department liaison with Mortenson Construction and the Populous design firm on the $166 million project that added over 326,000 new square feet to the athletic department and renovated another 38,000 sq. ft. The six-story Champions Center and the Dal Ward renovations were completed in late 2015. The indoor practice facility (IPF) was completed in early 2016 and includes an artificial turf football field as well as a 300-meter, 8-lane track. The IPF is the only net-zero energy facility of its kind and boasts 850kW of solar panels that create more electricity than the facility uses on an annual basis. The entire expansion project is the largest capital project in CU Boulder history and is a LEED Platinum facility.

DePaepe had worked as the athletic turf manager for 12 years prior to his first promotion, responsible for all maintenance, renovation, upkeep and painting and design of Folsom Field's natural grass surface as well as the athletic practice fields located just north of Boulder Creek and Prentup Field, home to CU's women's soccer team. He originally joined CU in June 2000 as an assistant turf manager and was promoted to the head position in February 2001. He was considered by many to be one of the best in his field, and he still oversees all of CU's field operations.

He came to CU from the Baltimore Ravens and prior to that, he was employed by the Iowa State Athletic Department as a student and graduated from there in 1999 with a Bachelor of Science.

He was born May 4, 1974 in Minot, N.D., and graduated from Waterloo (Iowa) West, where he lettered in baseball and basketball. His hobbies include golf and camping. He is married to the former Kristen Sorensen, one-time CU's director of special events, and the couple has two daughters, Brielle (7) and Evelyn (5).

TIM DiLEO
Assistant Director/Football Nutrition

Tim DiLeo is entering his second year as an assistant director of performance nutrition for the Colorado football program, as he joined the staff on October 12, 2019.

DiLeo, 32, joined CU from Baylor University, where he was the associate director of sports nutrition for a little over two years (2017-19). While with the Bears, he was on the staff of the 2018 Texas Bowl champions that defeated Vanderbilt. He previously was the campus and sports dietitian for the 2016-17 academic year at Plymouth State (N.H.) University, where he created the school's first nutrition program. which included team educations, individual nutrition consults and a variety of other services.

He was an assistant performance nutritionist at the University of North Carolina for about 18 months (2015-16), where he worked extensively with football, men's basketball, baseball, swimming and diving, fencing, and women's rowing. He was also a member of the UNC Eating Disorder Treatment Team on campus.

DiLeo is a registered and licensed dietitian and is a member of the Collegiate & Professional Sports Dietitians Association (CPSDA) as well as the Academy of Nutrition and Dietetics.

DiLeo earned his bachelor's degree in Applied Exercise Science from Springfield (Mass.) College in 2010, and his master's in Human Nutrition & Food Science from Framingham State (Mass.) University in 2015. At Springfield, he earned two letters playing the shooting guard position for the Pride; in-between attending both universities, he spent time in the strength and conditioning field in the New England area.

He was born February 10, 1988 in Boston, Mass., and graduated from Franklin (Mass.) High School where he lettered in basketball. His hobbies include playing basketball, working out and cooking up new recipes.

CHRISTOPHER DOUNTAS
Director of Football Equipment

Christopher Dountas is in his second year as the director of football equipment, as he joined the department on July 22, 2019.

Dountas, 41, came to Colorado from Stanford University, where he was an assistant athletic director and equipment manager since 2016, overseeing the day-to-day equipment operation for all 36 Cardinal varsity sport programs. He was a member of the athletic department's executive staff for one of the nation's most successful athletic programs and perennial Learfield Director's Cup champions. He was responsible for maintaining the school's overall contract with Nike and worked daily with Stanford's equipment vendors and suppliers.

Dountas moved west from the University of Pittsburgh, where he had spent 10 years in the Panthers' equipment operations department as the assistant director. He handled contract negotiations, supervised a staff of six assistants that handled the needs of Pitt's 19 varsity sports and helped to streamline inventory control and operations among his several duties he handled during his decade at the school.

He began his career in the sports equipment profession in 2004, serving a year-long internship at the University of Central Florida (UCF). His first full-time in the business followed at the University of Connecticut, working as the assistant director of equipment services in 2005. At UConn, he helped manage the school's contracts with both adidas (soccer teams) and Nike (school-wide) in additional to handling many of the logistics foe the Huskies' Olympic sports.

Dountas graduated from California University (Pa.) in 2003 with a bachelor's degree in science and sport management.

He was born July 31, 1979 in Wichita, Kan.; his family moved to Pennsylvania where he graduated from Cumberland Valley High School in Mechanicsburg. His hobbies include playing golf and following his favorite professional sports team, the New York Yankees. Growing up, he was a decorated Little League baseball player and was a midget football star.

JULIA FORD
Assistant Athletic Trainer

Julia Ford is in her third year as an assistant athletic trainer, primarily working with football and women's golf, joining the Colorado staff on February 12, 2018.

Ford came to Colorado from the National Football League's New York Jets, where she was an intern on the club's training staff for the 2017 season (May '17 through February '18). She joined the Jets as a Professional Football Athletic Trainers Society Scholarship recipient.

She graduated from Towson University with a bachelor's degree in Athletic Training in May 2015. As an undergrad at Towson, she worked as a student trainer, assisting the staff in providing athletic training services for several Tiger programs, including football, men's lacrosse, gymnastics, women's soccer and field hockey.

Ford earned her master's degree in Exercise and Sport Science from the University of North Carolina in May 2017. At UNC, she spent two years as a graduate assistant athletic trainer for the Tar Heel football and fencing teams.

Ford was born in Spring Lake, N.J., and graduated from Manasquan (N.J.) High School where she participated in soccer and track. Her hobbies include running, snowboarding and hiking.

JAMIE GUY
Director of Sports Video

Jamie Guy is in his 17th year as CU's director of sports video and his 20th year overall on the Colorado staff, as he joined the department in August 2001. He was promoted to his current position in the fall of 2004 after working just over three years as the assistant director.

Guy, 45, came to CU from the Chicago Enforcers of the now-defunct XFL, where he worked the lone season of the league's existence.

In CU's first year in the Pac-12 Conference (2011-12), he was named the Pac-12 Video Coordinator of the Year as selected by a majority vote of his peers. He was twice selected as the video coordinator of the year in the Big 12 Conference, first in 2005-06 and again in 2009-10. The awards are coordinated and voted by members of the Collegiate Sports Video Association; members of each conference select the winner for their respective leagues, and the recipients are placed on the national ballot for the overall CSVA award, the Bob Matey National Video Coordinator of the Year.

As talented as there is in the profession, Guy has coordinated the production of several video shorts showcasing in particular, the CU football program. Along with his former assistant John Snelson, the two were been honored twice with Heartland Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATA) Emmy awards, first in 2014 for their work called "Seasons," the story of a dream and the lifetime experience of being a Colorado Buffalo, and then again for 2015 for the series entitled, "Forward." The duo was also nominated in 2015 for their "Forever" video, his personal favorite because of the time, execution and passion that went into creating it (an all-encompassing look at what it means to be a Colorado Buffalo, on and off the field, as well as in 2016 for "The Rise," which documented CU's first Pac-12 South Division title and return to the postseason. "Forever" did win the 2015 FootballScoop FBS Video of the Year honor. In 2020, another production, "The Light Shines On," was one of five nominations for a Heartland Emmy.

Guy graduated from the University of Cincinnati in 1998 with a bachelor's degree in general studies. As a student, he worked in the Bearcats' sports video office for four years. Prior to entering the sports video profession, he worked as an electrician's apprentice and as a staff manager at Fitworks Fitness.

Born March 18, 1975 in Cincinnati, Ohio, he graduated from Lawrence Central High School (Indianapolis, Ind.) in 1994, where he lettered in track and football. His hobbies include collecting football memorabilia and playing the guitar. He is married to the former Kimberly Ernst. He was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award in 2019 for his dedication to the department.

ANDREW HAMSTRA
Associate Athletic Trainer/Football

Andrew Hamstra is in his second as the associate athletic trainer overseeing the football program, as he was hired on August 6, 2019, one week into CU's fall training camp.

Hamstra, 31, joined the Colorado staff from Washington State University, where he had served as the school's head football athletic trainer from June 2018 through July 2019; before he was named WSU's full-time athletic trainer, he was first the interim head athletic trainer for the 2018 spring practices and the initial summer workouts, a position he was promoted into from his assistant athletic trainer role in which he had performed dating back to 2014.

He has played a vital role in the department in his second year, working with CU's sports medicine team in developing an extremely organized procedure for the testing of over 120 players and staff daily during the coronavirus pandemic that hit the nation in the spring of 2020.

He is certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association Board of Certification (NATABOC), the National Academy of Sports Medicine (corrective exercise specialist) and is also certified in CPR and First Aid.

He was selected as the 2019 Northwest Athletic Trainers Association (NWATA) New Horizons Award recipient, which is awarded to a young professional who has made a unique or immediate impact within the NWATA and athletic training profession.

Hamstra earned bachelor degrees in Athletic Training and Kinesiology in 2011 from Whitworth University (Spokane, Wash.), and earned his master's degree in Exercise & Sports Studies from Boise State University in 2013. While at Boise State, he was a graduate assistant athletic trainer working primarily with the football and track and field programs (he was designated as the "leader graduate assistant" his second year there, the 2012-13 athletic season).

As an undergrad at Whitworth, he played football and was also a student athletic trainer; in 2010, he had an athletic training internship with the Spokane Chiefs on the Western Hockey League.

Following his graduation from Boise State, he was a seasonal athletic trainer for the National Football League's Atlanta Falcons for the 2013 season. He assisted the athletic performance and sports medicine staff with the daily care of the professional athletes. While in Atlanta, he also worked as an athletic trainer for Children's Healthcare of Atlanta,

He was born in Denver and graduated from Denver Christian High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. His hobbies include fishing, movies and playing with his two sons. He is married to the former Danielle Van Eps, and the couple has two sons, Holden (5) and Brock (1).

CHRIS HOWLETT
Associate Director of Academics

Chris Howlett is in his ninth year as an associate director of academics in CU's Herbst Academic Center, he joined the staff on July 23, 2012. He was promoted from an assistant director to associate status in August 2019. He works exclusively with the football (linebackers and defensive backs) and women's soccer programs.

In his current role, most of his time and energy is focused on developing programs and supporting initiatives designed to improve the recruitment, retention, academic success and graduation of a diverse population of Colorado's student-athletes. Howlett directly supports students during their academic journey at the university through transitional coaching, exposure to educational opportunities, course and program exploration, and appropriate referral to on-campus resources. He also represents the Herbst Academic Center on several leadership committees within athletics.

Howlett was an academic coordinator when first hired, working with the women's basketball, men's golf and men's and women's skiing programs and eventually with volleyball. He was promoted to an assistant director in July 2016. While serving as an assistant director, he was responsible for the direct oversight of the student-athlete academic mentor program. The mentors are charged with helping students enhance the fundamental academic skills needed to achieve and sustain success at the university. The mentor "team," then coordinated by Howlett, supports on average 85-100 students each semester, or approximately a fourth of all CU student-athletes.

He also serves as a member of the First Year Program Committee, which is comprised of several athletic department staff members whose goal is to create programming to aid in first-year students transition to college. By participating in this program, first-year student-athletes become more informed about campus resources, meet members of their new community and participate in academic skill building sessions to become more efficient in the classroom.

Howlett came to Colorado from Florida Atlantic University (Boca Raton), where he was as an athletic academic counselor and admissions coordinator for the better part of four years (2008-12). His responsibilities at FAU included the academic oversight of the men's soccer, women's softball, women's golf, and women's volleyball teams. In addition, Howlett served as the department's admissions liaison, textbook coordinator, and Life Skills coordinator.

He earned his bachelor's degree in Business Administration (major in management, minor in accounting) from Florida Atlantic in 2008. He completed a graduate certificate in Leadership and Management from the Lockheed Martin Engineering Management Program at CU Boulder in 2015.

Howlett is a native of Northampton, England, and his family moved to the United States (south Florida) when he was five. He graduated from Western High School in Davie, Fla., where he lettered in baseball and hockey. During his down time, he enjoys exercising, spending time with his family, attending concerts and sporting events, and playing recreational softball. He is married to the former Rachel Gartner and the couple has two children, a daughter, Elina (4) and son, Landon (1).

DE'RON JASPER
Assistant Director of Academics

De'Ron Jasper is in his first year as an associate director of academics in the Herbst Academic Center, as he was promoted to the position on July 1, 2020. He had joined the Colorado staff as an assistant director on July 16, 2019.

Prior to his arriving at CU, Jasper served as Academic Coordinator of Student-Athletes at Mercer University (Macon, Ga.). His responsibilities at Mercer included academic oversight of football, women's basketball, women's golf, women's lacrosse, men's golf, men's lacrosse and men's soccer. Also, he assisted in the study hall and tutoring programs and was the textbook coordinator. While at Mercer, he helped the school win three consecutive Barrett-Bonner awards (given to the Southern Conference University with the highest percentage of student-athletes over a 3.0 GPA).

Jasper previously served as an adjunct instructor at Old Dominion University in the Darden College of Education. He simultaneously served as the director of Project Launch through the Virginia Modeling Analysis Simulation Center. Project Launch is a program designed to assist at-risk students in their pursuit of post-secondary education enrollment and job acquisition while enrolled as a junior or senior in high school.

Jasper graduated from the Georgia Institute of Technology (Georgia Tech) with a bachelor's degree in management and a minor in psychology. While pursuing his bachelor's degree, he was a scholarship student-athlete (football) and three-time letterman. He then attended Old Dominion as a graduate student-athlete and lettered an additional year in football. Jasper graduated from there with a master's in Science in Education.

He is an active member in the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A), National Consortium for Academics and Sports (NCAS), National Academic Advising Association (NACADA), and Omega Psi Phi Fraternity Incorporated. He is currently pursuing a Ph.D. in Education from Old Dominion.

He was born in Richmond, Va., and graduated from Dunwoody High School in Atlanta, Ga., where he lettered in football, basketball, track and field and in band (saxophone). (first name is pronounced day-ron)

MARK JOHNSON
Director of Audio Broadcasting

Mark Johnson is in his fourth year as CU's first-ever director of audio broadcasting for the athletic department, as he was named to the position on July 1, 2017. He is also in his 17th season as the play-by-play announcer for CU's football and men's basketball teams, as he assumed that role ahead of the 2004-05 athletic year.

In his role and in addition to his announcing duties, he hosts various television and radio shows, podcasts, makes personal appearances and does voiceover work for the university. He also does television and radio work for various national and regional networks in the Rocky Mountain Region and across the country and has become known for his distinctive, booming tenor voice.

Johnson, 53, was named sports director at KOA-Radio in Denver in the spring of 2004, replacing the retiring Larry Zimmer, who had held the position for over two decades. Zimmer, the long-time "Voice of the Buffaloes, had handled the play-by-play chores for CU dating back to 1971, but shifted over to the analyst position when Johnson was hired. When Zimmer retired from announcing after the 2015 season, the mantra of "Voice of the Buffs" fully shifted to "M.J."

Prior to coming to Colorado, Johnson spent three years as the "Voice of the Orange" for Syracuse University football and men's basketball. He was at the microphone when former Denver Nugget, Carmelo Anthony, led the Orange to the 2003 NCAA championship. He also hosted weekly call-in shows for basketball coach Jim Boeheim and football coach Paul Pasqualoni, the Syracuse Sidelines television show and served as the ISP-SU Radio Network affiliate liaison. He also was a frequent speaker and emcee for numerous local charitable, civic group and Rotary Club functions.

His entire professional career has been spent in broadcasting. Before his time in Syracuse, he was the sports director for WJBC-Radio in Bloomington, Ill., and was the play-by-play announcer for four years at Illinois State University, where he earned three Silver Dome Awards for best play-by play broadcast in the state of Illinois. Johnson also worked two years announcing football and basketball games his alma mater, the University of North Dakota, and was a talk show host and play-by-play announcer for three years at WASK-AM and WKOA-FM in Lafayette, Ind.

Although his vocation as sportscaster reflects a life-long love of sports, for the past 20 years, Johnson has been called to share the Gospel of Jesus Christ to various churches, men's groups and conferences throughout the region. His message has been to encourage men to live lives of integrity, commitment, and responsibility. He is heavily involved in numerous charity and community organizations serving as an emcee and guest speaker. In recent years he has been a guest-host on numerous Christian television shows on the Daystar and Trinity Broadcasting networks and frequently serves as guest speaker at various men's groups and churches.

In 2015 Johnson became the President of the Evergreen Rodeo Association in Evergreen (Colo.), serving a one-year term. His involvement in rodeo continues a life-long love of horses and the Western way-of-life. In the summer of 2019, Johnson added benefit and charity auctioneering to his resume, as he graduated from the World Wide College of Auctioneering.

He earned a bachelor's degree in communications from North Dakota in 1992.

A native of Hillsboro, N.D., he graduated from Grand Forks (N.D.) Central High School, where he was an All-State basketball player. His hobbies include spending time with his family, riding his horses, playing with his two dogs, hunting and fly-fishing. He is married to the former Susan Jacobson, who was Miss North Dakota for 1989 and competed in the Miss America pageant. The couple has three children, sons Nicolas and Jake, and daughter Halle (who is married to a former Navy Corpsman, John Mathues); they are the grandfather of one (Yuley, born this past August). In 2016, he was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award for his dedication to the department.

KRIS LIVINGSTON
Executive Senior Associate AD

Kris Livingston is in her 24th year at the University of Colorado, her first as the executive senior associate athletic director. She oversees all aspects for student academic success, is a member of athletic director Rick George's executive team and also manages CU's nine sports supervisors. She was promoted to senior associate AD status on August 1, 2018 and had held the similar position as an associate AD since 2014 after being promoted to an assistant athletic director in 2010.

Also included in her role is overseeing all of CU's academic support services for her 14th year, as well as CU's leadership and career development program. Located in the Herbst Academic Center, her area provides year-round academic support to all of CU's approximately 380 student-athletes; she was an assistant director for the unit until being named its director on May 24, 2007. She also serves as the sport supervisor for women's basketball and in the past performed similar supervisory duties for CU's lacrosse, soccer and skiing programs, and previously supervised the department's diversity and inclusion programs.

Former football coach Dan Hawkins credited her organization and philosophy about academics as one of the strongest factors for the football team's back-to-back record years for grade point average for the 2008-09 and 2009-10 school years. And under the three head coaches that followed Hawkins, football has continued to set record GPA figures and graduation rates, as have several others among CU's 17 intercollegiate programs and the entire athletic program overall.

She joined the CU staff in May 1997, hired by then-women's basketball head coach Ceal Barry to be the program's first-ever Director of Basketball Operations. She spent eight seasons in that position until Barry's retirement from coaching in March of 2005.

Livingston came to Boulder from Littleton, Colo., where she was a senior consultant at USA Group Noel-Levitz, an educational consulting firm that is hired by colleges to help recruit and retain students. Prior to that, Livingston spent eight years at Iowa State University as an assistant women's basketball coach (1984-89), admissions counselor (1989-91) and telecounseling coordinator (1991-92).

She earned her bachelor's degree in Sociology from Miami University (Oxford, Ohio) in May 1983, where she was a four-year letterwinner on Miami's women's basketball team and earned first-team All-Mid-American Conference and first-team Academic All-MAC honors. In August 1997, she was inducted into Miami's Hall of Fame, only the second women's basketball player to be so honored.

Livingston earned her master's degree in Sport and Exercise Science with an emphasis in Sport Administration from the University of Northern Colorado in August 2009.

A native of Toledo, Ohio, she graduated from Lake High School in Millbury, Ohio, in 1979. A three-sport athlete, she was an inaugural member of her high school Hall of Fame in 1983. She is married to Dr. Kelly Causey. In 2013, she was awarded the "Honorary C" for her longtime dedication to the department, and in particular, the student-athlete.

HALEY MAJOR
Academic Coordinator

Haley Major is in her first year as an academic coordinator in the Herbst Academic Center, having joined the athletic department staff on July 1, 2020. Her main sport responsibilities are with the football (quarterbacks, running backs, wide receivers and specialists) and the women's tennis teams.

Major, 26, joined the Colorado staff from Penn State University, where for the previous academic year (2019-20) she was an academic support assistant for the Nittany Lions' football program. Among her many duties at PSU, she developed and utilized materials to enhance programs and services for the athletic department and the football student-athletes, while assisting them with developing and implementing individualized academic success plans. She also co-taught the school's first-year seminar and bridge programs to help athletes with the transition from high school to college.

She earned her bachelor's degree from Texas A & M University-Commerce in 2016 in Interdisciplinary Studies (Concentration on Kindergarten through 6th Grade). A letter winner on the Lions' volleyball team (outside hitter and defensive specialist), during her time there she was on the Dean's List and a member of the Lone Star Conference Commissioner's Honor Roll. In 2015, she was inducted into the National Society of Leadership and Success (NSLS). She also was active on the school's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC), served a one-year student teaching internship (second and sixth grades) and was an assistant club volleyball coach for the Net Force Club in nearby Greenville.

Major received her master's degree in Christian Ministry (concentration in Sports Ministry) from Baylor University in 2018. While earning her graduate degree, she worked as a grad assistant in BU's Student-Athlete Center for Excellence and was also an assistant volleyball coach for the Waco Juniors Club team.

Her passion to serve student-athletes was born after overcoming the adversity of tearing both her anterior cruciate ligaments (ACLs) while playing volleyball in college; she made a commitment to determine her identity other than being an athlete and has since devoted her life to inspiring current and future student-athletes in numerous areas.

Following her graduation, she was an athletic academic services intern at Texas Christian University for the 2018-19 school year before she moved on to Penn State. At TCU, she executed academic plans for 70 student-athletes on the men's basketball, golf and track and field teams as well as the women's soccer program. That included mentoring 11 at-risk student-athletes using differentiated learning tools to develop their time management skills.

She was born April 13, 1994 in Irving, Texas, and graduated from Euless (Texas) Trinity High School where she lettered in volleyball (awarded numerous athletic and academic honors). Her hobbies include traveling, eating, working out and watching and attending sporting events. Her father (Willie Major) was a high school basketball teammate of former NBA player and coach, Larry Drew, in Kansas City and was an accomplished track star: a member of the 1977 Adidas High School All-American Track team, he ran track (sprints and relays) at Kansas State University and was a member of the world's top 10 ranked 4x400 relay squad.

RYAN NEWMAN
Director of Athletic Grounds

Ryan Newman is in his 19th year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic staff, as he joined the department on May 22, 2002. He is in eighth year as the director of athletic grounds after working as an assistant for the facility and grounds staff for 11 years.

Under his direction, CU has some of the finest athletic fields in the nation, no small task considering the challenges that Colorado's wacky weather can provide.

Newman, 41, came to the Buffaloes from Iowa State, where he had worked as a student assistant for the Cyclones' facilities department. In his first year on the CU staff, Folsom Field was recognized by the Sports Turf Managers Association as the college football field of the year. Prior to enrolling at Iowa State, he was the heads groundskeeper for the Sioux City Explorers, an independent member of baseball's Northern League, in 2000 after serving as an assistant in 1999.

He graduated from Iowa State with a bachelor's degree in Horticulture with an emphasis in turf management. He first attended Morningside (Iowa) College for three years (1997-99).

He was born March 11, 1979 in Sioux Coty, Iowa, and graduated from Sioux City East High School, where he lettered in football and baseball. His hobbies playing golf and spending time with family. He is married to the former Kate Morris, and the couple has one son, Grayson (3). He was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award in 2019 for his dedication to the department.

KIMBIRLY ORR

Executive Director/Alumni C Club

Kimbirly Orr is in her second year as the executive director of the Alumni C Club, the University of Colorado's organization for past letterwinners. She was named to the position on July 10, 2019.

Orr is also heavily involved with Buffs4Life, an alumni group that coordinates events and raises money for Buffs in need. She joined the Colorado staff from Knock Out Performance, a marketing communications agency she personally formed in 2012.

Much of her career has been predicated on the relationship business, as she had two Fortune 500 award-winning positions with Colgate Palmolive and A.C. Nielsen. She spent 17 years in the entertainment industry working in event production and public relations to two entrepreneurial jaunts, including serving as the first female sport agent for the Women's Professional Volleyball Association (WPVA) on the team which brought beach volleyball to the Olympics.

Orr graduated from the CU Leeds School of Business in 1983 with a bachelor's degree in Marketing. She has served the University of Colorado for over 35 years, working predominantly in alumni relations and engagement. Most recently, she served as the vice chair of the CU Boulder Alumni Association in 2019 and currently sits on the CU Foundation Trustee Board. She is also the board chair for the CU Advocates in the Office of the President, and vice chair of the CU Boulder Alumni Association. She was named the CU Advocate of the Year in 2016.

She was born in Warren, Ohio, and graduated from Pomona High School (Arvada, Colo.) where she participated in volleyball and track and field; she was also captain of the pom pom team her senior year. Her hobbies include attending and watching sporting events, hiking, dancing, reading, spending time with family and friends in addition to attending live concerts, in particular those performed by U2 (she's been to over 50 all over the world, including Dublin, and attended their first-ever show in Colorado at Red Rocks and the next night at the CU Events Center). She is also very active in non-profit and fundraising work

ERIC PELLONI

Assistant Director/BuffVision

Eric Pelloni is in his 15th year as the assistant director of BuffVision, although he has been involved in CU Athletics for the better part of two decades. He was hired full-time on August 1, 2006 after working on a contractual basis since August 2001.

Pelloni, 47, assists with the video packages for CU's video display boards and has been on the BuffVision game day crew for 16 seasons. He also helps coordinate streaming and technical issues between CU Athletics and Pac-12 Enterprises.

When CU overhauled its official athletic website, CUBuffs.com, in 2003, Pelloni was hired on a part-time basis to create video content and coordinate streaming live events. He has created the majority of the graphic work and assisted in the designing of the website, and has also designed several media guide covers.

Pelloni was also the associate producer of "The Buffalo Stampede" coaches show which aired weekly on FSN Rocky Mountain until ending with Colorado's transition over to the Pac-12 Networks agreement. In 2016, he won a Telly Award for his production work for the 2015 Pac-12 Conference's women's golf championship that was held at Boulder Country Club.

Prior to his full-time appointment at CU, Pelloni worked as a freelance video editor/graphic artist in the Denver area, creating video content for both broadcast and non-broadcast applications for a number of clients including Qwest Communications, Coors, XCEL Energy and the United Way of New York City.

He graduated from Metropolitan State College of Denver in 1998, majoring in Technical Communication with a minor in Speech Communication. He taught as an adjunct professor in the technical communications department at Metro State for the 2003-04 school year.

He was born November 21, 1972 in Detroit, Mich., and graduated from Broomfield (Colo.) High School, where he lettered in golf, which remains one of his favorite hobbies. He is married to the former Gabbie Perkins, who is CU's assistant athletic director for Olympic sports operations; the couple has a son, E.J. (Edwin James, 6) and a daughter (Sophia, 4).

DAVID PLATI

Associate AD/Sports Information

David Plati is in his 38th year as the athletic department's director of sports information, and his 43rd year overall in CU's Sports Information Office. He was promoted to assistant athletic director for media relations on July 1, 1988, and attained associate athletic director status in August 2005. He also serves as the department's historian.

Plati, 60, was named the 13th full-time sports information director in CU history on July 24, 1984, after serving for three years as the assistant SID. The youngest SID in the nation at the time of his hiring, he previously worked as a student assistant and statistician after coming to CU as a freshman in 1978. Only six people have served in the role since 1952, with Plati's tenure in the position the longest in school annals; he was recognized in 2009 with the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) Quarter Century of Service award.

In June 2019, he was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame, the fourth Buffalo SID to be honored as he joined Fred Casotti (inducted in 1996), Mike Moran (2002) and Steve Hatchell (2018).

Overall, only two others have been employed full-time by CU athletics longer than Plati, who was hired full-time on Jan. 9, 1983: track coach Frank Potts (41 years) and athletic director/baseball coach Harry Carlson (38½ years; associate AD (business and ticket manager Jon Burianek served 37½ years). He is fourth-longest active SID in the country, behind Claude Felton (Georgia), Lawrence Fan (San Jose State) and Tim Tessalone (USC).

His primary responsibilities are with the football and men's golf programs, though he oversees the sports information efforts for all sports, and at one time or another has personally handled nine sports during his CU career. He has easily worked or covered over 2,200 CU events: 465 football games including a string of 410 in a row that ended in 2017 due to an injured leg, at the time the second-longest active streak by any SID in the nation.

He has coordinated numerous successful promotional campaigns and public relations programs for student-athletes and coaches. Plati has written two books on CU football, the first about the school's 1990 national championship, and the second published in 2008, Colorado Football Vault, a coffee table style book with an awesome collection of photographs and reproduced keepsakes.

In addition, almost 100 of his former student assistants have gone on to work full-time in sports information or media relations for a college or professional team (including all "big four' in Denver: Avalanche, Broncos, Nuggets and Rockies).

The Football Writers Association of America has recognized CU's sports information office 10 times during his tenure, three times for an outstanding press box operation (1987, 1992, 1997; schools were eligible only every five years), and now seven times with the FWAA's Super 11 award (2010-13-14-16-17-18-19) for all-encompassing efforts with the nation's football media.

In January 2019, Plati was presented with the FWAA's Lifetime Achievement Award, just the sixth person to be honored with the relatively young award. The organization also named him as one of two SID's nationally to its 22-member "Access/Press Relations Committee" to oversee press relations with FBS Conferences ahead of the 2019 season. He chaired a panel of SID's and national sportswriters to discuss how to approach the changing landscape for the media ahead of the 2020 season and implications from the coronavirus.

Plati is also an adjunct instructor in CU's College of Media, Communication and Information (CMCI), teaching a sports media relations class for the last 20 years. Since April 2001, he has been CU's representative on the board of directors of the Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, and in 2006, he became a member of the District 7 Screening Committee for the Hall. In 2009, he was appointed to the board of the Colorado Golf Hall of Fame, and in 2010, he was named to the board of the Colorado Rock & Roll Museum and Hall of Fame (and was named the board's secretary in 2020).

In 2015, Plati was a recipient of the Robert L. Stearns Award, presented to current members of the CU-Boulder faculty and staff for extraordinary achievement or service to the university. In 2005, the Denver Buff Club recognized him as its "MVB" choice (Most Valuable Buff). In 2009, celebrating his 30th year covering CU golf, the team instituted a "David Plati Mr. Buffalo Award" honoring the player for his dedication and commitment to the program. The NFF/Colorado chapter presented him with the 2018 Keith Jensen Award for service to the organization.

While attending CU, Plati served four years as the information director for the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. He also worked for the Colorado Golf Association and for the Rocky Mountain News.

He spent his senior year in college (1982) as the public relations director with the triple-A Denver Bears Baseball Club of the American Association. He was a member of the Denver Broncos statistics crew for 40 seasons (1980-2019), where he created and maintained miscellaneous statistics (he received game balls from the NFL team for their back-to-back Super Bowl wins in the 90s). He worked 408 Bronco games as a member of the crew, and among the many innovative numbers he is credited with first charting was "scoring percentage inside-the-20," which is now commonly known as the Red Zone. In the 1980s, he worked as a statistician for TBS for NBA telecasts, creating a wave of now commonplace statistics, and still occasionally works freelance in a similar capacity, most notably as the talent statistician for home Bronco games on KOA-Radio. In 2004, he was appointed by major league baseball to serve as one of the official scorers for the Colorado Rockies baseball team, and has scored 334 games.

Plati was the Hula Bowl's director of game week communications for four years (1995-98). He has also worked five BCS National Championship games (2002-06-09-10-13 seasons), all six College Football Playoff title games (2014-15-16-17-18-19 seasons), nine Rose and two Fiesta bowls for a grand total of 45 postseason bowl games when including CU's 19.

He has worked as the media relations liaison for the Bolder Boulder 10K since 1987, and also served as the media relations assistant for the Colorado Open Golf Tournament for 12 years (1980-91). He was the media coordinator for the 1985, 1989 and 1996 NCAA West Regionals, and was the local media coordinator and NCAA liaison for the 1990 Final Four, all in Denver.

He graduated with a bachelor's degree in public relations, along with a minor in geography, from CU in December 1982. He was a member of the journalism student council and wrote for The Campus Press.

Born April 19, 1960 in New Rochelle, N.Y., Plati graduated from Woodlands High School (Hartsdale, N.Y.) in 1978, where he lettered in football and golf (and was also the school's SID his senior year). In 1984, he was awarded an "Honorary C" for his service to Colorado athletics. An avid golfer, he won the 2005 Rocky Mountain Golf Writers Association fourth annual tournament.

One of his proudest moments in his CU career came when late golf coach Mark Simpson asked him to present him for induction at Simpson's Golf Coaches Hall of Fame induction ceremony in January, 2005. He is also an avid concert goer, having attended some 380-plus in his lifetime (led by 39 Jimmy Buffett performances), and one of his hobbies is memorizing song lyrics. His younger brother (Mark, a top music engineer) was nominated for two Grammy Awards with David Bowie in 1998 (he was a guitarist in Bowie's band for five years), and also engineered the Song-of-the-Year for 1997 (Shawn Colvin's "Sunny Came Home").

KEVIN PROCHASKA
Associate Director/Compliance

Kevin Prochaska is in his ninth year as the associate director of compliance with the University of Colorado Athletic Department. In his duties he is responsible for the compliance needs of football as well as assisting with all other sports.

Prior to arriving at Colorado, he spent two years (2010-12) as the director of compliance and CHAMPS life skills at Miami (Ohio) University. Prochaska was also an adjunct professor at Miami, teaching a course for freshmen student-athletes.

Prochaska earned his bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from the University of Wisconsin at Platteville in 2003. He earned his J.D. degree (juris doctor) from Marquette University Law School in 2009. While at Marquette, he served as a compliance intern in the athletic department for the 2008-09 school year, and served in a similar role at Northern Illinois University in 2009 before graduating. He accepted a position as a compliance coordinator at Ohio State University for the 2009-10 academic year.

He was born in Prairie du Chien, Wis., and graduated from Prairie du Chien High School where he lettered in football and golf. His hobbies include attending sporting events and concerts as well as traveling and playing golf. Prochaska and his wife, Jessica, are the parents of a daughter, Avery, and a son, Thomas.

ALEC ROUSSOS
AD Office/Director of Operations

Alec Roussos is in his second year as the director of operations for the athletic director's office, as he was promoted into the position on July 1, 2019.

In his role, he oversees the day to day operations for athletic director Rock George, disseminates pertinent information to CU's athletic staff and serves as the first point of contact in addition to providing oversight of the research team. He also coordinates pulling together most aspects and updating CU's current strategic plan which runs from July 1, 2020 through June 30, 2023. He previously served three years as the graduate assistant for the AD's office, which followed working as a summer intern in 2014 and 2015 before assuming the grad assistant role in the summer of 2016.

Roussos graduated from the University of Colorado's Leeds School of Business in May 2019 with his master's degree in Business Administration. He earned his bachelor's degree in Environmental Biology in 2016 from McGill University in Montreal, Quebec, where he was a member of the school's championship lacrosse team. Over his four years on the squad, McGill had a record of 52-4-1 which included two national championships and two national runner-up finishes. Roussos was awarded the Evans Huber Most Dedicated Player during his senior year on the 15-0 national championship team.

He was born September 22 in Golden, Colo., but his family moved frequently during his youth and he eventually graduated from Park City (Utah) High School, where he lettered in lacrosse. His hobbies include golfing and spending time with his friends and family.

MIGUEL RUEDA
Senior Associate AD/Health & Performance

Miguel Rueda is in 15th year in the CU athletic department, his third as the senior associate athletic director for health and performance; he had been the associate AD over the same area since being promoted to the position in February 2015. He previously had served nine-plus years as the head athletic trainer for football after he was hired on August 1, 2006, just days ahead of CU's preseason camp.

A member of athletic director Rick George's executive team, he is also the vice chair of the Pac-12 Student Athlete Health and Well-Being Initiative (SAHWBI), the conference's medical board. In 2020, he was heavily involved in developing the Pac-12's regulations, policies and protocols concerning the coronavirus pandemic. He has been CU's institutional representative for the Pac-12's student health conference since shortly after CU joined the league in 2011, and in that role, he organizes the annual meeting for all sports medicine officials from each league school.

In his role, he oversees the entire training staff as well as serves as the school's liaison with the CU Sports Medicine and Performance Center, housed in the athletic department's Champions Center. He also oversees the strength and conditioning and sports nutrition areas as well as CU's sports psychologist and works closely with campus on research initiatives.

Rueda, 48, was the second-longest tenured trainer in CU's athletic history, serving 13 years in that capacity, behind only a 14-year run by Dave Burton, who held the position from 1985-99; one other had served in the role for eight years, and three others for seven.

He came to CU from Fresno State University, where he has been the Director of Sports Medicine since February 2001. At FSU, his primary responsibilities were the care and prevention of injuries for the football program and overseeing all areas of the Fresno State Sports Medicine Program. He has similar duties at Colorado, as he coordinates the needs and staffing for CU's 16 intercollegiate varsity programs.

With CU's move to the Pac-12 Conference, he was named the Education Director for the Pac-12 annual sports medicine meeting, a role he performed in the 2011-12 academic year and will continue to serve in for at least the 2012-13 year as well.

Ironically, his first football game as Fresno State's head trainer was in Boulder, as the Bulldogs played the Buffaloes in the Jim Thorpe Association Classic on August 26, 2001; FSU won the game, 24-22, and went on to climb into the nation's top 10, until getting knocked off by Boise State, then coached by CU's future coach, Dan Hawkins.

Rueda previously had worked two years (1995-97) as a graduate assistant trainer for the Bulldogs while earning his master's degree in exercise physiology.

He had rejoined the Fresno State staff from Towson University, where he served as an assistant athletic trainer from 1998 to 2001; he was the head trainer for football. Prior to Towson, Rueda spent time with the Miami Dolphins of the National Football League in 1997-98 and with Holy Cross in 1994-95. He also has extensive teaching experience, instructing classes ranging from sports medicine administration to basic athletic training courses over the past 10 years.

He received his undergraduate degree in athletic training from Boston University in 1994, and his master's degree from Fresno State in 1997. Rueda is a member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, the College Athletic Trainers Society and has American Red Cross CPR and First Aid certification.

He was born November 17, 1971 in San Francisco, graduating from the city's J. Eugene McAteer High School where he lettered in cross country and track. He and his wife, Andrea, have two sons, Gabriel (who earned an appointment at West Point, where he is a freshman) and Christopher, and a daughter, Isabella.

JAVIER SMITH
Director of Tutoring

Javier Smith is in his second year as the director of tutoring in CU's Herbst Academic Center, as he joined the department on August 17, 2019.

Smith came to CU from Winthrop University in Rock Hill, S.C., where he was an assistant in student academic services for the school's College of Education for a year`, which coincided with two years as an event operations assistant (2017-19). He assisted in event operations, facility coordination, and video production for over 100 events involving Winthrop's 350 student-athletes. In his last year there, he helped the advisement team assess and monitor degree audits for student seeking graduation.

For two-and-a-half years (November 2011 to April 2014), he managed the day-to-day operations of the Notre Dame College (South Euclid, Ohio) athletic department fundraising events with a direct focus on external relations and sponsorship revenue generation. As the Falcons' manager of athletic development, Smith led the athletic department to consecutive years of financial growth with over $10,000 of revenue generation from the sponsorship and marketing programs. He also increased fundraising revenue each year and netted $48,000 over two years from the school's annual golf outing.

He served as a guest speaker and mentor for Phi Beta Sigma Incorporated at monthly youth club meetings for the Charlotte, N.C. alumni chapter from 2014-2019. He is a member of the Minority Opportunities Athletic Association (MOAA) and the National Association of Academic and Student-Athlete Development Professional (N4A).

Smith graduated from Robert Morris University (Coraopolis, Pa.) in 1998 with a bachelor's degree in Sport Management. He was a four-year letterman on the basketball team at guard for the Colonials, leading the team in scoring as a junior (12.0 points per game), and was among the nation's leaders in assists as a senior (6.4 per game). He completed a Master of Business Administration from the University of Phoenix in 2010, and earned a Master of Science in Sport and Administration from Winthrop University in 2019.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, he graduated from Cleveland Central Catholic High School, where he earned All-State honors in basketball, football and baseball. His hobbies include reading, watching sports and traveling. He is married to the former Jessica Santiago; the couple has a daughter, Ariana, and a son, Kevin.

CURTIS SNYDER
Assistant AD/Sports Information

Curtis Snyder is in his 22nd year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic department, his second as an assistant athletic director in the sports information office, his third stint in the SID area; he was promoted to an assistant AD in August 2018.

He had worked the previous three years as CU's director of digital strategy after rejoining the Buffalo staff on December 1, 2008 after a five-and-a-half-year absence. He shares the duties for football with the associate AD and once again heads up the SID responsibilities for CU's ski team.

Snyder, 45, spent the previous seven-plus years (2008-15) as the associate sports information director, in addition to managing special projects and digital media. He was the secondary sports information contact for football for six seasons (2009-14) and was the primary SID for CU's renowned national championship ski program for eight years (2009-16). In August 2012, he was given the additional duties of overseeing overall strategy and execution of CUBuffs.com and social media (Facebook, Twitter, etc.), and still has some responsibilities in this area.

Snyder was the championship director for the 2016 and 2018 NCAA Skiing Championships that CU hosted in Steamboat Springs, and has served as the webmaster for the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Ski Association (RMISA) since 2008. He was awarded an "Honorary C" in 2014 for his dedication to the department.

He returned to CU from Duke University, where he served as the director of Internet operations from 2003-08, managing the day-to-day operations of GoDuke.com and had various SID duties for the football and men's basketball programs. He accompanied the basketball team during the postseason, during which time the Blue Devils captured two ACC Championships and a berth in the 2004 Final Four in San Antonio. He also traveled with the women's basketball team to the 2006 Final Four in Boston.

He previously served four years as a student assistant in CU's athletic media relations office (it's then name) from 1994-98 and then five years as a full-time assistant SID and as well as the Internet managing editor from 1998-2003. As a student, Snyder worked with the volleyball and men's basketball programs and was presented with the Athletic Director's medal for service to the department.

In his first stint at CU, he worked at various times as the primary contact for the men's basketball, volleyball and men's and women's tennis programs while also being named the Internet coordinator and eventually Internet managing editor, overseeing the official website, CUBuffs.com.

He also currently serves as a back-up statistician for the NBA's Denver Nuggets and has worked with the AVP (professional beach volleyball tour). He has been an active member of the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA) and served on the technology committee for five years (2007-11).

Born Sept. 2, 1975, in Boulder, he graduated from Boulder High School in 1994, where he was a fourth-generation student and lettered three times in basketball. His grandmother graduated from CU in 1929, his grandfather was recruited to CU by Frank Potts to be a decathlete and also to play basketball and football and his father, mother and sister all attended CU. He is married to the former Kami Carmann, a four-time letterwinner and two-time captain of the women's basketball team at CU who was a sports anchor and reporter for Fox 31 (KDVR-TV) in Denver for several years. The couple resides in Erie and has three children, twins Lucy and Samuel (10) and Cooper (7).

TAYLOR STRATTON
Ralphie Program Manager

Taylor Stratton, a former Ralphie Handler, was named the manager of CU's Ralphie Live Mascot Program, assuming the role on April 1, 2020 after serving as the assistant coach for the program for the previous four years (2016-19).

Stratton, 29, replaced John Graves, who had served in the role for five years (2015-19); she becomes the second woman to head the program, joining Gail Pederson in the prestigious role; Pederson coordinated the program from 2006-14.

Stratton joined the athletic department full-time after working on the Boulder campus since January 2014, when she started in the admissions office. She moved over to the Alumni Association as the program manager for Student and Young Alumni Outreach in October 2017.

She graduated from CU in 2013 with a triple major in Ecology and Evolutionary Biology, Environmental Studies and Geography. As an undergraduate, she lettered three times as a Ralphie Handler her sophomore through senior years under coaches Graves and Ben Frei, and was Interviewed by Bryant Gumbel for HBO's Real Sports. She is currently working toward her master's in Business Administration from the University of Illinois, with a target date of spring 2022 to finish the degree.

Though born in Florida, she grew up in Southern Colorado on her family's multi-generational working ranch. There, her family raised Register of Merit AQHA race and performance horses and had a commercial herd of Herefords (beef cows) with bloodlines dating back to her great grandfather's herd.

She was born March 26, 1991 in Orlando, Fla., and graduated from Cheyenne Mountain High School in Colorado Springs, where she had extensive involvement in Ag focused groups, including the Pikes Peak Rangerettes, Interscholastic Equestrian Association, 4-H, and horse shows for both the Palomino Horse Breeders of America and American Quarter

Horse Association (she was an officer for both the Rangerettes and 4-H). Her hobbies include playing soccer and golf, watching the Colorado Avalanche, country swing dancing, hiking with her dog and traveling. She has also studied abroad in Tanzania, and her love for travel has some of her favorite destinations including Montana, Wyoming, Morocco, South Africa, Australia, Italy, Austria, Greece, Spain, Costa Rica, Utah, South Carolina, California, Texas, New Orleans. Nicknamed "T-Stratt."

DERIC SWANSON
Executive Director of BuffVision

Deric Swanson is in his 22nd year as the executive director of BuffVision, coordinating all aspects of production involving the video display boards at Folsom Field and the CU Events Center, both upgraded earlier this decade to a near $10 million operation for both facilities combined.

The only director the area has ever had since it was created in 1999, which includes hiring game day staff to showcase CU's home events on the BuffVision boards, he also coordinates several video projects for the university in general and works closely with students interested in the profession that are enrolled in CU's CMCI school (College of Media, Communication and Information).

Swanson, 45, is easily considered one of the best in his field and came to CU from the National Hockey League's Colorado Avalanche, where he had worked for a brief time as the manager of game entertainment and video production. He had previously worked three-plus seasons with the Colorado Rockies Baseball Club, first as a stadium camera operator, and then as video production coordinator, including the 1998 Major League Baseball All-Star Game at Coors Field.

In 2003, BuffVision won the Golden Matrix Award for "Best Overall Video Display" in the University Division at the Information Display and Entertainment Association (IDEA) conference in Atlanta.

The following year, BuffVision was awarded two distinctions, one for the 2004 Aurora Awards, a Platinum Best of Show statue for In- Game Entertainment Graphics/Design, and a Telly Award for The Buffalo Stampede, CU's coaches' show. In 2006 and 2007, BuffVision won three more Telly Awards for Swanson's production, including two for the "Ralphie on Campus" institutional spot and another for The Buffalo Stampede. In 2013, BuffVision earned another Telly for a production involving CU's men's basketball team and the Navy Seals and inn all have earned eight bronze Telly Awards. In 2019, it won its first silver Telly, again for the Buffalo Stampede and in particular for its season finale.

He is a 1996 graduate of Colorado State University, earning his bachelor's degree in technical journalism and broadcasting. He graduated Magna Cum Laude and was recognized as CSU's outstanding graduate in journalism.

He was born May 24, 1974 in Oakland, Calif., and attended two high schools. His father was stationed in the Azores, Portugal, and he spent two years at Lajes High School, where he lettered in football, soccer, volleyball and basketball. After moving to Colorado, he graduated from Liberty High School in Colorado Springs, where he lettered in football. He played volleyball on CSU's club team for three years. His hobbies include hiking and biking; he has now competed in 23 Ironman triathlons (through August 2019); his personal best was a time of 11 hours and 29 minutes in Tempe, Ariz., in 2009.

He is the father of two sons, Gavin (12) and Dane (9). He was the recipient of an "Honorary C" award in 2014 for his dedication to the department.

LUKE WESTALL
Assistant Equipment Manager

Luke Westall is in his first year as the assistant equipment manager for the football program, having joined the department on July 1, 2020.

Westall, 26, joined CU from the U.S. Air Force Academy, where he was the head equipment manager for the cross country and track teams and the assistant for the football program for a year-and-a-half (2019-20, until being hired by CU). At AFA, he managed the ordering and creation of apparel and competition gear for the 2019 and 2020 seasons, managed and implemented a detailed inventory system to track apparel and planned and implemented a structured weekly routine for athletes concerning equipment with repairs, laundry, and issuing. He also assisted and managed special events, including the NHL Stadium Series game (Avalanche-Kings) and Los Angeles Chargers practices during the 2019 and 2020 season from an equipment standpoint. He assisted with the 2019 Cheese-It Bowl in all day to day tasks along with game day sideline support and worked the 2019 Cheez-It Bowl, where Air Force defeated Washington State, 31-21, to finish 11-2 for the season.

He was an intern for the National Wheelchair Basketball Association for 2017-18, where he assisted and created webpages that managed memberships and global events; planned, setup, and ran an international basketball tournament with foreign countries including USA, Great Britain, Amsterdam, Canada, and Australia; designed and managed apparel for a new online store as well as the Men's and Women's National Teams' and assisted coaches with practices, running shot clocks, managing equipment and setting up facilities. He also planned, set up, and worked on the largest organized Para sport tournament in history.

In the summer of 2017, Westall was an intern with the Pikes Peak International Hill Climb (PPIHC), where among several duties, he assisted with creating and dispersing promotional material throughout Colorado Springs, managed the media room for the event at the summit house of Pikes Peak, planned and fulfilled sponsorship agreements throughout the course and race week and supervised the closings of multiple roads in downtown Colorado Springs. He also was able to assist I helped Hoonigan Media with the filming of Ken Block's Climbkhana. He continues to work as a volunteer race official for the PPIHC, something he began doing back in 2012.

Westall earned his bachelor's degree in Business Administration with an emphasis in Sport Management in 2018 from the University of Colorado-Colorado Springs. He is working toward finishing his Athletic Equipment Managers Association Certification this summer.

He was born March 3, 1994 in Canon City, Colo., and after spending much of his youth in St. Augustine, Fla., he returned to the Centennial State in 2009 and graduated from Woodland Park (Colo.) High School where he lettered in football. His hobbies include hunting, fishing, mountain biking, snowboarding, basketball and auto racing. He also owns an impressive collection of … sneakers.

ADMINISTRATION

CHANDLER BARONE
Director of Special Events

Chandler Barone is finishing her first year as the director of special events and premium venues for the University of Colorado Athletic Department, as she was named to the position on October 28, 2019.

Barone, 27, brought a wealth of experience in event management when she joined CU from the Front Range Catering, where she was the sales and event manager for one of the top catering companies in Boulder. She started there in March 2018 and in 18 months, she managed and catered well over 100 events, which included managing proposals and event contracts in food and beverage sales. She hired and supervised the kitchen, serving and bartender staffs and increased the company's business sales by building strong relationships with its client base.

Prior to joining Front Range Catering, she was a senior event manager for Ansley Event Design in Denver for a year-and-a-half beginning in April 2016. She coordinated and executed details such as rehearsals, menu planning, floor plan design, logistics and on-site management for over 50 weddings that ranged in size from 25 to 300 attendees.

Barone earned her bachelor's degree from CU's Leeds School of Business with an emphasis in Human Resource Management in 2015. She worked her entire time as an undergraduate for the CU Boulder Student Alumni Association, where she coordinated events, sold memberships and solicited sponsors.

Before she entered the event planning business, her first full-time job after college was as a technical recruiter at Stephen James Associates in Denver.

She was born Chandler Nicolls in San Diego, Calif., and graduated from Corona Del Mar (Calif.) High School where she was a member of the club team for crew (rowing). Her hobbies include hiking, snowboarding, trying new restaurants and walking her dog. In high school, she was president of the Performing Arts & Multimedia Academy, where she first dabbled in event planning; in fact, she planned multiple events for a national competition for the Hurley Clothing Brand and won $25,000 for her high school's program. She is married to Dawn Barone, CU's associate director of Forever Buffs Outreach for the school's Alumni Association (she is also a CU graduate).

J.T. GALLOWAY
Associate AD/Equipment & Licensing

J.T. Galloway is in his 16th year overall in the CU athletic department, his ninth coordinating and managing all phases of CU's licensing, logos and imaging. He was promoted to an assistant athletic director in 2010 and to associate athletic director status in 2016.

He first joined the department on April 4, 2005 as equipment manager overseeing the needs particularly for football but for all of Colorado's 16 intercollegiate sports at the time (now 17 with the addition of women's lacrosse). Under his leadership, CU continues to set record numbers in licensing revenue, much do to his creative and innovative ideas he has implemented.

Galloway, 52, continues to oversee the equipment operations, but reduced his day-to-day obligations with the Buffalo football program as he transitioned more and more into his licensing and trademark duties. In 2016, he added sports administrator duties over the men's and women's golf programs, and in 2018, he was the recipient of an "Honorary C" award for his dedication to the department.

He became the fourth person to hit double figures in years serving as the equipment head in CU history. Lee "Silver" Akins handled the chores for 34 years (1936-69), with Bill Crowder heading the area for 17 years and Mike Smith just under 11. Galloway is a certified member of the Athletic Equipment Manager's Association (AEMA), a status he attained in 1995 upon entering the profession full-time.

He graduated with a degree in sport management in 1994 from Washington State University, where he worked all four years of his college career as a student employee in the WSU equipment room. He began his professional career as an equipment intern at the University of Virginia in the fall of 1994 and worked there six months. He then moved on to the National Football League's Atlanta Falcons, where he was an assistant equipment manager for the 1995 season.

He returned to the college ranks as the football equipment director at Wake Forest from 1996 to 1998 before heading west to Arizona where he would spend the next six seasons as the associate director of equipment.

Born John Thomas Galloway on May 10, 1968 in Columbus, Ohio, Galloway graduated Gaither High School in Tampa, Fla. A sports fanatic, he enjoys all sports, especially golf. He is married to the former Kelly Christy, a registered nurse, and the couple has two children, Katie (21) and Collin (18).

LANCE GERLACH
Senior Associate AD/Buff Club

Lance Gerlach is in his first year as CU's assistant vice chancellor of advancement and senior associate athletic director, as he was promoted to the position on May 29, 2020.

Gerlach, 42, oversees all aspects of the Buff Club, the athletic department's fundraising arm, and is also a member of athletic director Rick George's executive team. Along with overseeing the Buff Club, he will continue to oversee the venue and premium area naming rights, along with outside revenue generation (concerts, corporate cup, etc.). He had been an associate AD and CU's chief revenue officer for the past year after heading up Buffalo Sports Properties (BSP).

He has been associated with the university and the athletic department since 2005, when he became the general manager for BSP, serving as the main liaison with the school. He was a two-time Chairman's Cup Award recipient (2016-17, 2018-19), which was presented to the top sales executives each year. In 2016-17, under his leadership BSP was the recipient of the Learfield Sports Property of the Year Award, an elite honor given to the collegiate property that grew their year-over-year revenue the most. He worked alongside with the Buff Club and the CU Boulder Alumni Association on several projects during his time at BSP.

For four years (2008-12), Gerlach simultaneously was the general manager for Fresno State University's Bulldog Sports Properties, where he helped surpass and exceed new sales numbers and grew property advertising sales over that time.

Gerlach graduated with a bachelor's degree in Arts, Sports Management and Fitness in 2001 from Doane College, where he was a Presidential Academic Scholar. He attended to Doane on a dual football and basketball scholarship, but decided to play football only after his freshman year. A wide receiver, he earned either second-team or honorable mention honors his sophomore through senior years, as Doane made the national playoffs his freshman and junior years, losing to the eventual national champions in 1997 and to the reigning national champions in 1999 (to Findlay, Ohio in the '97 semifinals and to Azusa Pacific in the '99 first round).

He was born August 11, 1978 in Grand Island, Neb., and graduated from Central City (Neb.) High School, where he earned a combined 11 letters in football, basketball and track. His hobbies include spending time with his family, playing golf, skiing and going fishing with his son. He is married to the former Meghan Stewart (a pharmacist at Boulder Community Health), and the couple has three children, son Lucas (11) and daughters Emery (10) and Lauren (3). His wife's great, great uncle was Walter Franklin, who was the school's athletics manager in the early 1920s before the position of athletic director was created (Franklin Field east of Folsom Field is named for him).

An accomplished prep athlete, he earned assorted multiple all-state and all-conference honors in football and basketball and was a state track qualifier on two occasions. He earned an invitation to play in the '97 Nebraska Shrine Bowl in Lincoln (started at wide receiver; 2001 Heisman Trophy winner Eric Crouch was on the other team).

CECIL HAIRSTON II
Associate AD/Ticket Operations

Cecil Hairston II is in his second year as the associate athletic director for ticket operations, sales and services, joining the department on May 1, 2019.

Hairston, 41, is a veteran in the ticketing profession, as he brings 15 years of on-campus experience with previous stops at Bowling Green State University,

Oregon State, Cincinnati and most recently Boise State. He has focused on revenue generation while fostering customer service driven cultures, having led ticketing teams that achieved the highest attended home football and men's basketball games in Cincinnati history as well as the top 10 attended football games in Oregon State history, where he also led the unit that was responsible for the highest number of season ticket sales in school annals.

At his previous schools, he has coordinated ticket sales for eight football bowl games: Hawai'i (two), Sun (two), GMAC, Emerald, Las Vegas and Alamo, and while at Oregon State, handled the College World Series ticket distribution for the Beavers' back-to-back national champion baseball teams in 2006 and 2007.

Hairston began his professional career at his alma mater, serving as the assistant director of ticket operations at BGSU in 2004-05; he then moved on in a similar capacity at Oregon State (2005-08), before being named director of ticket ops from 2008-10. He was promoted to assistant AD at OSU in 2010, where he oversaw ticket operations, concessions and merchandising. He returned to his home state (Ohio) in 2015, where he would serve three years as the assistant athletic director for ticket operations at the University of Cincinnati.

He moved back to the Pacific Northwest for a year (2018), working as the general manager for IMG College/Learfield and Boise State University.

Hairston graduated from Bowling Green State University in 2004 with a bachelor's degree in the school's Sport Management program. At BGSU, he made the Dean's List on several occasions.

He was born November 7, 1978 in Columbus, Ohio (he has four sisters), and graduated from Columbus' Beechcroft High School, where he lettered in football. His hobbies include travel and cooking; he also takes pride in being a "third-generation left-hander," following his dad and grandfather as southpaws. He is married to the former LaTisha "Tish" Swann, and the couple has three children, Jordyn (21), Rashawn (18), and Rahman (13).

CORY HILLIARD
Associate AD/Business Operations & CFO

Cory Hilliard is in his 13th year with athletic department at the University of Colorado, his third as a senior associate athletic director, promoted to that position on August 1, 2018. That came after serving eight years as the associate athletic director for business operations after he originally joined the department in March 2008 as assistant business manager.

On July 1, 2016, the chief athletic financial officer (CAFO) responsibilities were added to his title and duties. He is on athletic director Rick George's executive team and also serves as the sports administrator for CU's cross country and track programs.

In his position, Hilliard is responsible for the management of the administrative, financial, budget, human resources, and payroll functions for the athletic department and its 17 sport programs. In addition to his business operations duties, Hilliard oversees the information technology support services for the Buffaloes.

Hilliard, 48, came to CU from the University of North Dakota where he was the assistant athletic director for business operations for three years (2006-08). He earned the promotion at UND after serving five years as the assistant director for business services (2001-06).

Hilliard graduated from Minnesota State University-Moorhead in 1995 with a Bachelor's of Science degree in Health Education, and in 2006 earned his master's degree in Business Administration from the University of North Dakota. Hilliard also attended the University of Wyoming from 1990-92 where he was a member of the track team, participating in the hurdles and relay events. While at MSU-Moorhead from 1993-95, he also lettered in the sport..

He was born August 2, 1972 in Rochester, Minn., he graduated from Manitou Springs High School (Colo.) in 1990, where he lettered in football and was an outstanding track and field athlete. He ran the 110- and 300-meter hurdles and was a member of the 4x200 and 4x400-meter relay teams that won multiple state titles in addition to the boys team championship in 1990. At one time (during the 1989 season), he held the Colorado state high school record in the 300-meter hurdle and is a former high school national champion in the 60-meter hurdles and 400-meter hurdles.

Hilliard is married to the former Abby Barendt, and the couple has two sons, Zach (24), who played tight end on the Missouri Baptist football team, and Jacob (18). He is actively involved in the College Athletic Business Management Association (CABMA) as well as a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA).

ORVILLE JENNINGS
Assistant AD/Compliance & SWA

Orville Jennings is in his third year as the assistant athletic director for the CU Events Center and Game Day Operations, joining the department on July 11, 2018.

He came to Colorado from Central Michigan University, where he was the associate athletic director for facilities and event operations. He was promoted to that position on January 1, 2017, after serving as the assistant AD with the same responsibilities for the previous 16 months. After his promotion, his role was expanded to include working on capital projects undertaken by the Chippewas, which included a baseball performance development center, Kelly/Shorts Stadium and field hockey turf replacements and Title IX locker room and office renovations.

He had returned to CMU in September 2015, where he had earned his master's degree in sport administration in 2010. While in graduate school, he served as an intern in facilities, events and game management and was a sport camp assistant for the 2009-10 academic year.

After earning his master's, he moved on to Wake Forest University from 2011-15, where he started as the assistant director of event management and facilities before being promoted to the director in 2013.

Jennings earned his bachelor's degree in business administration, sports management from Tiffin (Ohio) University in 2008, where he lettered four times (2005 through 2008) as an offensive lineman for the Dragons. A member of Tiffin's 2007 Great Lakes Conference championship team, he was a semifinalist for the university's Student-Athlete of the Year Award. He earned Great Lakes Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (GLIAC) All-Academic honors as a senior in 2008 and earned academic all-conference honors when Tiffin was a member of the Great Lakes Football Conference in both 2006 and 2007.

He was born in Lima, Ohio, and graduated from Lima Senior High School where he lettered in football and track and field. He is married to the former Laura Hosler, and the couple has a daughter, Josi.

JILL KEEGAN
Senior Associate AD/Compliance & SWA

Jill Keegan is in her 11th year as a member of the University of Colorado athletic department, her first as the senior associate athletic director for compliance as she was promoted on July 1, 2020. On the same date, she assumed the role of CU's senior woman's administrator, and is also on athletic director Rick George's executive team and has sports administrator duties for CU's volleyball program.

She replaced the retiring Ceal Barry as the school's SWA, becoming just the fourth to hold the position at Colorado since it was created in 1992.

Keegan previously had served two years as the associate athletic director for compliance, which had followed three years as an assistant A.D. in the same area, as she was promoted to that role on June 1, 2015. She was the associate compliance director for four years, hired on Oct. 1, 2010, initially serving as the rules education coordinator, as her role gradually expanded through the years.

She came to Colorado in October 2010 from Michigan State University where she served as the assistant compliance coordinator for four years. Prior to Michigan State, she was the assistant director of compliance at Marshall University where she also completed her master's degree in Sport Administration in 2006. Keegan received her bachelor's degree in Sports Marketing and management from Indiana University in 2005 where she also served as an intern in the Hoosiers' compliance office.

A native of Owatonna, Minn., the former Jill Gainey graduated from Angola High School in Angola, Ind., in 2001, lettering in volleyball, basketball and track and field. Her hobbies include attending sporting events, traveling, outdoor activities and gardening. She and her husband Brian are the parents of a 3-year old son, Nolan.

PREMA KHANNA
Assistant AD/Marketing

Prema Khanna is in her 17th year as CU's director of marketing, as she was promoted to the position July 7, 2004, and in her seventh as an assistant athletic director, earning that promotion in the summer of 2013.

She is in her 19th year overall the department, having worked two years as promotions manager for the Buffaloes after joining the staff in August 2002. She is responsible for coordinating marketing efforts for football, basketball and volleyball ticket sales, as well as promotions both on and-off the fields and courts, including game day atmosphere.

Khanna, 49, came to Colorado from Texas Tech, where she worked two years as the director of marketing and promotions. She got her start at Missouri, her alma mater, as a graduate assistant in 1995, and was hired full-time the following year as marketing and promotions coordinator. In 1997, she was promoted to assistant director of marketing and held that position for the next three years before moving on to Texas Tech in 2000.

She graduated from the University of Missouri with a bachelor's degree in business administration in 1995, and earned her master's degree in sports administration from MU in 1997.

Born July 29, 1971 in Haldwani, India, her family moved to Cleveland, Ohio, when she was a toddler, and then to Toronto, Ontario in second grade. She lived in Canada until she was 13, when her family established residency in Columbia, Mo. She graduated from Rock Bridge High School, where she lettered in tennis.

LINDSAY LEW
Assistant AD/Digital Marketing

Lindsay Lew is in her fifth year as the assistant athletic director for digital and database marketing, as she was promoted to the position on July 1, 2016, after serving since 2007 (nine years) as the director of strategic sales and communication. She is in her 23rd year overall at Colorado, in the second of two stints working for the school.

Lew is responsible for oversight of ecommerce operations and revenue management for the CU athletic department, as well as digital strategy and content, email marketing and the business analytics team. She is also the sport supervisor for the women's soccer program, a role she assumed in 2019.

She was an assistant sports information director for at CU for five years (1999-2004), before leaving in August 2004 for a marketing position with Webroot Software. She was promoted from graduate assistant SID on August 6, 1999 to an assistant's position after working the previous year as the GA in the media relations office and one year as a student assistant; she was the first woman at CU to hold the grad assistant role in the SID office, and is the first female student worker in sports information to become an assistant athletic director at the school.

Lew was the women's soccer SID her first three years as an assistant SID, before switching to women's basketball and men's and women's indoor and outdoor track for the final four years in her first CU tour of duty. She also served as media coordinator for two women's NCAA basketball sub-regionals and was the official statistician for the 1999 NCAA Women's Soccer College Cup in Palo Alto, Calif. In 2015 she served as the Tournament Director for the Pac-12 Women's Golf Championship in Boulder at Boulder Country Club.

Lew is a 1997 graduate of Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas, where she received her bachelor's degree in Communication. She returned to her native state in the fall of 1997 to begin graduate studies in the CU journalism school's Integrated Marketing Communication program. She received her master's degree in December 1998.

She was a soccer standout at Trinity, a nationally-ranked Division III program, earning all-conference honors all four years, as well as NSCAA All-Region honors as a sophomore. Lew also played collegiate golf for two years, helping Trinity to the 1995 conference championship. She also worked in the school's SID office her senior year.

Born July 23 in Denver, the former Lindsay Anhold graduated from Green Mountain High School in 1993, where she lettered in soccer, basketball and softball. She has remained active in soccer through the years, coaching youth recreational teams, and is an avid golfer and runner. Her younger brother Eric is a Colorado grad, and her father Monty is a graduate of UC-Denver. She is married to Jason Lew and they have two sons, Jackson and Dylan. In her free time, she serves as president of her sorority alumni association foundation. She was the recipient of an "Honorary C" award in 2016 for her dedication to the department.

JO MARCHI
Director of Camps & Special Projects

Jo Marchi is in her second "tour of duty" with the CU athletic department, as she returned to the school in 2019 as the director of camps and special projects. She is in her 14th year overall working for the Buffaloes.

Marchi, 38, left the university in 2017 to teach yoga full-time, which still does in her spare time. In her position, she coordinates many aspects of the sports camps that most of CU's 17 intercollegiate sports conduct in the summer. She had previously served as the associate director of compliance/monitoring for athletics for 12 years; she was named to that position full-time in October 2005 after working as an intern in CU's compliance office for seven months.

In her previous role, she performed multiple duties on behalf of the student-athletes, including serving as the staff liaison with CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) for 10 years (2007-16), as well as the sport camp coordinator, also assuming the latter role in 2007. She coordinates the annual CUSPY (CU Sports Performers of the Year) banquet, also serving on the selection committee with the sports information staff and has been a regular member of search committees for department openings.

Marchi came to Colorado from Indiana University, where she worked as a compliance intern her senior year in college. She graduated from Indiana with Bachelor's degree in Sport Marketing and Management in 2004. She then moved west to Colorado and accepted an intern position with CU in February 2005.

She was born January 29, 1982 in Bloomingdale, Ill., and graduated Glenbard (Ill.) East High School, where she lettered in basketball and track and field. Her hobbies include traveling and baking.

DR. ERIC MCCARTY
Head Team Physician

Dr. Eric McCarty is in his 18th year working with the CU athletic program, joining the sports medicine team in July 2003. But he's certainly no stranger to the University or to Boulder.

McCarty, 55, is the Chief of Sports Medicine and Shoulder Surgery position in the Department of Orthopedics at CU's Health Sciences Center in Denver, where he also is an associate professor, enabling him to return to his home state where he starred as both a prep and collegian.

He returned to CU from Vanderbilt University, where he was an orthopedic surgeon, assistant professor and team physician for the Commodores' athletic teams for four years.

McCarty is the head team physician for the University of Colorado, the head orthopedic team physician for the University of Denver, and the medical director and head team physician for the National Hockey League's Colorado Avalanche. As a board-certified orthopedic surgeon his specialized practice involves the care of collegiate athletes as well as recreational and highly competitive athletes from the community. A large part of his practice is the sports medicine care of high school athletes in the state of Colorado.

He graduated in 1988 from CU with a degree in kinesiology and a 3.75 grade point average. A four-time Academic All-Big Eight team member, the first in school history to be honored four times, he was an Academic All-American his senior year, when he reached the finalist stage for the Rhodes Scholarship. On the field, he earned first-team All-Big Eight honors as a senior, when he led the Buffaloes with 148 tackles, the fourth highest total at the time in team history. He had 237 career tackles in two years on defense, after moving over from offense where he played fullback (503 career rushing yards), and earned four letters.

He earned his M.D., with honors, in 1993 from the University of Colorado School of Medicine in Denver, and did his internship residency at Vanderbilt in orthopedic surgery between 1993 and 1998. Shortly thereafter, he spent a year at the internationally renowned Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City, where he received a fellowship in sports medicine and shoulder surgery. While residing in New York, he worked with the NFL's New York Giants. During this time is when he obtained his expertise in the arthroscopic and open surgical management of sports injuries to the knees and shoulders as well as a special emphasis in the management of complex shoulder problems including shoulder instability, rotator cuff tears and shoulder replacement surgery for arthritis.

In addition to his busy clinical practice, Dr. McCarty is very active in research, teaching, and writing articles in the field of sports medicine and knee and shoulder surgery. He has received grants for his research and has given numerous talks at both the national and international level. One of his many interests is the care of the high school athlete, and his background allows him the ability to understand the issues surrounding the prep athlete.

McCarty has been the recipient of over four dozen awards in his professional career, and has had papers published on 15 occasions while contributing to several others.

He was born November 16, 1964 in Lundstuhl, West Germany. He graduated from Boulder High School in 1983, where he was the state's player of the year as a senior and considered one of the nation's top recruits after rushing for 1,301 and 13 touchdowns; he won the prestigious Denver Post Gold Helmet Award that same year. He is married to the former Miriam Liddell, and they have four grown children, Madeleine, Eric Cleveland, Jr., Shannon and Torrance.

SCOTT McMICHAEL
Assistant AD/Development

Scott McMichael is in his 14th year as an assistant athletic director of development at the University of Colorado. He works to support endowments, annual gifts, and capital projects by generating major gift revenue and also has worked with the school's Alumni C Club, supporting alumni relations.

Prior to joining Colorado in 2007, McMichael spent 10 years working for the University of Kansas as the Assistant Athletic Director/Director of the Williams Educational Fund & K-Club. As Director of the Williams Fund he cultivated new contributors and stewardship of existing donors generating over $5 million annually. He also developed a Career Placement Program for student-athletes.

McMichael spent six years at Wilson Sporting Goods as a sales representative where he was responsible for new account openings, analyzing growth potential of established accounts and promotional calls on collegiate and professional teams.

McMichael graduated from Kansas with a bachelor's of science degree in education and also studied business and education in graduate school. He was a four-year letterwinner for the Jayhawks' football team where he set a school passing record as a sophomore and earned honorable mention to the All-Big 8 conference team. McMichael was a free agent signee of the Atlanta Falcons after his playing days at KU.

Born and raised in Kansas City, McMichael graduated from Shawnee Mission West High School in Overland Park, Kan. He enjoys spending time with his wife Marcia, his son Bryce, and his daughter Morgan. His hobbies include hiking, water skiing, golf and travel. He was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award in 2016 for his dedication to the department.

DR. SOURAV PODDAR
Medical Director/Team Physician

Dr. Sourav Poddar is his 21st year working with the CU athletic program, his 19th with the football program as a team physician and his fifth as the athletic department's medical director, for which he was named on July 1, 2016; the Pac-12 Conference required someone from each member school to hold the designation.

Poddar, 48, is an associate professor in the departments of Family Medicine and Orthopedics at the CU School of Medicine, and sees patients at the CU Sports Medicine Center. He also serves as the Director of the Primary Care Sports Medicine (PCSM) Program. He has served in leadership roles for the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine and currently serves on the Board of Directors for the AMSSM Foundation. He has also served on the NCAA's Competitive Safeguards Committee and currently sits on the Pac-12's Brain Trauma Task Force, serving as the chair for the latter.

He is board certified in family practice, with a CAQ certificate in sports medicine. His specific areas of medical interest within the realm of sports medicine include heat illnesses. sports-related concussion and special expertise in the management of acute and chronic joint and soft tissue injury, including novel approaches using biologic therapies. In addition to primary care, he specializes in the non-operative management of sports medicine injuries, as well as injury prevention, and novel approaches to treat overuse injuries.

He graduated from Rice University in 1993 with a degree in biochemistry, and then completed medical school at the University of Texas-Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas in 1997. At Rice, he was a member of the soccer team.

Poddar completed his residency in family practice at the UCHSC-Rose in Denver (he was chief resident during his third year in residency), and subsequently completed a fellowship in sports medicine at the University of Colorado, working with former CU team physician Rob Loeffler.

Born April 15, 1972 in Bombay, India, his family moved to the United States when he was a two-year old; he graduated from Clear Lake High School in Houston, where he lettered in soccer. He is married to the former Emily Aldeen, and in 2018, he was the recipient of the Alumni C Club's "Honorary C" award for his long-time dedication to the department. (His name is pronounced shuh-rav poe-dar.)

RACHEL RIPKEN
Director of Community Outreach

Rachel Ripken is in her 13th year as a member of CU athletic department, dating back to when she was a freshman in school in 2008 and earning her way into several promotions since. She was named Director of Community Outreach on August 1, 2018, which entails most of her duties as Community Outreach Manager, which she has done since being promoted on July 1, 2016.

In her current role, she manages all of the athletic department's community outreach initiatives and popular programming such as Read with the Buffs, Chip's Kids Club and Ralphie's Kids Roundup. She manages the Ralphie live mascot program and oversees CU's spirit groups, which include cheer, dance and the costumed mascot, Chip. She also coordinates coach and student-athlete appearances and Leadership Through Service opportunities in the community and is the staff advisor to CU's Student-Athlete Advisory Board (SAAC), and has an active role with the group in coordinating the annual CUSPY's (CU Sports Performers of the Year).

Ripken, 30, has spent her entire professional career with the Buffaloes, as she was appointed as a marketing and promotions associate following her graduation from CU in 2012. Shortly thereafter, she was hired full-time as a community outreach coordinator.

She graduated from the University of Colorado in 2012, with a double major in History and Communication while earning a minor in Dance. She worked as a student assistant for four years in the men's basketball office under head coaches Jeff Bzdelik and Tad Boyle while earning her degree.

She was born November 22, 1989 in Baltimore, Md., and graduated from St. Paul's High School in Brooklandville, Md., where she was a member of the school's dance company. Her hobbies include skiing, hiking, traveling and going to sporting events. Her family has famous baseball lineage, most notably her father, Cal Ripken Jr., the Baseball Hall of Fame infielder who played 21 seasons in the majors, all with the Baltimore Orioles (and set the record for most consecutive games played with 2,632). An uncle, Billy Ripken, also played in the majors for 12 seasons, and a grandfather, the late Cal Ripken Sr., was a player, coach and manager in the Orioles organization for 36 years. Her younger brother, Ryan, is currently in the Orioles' minor league farm system (AA ball with the Bowie Baysox of the Eastern League).

TRACY TRIPP
Associate AD/Human Resources

Tracy Tripp is in her 13th year as a member of CU athletic department, as she was promoted to the associate athletic director for human resources on August 1, 2018. She is a member of athletic director Rick George's executive team and is entering her fifth season as the sport supervisor for the women's lacrosse program.

Tripp returned to her alma mater where starred on the women's basketball two decades earlier on August 1, 2008 as the director of operations for the program she helped lead to its first Big Eight title in 1989. After four years in that position, she transitioned out of coaching into a new role as Sustainability Manager and Athletic Facilities Assistant. On October 8, 2013, Tripp moved into the role as Coordinator of Human Resources & Payroll for Athletics.

Tripp spent 13 seasons (1995-08) as an assistant women's basketball coach at the University of Denver, and was promoted to associate head coach for her final season there. She assisted the Pioneer's transition from NCAA Division II to Division I in 1998, and just four seasons later (2001), helped guide DU into its first NCAA Tournament. Considered and excellent teacher of the game, Tripp was responsible for the development of both guard and post play, scouting of opponents, in-game strategy, and served as the camp director for all summer camps. Tripp's other duties included recruiting, alumni relations and academic support. She was responsible for the development of DU's most notable center, Misa Pavlickova, the 2001 Sun Belt Conference Player of the Year, the 24th overall pick of the 2001 WNBA Draft and a member of the 2004 Czech Republic Olympic team, as well as other numerous all-conference players.

Prior to joining the staff at DU, Tripp spent one season as an assistant coach at San Diego State (1994-95), helping the Aztecs to the Western Athletic Conference title and earn a berth in the NCAA Tournament in working under head coach Beth Burns, who was a CU assistant while she was a player. She also spent one season (1993-94) as an assistant basketball and volleyball coach at Western State College in Gunnison. Before embarking on her collegiate coaching career, Tripp served as head girls basketball coach at Boulder's Fairview High from 1990-93, leading Knights to three-straight Class 5A state tournaments and an overall record of 54-18. Tripp also taught physical education, health and science during her tenure.

As a standout performer on Ceal Barry's early Colorado teams, she was a third-team Freshman All-American for the 1985-86 season, second-team All-Big Eight as a sophomore and honorable mention All-Conference as a junior. She also garnered second-team All-Big Eight Tournament honors as a senior in 1989, when the then-Lady Buffs defeated Oklahoma State in the title game, 98-92, in double overtime to complete the first undefeated run by any team in conference history, as CU was 14-0 in the regular season. She started 117 of 121 games in her career, averaging 13.0 points per game in not missing a single game in earning four letters; her 1,574 points were the fourth-most in program history at the time of her graduation, and still rank 11th on the list. To this day, she still co-holds the record for the most points scored in a game when she tallied 38 at Oklahoma State her sophomore season.

Tripp graduated from CU in 1989 with a bachelor's degree in Kinesiology, and earned her teaching certificate from CU the following year. She was a three-time Academic All-Big Eight team member.

A native of Fort Collins, Colo., she graduated from Fort Collins High School where she lettered in basketball and volleyball. Her hobbies include cycling, mountain biking, hiking, skiing, snowshoeing and watching sports. She was twice recognized as a Colorado Sportswoman of the Year, first for her senior year at Fort Collins in 1985, and the second following her senior season at CU in 1989.

ALEXIS WILLIAMS

Senior Associate AD/External Operations

Alexis Williams returned to CU as the senior associate athletic director for external operations, assuming the role on August 1, 2020. In her position, she also serves as the department's diversity and inclusion officer in addition to overseeing marketing, promotions, ticket operations and BuffVision. She is also a member of athletic director Rick George's executive team and is the sport supervisor for the women's tennis program.

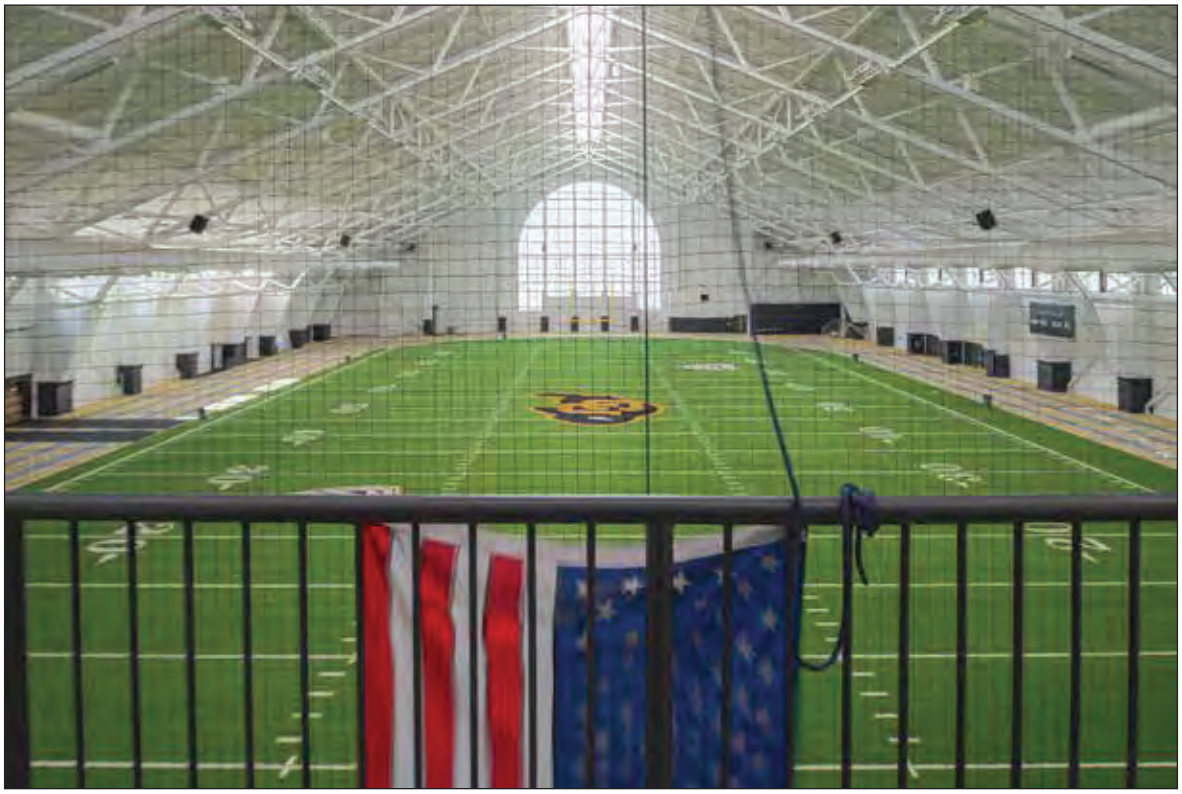

Williams is in her second stint at CU, returning from her native city and the University of Houston, where she had served as the Cougars' associate athletics director for ticket sales and operations for the previous year-and-a-half after her first time with the Buffaloes. She also started the Houston's diversity and inclusion council.

She had first joined the Colorado staff as the associate AD for ticket operations, sales and services in March 2015, and was promoted to associate athletic director over the same areas on August 1, 2018. She was also an active member on the department's Diversity & Inclusion Excellence Council.

She originally came to Colorado from Theatre Under The Stars in Houston, Texas, where she was the manager of ticketing and customer service for seven-and-a-half years (November 2007-March 2015). She previously was the assistant athletic director for ticket operations at Rice University for just over four years (September 2003-November 2007). She was promoted into that position after serving three years as the Owls' assistant ticket manager. Her first position in the business came as the assistant ticket manager at SMU in 1999.

Williams earned two degrees from Louisiana State University. She received her bachelor's in Mathematics in 1996 and her master's in Sports Management in 1998. At LSU, she was active in the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and a manager for the women's basketball team.

A native of Houston, Texas, she graduated from Houston's Bellaire High School, where she lettered in basketball (point guard). Her hobbies include playing golf, reading, travel and attending concerts and sporting events.

CU's Indoor Practice Facility (IPF), one of the best in all of college football.

LETTERMAN PICTURE

Colorado has 57 lettermen returning for the 2020 season (54 from the 2019 team, one from 2018 and one from 2017); they break down into 24 on offense, 30 on defense and three specialists; the Buffs lose 31 lettermen off the 2019 squad (16 offense/12 defense/3 specialists). CU will return 15 starters from 2019 (7 offense/8 defense), losing nine (5 offense/4 defense); two players started at least six games at the same position offense and defense, so the starter count was based off 12 players on each side instead of the standard 11. The 2019 starters are listed in bold (six or more starts); *—denotes letters earned primarily on special teams; QIS—quit in season. The breakdown:

AUGUST 30, 2019
BRONCOS STADIUM AT MILE HIGH, DENVER

DENVER — Colorado's defense produced four turnovers and a touchdown and Alex Fontenot rushed for 125 yards three touchdowns to give Mel Tucker a 52-31 win over Colorado State in his CU head coaching debut.

While offense was the name of the game for most of the night — the 83 combined points were the most in series history — the Buffs defense came up with some huge stops that paved the way for CU's fifth straight win in the series.

The clincher came late in the fourth quarter, when CU linebacker Jonathan Van Diest sacked CSU quarterback Collin Hill, forcing a fumble. Buffs defensive lineman Mustafa Johnson scooped up the ball and rumbled 9 yards to the end zone for the final points of the game with 3:57 remaining.

In the 19th and final game in Denver between the two in-state rivals (they will play in Fort Collins next year), the Buffs and Rams combined to produce nearly 1,000 yards total offense. Kickoff was delayed 37 minutes because of lightning and the game didn't finish until after midnight.

After a see-saw first half that saw four lead changes in the final nine minutes of the second quarter, the Buffs finally took control after recovering a CSU fumble on the first possession of the third quarter

With CU leading 24-21, CU safety Aaron Maddox stripped the ball from CSU running back Marvin Kinsey and Jalen Sami recovered, giving the Buffs the ball at the CSU 27. Quarterback Steven Montez then ran for 19 yards to set up a 7-yard Fontenot touchdown run and a 31-21 CU lead.

The Rams never came closer than seven again. The Buffs extended the margin to 38-24 on the last play of the third period on a Fontenot 14-yard run, and following a

CSU touchdown that cut the gap back to seven, the Buffs answered with a 75-yard drive and a 22-yard Fontenot run to go back up by two touchdowns, 45-31, with 9:16 left in the game.

Van Diest's strip sack and Johnson's touchdown then sealed the game.

Defensively, Mikial Onu had two interceptions for Colorado while CU's offense did not turn the ball over.

The Buffs drew first blood, taking the opening possession and going 75 yards for a score. CU rushed for 68 yards on the drive before tight end Jalen Harris capped the march with a 1-yard scoring pass from Montez.

But the Rams quickly answered with an 80-yard drive to tie the game.

After a CU punt and Mikial Onu's first interception, the Buffs regained the lead, 10-7, on a James Stefanou field goal early in the second quarter. But CSU quickly answered with another long drive, going 92 yards in 11 plays for a 14-10 lead.

Colorado then responded with a 75-yard scoring drive, getting freshman Jaren Mangham's first touchdown of his career, a 5-yard run to give the Buffs a 17-14 lead. CSU, however, drove 75 yards on its next possession to regain the lead, 21-17, with just 1:35 left in the half when wide receiver Dante Wright scampered 41 yards for a score.

That, though, was more than enough time for the Buffs to answer. Montez hit tight end Brady Russell with back-to-back passes to take Colorado into CSU territory. Two plays later, Montez rolled to his left and found Laviska Shenault at the goal line for a 25-yard touchdown pass with 25 seconds left in the half. That gave CU a 24-21 lead heading into halftime.

GAME NOTES

As 66,997 attended the final Rocky Mountain Showdowns in Denver, the 19 events (16 at the new stadium, three at old Mile High) attracted a total of 1,294,101 in attendance (for the final game, CU sold 38,102 tickets; 25,868 public, 12,234 student). With kickoff at 8:47 p.m., it was the fourth latest kickoff in CU history (second latest in Colorado—latest was 9:08 vs. Oregon in 2015); the 37-minute delay due to lightning was reminiscent of a 28-minute delay in the 2003 game here (that was in the third quarter) … The ending at 12:06 a.m. was the second latest in the state (Oregon, 12:31 a.m.) … CU has won four straight season openers for the first time since claiming eight in a row (1991-98) … Mel Tucker joined Rick Neuheisel (1995) and Mike MacIntyre (2013) as the only coaches to win their first game at the reins of the Buffaloes dating back to 1932 … Buffs now lead the series with CSU by 67-22-2 (13-6 in Denver, 23-8 since it was resumed in 1983) … Colorado is now 81-44-5 in 130 season openers … The 83 points scored tonight are the most in the 91 games in the series, topping the 82 in the 1996 game at Fort Collins (a 48-34 CU win) … CU has won five straight in the series, the longest run by either school since the Buffs claimed eight straight from 1987 through 1998 (CU has outscored the Rams 185-78 in the streak) … The 52 points by CU are the most in the series since 1952, when CU won 61-0 in Boulder; it's also the sixth-most overall (all by Colorado) … Colorado is now 124-2 all-time when scoring 43 or more points … The Buffs have now made 102 consecutive PAT kicks dating back to October 2016 … CU dressed 104 players for tonight, it's most in recent memory.

SEPTEMBER 7, 2019
FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER – Colorado staged one of the more improbable comebacks in program history, rallying from a 17-0 halftime deficit to take a 34-31 overtime win over 25th-ranked Nebraska at Folsom Field.

James Stefanou's 34-yard field goal in the first overtime gave the Buffs their first lead of the day and the Buffs then held NU on the ensuing possession. A Mustafa Johnson sack of Nebraska quarterback Adrian Martinez put the Huskers back at the 31-yard line, and an Isaac Armstrong 48-yard field goal attempt on fourth down went wide right.

That triggered a massive Folsom Field celebration as Colorado improved to 2-0 under first-year head coach Mel Tucker. Nebraska dropped to 1-1.

Colorado's Steven Montez finished with 375 yards passing and two touchdowns, with 291 of those yards and both scores coming after halftime as Colorado outscored the Huskers 31-14 after intermission, including a 24-14 count in the fourth quarter. CU junior receiver K.D. Nixon had six catches for 148 yards — including a 96-yard touchdown catch, the longest play from scrimmage in CU history — and Tony Brown added five catches for 60 yards and a score.

Defensively, the Buffs finished with six sacks and once again won the turnover battle, coming up with two fumble recoveries and an interception while the offense turned the ball over twice.

It was CU's first win over a ranked opponent since the end of the 2016 regular season. It was also CU's second come-from-behind win this season, coming on the heels of last week's season opening 52-31 win over Colorado State, and the Buffs' second straight win over Nebraska.

After a tough first half on both sides of the ball, the Buffs came alive in the second half to stage their rally.

The defense set the tone, forcing Nebraska punts on the Huskers' first four possessions of the half. The Buffs offense couldn't take advantage of the first two, but finally got on the board after the third, marching 64 yards in eight plays for their first touchdown of the game. Jaren Mangham capped the drive with an 11-yard run to pull CU to within 17-7 with 2:24 left in the third period.

CU's defense then answered the bell again to force another Nebraska punt — and this time the Buffs needed just one play to score. Montez took a pitch back on a flea flicker play, then heaved a 96-yard touchdown pass to Nixon to cut the margin to 17-14 with 14:22 still to play.

The Huskers then finally answered with a 75-yard scoring pass from Martinez to Maurice Washington for a 24-14 lead.

But the Buffs responded, going 75 yards in five plays for a touchdown on their next drive to pull within 24-21. Montez hit Jaylon Jackson with a 57-yard pass, which set up a 7-yard Mangham run.

That set the stage for another CU defensive big play. Johnson sacked Martinez, forcing a fumble. Nu'umotu Falo recovered — his second of the game — and seven plays later, Stefanou's 20-yard field goal for Colorado tied the game at 24-24.

Nebraska then regained the lead with a 75-yard TD march. But following a CU fumble and another NU punt, Montez guided a 10-play, 71-yard march that culminated with a 26-yard touchdown pass to Brown to tie the game at 31-31 with 46 seconds left.

Nebraska had one more shot in regulation, but a Chris Miller interception ended the possession to send the game into overtime.
In the first half, the Buffs had no answer for Nebraska's Martinez. The NU sophomore was a perfect 9-for-9 for 180 yards while Colorado struggled to just 84 yards offense.

GAME NOTES

Mel Tucker became the 10th coach (out of 26) in CU history to win his first two games at the reins of the program … CU rallied from a 17-point deficit to win, tying its fourth-largest comeback in school history; it's previous large comeback against Nebraska was 12 (down 12-0 entering the fourth quarter at Lincoln in 1990) … The sellout crowd of 52,829 was the largest (and third of 50,000-plus) since Folsom was reconfigured ahead of the 2015 season … Colorado improved to 7-8 in overtime games in its history (1-1 vs. Nebraska; in the 1999 OT game won by the Huskers, CU rallied from down 27-3 tie the game but missed a 33-yarder that would have won it; NU held CU to a field goal in OT as it did today, but scored a TD on its possession to win) … The Buffaloes snapped an 8-game losing streak against (AP) ranked teams, its last win coming over No. 21 Utah in 2016 … CU has won 13 straight non-conference games in the state's borders (eight in Boulder, five in Denver) … Colorado gained 258 yards in the fourth quarter after having 193 at the end of three … Colorado's first 10 plays in NU territory were for net negative 6 yards; the last 21 gained 134 yards … Colorado had six quarterback sacks in the game, four coming on third downs (all in the second half) … The Buffs have now made 106 consecutive PAT kicks dating back to October 2016 … A defensive battle through three quarters (24 points, 509 yards) did a 180 in the fourth, when the teams combined for 38 points and 417 yards … Nebraska was 7-of-12 on second down in the first half, but was held to 1-of-12 in the second half.

AIR FORCE 30

SEPTEMBER 14, 2019
FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado came back from a 23-10 deficit to tie the game at 23-23 and force overtime against Air Force, but unlike the previous week, the Buffaloes couldn't produce a win in the extra period, dropping a 30-23 decision at Folsom Field.

The loss came on the heels of a 34-31 win over Nebraska in overtime, making it the first time in CU history that the Buffs have played back-to-back OT games. Colorado dropped to 2-1 while Air Force improved to 2-0.

Colorado scored a touchdown on its first possession of the game and then quickly added a field goal for a 10-0 lead, but after that it was all Air Force until late in the fourth quarter. The Falcons scored three straight touchdowns in the first half to take a 20-10 lead, and it took an interception by CU's Mikial Onu in the end zone near the end of the first half to prevent the Falcons from making the margin even bigger.

While Air Force did produce 439 yards total offense, Colorado's defense also continued its takeaway trend, producing three in the game, getting two fumble recoveries to go with Onu's interception.

Air Force scored the winning touchdown on the first play of overtime, getting a 25-yard run from Kadin Remsberg. The Buffs then managed a first down on the ensuing possession, but a fourth-down pass attempt from Steven Montez to Laviska Shenault Jr. in the end zone fell incomplete.

Colorado trailed 20-10 at the half, then saw Air Force push the lead to 23-10 with a field goal midway through the fourth quarter after a scoreless third period.

The Buffs finally answered with their first touchdown since the opening drive of the game when they went 75 yards in 12 plays for the score. Montez hit Shenault with a key third-down pass to keep the drive alive, then found Dimitri Stanley in the end zone for a 14-yard touchdown with 6:09 left in regulation. The PAT was blocked, however, leaving Colorado trailing by seven, 23-16, with just more than six minutes to play.

The Buffs then forced an Air Force punt and drove 60 yards for the tying touchdown, getting a 2-yard run from Shenault. The PAT tied the game at 23-23 with 28 seconds left and sent the game into overtime.

Colorado's offense looked good early, taking the opening kickoff and going 75 yards in 11 plays for a score, culminating the drive with a 42-yard Montez pass to Shenault. Shenault also had a 17-yard catch to keep the drive alive on third down, and Jaren Mangham ran for 2 yards on fourth-and-1.

Colorado then pushed its edge to 10-0 with 7:23 still left in the first quarter when the Buffs converted a Davion Taylor fumble recovery into a 36-yard James Stefanou field goal.

But from that point on, the Falcons controlled the tempo and the rest of the half.

AFA pulled to within 10-6 after CU's field goal, driving 75 yards in seven plays, with a Donald Hammond 32-yard pass to Geraud Sanders capping the drive. AFA's extra point try bounced off the upright, keeping CU's edge at 10-6.

The Falcons, though, kept punching away. AFA forced a CU punt, then went 78 yards in 12 plays for the go-ahead score. Hammond capped the drive with a 2-yard run and the PAT gave the Falcons a 13-10 lead. After another CU punt, AFA needed just two plays to extend its lead to 20-10. Hammond hit Benjamin Waters with an 81-yard touchdown pass and Air Force had a 20-10 lead with 6:37 to go in the half.

GAME NOTES

This marked the first time in CU history the Buffs played back-to-back overtime games (fourth time two in the same season: 1999, 2002, 2014, 2019); Colorado is now 7-9 in overtime games in its history … CU is now 0-2 in black helmet/silver jerseys/black pant (and now 3-17 in black helmets) … Air Force snapped a five-game losing streak to the Buffaloes, but CU still holds a 12-5 lead in the series … Air Force has now scored in 308 straight games dating back to 1992 … The loss snapped CU's 13-game winning streak against non-conference opponents within the state's borders (eight in Boulder, five in Denver) … Colorado has outscored the opponent 51-24 in the fourth quarter this season, with a 507-330 edge in yards (393-181 the last two games) … Colorado has now forced 10 turnovers in three games (committing three) for a +2.33 in turnover margin … The Buffs had made 107 consecutive PAT kicks dating back to October 2016 before Air Force blocked one in the fourth quarter … AFA's 81-yard TD play was the eighth longest pass play against the Buffs in their history … When WR Dimitri Stanley scored the first touchdown (and points) of his career with his 13-yard TD reception in the fourth quarter, he joined his father Walter ('81) as the fourth father-son duo to score points for the Buffs … WR Laviska Shenault (8-124, 1 TD receiving, 3-25 1 TD rushing; 149 all-purpose yards; 9 FDE/2 rush, 7 receive) had the fourth game of his career where he scored TDs both rushing and receiving and his sixth 100-yard receiving career game … S Mikial Onu (11 TT, 1 INT, 1 FF) made his third interception on the season and forced his second fumble, thus creating five turnovers in his first three games as a Buff … With the attendance of 49,282 after 52,829 against Nebraska, it marked the largest back-to-back crowds to open the season at Folsom Field since 2009.

SUN DEVIL STADIUM, TEMPE

TEMPE. Ariz. — Colorado's James Stefanou broke a 31-31 tie with a 44-yard field goal with 2:03 left in the game and CU's defense then came up with a final defensive stand to give the Buffs a 34-31 win over No. 24 Arizona State at Sun Devil Stadium.

Colorado scored 24 points in the first half and added another touchdown in the third quarter, but it took Stefanou's field goal to make the difference in the Pac-12 opener for both teams. ASU had not given up a point in the first three quarters of a game this year.

The victory ended an 0-5 CU skid against the Sun Devils on their home turf and also gave the Buffs their first road win against a ranked team since 2002, ending a 29-game losing skein (the last win coming at UCLA on the same date 17 years earlier). It was also CU's second win over a ranked team this season, as the Buffs earlier knocked off No. 25 Nebraska in overtime by the same 34-31 score.

Colorado needed just five minutes to do what no one else had done against Arizona State in three games this year — score a first quarter touchdown. The Buffs took the opening kick and marched 75 yards to pay dirt for a 7-0 lead. Steven Montez completed passes of 17 yards to Dimitri Stanley, 10 to Brown and 23 to Laviska Shenault Jr. before Alex Fontenot crashed over the left side from 1-yard out.

The Buffs made it 14-0 on their next possession following a missed ASU field goal. Montez was again on target, completing throws of 15 yards to Fontenot and 6 to Brown before connecting with Brown again on a 29-yard score.

But ASU finally answered, going 76 yards for a score, with the big chunk a 53-yard scoring toss from Jayden Daniels to Brandon Aiyuk. ASU then recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff and went 44 yards for another touchdown to tie the game at 14-14.

Colorado, however, quickly answered. The Buffs needed just 1:47 to go 61 yards and regain the lead, with Montez connecting with Brown again, this time from 31 yards out for a 21-14 CU lead.

The Sun Devils, though, carved out a response. ASU converted two third downs on its next possession, with Eno Benjamin capping the drive with a 3-yard scoring drive to tie the game again, 21-21, with 5:23 to go in the half.

That was enough time for CU to march downfield and pick up a 25-yard Stefanou field goal with 28 seconds left in the half for a 24-21 Buffs halftime lead.

The Sun Devils tied it up at 24-24 with a field goal late in the third quarter before Colorado regained the lead again. Montez hooked up with Brown for a 20-yard touchdown pass for a 31-24 lead with just 1:10 left in the third quarter. The Sun Devils quickly answered, getting a 39-yard touchdown pass from Jayden Daniels to Frank Darby, tying the game at 31-31 with 13:51 left in regulation.

The teams then traded a pair of empty possessions, with CU ending one ASU drive on an interception by Derrion Rakestraw. Then, after exchanging punts, Colorado put together the game-winning drive, ending with Stefanou's field goal.

That gave ASU one more chance, but the CU defense rose to the occasion. Colorado forced two Sun Devil incompletions before Terrance Lang came up with a huge sack on third down. That left ASU with a fourth-and-16 and CU again got pressure on fourth down to force an incompletion.

GAME NOTES

The 91-degree temperature at kickoff tied for the eighth-warmest for a CU game in its history (the 18th of 90 or hotter; CU is 9-9 in these games) … Mel Tucker is just the second Colorado coach to win his first two games against ranked opponents (Nebraska, Arizona State). Rick Neuheisel won his first three in 1995 (Wisconsin, Texas A&M, Oklahoma); the only other CU coach to win the first time he faced a ranked opponent was Gary Barnett (Oklahoma, 1999) … The Sun Devils now lead the series by an 8-3 margin, as the Buffs won for the first time in Tempe (1-5) and for the first time in back-to-back games in the series (nine of the games have been at night: ASU leads those, 6-3) … CU is 4-5 in Pac-12 conference openers (3-1 on the road), averaging 36.3 points in its three wins ... The Buffs are 82-42-2 all-time in conference openers, including a 5-15-1 mark against ranked teams ... CU's last win on the road against a ranked team was on this very date (Sept. 21) in 2002, winning 31-17 at UCLA (snapping a 17-year, 29-game losing streak) … CU moved to 2-0 against ranked teams this year, equaling its total over the previous nine seasons … CU scored a touchdown on its first drive of the game for the third time in four tries in 2019 … Colorado drove into ASU territory on its first six possessions (running 27 of its first 49 plays in the plus-zone) … CU didn't get called for a penalty until there was 1:33 left in the third quarter and just had three in the game (one an unsportsmanlike call when the officials saw the retaliation after an ASU hard tackle) … The Buffaloes did not allow a sack for the second time this season, and has yet to allow one in the second half … This was the first game in 2019 that Colorado outgained its opponent (475-453) … CU has now scored 56 of its last 57 times in goal-to-go situations (47 TD/9 FG; CU was not charged with an attempt for taking a knee at the end) … PK James Stefanou made the game winner with 2:03 left in the game (he also kicked the game winner in overtime versus Nebraska); it's the latest in regulation that CU won a game with a field goal since Kevin Eberhart made a 45-yard field goal as time ran out lead CU to a 27-24 win over No.3 Oklahoma in Boulder on Sept. 29, 2007.

FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

Arizona	7	7	14	7	—	35
COLORADO	3	17	7	3	—	30

BOULDER — An expected offensive shootout lived up to its billing at Folsom Field, but Colorado came out on the short end, dropping a 35-30 decision to Arizona.

The game featured nine lead changes, with Arizona scoring what proved to be the winning touchdown with 6:51 left in the game.

Arizona quarterback Khalil Tate had third straight big game against the Buffs, going 31-for-41 for 404 yards and three scores. CU quarterback Steven Montez was 28-for-42 for 299 yards and a touchdown, and Tony Brown had 10 catches for 141 yards and a 15-yard rushing touchdown.

CU took a 20-14 halftime lead into the locker room, thanks to a nine-play, 75-yard drive capped with a 12-yard Montez throw to tight end Brady Russell with three seconds left, as Montez scrambled for several seconds to keep the play alive.

But the Wildcats answered with a touchdown on their first possession of the second half, going 65 yards in just six plays for a 21-20 lead. CU then responded with a four-play, 68-yard scoring drive, with Steven Montez connecting with Tony Brown for a 49-yard gain before Brown ran 15 yards on a reverse on the next play for a touchdown and 27-21 lead.

Once again, though, the Wildcats responded. Tate directed a six-play, 85-yard drive, capped by a 5-yard Nathan Tilford run to put Arizona up 28-27 after the PAT.

But CU marched downfield to retake the lead on its next possession, going 72 yards before settling for a 20-yard James Stefanou field goal and a 30-28 lead with 11:29 left in the fourth period.

But that was more than enough time for the Wildcats to put together what proved to be the game-winning drive. UA marched 77 yards on 13 plays, getting another 5-yard Tilford scoring run, and the PAT gave the Wildcats a 35-30 lead with 6:51 to go.

Colorado then had one more chance with the ball, but the drive ended on downs at midfield. Arizona took possession with 2:23 to go and ran the clock down.

After an unexpected defensive struggle for much of the first half, the two teams exploded to put 21 points on the board in the last two minutes of the second quarter.

Colorado started the run with a 38-yard trick play for a touchdown following an interception by CU's Mikial Onu. Montez handed off to running back Jaren Mangham, who ran left, then pitched back to wide receiver K.D. Nixon on a reverse. Montez then threw a big block to give Nixon enough time to heave a 38-yard scoring pass to a wide-open Dimitri Stanley in the end zone for a 13-7 CU lead.

But even before Buffs fans could finish celebrating, Arizona answered on the first play from scrimmage on its ensuing possession. Tate dropped back and hit a streaking Cedric Peterson with a 75-yard touchdown throw to put the Wildcats back in the lead, 14-13, with just 1:40 remaining.

That, though, was enough time for Montez to guide a nine-play, 75-yard scoring march. CU capped the drive with the 12-yard Montez pass to Russell.

Prior to the late scoring surge, the Buffs had taken the lead with a field goal on their first possession of the day before Arizona took the lead with a 90-yard touchdown drive late in the first quarter. Colorado finally pulled to within 7-6 on another Stefanou field goal with 2:37 to play in the second quarter, setting the stage for the frantic final minutes of the half.

GAME NOTES

With the attendance of 52,569 (sellout), the Buffs have drawn 154,680 for three games; the last time CU exceeded 150,000 for its first three home games was in 2011 (153,583), CU's first year in the Pac-12. This millennium, CU reached 150,000 after three games in 2000, 2005, 2008 and 2009 (154,849 that season, the most through three games in this span); it finished last century with eight straight years of 150k+ (1990 through 1997) after not doing so since 1974 … The two sellouts this season are the most in a year since 2005 (two) … CU lost the coin toss for the first time this year, but has still won it 33 of the last 43 games … Colorado has scored on its first possession four of five times in 2019 (3 TD/1 FG) … In the nine games in the series since CU joined the Pac-12, the winner has averaged 43.8 points per game (the loser has averaged 29.0) ... The Buffaloes are now 19-9 in Family Weekend games dating back to 1992 ... Colorado still leads the series by a 14-8 margin (but the series is tied in Boulder at 5-5) … There were nine lead changes in today's game, fairly high for a football game … Arizona has now gained 400-plus yards against CU in 10 straight games dating back to 1986 … Colorado has gained 400-plus yards four times in its first five games for the second straight year and the fourth time in the last six … The Buffaloes did not allow a quarterback sack for the third time this season (and thus still none in the second half) … This is the first CU game where neither team had a quarterback sack since 2015 (Colorado State in week three) … CU did not commit a turnover or allow a sack for the 23rd time since 1972 (19-4 record; 1-1 under Mel Tucker) … CU has now scored 57 of its last 58 times in goal-to-go situations (47 TD/10 FG) over the course of its last 32 games (one situation today—field goal) ... CU allowed a season-low 83 rushing yards (3.2 per carry), with no double-digit rushing gains … CB K.J. Trujillo and OG Casey Roddick made their first career starts … WR Tony Brown (10-141, 7 FDE receiving; 1-15, 1 TD rushing) had a career high 10 receptions and had his second 100-yard game as a Buffalo (second in a row).

OCTOBER 11, 2019
AUTZEN STADIUM, EUGENE, ORE.

EUGENE, Ore. — Colorado's hopes of claiming a third win over a ranked team in 2019 ran into a buzz saw as the Buffaloes dropped a 45-3 decision to No. 13 Oregon at Autzen Stadium.

Colorado's offense struggled all night against the Pac-12's top-ranked scoring defense. Mel Tucker's Buffs managed a field goal on their second possession of the night to pull within 7-3, but those ended up being the only points they could produce.

Oregon put the game away with a 21-point barrage over a seven-minute span late in the first half and early in the second.

CU quarterback Steven Montez, who had thrown just two interceptions in the first five games, had a career-high four passes picked off by the Ducks, and Oregon converted three of them into touchdowns. The Buffs also hurt themselves with season highs in penalties and yards — 14 for 114 — and Oregon's offense steadily wore the Buffs down as the game progressed.

Colorado's defense kept it in the game early, but the Buffs let a golden opportunity slip away late in the second quarter when they drove to the Oregon 1-yard line, only to come away empty after Montez was intercepted in the end zone.

The Ducks responded with an 80-yard touchdown drive to take a 24-3 lead at halftime, then added two more scores after two more Montez interceptions in the first five minutes of the second half to take a 38-3 lead and put the game away.

After Oregon drove 75 yards for a touchdown on the opening drive, CU's defense stiffened and gave the Buffs a chance to stay in the game. CU got on the board late in the first quarter with a 27-yard James Stefanou field goal to pull within 7-3 before the Ducks bumped the margin back to seven with a field goal on their next possession.

But after two Colorado three-and-outs, the Ducks finally found the end zone again, going 69 yards in seven plays to go up 17-3 with 7:39 left in the half, setting the stage for a key turning point.

The Buffs drove from their own 20 all the way to the Oregon 1-yard line on their next possession, aided by two pass interference penalties on the Ducks, a 16-yard Montez pass to Laviska Shenault Jr. and a 20-yard Alex Fontenot run.

But after a Fontenot run gave the Buffs second-and-goal from the 1-yard line, the drive stalled, ending on a Montez interception in the end zone.

The Ducks then went 80 yards in eight plays — aided by a 15-yard personal foul on Colorado — for a touchdown and 24-3 haltime lead.

Oregon then quickly put the game away for good early in the third quarter. UO's second interception of Montez gave the Ducks the ball at the CU 40 just two plays into the second half. Five plays later, Oregon extended its lead to 31-3 on a 13-yard Herbert pass to Jaylon Redd.

Oregon intercepted Montez again on CU's next possession, and a 53-yard return left the Ducks just 3 yards away from the end zone. They scored on the next play to take a 38-3 lead less than five minutes into the half.

Oregon added one more touchdown early in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring.

Stefanou — who had tied Mason Crosby's CU record of 10 consecutive field goals early in the game — missed a chance to own the record outright when his 33-yard try in the fourth quarter clanged off the right goal post.

OCTOBER 19, 2019
MARTIN STADIUM, PULLMAN, WASH.

PULLMAN, Wash. — Colorado's offense struggled all night and Washington State took advantage of every opportunity that came its way as the Buffaloes dropped a 41-10 decision at Martin Stadium.

The loss was CU's third in a row while WSU ended a three-game skid.

Colorado entered the game hoping to take advantage of a Washington State defense that had given up an average of 47 points per game in three Pac-12 contests. But the Buffs struggled from the beginning, with quarterback Steven Montez throwing a pair of interceptions in the first half and James Stefanou connecting on just one of three field goal attempts.

The Cougars, meanwhile, scored touchdowns on their first three possessions, including a drive that needed only 26 yards after Montez's first interception, to take a 21-3 lead after the first quarter.

For the second week in a row, the Buffs were plagued by problems in the red zone. CU reached inside the WSU 20-yard line twice in the first half, but came away with just three points.

Of Colorado's six first-half possessions, two ended on missed field goals (from 48 and 52 yards), two ended on interceptions, one resulted in a punt and one produced a 24-yard Stefanou field goal.

After Washington State scored on its first two possessions, the Buffs finally answered by marching deep into WSU territory and earning a first-and-goal from the 10-yard line. But the drive stalled after a short run and two incompletions, and CU had to settle for a Stefanou field goal to cut WSU's lead to 14-3.

The Cougars quickly answered with another touchdown drive, getting a 47-yard Max Borghi run to cap the march for a 21-3 lead with 1:49 still left in the first quarter.

After WSU's third touchdown, Colorado's defense stiffened. The Buffs stopped the Cougars on downs on their next possession, then forced a three-and-out.

But the Buffs' two ensuing drives ended with an interception in the end zone from the WSU 15-yard line and a three-and-out. That left WSU just enough time to drive for a field goal just before the half, leaving Colorado with a 24-3 halftime deficit.

The Buffs gave themselves some hope in the third quarter with two defensive stops to set the stage for a 51-yard march to the end zone. Montez connected with Laviska Shenault Jr. for 24 yards on third down to keep the drive alive before Shenault took a direct snap and powered into the end zone from 6 yards out.

That pulled CU to within 24-10 with 5:06 still left to play in the third period.

But the Cougars quickly answered with an 81-yard touchdown drive, getting a 44-yard Gordon touchdown pass to give WSU a three-score cushion, 31-10. It was one of three WSU touchdown plays of at least 22 yards, as Gordon also had a 22-yard touchdown pass and Max Borghi had a 47-yard scoring run.

WSU then added another touchdown and field goal in the fourth quarter to complete the scoring.

Montez was replaced by sophomore Tyler Lytle midway through the fourth quarter, but Lytle was hurt on his first play. That brought redshirt freshman Blake Stenstrom into the game for his first action, but his first collegiate pass was intercepted.

CU's run game was a bright spot, finishing with 179 yards. Sophomore running back Alex Fontenot had his second career 100-yard game, finishing with 105 yards on 11 carries. With the debut of DB Tarik Luckett, it marked the 14th true scholarship freshman to play for the Buffs this year, the second-most since 1984.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA 35 COLORADO 31

GAME 8

OCTOBER 25, 2019
FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado led for much of the game under the Friday night lights at Folsom Field, but Southern California overcame a 10-point fourth quarter deficit to collect a 35-31 win.

It was CU's 14th loss to the Trojans in as many tries.

After falling behind early, 7-0, the Buffs rallied to take a 17-7 lead in the second quarter and still led 17-14 at the half. Colorado then scored two touchdowns in the first six minutes of the second half, sandwiched around a USC score, for a 31-21 lead.

But the Buffs couldn't find the end zone again and the Trojans managed two more touchdowns, the last coming with 2:12 left in the game, to collect the win.

Colorado quarterback Steven Montez accounted for all four CU touchdowns with 324 yards and three touchdowns passing and 45 yards and one touchdown rushing. CU's Laviska Shenault Jr. caught nine passes for 172 yards and one score.

The Buffs held the lead for nearly 43 minutes, including much of the first half and the entire third quarter. CU's offense, which had struggled in recent weeks, found its groove and the defense came up with some big plays and big stops against a talented USC offense.

Colorado took at 17-14 lead into the locker room at halftime, then needed just two plays to boost the margin to 10 after intermission. After a 4-yard Montez pass to Nixon, the CU quarterback connected with Shenault for a 71-yard touchdown to give CU a 24-14 edge just 45 seconds into the half.

The Trojans answered with a 75-yard scoring drive to close the gap back to 24-21 on a 21-yard Kedon Slovis pass to Tyler Vaughns, but the Buffs responded again, driving 66 yards for a touchdown on their next possession. Shenault kept the drive alive with a 17-yard run on fourth down, and one play later, Montez scampered in from 17 yards out to give CU a 31-21 lead with 9:16 still to go in the third quarter.

Montez was injured late in the third quarter, but returned to the game in the fourth.

USC closed the CU lead to three early in the final period, needing five plays to go 66 yards for a touchdown. Slovis threw 44 yards to Michael Pittman for the score to cut Colorado's lead to 31-28 with 11:25 remaining.

Then, after two more Colorado punts, the Trojans finally took the lead, driving 89 yards in 12 plays. USC converted two third downs on the drive before getting a 37-yard scoring pass from Slovis to Pittman for the score and a 35-31 lead. CU forced a fumble and nearly came up with an interception on the drive, but both times the ball bounced USC's way.

Colorado took possession after the ensuing kickoff at its own 25 with 2:15 left on the clock and gained a quick first down, but the drive stalled near midfield and USC was then able to run the clock out for the win.

In the first half, Colorado overcame a quick USC opening touchdown to take a 17-7 lead. CU got a 22-yard James Stefanou field goal on its first possession, then drove 77 yards for a touchdown and 10-7 lead after CU freshman cornerback K.J. Trujillo recorded his first career interception. Montez threw 7 yards to K.D. Nixon for the touchdown.

Colorado extended the lead to 17-7 late in the second quarter on another 7-yard Montez pass to Nixon before the Trojans cut the gap to 17-14 with a long drive just before halftime.

GAME NOTES

This was the lone game with two FBS teams on this Friday … There were 13 scouts from 10 NFL teams in attendance … The first quarter took only 33 minutes to play (and that was with 7:40 of commercials) … Colorado outgained the opponent in the first quarter for just the second time this season (135-126) … Ralphie did not run because she wasn't of the proper temperament, and her safety and that of her handlers is top priority (she has led the team out on Folsom 296 times since 1967; this was one of the few times she didn't run) … CU dropped to 23-29-1 when wearing all black uniforms (0-7 with black helmets) and to 3-18 overall with the black headgear … USC now leads the series 14-0 (7-0 in Boulder) … All-time, CU is now 19-27 on Fridays (0-4 and against USC) ... CU had its 1940s logo (reborn in the 70s for shirts and decals) on its helmet, the first time CU didn't wear its official logo since the 2009 Wyoming game (throwback units with the 50s/60s horns) … CU set a school record with no fumbles for a fourth straight game … CU had 91 touches tonight without a fumble, extending the streak to 418; the tailbacks still have none in 260 touches this season (rushes and receptions) … In the eight previous games against USC since the Buffs joined the Pac-12, the Trojans had outscored CU 180-47 in the first half and by 77-27 in the four games in Boulder … This marked the fourth time CU had a lead versus USC since the Buffs joined the Pac-12 in 2011: CU led 7-0 in '11, 17-3 in '15 and 7-0 last year; CU led for 42:40 tonight after leading for just 34:02 in the previous eight games … CU gained 219 yards in the third quarter, its second most in a quarter this year (behind 258 vs. Nebraska in the 4th). The Buffaloes scored their most points ever against USC (31; old: 29 in 2013), had their most total offense (520; old, 486 in 2017), and their most rushing yards (196; old, 172 in 2014).

GAME 9

NOVEMBER 2, 2019
ROSE BOWL. PASADENA

PASADENA, Calif. — A slow start doomed Colorado as UCLA jumped out to a 17-0 first-quarter lead and the Buffaloes never recovered, dropping a 31-14 decision at the Rose Bowl.

CU's defense struggled early and the offense sputtered for much of the night as the Buffaloes suffered their fifth straight loss in finishing with a season-low 283 total yards.

After spotting the Bruins a 17-0 lead on UCLA's first three possessions, including a touchdown on the first play following an interception of CU quarterback Steven Montez, the Buffs finally got on the board with an 83-yard touchdown drive.

The big play of that possession was a 16-yard Montez completion to Brady Russell, with a 15-yard late hit penalty on the play putting CU at the UCLA 27-line. Freshman running back Jaren Mangham, who had 32 yards rushing on the drive, then ran for 16 yards before Montez scored from 2 yards out to cut UCLA's lead to 17-7 with 8:42 to go in the second quarter.

CU's defense then came up with consecutive stops, but the Buffs' offense couldn't capitalize. Colorado drove into UCLA territory in the final minute of the half, but the drive stalled at the Bruins 30 and a James Stefanou 47-yard field goal try went wide left to send CU into the locker room trailing 17-7 at intermission.

The Buffs then missed another chance to add to their point total early in the third quarter. After linebacker Carson Wells came up with an interception in UCLA territory, the Buffs moved 28 yards to the Bruins' 8-yard line before settling for a 27-yard Stefanou field goal try. But the attempt bounced off the right upright, leaving CU's deficit at 10 points, 17-7.

The Bruins then put the game away for all intents and purposes on the ensuing possession. UCLA drove 80 yards in 11 plays, getting a Josh Kelley 5-yard scoring run with 4:11 to go in the third quarter for a 24-7 lead.

Colorado did manage to crawl back to within 10 late in the fourth quarter, driving 68 yards in six plays for a touchdown. Montez completed six passes on the drive, including an 18-yarder to Dimitri Stanley, before finishing the march with a 27-yard scoring toss to Tony Brown to narrow UCLA's lead to 24-14 with 5:57 still remaining.

But the Bruins quickly answered with a 48-yard drive in four plays after recovering an onside kick attempt, with Kelley scoring from 35 yards out to give UCLA to complete the scoring with 4:14 to go.

The Bruins scored on their first three possessions of the night to set the tone.

After a Colorado punt on the opening drive, UCLA went 57 yards for a score, getting a 16-yard scoring toss from Thompson-Robinson to Devin Asiasi. The Bruins then added a field goal after another CU punt before CU's Montez was intercepted. UCLA needed just one play to bump its margin to 17-0, getting a 45-yard Thompson-Robinson touchdown pass to Ethan Fernea with 3:42 still to play in the first quarter.

The Buffs played the game without starting running back Alex Fontenot and starting cornerback K.J. Trujillo, who both sat out with injuries.

Mangham replaced Fontenot and another true freshman, Tarik Luckett, took Trujillo's place. It brought the total of true freshmen to start for Colorado this season to five, matching the most since the 2014 season. It also brought the total of Buffs who made their first starts for Colorado this season to 21.

Junior linebacker Nate Landman tied a career high with two sacks.

GAME NOTES

CU's 65 plays were its second-fewest this season (60 vs. CSU in the opener), and its 25:33 of possession was a season low, as were the 426 total yards by UCLA, the fewest CU has allowed this season (previous: 439 vs. Air Force) … UCLA now leads the series 11-4 (5-1 in Pasadena); the teams have split the last four, protecting their home turf … CU wore its "Storm Trooper" look tonight (all white, head-to-toe) and are now 2-4 when wearing white helmets, jerseys and pants (lost last three) … National Bison Day. Former president Barack Obama back in 2012 declared the first Saturday in November going forward as National Bison Day; but the day has yet to be very good to the Buffaloes who are now 0-7 on the day celebrating its mascot … With first career starts tonight by CB Tarik Luckett and TB Jaren Mangham, that brings the total to five true freshmen making at least one start for CU this season (8 total starts) … CU had 20 touches in the game before its first fumble in five games; the Buffaloes went 446 touches between fumbles (scrimmage, returns, fair catches, special team snaps). The tailbacks had 266 touches this season (rushes and receptions) before their first (Mangham early in the second quarter) … In making his first career start and at 6-foot-2, Mangham was the tallest player to start a game at tailback for CU since Lawrence Vickers (6-2, 230) against Oklahoma State in Boulder on Oct. 9, 2004; that was his only start at tailback as he was a natural fullback. The last true tailback that tall was Chris Brown (6-3, 220) who started 10 games in 2002 … CU allowed a season-high 201 yards in the first quarter but came back to allow a season-low 33 in the second … QB Steven Montez tied the school record for the most career touchdown passes (60), as he pulled even with Sefo Liufau (2013-16), his predecessor, and Cody Hawkins (2007-10) … ILB Nate Landman (15 tackles, 11 solo), tied his career-high with two quarterback sacks and was in on career-high four third down stops.

STANDFORD 13

NOVEMBER 9, 2019
FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's Evan Price kicked a 37-yard field goal on the last play of the game to give the Buffaloes a 16-13 win over Stanford at Folsom Field.

CU ended a five-game losing streak with the win in front of 49,224 and improved to 4-6 overall, 2-5 in Pac-12 play. The Cardinal dropped to 4-5, 3-4.

Mel Tucker's Buffs used the final six minutes of the game to drive into position for the game winner, going 61 yards in 12 plays. Price, subbing for an injured James Stefanou, calmly booted the kick through to break a 13-13 tie and give CU the win.

It was CU's first game-winning field goal on the final play of the game since Kevin Eberhart's kick beat No. 3 Oklahoma, 27-24, on the last play in 2007, and was just the third-ever in school history.

Colorado's defense was outstanding. CU not only held an opponent under 30 points for the first time this season, the Buffaloes also held Stanford to 372 total yards, a season low for an opponent. The Buffs also allowed Stanford to convert just three of 10 third-down tries.

Alex Fontenot rushed for 95 yards on 18 carries and Steven Montez added 40 yards rushing on 11 carries, including a 13-yard touchdown. Montez also completed 20 of 30 attempts for 186 yards with one interception, and Laviska Shenault Jr. had eight catches for 91 yards and a huge 5-yard run on fourth-and-1 on the game-winning drive.

Colorado scored its only touchdown of the day on the opening possession, marching 75 yards for a touchdown in nine plays. Fontenot ran four times for 34 yards and Montez ran twice for 22 yards, including the 13-yard touchdown run.

The Cardinal, meanwhile, managed a pair of field goals. Stanford drove to the CU 21 on its first possession before the Buffs came up with a big third-down stop to force the Cardinal to settle for a 40-yard field goal to close CU's lead to 7-3.

Stanford then closed to within 7-6 midway through the second quarter after driving to the Colorado 17. The Buffs came up with another third-down stop, forcing an incompletion, and the Cardinal collected a 36-yard field goal.

CU added to its tally late in the second half after an interception from safety Derrion Rakestraw, his third of the season. CU drove from its own 20 to the Stanford 17, converting two third downs in the process, including a third-and-16 when Montez connected with Shenault for a 16-yard gain. A 34-yard Price field goal with 32 seconds left in the half gave CU a 10-6 lead.

The Buffs dodged a bullet early in the second half when Stanford missed a 32-yard field goal try on the Cardinal's first possession. But Stanford finally took its first lead of the game early in the fourth quarter. K.J. Costello connected with Simi Fehoko on a 79-yard touchdown pass and the Cardinal took a 13-10 lead with 14:05 left.

Colorado responded with a 69-yard drive that yielded a game-tying 23-yard field goal from Price. Fontenot ran for 37 yards on the march.

CU then forced a Stanford three-and-out and took over on its own 20-yard line after a Cardinal punt with 6:00 on the clock.

The Buffs methodically drove into Stanford territory, converting two third-down plays and a fourth down that saw Shenault run for 5 yards on fourth-and-1. Montez then threw a 12-yard completion to K.D. Nixon to the Stanford 17. Montez then took a snap and circled around and took a knee squarely between the hash marks. CU called timeout with two seconds remaining and possession at the Stanford 19, setting up Price's game-winning kick.

GAME NOTES

This was Mel Tucker's 300th game as a full-time coach (140 FBS/160 NFL) … The win snapped a five-game losing streak for the Buffs … Another quick first quarter, taking 33 minutes of real time to play … Game took 2:59 overall, CU's first-sub three-hour game since 2017 (2:57 vs. Washington in Boulder; just the 31st in the last 355 games dating back to 1990) … Stanford's 54 plays were the fewest by an opponent since Arizona had 52 in 2012 … The Buffs streak of allowing 30-plus points in 14 straight games came to an end … This was the fewest points CU scoring in winning a game since 2016, when it defeated Stanford in Palo Alto, 10-5 … The scoreless third quarter was just the second scoreless quarter CU has been involved in this year; the third against Air Force also featured goose eggs … Stanford now leads the series 6-5 (3-3 in Boulder); the Cardinal lead 3-2 since the Buffs joined the Pac-12 … CU wore all black today, and is now 24-29-1 in the look (have won three of last four) … For just the fifth game in program history (and eighth time overall), the Buffaloes started a pair of true freshmen at cornerback; in 2012, Kenneth Crawley and Yuri Wright started against Sacramento State, Fresno State, Washington State and Arizona … Ralphie V did not lead the team out for the second straight game today (and it was announced three days later that she retired: "The decision for her to run each game is made with the utmost of caution, with Ralphie's well-being always being our number one priority, along with the safety of her handlers," said John Graves, program manager. "Based on her temperament at her Friday practice last night, we just were not comfortable with Ralphie running today." … CU had its sixth game this season without a fumble … Stanford's 60 yards in the first quarter was an opponent low for the year (and the fourth lowest for any quarter), with its 151 yards the first time an opponent gained under 215 yards in the first half (and second-lowest for either half: Air Force 124 in the second); its 372 total yards was also an opponent low.

COLORADO 20
WASHINGTON 14

GAME 11

NOVEMBER 23, 2019
FOLSOM FIELD, BOULDER

BOULDER — Colorado's defense came up with a second straight outstanding effort and the Buffaloes offense delivered in the clutch to produce a 20-14 win over Washington at Folsom Field.

The game marked the final Folsom appearance for 17 CU seniors, and was also the final appearance for CU mascot Ralphie V, who had announced her retirement two weeks prior.

The Buffs clinched the win in the final minutes, forcing a UW punt from midfield while holding a 20-14 lead, then grinding out an 81-yard drive over the last 5:09 to end the game in victory formation deep in Huskies territory.

UW made just two forays into plus territory in the entire first half as the Buffs defense pitched a shutout for the first 30 minutes. The first ended deep in Colorado territory when the Buffs put big pressure on Washington's Jacob Eason, who forced a quick throw that was intercepted by Nate Landman.

The second came late in the half and the Buffs ended that drive by recording their fourth sack of the half to push UW back to midfield.

CU's offense, meanwhile, had trouble in the red zone early, but still got a pair of field goals from Evan Price. The first gave CU a 3-0 lead with 7:23 to go in the first quarter; the second came with 7:18 to go in the second for a 6-0 lead.

The Buffs finally found the end zone late in the first half when Montez connected with Shenault for his CU career-record 61st career touchdown pass, a 39-yard strike. Shenault made a terrific catch on the play, plucking it off the shoulder of defensive back Trent McDuffie, who almost had an interception. Price's PAT gave Colorado a 13-0 lead at the half.

But Washington took the opening second half kickoff and drove 75 yards in 15 plays for a touchdown. The Huskies converted four third downs on the drive, including one on a CU penalty, and capped the march with a 1-yard Richard Newton run to cut CU's lead to 13-7.

CU though, responded, going 82 yards in 11 plays for a touchdown. Montez completed two passes on the drive, including a 15-yarder to Tony Brown, and Fontenot carried eight times for 44 yards. Fontenot carried in from 2 yards out with 2:40 left in the third quarter and Price's PAT gave the Buffs a 20-7 lead.

Washington, however, made it a one-score game again with a 75-yard scoring drive in 12 plays. The Huskies converted two fourth downs on the march, a fourth-and-2 and a fourth-and-8. The second set up a 15-yard scoring pass from Eason to Cade Otton, cutting Colorado's lead to 20-14 with 12:35 to play.

The two teams then traded a pair of punts, with Colorado regaining possession with 5:09 left after a big sack from Mark Perry stranded UW at midfield.

The offense then put the game away. The Buffs started from their own 1-yard line and pounded out an 81-yard drive, eating up all the remaining clock in the process. CU forced Washington to use all its timeouts on the drive, then went into victory formation on the last play to end the game.

Montez actually missed three plays on the drive after taking a vicious hit after a 12-yard run, with freshman Blake Stenstrom stepping in behind center. But Montez returned to throw a key completion to Dimitri Stanley, then turned it over to Fontenot to hammer out the remainder of the drive.

GAME NOTES

The Buffs are now 2-4-2 in Pac-12 home doubleheaders (back-to-back home league games); this was the second sweep when combined with the 16-13 over Stanford; the other came in 2016 (Washington State, Utah) … CU last won two straight Pac-12 games to open the 2018 league slate …CU is now 65-24 against unranked teams in November dating back to 1985 … Washington's 238 total yards were the fewest CU allowed in game since last year's finale at Cal (211) … The Buffs rushed for 207 yards (averaging 5.04 yards per carry), its second-most rushing yards this season (243 in the opener against CSU; it's the most in a league game since they had 217 against Oregon State last October) … Washington now leads the series 12-6-1 (5-2 in Boulder, 7-1 since CU joined the Pac-12); UW had won nine straight, four in a row in Boulder. In 19 series games, this marked the first time Colorado had ever shut out Washington in the first half; previous low was in the 2000 game in Boulder when the Buffs led 7-3 at halftime, though Washington rallied to win, 17-14. CU's last two-score lead in the series came late in the first half in 2014 in Boulder, leading 20-10 (UW rallied to win, 38-23) … CU had five sacks (four on third downs—17 of 22 this season have come on third or fourth down); UW came into tonight allowing just 13 in 10 games … CU allowed season lows for a half in points (0; previous low—6 against Stanford) and in yards (91; Stanford had 123) … CU last shutout an opponent in the first half on Sept. 15, 2018, leading New Hampshire 28-0 … CU had its fourth turnover-free game of the year, tying the school record for a season … This was the 48th time in school history CU has had a 100-yard rusher (Fontenot 105) and receiver (Shenault 100); CU is 37-11 in such games … The Buffaloes had five quarterback sacks for 51 yards in losses; it was the second-most this season (six vs. Nebraska); the yards lost was a season-high, which reduced UW's rushing to 32 yards on 32 attempts (allowing for the sacks, it was still only 26 for 83, 3.2 per) … Washington rushed 12 times on first down for a net 13 yards; it also gained a net minus-9 yards on its 17 third down plays.

GAME 12

NOVEMBER 30, 2019
RICE-ECCLES STADIUM, SALT LAKE CITY

SALT LAKE CITY — Colorado's bid for a third straight win and a bowl bid came up short Saturday night, as the Buffaloes dropped a 45-15 decision to sixth-ranked Utah in their season finale at Rice-Eccles Stadium.

Colorado fell to 5-7 with the loss and 3-6 in Pac-12 play, CU's third straight 5-7 finish. Utah improved to 11-1 and 8-1 and clinched its second straight Pac-12 South title and a date opposite Oregon in the Pac-12 title game.

Colorado's defense had an outstanding start, forcing three straight three-and-outs, and the Buffs' offense drew first blood, as they delivered a long touchdown drive at the end of the first quarter. Steven Montez connected with Brady Russell for the score with 43 seconds left in the first quarter; Evan Price's PAT kick gave the Buffs a 7-0 lead. Montez completed five passes on the drive, including a 6-yarder to Shenault on fourth and five that kept the march alive at the Ute 25.

The touchdown, the first allowed at home by Utah since late September, was Utah's wake-up call. It responded with a 75-yard march in eight plays. Utah quarterback Tyler Huntley escaped a near sack to find tight end Brant Kuithe open in the end zone for a 38-yard scoring pass, and the PAT tied the game at 7-7. Those were first of 31 unanswered points, as Utah would lead 17-7 at halftime and 31-7 after three. CU finally scored again early in the fourth period, adding a two-point conversion to make it a two-score game at 31-15, but the Utes answered with two more touchdowns for the game's final tallies.

The Utes scored 10 points in the final 2:03 of the first half to break a 7-7 tie; the score remained 17-7 until late in the third, as Utah used a 12-play drive that ate up almost seven minutes on the clock to go up, 24-7. The Utes then forced a CU punt on the ensuing possession, and Demari Simpkins returned the kick 66 yards down the right sideline for a touchdown and 31-7 Utah lead (though replays clearly showed a blatant block in the back on the Utes that went unnoticed by the officials).

The Buffs finally got their offense cranked up again in the fourth quarter, driving 79 yards in seven plays for a touchdown. Montez had a 24-yard completion to Laviska Shenault on the drive, setting up a 27-yard scoring strike to Daniel Arias with 12:51 still left to play. The Buffs then went for two and Montez connected with tight end Brady Russell to pull the Buffs to within 31-15.

CU would get no closer. Utah responded on its next possession. CU attempted an onside kick but the Utes recovered and then drove 47 yards in five plays, with Zack Moss capping the drive with a 1-yard run for a 38-15 Utah lead. The Utes added a cosmetic score with 5:12 to play to get the margin to 30 points as they needed to impress the CFP committee with style points.

Colorado's Steven Montez finished with 157 yards passing and two touchdown throws to become CU's all-time leader in passing yards and total offense. He also increased his CU record for career passing touchdowns to 63. Brady Russell and Daniel Arias had the touchdown receptions for the Buffs, who finished with a season-low 217 yards of total offense.

Utah eventually finished with 372 yards on offense, but had just 27 after the first quarter prior to getting its offense rolling. Huntley threw for 165 yards and two scores and running back Moss ran for 88 yards and a touchdown.

GAME NOTES

The temperature at kickoff was 28 degrees, the 18th known game in CU history 29 degrees or colder; this tied for 15th the coldest; four of the 18 games have been against Utah (three in Salt Lake); three of the others have been against Nebraska … Utah went three plays and out its first three possessions; only team to do that more than once to open a game against CU this season (and it was just the third time CU's defense opened the game with one—doing so against Air Force and Washington) … Utah's 27 yards in the first quarter was an opponent low for the first quarter in 2019, and the third-lowest for any quarter … Utah's punt return touchdown was the only non-offensive score against Colorado this season … Colorado finished 5-7 in Mel Tucker's first season as head coach; the Buffaloes went 5-7 for three straight years, the first time with the same record since going 2-8 in 1963-64-65 (only other time were 6-0 records in 1909-10-11) … There were no NFL scouts at the game; for the year, 31 teams had representatives at CU games in person, the lone team not to see a Buff game was Cincinnati … QB Steven Montez became CU's all-time leader in passing yards with 9,649, as he surpassed Sefo Liufau (9,568; 2013-16); he also passed Liufau to become CU's all-time total offense leader with 10,609 yards (Liufau had 10,509) … He concluded his career with 75 straight passes without an interception, and also set the mark for TD-to-INT ratio at 1.97-to-1 (63-to-32) as well as lowest interception percentage (minimum 200 attempts per season) at 0.244 (old mark: Liufau, 0.260) … Senior S Lucas Cooper made his first career start, subbing for an injured Mikial Onu; Cooper became the 39th different player to start a game for Colorado in 2019.

COLORADO'S CONFERENCE HISTORY

The Pac-12 Conference is technically the seventh conference in which the University of Colorado has been a member.

There were no organized leagues in the Rocky Mountain region when CU started playing football in 1890. In 1893, Colorado was a charter member of the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association (CIAA; also known as the Colorado Football Association), joined by Denver, Colorado College, Colorado Mines and Colorado A & M. CU remained a member through 1908 (except 1905, when it withdrew from the state conference prior to the season).

In 1909, a new alignment called the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference came into existence, with CU, CC, A & M and Mines the charter members. One year later in 1910, the name was changed to the Rocky Mountain Faculty Athletic Conference, as the league expanded geographically to include Utah and Denver, and later, Utah State (1914), Montana State (1917), Brigham Young (1918), Wyoming (1921), and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) and Western State (1924). This new league, built on a foundation of faculty control, lasted through the 1936-37 school year.

On Dec. 4, 1937, after a serious gap that had developed between the elite of the RMAC and the smaller schools, seven schools split to form the Mountain States Conference. This new league consisted of CU, DU, A & M, Wyoming, Utah, Utah State and BYU. The remaining five schools continued on as the RMAC, which today remains one of the oldest conferences in the nation.

A decade later, CU athletics would change forever, as the Buffaloes were accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association (also known as the Big Six) on Dec. 1, 1947. Colorado started competition in this league in the 1948-49 school year, thus changing the group's name to the Big Seven. Other schools in the league were Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri, Nebraska and Oklahoma. When Oklahoma State rejoined the group after a three decade absence in 1958, the conference became known as the Big Eight.

On Feb. 25, 1994, the Big Eight announced expansion plans to include Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech from the Southwest Conference, a league plagued with NCAA violations and probations over the previous decade; the merger of the four gave those schools a new start in the new Big 12. Later that year, Colorado was invited to join the Pacific-10 Conference, but because the Buffaloes had played a major role in helping form the Big 12, CU's Board of Regents voted 6-3 to remain in the Big 12, which assumed operations on July 1, 1996.

Then on June 11, 2010, Colorado was the first of several "dominoes" to fall nationally in conference realignment. The Buffaloes accepted an invitation to join the Pac-10, along with Utah to form the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU and Utah, old rivals from the first half of the 20th Century, joined Arizona, Arizona State, California, Oregon, Oregon State, USC, Stanford, UCLA, Washington and Washington State in what is known as the "conference of champions," the 12 schools owning 529 NCAA championships, over 200 more than any other conference.

Football-Basketball Buffs

Through the years, there have been several players who suited up for both CU's football and basketball teams. But since World War II, only three scored points in both sports: Don Branby (1950-53), who was reserve on the basketball team, Dave Logan, who lettered four times in each sport (1972-75); he scored 817 points on the court and 36 on the gridiron; and Brian Johnson (1977-81), who scored 840 points in hoops and 2 in football—he caught a two-point conversion pass against BYU in 1981.

Since 1950, CU has averaged 5.3 yards on the first play from scrimmage. Of the 70 plays for 369 yards, CU has passed 15 times (completing 11). CU has not scored on the first play from scrimmage in this time frame, and has just one turnover (lost fumble) on the first play of the year (in 1990; *—at Anaheim; #—in Denver).

NOTE—CU did score the first time it touched the ball in the 1975 season opener. Mike McCoy returned a California punt 61 yards for a touchdown two minutes into the game.

DID YOU KNOW?…The last time Colorado scored on its first offensive play of any game was at Arizona on Nov. 8, 2014: Shay Fields scored a touchdown on a 75-yard pass from Sefo Liufau just 11 seconds into the game in Tucson. That was the first time since 1996.

MEMORABLE QUARTERS / HALVES

Oct. 20, 1934 (48-6 win at Brigham Young): Leading by just 14-6 after three quarters, three weeks before CU adopts "Buffaloes" as its official nickname, the then-Silver & Gold score 34 fourth quarter points to earn a decisive win.

Oct. 19, 1935 (58-0 win over Colorado Mines): The Buffaloes score 38 points in the third quarter behind quarterback Kayo Lam, who scored four times in the game and had runs of 44, 31, 79, 57 and 40 yards in rushing for 265 yards on just seven carries.

Oct. 7, 1961 (20-19 win over Kansas): Trailing the Jayhawks 19-0 entering the fourth quarter, Gale Weidner throws then a school-record three touchdown passes in rallying the Buffs to the win; later that year, CU would win its first Big Eight Conference title.

Sept. 30, 1978 (55-7 win over Northwestern): A 14-7 game at halftime turns into a rout when James Mayberry scores on four short TD runs in a 27-point third quarter; CU adds to more scores in the fourth for a 41-point second half.

Oct. 14, 1989 (52-17 win at Iowa State): It's a 10-10 game one play into the second quarter, and the Cyclones are smelling a possible upset over the No. 3-ranked Buffaloes. But those thoughts are doused after CU puts up 35 points in the second quarter: five scoring drives covered 304 yards on just 25 plays.

Nov. 2, 1990 (27-12 win at Nebraska): On a cold, windy and rainy day in Lincoln, the third-ranked Cornhuskers lead 12-0 over the No. 9 Buffaloes through three quarters. But behind Eric Bieniemy's four fourth-quarter touchdown runs that led to all 27 CU points, Colorado takes command of the Big Eight race en route to the league title and eventual consensus national championship.

Sept. 16, 1995 (66-14 over Northeast Louisiana): Herchell Troutman scored three times, two TDs rushing and one receiving, to pace a 35-point first quarter (284 yards on 20 plays) and the game's easily over at that point (CU was ahead 49-7 at the half).

Dec. 31, 1999 (62-28 over Boston College): In building a 45-7 halftime lead over the Eagles in the Insight.com Bowl, CU scores on two interception returns and one punt return over a seven-minute stretch from late in the first into early in the second quarters.

Nov. 23, 2007 (65-51 win over Nebraska): The winner would earn a bowl bid, the loser would be home for the holidays. Nebraska led 35-24 at halftime, but a 41-point second half (20 in the third, 21 in the fourth) rallied the Buffs to the win; 34 of those points came in a row to open the second half. The teams combined for 1,128 yards.

Sept. 7, 2019 (34-31 overtime win over Nebraska): With just over four minutes left in the third quarter, Nebraska had silenced Folsom Field, leading 17-0 and outgaining the Buffs, 293-124. CU got on the board with 1:24 left in the third, and then got back into the game with the longest play from scrimmage in school history: a 96-yard touchdown catch and run by K.D. Nixon from Steven Montez 24 seconds into the fourth quarter. The Buffs would tie the game with 46 seconds left and won in overtime on a 34-yard field goal by James Stefanou after gaining 327 yards and scoring 31 points in the final 16:42.

AND SOME NOT SO MEMORABLE: All teams have quarters or halves they want to forget; Colorado is no exception. Some of those in CU's history include:

Sept. 28, 1946 (76-0 loss at Texas): The Longhorns score 48 points in the first half, 24 in each quarter.

Sept. 13, 1980 (56-14 loss at UCLA): The Bruins score 28 points in the first and second quarter in building a 56-0 lead.

Oct. 4, 1980 (82-42 loss to Oklahoma): The Sooners are up, 34-21, at halftime, but 48 in the second half (27 in the third quarter).

Oct. 22, 1983 (69-19 loss at Nebraska): Ahead by just 14-12 at halftime, the Cornhuskers score 48 points in the third quarter to pull away.

Sept. 15, 2012 (69-14 loss at Fresno State): The Bulldogs use two 90-plus scores to take a 35-0 lead after the first quarter and lead 55-7 at halftime.

CU's all-time record at Folsom Field, through 2019, is 318-178-10 for a .638 winning percentage.

THE TOP CROWD EVER AT FOLSOM?... It was for a rock concert, not a football game. On May 1, 1977, for one of the popular Colorado "Sun Day" concert series, 61,500 turned out to see Fleetwood Mac, Bob Seger, Firefall and John Sebastian. Folsom has played host to many top national recording acts, including The Rolling Stones, The Who, Paul McCartney, The Eagles, Van Halen, REO Speedwagon, The Beach Boys, The Grateful Dead, The Doobie Brothers, Journey, Jethro Tull, John Mellencamp and the Dave Matthews Band.

Colorado is 28-21-2 in 51 night games (5:00 p.m. or later starts) at Folsom Field.

TWO-POINT CONVERSION ATTEMPTS

The two-point conversion after touchdown was first implemented in 1958; the Buffaloes have converted 70-of-168 two-point tries, or 41.7 percent (1-of-5 in bowls). One of those was a game winner, when Derek Singleton caught the conversion pass from Steve Vogel with six seconds left to lead CU to an 11-10 win over Oklahoma State in Boulder in 1981 (on homecoming). Here's a look at Colorado's two point history:

Full season statistics are available dating back to 1946; Colorado was the first collegiate program to include these in its media guide (in 2001), with an assist to the Denver Broncos, which started doing it in 1995 and is now common in the NFL. Thanks to the foresight of former SID's Dan Partner, Phil Danielson, H.J. Hicks and Fred "The Count" Casotti, Colorado's comprehensive filing system started back in 1946 and has been maintained through the years, as over 99 percent of the original play-by-plays remain on file at CU. This enabled a complete record book audit in the summer of 2001, along with the ability to compile several statistics that didn't come into being until the late 1970s. STATISTICS ARE FOR REGULAR SEASON GAMES ONLY AND THUS DO NOT INCLUDE BOWL GAMES.
KEY: *—conference game; (N)—night game. Ranks listed are those of the Associated Press polls. All TV games listed are national, unless indicated with an "r" (regional) or "l" (local). Terminology listed following offense and defense in usual lineup indicates the formation Colorado utilized that particular season. Usual lineup includes players who started close to half of the games that year or saw significant playing time in a non-starting role.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Short punt), Defense (7-Diamond)—LE Stan Hendrickson, LT Paul Briggs, LG Bob Spicer, C Bill Simons, RG Don Creese, RT Aubrey Allen, RE Ed Pudlik, QB Dick Schrepferman/Don Evans/Harry Narcisian, FB Roland Gregory, LHB Maurice Reilly, RHB Art Tanner. Specialists—PK John Zisch, P Don Evans.
Note: A record crowd witnessed the season finale at Denver, marking the end of Colorado's tenure in the Mountain States Conference (also known as the Big Seven), as well as the final game in the 55-year old CU-DU rivalry. CU joined the six members of the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association to form a new Big Seven the following year.

Head Coach: Dal Ward. Assistant Coaches: Ray Jenkins (ends), Frank Prentup (backfield), Marshall Wells (line), Hugh Davidson (freshmen).
Usual Lineup: Offense (Single-wing), Defense (5-3)—LE Lamar Meyer/Frank Clarke, LT Dick Stapp/Tom Giek, LG Bill Kucera, C Don Karnoscak/Jim Uhlir, RG Harlan Branby/Dave Jones, RT Sam Salerno, RE Wally Merz, QB Sam Maphis, LH Homer Jenkins/Bob Stransky, RH Emerson Wilson, FB John Bayuk/Jack Becker.
Specialists—P/PK Jenkins.
Note: The 56-21 loss to Oklahoma was deceiving, as CU led the eventual national champions 14-0 with 10 minutes left in the first half before the Sooners scored three quick TDs before intermission, and added three others in the final 10 minutes of the game.

#—Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Single-wing/Wing-T), Defense (5-3)—LE Jerry Leahy/Frank Clarke, LT Dick Stapp/Bob Salerno, LG John Wooten, C Jim Uhlir, RG Dave Jones/Bill Mondt, RT Ken Schlagel, RE Wally Merz, QB Boyd Dowler, LH Bob Stransky/Howard Cook, RH Eddie Dove/Gene Worden, FB John Bayuk/Leroy Clark. Specialists—PK Ellwyn Indorf/Stransky, P Dowler.

Note: No. 1 Oklahoma rallied with 21 unanswered second half points to beat CU, 27-19, but CU's second place league finish sends the Buffaloes to the Orange Bowl, where a 27-21 win over Clemson is the first bowl victory in school history.

#—Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Switching T: Slot-I Triple Option)—WR Bob Masten, TT Jim Phillips, TG Dick Melin, C Don Popplewell, SG Dennis Havig, ST Eddie Fusiek, TE Mike Pruett, SE Monte Huber, QB Jim Bratten/Paul Arendt, TB Bobby Anderson, FB Ward Walsh. Defense (4-3)—LE Herb Orvis, LT Dave Perini/Bill Collins, RT Dave Capra, RE Bill Brundige, OLB Bill Blanchard, ILB Phil Irwin, OLB Rick Ogle, LC Jim Cooch, LS Pat Murphy, RS Pete Jacobsen, RC Eric Harris. Specialists—PK Dave Haney, P Dick Robert.

Note: Bobby Anderson started the first two games at quarterback, but in perhaps the most successful in-season position switch in CU history, he goes on to earn All-America honors at tailback. He closes with a 254-yard, three touchdown effort against Alabama and legendary coach Bear Bryant in the Liberty Bowl.

#—Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Texas.

Head Coach: Eddie Crowder. Assistant Coaches: Jerry Claiborne (AHC/DC), Kay Dalton (QB), Rick Duval (WR), Larry Kennan (TE), C.B. McGowan (RB), Jim Mora (DL), Steve Ortmayer (OL), Steve Sidwell (LB), Augie Tammariello (OL), Dan Stavely (freshmen).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Switching T: Slot-I Triple Option)—TE Bob Masten/J.V. Cain, TT Greg Horton, TG Bill Kralicek, C William McDonald, SG Chuck Mandril, ST Jake Zumbach, SE Cliff Branch/Willie Nichols, QB Ken Johnson/Joe Duenas, TB Charlie Davis, FB John Tarver/Bo Matthews, SB Larry Brunson. Defense (Wide-tackle 6)—LE Rick Kay, LT Herb Orvis/Mark Cooney, LB Randy Geist, LG Carl Taibi, LB Billie Drake/Lenny Ciufo, RT Chris Havens, LB Bud Magrum/Dave Orvis, RE John Stavely, LH Cullen Bryant, RH Brian Foster/Loren Richardson, S John Stearns. Specialists—PK J.B. Dean, P Stearns.

Notes: Artificial surfacing makes its debut in Boulder, as an AstroTurf carpet blanketed Folsom Field. CU's stunning road upsets of Louisiana State and Ohio State pave the way for a 10-2 season, as the Big Eight owned the top three spots in the final Associated Press poll after the bowls. With Nebraska (#1), Oklahoma (#2) and Colorado (#3), it was the first and to date only time in history one conference has occupied all top three positions at the end of the year.

#—Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Texas.

Usual Lineup: Offense (I-Formation)—TE Don Hasselbeck, TT Leon White, RG Steve Hakes, C Pete Brock, LG Steve Stripling, ST Mark Koncar/Steve Young, SE Dave Logan, QB David Williams, TB Tony Reed, FB Terry Kunz/Jim Kelleher, WB Emery Moorehead/Billy Waddy. Defense (5-2)—LE Troy Archer, LT Jackie Thornton, OSLB Brian Cabral, MG Charlie Johnson, CSLB Gary Campbell/Bart Roth, RT Bob Simpson, RE Whitney Paul, OCB Mike Spivey, CCB Mike L. Davis, S Mike McCoy, AP Chuck McCarter. Specialists—PK Tom Mackenzie, P Stan Koleski.

Note: CU almost knocked off No. 1 Oklahoma, but did knock the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the polls. CU pulled to within the eventual final score of 21-20 with 1:19 left, but elected to go for the tie against OU, which was riding a 32-game unbeaten streak at the time, but the extra point kick sailed off to the left. Mallory went for the tie on the belief that a tie could give CU the conference championship later in the year.

Usual Lineup: Offense (I-bone)—WR Mike Pritchard/Rico Smith, LT Ariel Solomon, LG Joe Garten, C Jay Leeuwenburg, RG Russ Heasley/Bryan Campbell, RT Mark VanderPoel, TE Jon Boman/Sean Brown, QB Darian Hagan/Charles Johnson, FB George Hemingway, WB Michael Simmons, TB Eric Bieniemy. Defense (3-4)—OLB Alfred Williams, LT Leonard Renfro/Marcellous Elder, NT Joel Steed, RT Garry Howe, OLB Kanavis McGhee, ILB Greg Biekert, ILB Chad Brown/Terry Johnson, LC Dave McCloughan, SS Tim James, FS Greg Thomas, RC Deon Figures. Specialists—PK Jim Harper, P Tom Rouen.

Notes: Colorado clinches its first national championship in football with the Orange Bowl win over Notre Dame. Alfred Williams wins the Butkus Award, becoming the first player in CU history to win one of college football's major postseason trophies. And unbeknownst to all involved at the time, CU gets a fifth down at Missouri to score the winning touchdown as time expired. In actuality, Colorado had two second downs when the marker and scoreboard did not change (and when factoring in reality, CU spiked the ball to stop the clock on what it thought was third down, and never would have called that play on fourth down).

Notes: For the second time in the 1990s, Colorado played the nation's toughest schedule as determined by the NCAA. Due to the use of an ineligible player, all five wins were officially forfeited, although the NCAA recognizes all results on the field for its records (as does the University of Colorado).

†—Mile High Stadium, Denver.

Head Coach: Gary Barnett. Assistant Coaches: Brian Cabral (AHC/ILB), Shawn Watson (OC/QB), Tom McMahon (co-DC/DB), Vince Okruch (co-DC/OLB), Gregg Brandon (WR), Jon Embree (TE), Steve Marshall (OL), Chris Wilson (DL), John Wristen (RB). Note: Matt Russell filled in when McMahon was out for a month due to illness.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR John Minardi, WR Javon Green, ST Tom Ashworth, SG Justin Bates, C/TG Andre Gurode, C Ryan Gray, TG Karl Allis, TT Victor Rogers, TE Daniel Graham, QB Craig Ochs, TB Cortlen Johnson, FB Scott Nemeth. Defense (4-3 Base/Multiple)—OLB Anwawn Jones, DT Justin Bannan, DT Sean Jarne, DE Brady McDonnell, ILB Andy Peeke, ILB Jashon Sykes, OLB Kory Mossoni, CB Donald Strickland, SS Michael Lewis, FS Robbie Robinson, RCB Phil Jackson. Specialists—PK Mark Mariscal, P Jeremy Flores.

Notes: Playing the fourth toughest schedule in the nation, 10 true freshmen and only six seniors, the Buffaloes finish with their worst record since 1984; however, six of the losses are by eight points or less. By going 0-5 against ranked opponents, CU sees its streak of 12 consecutive years with at least one win over a ranked team come to an end.

Notes: A young team, tough schedule and early-season injuries to three key seniors (DE Marques Harris, TB Bobby Purify and TE Quinn Sypniewski) were all major factors in CU's missing a bowl berth for only the fourth time since the 1984 season. Freshmen and sophomores accounted for 110 starts, while for only the eighth time in history sophomores led the Buffs in both rushing (Brian Calhoun) and in passing (Joel Klatt). Senior receiver D.J. Hackett set a school record for receptions (78), and teamed with fellow senior wideout Derek McCoy and Klatt to establish over two dozen records in the passing game.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Derek McCoy, WR Evan Judge/Blake Mackey, ST Sam Wilder, SG Terrence Barreau, C Mark Fenton, TG Brian Daniels, TT Clint O'Neal, TE Joe Klopfenstein, QB Joel Klatt, TB Bobby Purify, FB Lawrence Vickers/TE Jesse Wallace. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—DE Alex Ligon/Abraham Wright, DT Matt McChesney, NT Vaka Manupuna/Brandon Dabdoub, DE James Garee, ILB Akarika Dawn/Thaddaeus Washington, ILB Jordon Dizon, OLB Brian Iwuh, LCB Lorenzo Sims, FS-SS Tyrone Henderson/Dominique Brooks, SS Tom Hubbard, RCB Gerett Burl/Terrence Wheatley. Specialists—P John Torp, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terrence Wheatley.

Notes: Entering November with a 1-4 record in league play, most had written off the Buffaloes' chances for the Big 12 North title… except nobody told CU. Six specific things needed to happen for CU to reach the title game, first and foremost a Colorado sweep of its turkey-month games. CU did just that and the other things all fell into place and the Buffs won their third division title in four years. TB Bobby Purify enjoyed a 1,000-yard season and finished his career third on CU's all-time rushing charts. CU rallied for a 33-28 win in the Houston Bowl to snap a 2-game bowl losing streak

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Dusty Sprague, WR Evan Judge, ST Clint O'Neal, SG Edwin Harrison/Daniel Sanders/Jack Tipton, C Mark Fenton, TG Brian Daniels, TT Gary Moore, TE Joe Klopfenstein, QB Joel Klatt, TB Hugh Charles, FB Lawrence Vickers/TE Quinn Sypniewski. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—DE Abraham Wright, DT James Garee, NT Vaka Manupuna, DE Alex Ligon/Maurice Lucas, ILB Thaddaeus Washington, ILB Jordon Dizon, OLB Brian Iwuh, LCB Lorenzo Sims, SS J.J. Billingsley, FS Tyrone Henderson, RCB Gerett Burl. Specialists—P John Torp, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terry Washington.
Notes: Colorado reappeared in the national rankings after a 25-month drought and was as high as No. 22 after a 7-2 start, but dropped out again after losing their final four games of the year. CU still won the Big 12 North Division and appear in the league championship game for the fourth time in five years (a feat matched by no other team in either division); but Gary Barnett was relieved of his duties as head coach after losing to Texas in the Big 12 title game, replaced for the bowl by Mike Hankwitz. PK Mason Crosby was the runner-up for the Lou Groza Award, becoming CU's first-ever first-team All-American placekicker, and P John Torp second in the balloting for the Ray Guy Award.

†—INVESCO Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Dan Hawkins. Assistant Coaches: Chris Strausser (AHC/OL), Ron Collins (DC), Mark Helfrich (OC/QB), Eric Kiesau (PGC/WR), Romeo Bandison (DL), Greg Brown (DB), Brian Cabral (LB), Darian Hagan (RB), Kent Riddle (TE/ST).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Patrick Williams, WR Alvin Barnett, LT Tyler Polumbus, LG Brian Daniels, C Mark Fenton/Bryce MacMartin, RG Daniel Sanders, RT Edwin Harrison, TE Riar Geer/Tyson DeVree, QB Bernard Jackson, TB Hugh Charles/Mell Holliday, FB Samson Jagoras/Maurice Cantrell. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Abraham Wright, DT George Hypolite, NT Brandon Nicolas, RE Walter Boye-Doe, ILB Thaddaeus Washington, ILB Jordon Dizon, OLB Brad Jones, LC Lorenzo Sims/Terry Washington, SS J.J. Billingsley/Lionel Harris, FS Ryan Walters, RC Terrence Wheatley. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Mason Crosby, KR Stephone Robinson/Terry Washington.

Notes: Colorado suffered just its second 10-loss season in history, though it was nothing like the first time in 1980. There were a long list of positives, including a plus-8 in turnover margin, CU's best since 1993, as were the 16 turnovers committed; the Buffs had a school record four games without a turnover over the course of the season. CU allowed its fewest points (22.3) per game since 1998, and allowed only six plays of 40 yards or longer, tied for the fewest over the last 20 seasons. For just the 10th time in school history, three players rushed for 500 or more yards. PK Mason Crosby repeated as a first-team All-American, and was joined by DE Abraham Wright and CB Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 performers.

Dykes, FS Ryan Walters, RC Benjamin Burney, N Cha'pelle Brown. Specialists—P Matt DiLallo, PK Kevin Eberhart, KR Chase McBride/Terrence Wheatley/Hugh Charles.

Notes: Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired gave CU a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma, snapping a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams; coupled with the 65-51 win over Nebraska, it marked just the fifth time Colorado defeated both OU and NU in the same season. CU's three-and-a-half game improvement over 2006 under Dan Hawkins (2-10 to 6-7) tied for the ninth best in the nation and matched the best in school history from the first to second year under a new head coach (Bill Mallory, 5-6 to 9-3, 1974-75). ILB Jordon Dizon earned consensus first-team All-America honors, was the Big 12 Defensive Player-of-the-Year and finished as the runner-up for the Butkus Award; he was joined by George Hypolite and Terrence Wheatley as first-team All-Big 12 selections.

Notes: What started out as a promising season with a 3-0 beginning, capped by a 17-14 overtime win over No. 21 West Virginia, turned into a near-nightmare with a 2-7 finish after the team was besieged by injuries. CU lost 122 games by players in the two-deep, and being a young team to begin with, could never fully recover. There were some good moments, though, as in a 14-13 win over Kansas State, CU held that 1-point lead for the final 25:49, the longest any Buff team had to hang on to a 1- or 2-point lead in 72 years and the longest any team, pro or college, had to do so in 2008. The Buffs appeared bowl-bound until a Nebraska school-record 57-yard field goal in the final two minutes paved the way for a 40-31 Husker win, eliminating CU from bowl eligibility.

Notes: Four losses by eight or fewer points sent the Buffs to a 3-9 record, as CU missed the postseason for the second straight year, which had not happened since a six-year bowl dry spell from 1978-84. The Buffs did defeat No. 17 Kansas in a thriller, 34-30, and battled No. 2 Texas deep into the second half as the Longhorns needed three return touchdowns to pull away (only Alabama in the BCS title game held the lead longer against the 13-1 'Horns than Colorado). CU also had No. 13 Oklahoma State on the ropes most of the game before succumbing, 31-28. The defense shined at times, holding Big 12 division champs Nebraska (217) and Texas (313) to just 530 combined yards, but on the year, surrendered 70 percent of the opponents' total yards on just 18 percent of their plays. WR Scotty McKnight ended the season with a school-record 36 straight games with at least one reception.

Notes: Despite a one-sided loss at California, the Buffs got off to a 3-1 start after a thrilling 29-27 win over Georgia at Folsom Field, honoring the 1990 national championship team that was being honored that weekend. But a five-game losing streak, culminated with a 52-45 loss at Kansas after CU held 45-17 lead with 11 minutes to play, led to the early dismissal of coach Dan Hawkins on Nov. 9. Long-time assistant coach Brian Cabral assumed the reins on an interim basis and led the team to a 2-1 record in the final three games, but a loss at Nebraska (combined with bad officiating that helped Kansas' comeback) kept the Buffs from winning the required minimum of six games to qualify for a bowl. It was CU's final season in the Big 12 as on June 11, CU accepted an invitation to join the Pac-12 beginning in 2012. OT Nate Solder was a consensus All-American and finalist for the Outland Trophy; WR Scotty McKnight ended his career as CU's all-time leading receiver (receptions), catching a pass in all 48 career games, while QB Cody Hawkins set most of the school's major passing marks.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Pro Style)— WR Toney Clemons, WR Paul Richardson, LT David Bakhtiari, LG Ethan Adkins, C Gus Handler/Daniel Munyer, RG Ryan Miller, RT Ryan Dannewitz, TE Ryan Deehan, TE Matt Bahr, QB Tyler Hansen, TB Rodney Stewart, FB Evan Harrington. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Will Pericak, DT Conrad Obi/Curtis Cunningham, RE David Goldberg/Chidera Uzo-Diribe, JOLB Josh Hartigan, Douglas Rippy, ILB Derrick Webb, ILB/OLB Jon Major, OLB Patrick Mahnke, LC Travis Sandersfeld/Parker Orms, SS Anthony Perkins, FS Ray Polk, RC Greg Henderson. Specialists—P Darragh O'Neill, PK Will Oliver, KR 14 different players.

Notes: For the first time since 1948, the Buffaloes played in a new league as Colorado officially joined the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011. CU lost 10 games in a season for just the fourth time in its history, playing 13 games in a year for just the seventh time; the opener at Hawaii marked CU's first regular season game outside the continental United States since Jan. 1, 1925. TB Rodney Stewart became the first player in school history to lead the team in rushing four times, with PK Will Oliver setting the school record for most points scored by a freshman with 62. WR Paul Richardson shattered CU's single-game receiving yards record with 284 against California, with QB Tyler Hansen matching the school mark with 474 passing yards in the game. In the first meeting between the two schools in 49 years, CU closed the year with a 17-14 upset win at Utah, which prevented its long-lost rival an opportunity to play in the inaugural Pac-12 Championship game.

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Jon Embree. Assistant Coaches: Rip Scherer (AHC/QB), Eric Bieniemy (OC/RB), Greg Brown (DC/DB), J.D. Brookhart (TE/ST), Brian Cabral (LB), Bobby Kennedy (WR), Steve Marshall (OL), Kanavis McGhee (DL), Mike Tuiasosopo (DL).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)— WR Tyler McCulloch, WR Nelson Spruce/Gerald Thomas, LT David Bakhtiari, LG Alex Lewis, C Gus Handler/Daniel Munyer, RG Daniel Munyer/Jack Harris, RT Stephone Nembot, TE Nick Kasa, QB Jordan Webb, TB Christian Powell, TE Vincent Hobbs/FB Alex Wood. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Will Pericak, DT Nate Bonsu/Josh Tupou, DT Samson Kafovalu/Tyler Henington, RE Chidera Uzo-Diribe, MLB Paul Vigo, WLB Derrick Webb, SLB Jon Major, LC Kenneth Crawley, SS Terrell Smith/Marques Mosley, FS Parker Orms/Ray Polk, RC Greg Henderson/Yuri Wright. Specialists—P Darragh O'Neill, PK Will Oliver, KR Marques Mosley/Donta Abron, PR Kenneth Crawley.

Notes: Embree was relieved of his duties as head coach after just two seasons, after the Buffs went 4-21 in his brief tenure. The 11 losses were the most in school history, it was the third time in the modern era that the Buffs just won one game; that came at Washington State, as Jordan Webb's 4-yard TD run on 4th-and-goal with :09 remaining rallied CU from a 17-point deficit for the win. LT David Bakhtiari, CU's best lineman, declared for the NFL Draft and bypassed his senior season in 2013. Colorado led the nation in games started by true freshmen with 57 (19 on offense, 38 on defense), and were fourth in first-time starters with 21; CU's eight seniors tied for the second fewest in the country.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Paul Richardson, WR Nelson Spruce, LT Jack Harris, LG Kaiwi Crabb, C Gus Handler, RG Daniel Munyer, RT Stephane Nembot, TE Scott Fernandez, QB Sefo Liufau/Connor Wood, TB Christian Powell, TE Kyle Slavin. Defense (Multiple/4-3 Base)—LE Juda Parker, DT Josh Tupou, DT Nate Bonsu/Justin Solis, RE Chidera Uzo-Diribe, MLB Addison Gillam, WLB Derrick Webb, SLB Woodson Greer, LC Kenneth Crawley, SS Parker Orms, FS Jered Bell, RC Greg Henderson, N Chidobe Awuzie. Specialists—P Darragh O'Neill, PK Will Oliver, KR Ryan Severson, PR Nelson Spruce, SN Ryan Iverson.

Notes: Record rainfall and subsequent flooding in Boulder forced the cancellation of a Sept. 14 game against Fresno State (FCS Charleston Southern was added as a replacement game on Oct. 19). MacIntyre joined Rick Neuheisel (1995) as the only CU head coaches to win their first games since 1932. WR Paul Richardson, who set CU single-season records for receptions (83) and yards (1,343) and was the first Buff to earn first-team All-Conference honors at receiver since 1997, declared for the NFL Draft and bypassed his senior season in 2014. ILB Addison Gillam set a CU freshman record for tackles (119) and plays (838) and was a first-team Freshman All-American. The same five players started every game on the offensive line since 2004. Colorado improved in 29 major statistical categories from its numbers in 2012 and had its fewest penalties and yards since 1985 (just 10 in the last four games, tied for the third fewest in any 10-game span in school history).

Notes: The Buffs lost four conference games by a combined 15 points, the smallest margin for four league setbacks since the 1964 season, when CU dropped four by 12 points (and five by 21). Colorado was 0-9 in Pac-12 Conference games, its first winless season in league play since going 0-5 in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference in 1915. Despite that fact, CU set 107 team records, mostly on offense (QB Sefo Liufau and WR Nelson Spruce combined for almost six dozen of them); the most notable were 3,200 passing yards and 28 touchdown passes by Liufau, and 106 receptions (12 for TDs) by Spruce. Spruce also scored the school's 25,000th point on a touchdown reception late in the 59-56 double overtime loss at Cal. CU averaged over 400 yards on offense (439.2) for the first time since the 2001 season, and ran a record number of plays in a season (996, or 83.0 per game). Colorado's 41-38 win at Massachusetts marked the Buffs' first visit to the northeast U.S. since a 31-0 win over Army in 1977.

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Nelson Spruce, WR Shay Fields, LT Stephone Nembot/Sam Kronshage, LG Gerald Kough, C Alex Kelley, RG Jonathan Huckins/Shane Callahan, RT Stephane Nembot/John Lisella, TE Sean Irwin, QB Sefo Liufau, TB Christian Powell/Phillip Lindsay/Patrick Carr, WR Devin Ross/Donovan Lee. Defense (Multiple)—SLB Derek McCartney, DT Jordan Carrell, Justin Solis, DE Leo Jackson III, MLB Rick Gamboa, JLB Kenneth Olugbode, LC Ahkello Witherspoon, SS Tedric Thompson, FS Ryan Moeller/Jered Bell, RC Ken Crawley, N Chidobe Awuzie. Specialists—P Alex Kinney, PK Diego Gonzalez, KO Chris Graham, KR Donovan Lee/Phillip Lindsay, PR Nelson Spruce, SN Wyatt Tucker Smith.

Notes: CU enjoyed its best start (3-1) since a similar record in 2010, but went 1-8 in the Pac-12, with four of those losses by a combined 20 points. Injuries played a role in the offense taking a slight step back from the 2014 season, but the defense improved dramatically (the Buffs allowed 111 fewer points playing one more game than in '14). WR Nelson Spruce concluded his Colorado career setting 41 school records, and also exited as the Pac-12's all-time leading receiver with 294 catches. The team was young, with just 12 seniors, only three of whom were starters. Off the field, the long-time voice of the Buffaloes, Larry Zimmer, retired after calling CU games for 42 seasons (1971-81, 1985-2015).

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver; ◆—Pac-12 Championship game at Santa Clara, Calif.; #—Alamo Bowl at San Antonio, Texas.

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Bryce Bobo, WR Shay Fields, WR Devin Ross, LT Jeromy Irwin, LG Gerrad Kough, C Alex Kelley, RG Tim Lynott, Jr., RT Sam Kronshage/Aaron Haigler, TE Sean Irwin (WR Jay MacIntyre), QB Sefo Liufau, TB Phillip Lindsay. Defense (Multiple)—OLB Ryan Moeller, DE Jordan Carrell, NT Josh Tupou, DE Samson Kafovalu, OLB Jimmie Gilbert, JLB Kenneth Olugbode, MLB Rick Gamboa, LC Chidobe Awuzie, SS Tedric Thompson, FS Afolabi Laguda, RC Ahkello Witherspoon. Specialists—P Alex Kinney, PK Diego Gonzalez, PK Chris Graham, PK Davis Price, KR Anthony Julmisse, PR Jay MacIntyre/Isaiah Oliver, SN J.T. Bale.

Notes: CU won the Pac-12 South Division in dramatic fashion, recording the largest turnaround from one year to the next in conference play (1-8 to 8-1) in league history. The Buffaloes enjoyed their first 10-win season in 15 years and in the process earned a bowl invitation for the first time since 2007. CU's first real experienced team in some time, the Buffs did not start a true freshman for the first time since 2001 as well. QB Sefo Liufau finished his CU career with 99 school records (mostly passing and total offense). Head coach Mike MacIntyre was the consensus national coach of the year (winning eight of the 10 awards) and the Pac-12 coach of the year. CU won 13 of 14 coin tosses on the year, the chances of which were 1 in 1,092.

Notes: CU did not allow a touchdown in its first two games for the first time since 1958. TB Phillip Lindsay was a semifinalist for the Doak Walker Award as he set 24 school records and tied two others. George Frazier was a true three-way player; he was in for 506 snaps (206 offense, 147 defense, 93 special teams). CU had two players record over 100 tackles, the first time in 11 seasons, and the first time since 1994 it was by two linebackers. Colorado did not have a true freshman start a game for the second straight season (the first time in back-to-back years since 1989 and 1990). In the season finale, Mike MacIntyre coached his 100th career game as a head coach (63 games at Colorado, 37 at San Jose State), and it was No. 100 for Darian Hagan as an assistant coach (two stints at CU).

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Mike MacIntyre. (interim for one game: Kurt Roper). Assistant Coaches: D.J. Eliot (DC/OLB), Darrin Chiaverini (co-OC/WR), Klayton Adams (co-OC/OL), Ashley Ambrose (CB), Gary Bernardi (TE/HB), ShaDon Brown (DB), Kwahn Drake (DL), Ross Els (ILB), Darian Hagan (RB), Kurt Roper (QB).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Laviska Shenault, WR K.D. Nixon, WR Jay MacIntyre, LT Will Sherman, LG Brett Tonz/Aaron Haigler, C Colby Pursell, RG Tim Lynott, Jr., RT Josh Kaiser, TE Chris Bounds/Brady Russell (WR Tony Brown), QB Steven Montez, TB Travon McMillian. Defense (Multiple)—OLB Drew Lewis/Carson Wells, DE Israel Antwine, NT Javier Edwards, DE Mustafa Johnson, OLB Davion Taylor, ILB Nate Landman, ILB Rick Gamboa, LC Dante Wigley, SS Evan Worthington, FS Nick Fisher, RC Delrick Abrams. Specialists—P Alex Kinney/Davis Price, PK James Stefanou, KO Davis Price, KR/PR Ronnie Blackmon, KR K.D Nixon/K.Evans, SN J.T. Bale.

Notes: CU opened the season with five straight wins for the first time since 1998, but was the first team in 20 years to lose the remainder of its games after a 5-0 start. WR Laviska Shenault led the nation in receptions per game (9.8), despite missing three-plus games with a foot injury (he was leading in yards per game at the time of the injury). Freshmen started 48 games, the third-most since they were allowed to play in 1972. TB Travon McMillian became the 12th player in school history to have at least play of 50 yards or more rushing and receiving. Head coach Mike MacIntyre was relieved of his head coaching duties after the loss to Utah, with quarterback coach Kurt Roper named the interim for the finale (this was also the first season the NCAA allowed 10 assistant coaches, up from nine since the 1970s). Darian Hagan celebrated his 250th game as a Buffalo (player, administrator, assistant coach) against UCLA.

†—Sports Authority Field at Mile High, Denver.

Head Coach: Mel Tucker. Assistant Coaches: Darrin Chiaverini (AHC/WR), Jay Johnson (OC/QB), Tyson Summers (DC/S), Jimmy Brumbaugh (DL), Ross Els (ILB), Darian Hagan (RB), Chris Kapilovic (OL), Brian Michalowski (OLB), Al Pupunu (TE), Travares Tillman (CB).

Usual Lineup: Offense (Multiple)—WR Laviska Shenault, WR K.D. Nixon, WR Tony Brown, LT Arlington Hambright, LG Kary Kutsch, C Tim Lynott, Jr., RG Colby Pursell/Jack Shutack, RT Will Sherman, TE Brady Russell, QB Steven Montez, TB Alex Fontenot. Defense (Multiple)—OLB Davion Taylor, DE Mustafa Johnson, NT Jalen Sami, DE Terrance Lang, OLB Carson Wells, ILB Nate Landman, ILB Akil Jones/Jonathan Van Diest, LC Delrick Abrams, SS Derrion Rakestraw, FS Mikial Onu, RC K.J. Trujillo. Specialists—P Alex Kinney, PK James Stefanou/Evan Price, KO James Stefanou/Davis Price, PR Dimitri Stanley, KR K.D Nixon, SN J.T. Bale.

Notes: Mel Tucker became just the third CU head coach to win his first game at the reins of the Buffaloes since 1932, joining Rick Neuheisel (1995) and Mike MacIntyre (2013). Colorado played back-to-back overtime games for the first time in its history, rallying from 17 points down to defeat Nebraska, and though losing to Air Force, had trailed by 13 with less than 11 minutes to play and came back to send the game into the extra session (it was also the first game against Air Force since 1974). The Buffaloes defeated both Stanford and Washington for the first time since joining the Pac-12 in 2011. Tucker left for Michigan State in February 2020, becoming the first one-year head coach at CU since Bud Davis served on an interim basis for the 1962 season.

MEMORABLE CU OPENERS

Quite often, the first career start, or coming out party, is intertwined with making a season opener a memorable one. Perhaps the biggest example of this in Colorado history came in 1989, when sophomore Darian Hagan made his debut as CU's starting quarterback; he may or may not have won the job, but with senior Sal Aunese stricken with stomach cancer the previous March, Hagan was handed the keys to the CU offense. On the second play of the game, Hagan raced 75 yards on the option to the Texas 2, starting the Buffaloes on their way to a 27-6 win, the first triumph en route to an 11-0 record in the regular season. Hagan rushed for 116 yards and a touchdown, and passed for 95 yards and another score. Other memorable CU openers and/or game one performances include:

1937 Colorado 14, Missouri 6 Boulder
Erv Cheney scores both CU touchdowns, Byron White boots a still-CU record 83 yard punt, and for the first time in school history, there is a charge for parking on the Boulder campus (15 cents a game).

1953 Colorado 21, Washington 20 Seattle
The Buffs, a two-touchdown underdog, win in Seattle as Homer Jenkins, in his first collegiate game, did it all in CU's single-wing offense to often fill in for an injured Carroll Hardy. Jenkins threw two TD passes to Gary Knafelc, while Emerson Wilson added 87 yards on the ground and a score.

1965 Colorado 0, Wisconsin 0 Madison
The Buffs and Badgers battle to a 0-0 tie in Madison, the third-to-last scoreless tie in Division I-A history as the two combine in "hot and sticky" conditions for just 496 yards of total offense.

1971 Colorado 31, LSU 21 Baton Rouge
Charlie Davis rushes for 174 yards and two TDs in win at No. 9 LSU, the catapult to a 10-2 season and No. 3 rank.

1977 Colorado 27, Stanford 21 Boulder
Current assistant head coach Brian Cabral goes nuts as he racks up 25 tackles in CU's win.

1979 Oregon 33, Colorado 19 Boulder
The Buffs fall in the much ballyhooed first game for new head coach Chuck Fairbanks; it's also the first game televised by a fledgling sports network named ESPN that went on the air one day earlier.

1981 Colorado 45, Texas Tech 27 Boulder
Walter Stanley hauled down five catches for a CU record 222 (it still stands today), as CU's first game after a 1-10 season in 1980 exorcises some demons. Randy Essington throws for 345 yards in the win.

1989 Colorado 27, Texas 6 Boulder
In addition to Hagan's effort (see above) the CU defense stifled Texas in limiting the Longhorns to 268 yards.

1990 Colorado 31, Tennessee 31 Anaheim
Mike Pritchard subs for Eric Bieniemy at tailback and rushes for a CU season opener record of 217 yards as the Buffs open what would be their national championship season with a tie against Tennessee in Anaheim in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic.

1992 Colorado 37, Colorado State 17 Boulder
Kordell Stewart takes over from Darian Hagan and passes for 409 and 4 TDs in the win over the Rams.

1995 Colorado 43, Wisconsin 7 Madison
The NFL plucked off 10 CU starters in the draft in April, but new CU head coach Rick Neuheisel readied the Buffaloes in fine fashion as CU drilled Wisconsin in Madison. Koy Detmer threw for 267 yards and three TDs as CU scored 23 second quarter points to build a 26-7 halftime lead on the way to the win.

1998 Colorado 42, Colorado State 14 Denver
Mike Moschetti throws for 257 yards and 3 TDs in the his first CU game and the first contest between the two in-state rivals in Denver at the old Mile High Stadium.

2003 Colorado 42, Colorado State 35 Denver
Joel Klatt comes in unsung and exits as the national player-of-the-week as he threw for 402 yards and 4 TDs in a 42-35 thriller over the Rams. CSU pulls even late, but Bobby Purify's 9-yard TD run wins it with :40 left.

2004 Colorado 27, Colorado State 24 Boulder
CU led the entire way, but CSU had a chance to steal it at the end; the Rams had a first-and-goal at the CU 1 with just under a minute left, but the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion and stuffed two plays, the last as time ran out, to seal the win. The Rams had fought back from 17-0 and 27-17 deficits.

2005 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 Boulder
Mason Crosby drilled a 47-yard field goal with four seconds left to rally CU to the win. The Buffs trailed 21-10 entering the fourth quarter, having tied the game at 21 on a 48-yard Crosby kick with 2:32 left. CU turned an interception into the go-ahead touchdown, a 23-yard run by Hugh Charles, with 1:30 remaining, but CSU rallied with an 80-yard TD drive to tie the game with 36 ticks to go on the clock. Stephone Robinson returned the kickoff to the 40 and three plays later, the Buffs were in position for Crosby's winning kick, as the teams scored 20 points in just 152 seconds.

2007 Colorado 31, Colorado State 28 (OT) Denver
Kevin Eberhart dutifully waited for his chance playing behind two-time All-American Mason Crosby for three years, but when the fifth-year senior had his chance in the spotlight, he connected on field goals to force overtime and then to win the game as the Buffaloes defeated CSU, 31-28. Crosby was the hero in 2005, and this time around Eberhart made clutch kicks from 22 yards out with 13 seconds left in regulation, and then the game winner in overtime from 35 yards after Terrence Wheatley snuffed out CSU's overtime chance with an interception in the end zone. The Rams worked to a 28-17 lead early in the third quarter but were shut down after that point by a staunch Buff defense, as CU rallied from 11 down for the second time in three years against their in-state rivals.

2013 Colorado 41, Colorado State 27 Denver
Connor Wood completed 33-of-46 passes for 400 yards and three touchdowns, with Paul Richardson catching 10 of those for throws for 208 yards and two scores in leading CU to a 41-27 win over Colorado State. It marked just the second time since 1932 that a CU coach won his first game at the helm of the program, as Mike MacIntyre joined Rick Neuheisel (1995) as the only two to start their Buffs careers 1-0.

CONFERENCE OPENERS

In 126 conference openers in its history, Colorado has compiled an 82-42-2 record (a 65.9 winning percentage), including a 37-17-1 mark at Folsom Field (and 52-17-1 at home overall). Colorado was not a member of a conference from 1890-92 and did not play a conference schedule in 1905. The breakdown:

DID YOU KNOW... Several University of Colorado graduates have made their careers in the field of sports broadcasting. The first was also a football letterman, Tom Brookshier, who did NFL color commentary for several years on CBS. Another has made his niche in broadcasting, as Dave Logan is the play-by-play voice for the Denver Broncos, following up a stellar career as an NFL receiver. One of the most visible people on the national college football beat is ESPN's Chris Fowler, a 1985 CU graduate who worked three years in CU's sports information office. Another '80s grad and SID office veteran, Jim Gray, is with FOX after stints with NBC, ABC and ESPN; he's made a name for himself in breaking several national stories. Solomon Wilcots, who lettered two years at cornerback and played several seasons in the NFL, worked for CBS and ESPN and is now with the NFL Network. Kevin Corke, another CU journalism grad, started at Denver's KUSA-TV and moved on to become an anchor at ESPN before his current gig: White House correspondent for the FOX News Channel. Joel Klatt, who set nearly four dozen records as CU's quarterback between 2003-05 started out locally with ROOT Sports before being snagged by FOX Sports. Matt Schick, is the most recent Buff to join the ESPN family of networks, also working college football. Two other former players have a presence on the Pac-12 Networks among other assignments, Jeremy Bloom and Chad Brown, while three others are prominent on Denver radio: Mike Pritchard, Bobby Pesavento and Tyler Polumbus. Behind the scenes, Peter Lasser was a top producer for TNT's NFL football coverage, and Jay Rothman is one of ABC's and ESPN's most respected producers, having worked college football and is now the producer of Monday Night Football.

Kevin Eberhart celebrating after his 45-yard field goal rallied CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma in 2007

Steve Vogel

NOTE: The largest deficit CU has ever overcome to tie or take the lead in a game is 24 points. On Nov. 26, 1999, the Buffs trailed Nebraska, 27-3, early in the fourth quarter but rallied to tie the game with 2:59 remaining. A game winning field goal sailed just wide at the final gun, but the Buffs did take a 30-27 lead in overtime before succumbing to the Cornhuskers, 33-30.

TELEVISION APPEARANCES

Colorado has appeared on either national or regional television 339 times since the 1951 season, posting a 146-190-3 record in these games (74-72-2 in Boulder). The Buffaloes have been on national TV a total of 246 times, owning a 98-145-3 record (52-48-2 in Boulder). The first appearance on TV by Colorado was on Nov. 17, 1951, as the Nebraska game in Lincoln was broadcast to 19 states in the central part of the nation as part of the NCAA television testing program; an estimated 8-to-10 million people watched the Buffs win in impressive fashion, 36-14. An interesting fact is that the first college football game ever televised on ESPN involved Colorado, as the fledgling cable network on just its second day of existence broadcasted the Oregon-CU game on Sept. 8, 1979 (on a tape-delayed basis later that same day). A detailed look at Colorado's all-time national and regional televised games (with announcers, if known):

6 (bold)—game winning TD scored by defense or special teams; 6*—TD (Pat kick failed);
6^—TD (2-point conversion failed); 7—TD (made PAT kick); 8—TD (made 2-point conversion).

The Buffs are 0-10 in their history when they have come up against the number one ranked team. Colorado has played only three teams with number one rankings—Nebraska (0-3); Oklahoma (0-6) and Southern Cal (0-1). In eight of these games, the Buffs have given the nation's best a solid run for their money. Here's a look at each CU No. 1 matchup (both AP & UPI/Coaches unless otherwise noted):

NOTE: Colorado is 1-1 as the nation's No. 1 team, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the 1990 Orange Bowl and defeating Notre Dame 10-9 in the 1991 Orange Bowl.

DID YOU KNOW . . . That despite not having beaten a No. 1 team, Colorado twice knocked Oklahoma out of the No. 1 slot? CU's efforts in 1957 and 1975 knocked the Sooners from No. 1 to No. 2 in the AP poll. And in 2001, CU defeated Nebraska, 62-36; the Huskers were ranked No. 3 by the AP, but were in fact the No. 1 team ... in the BCS Standings going into the game.

COLORADO VS. HEISMAN WINNERS

Colorado has played 10 opponents which featured the eventual Heisman Trophy winner for that season. Here's a look at how each fared against the Buffs:

Sept. 27, 1952 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: HB Billy Vessels
Rushing: 21-110, 2 TD; Passing: 3-1-0, 37; Kick Returns 4-39.

Oct. 18, 1969 vs. Oklahoma at Norman: TB Steve Owens
Rushing: 28-112, 4 TD; Passing: 1-1-0, 16.

Nov. 4, 1972 vs. Nebraska in Boulder: WB Johnny Rodgers
Rushing: 5-minus 6, 1 TD; Receiving 4-79, 1 TD.

Nov. 4, 1978 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: HB Billy Sims
Rushing: 27-220, 1 TD.

Oct. 22, 1983 vs. Nebraska at Lincoln: IB Mike Rozier
Rushing: 19-156, 4 TD; Receiving: 1-26; Kickoff Returns 4-90.

Oct. 8, 1988 vs. Oklahoma State in Boulder: TB Barry Sanders
Rushing: 24-174, 4 TD.

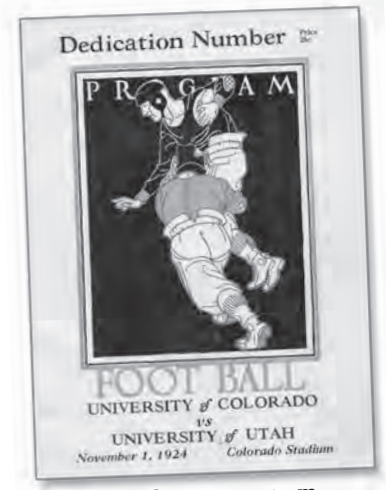

Sept. 13, 1997 vs. Michigan at Ann Arbor: CB Charles Woodson
Receiving: 1-29. Defense: 5 tackles, 1 interception.

Nov. 23, 2001 vs. Nebraska in Boulder: QB Eric Crouch
Rushing: 18-162, 2 TD; Passing: 28-13-2, 198, 0 TD.

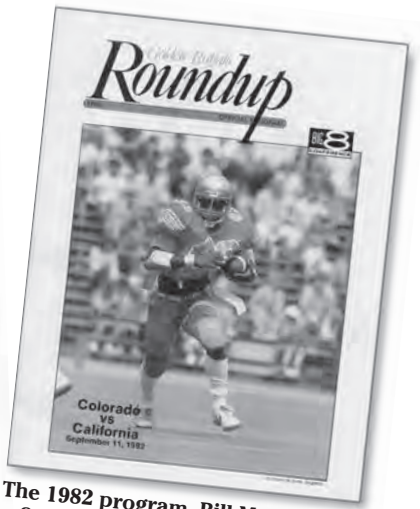

Sept. 14, 2002 vs. USC in Boulder: QB Carson Palmer
Rushing: 4-minus 5, 1 TD; Passing: 30-22-0, 244, 1 TD.

Oct. 25, 2003 vs. Oklahoma in Boulder: QB Jason White
Rushing: 2-minus 12; Passing: 28-19-0, 248, 3 TD.

Nov. 22, 2014 vs. Oregon at Eugene: QB Marcus Mariota
Rushing: 8-73, 1 TD; Passing: 32-24-0, 323, 3 TD.

THE BUFFS AND THE WEATHER

Colorado's wacky weather, for the most part, has not played too much havoc with the Buffaloes through the years. Here are the last times the elements affected games in Boulder.

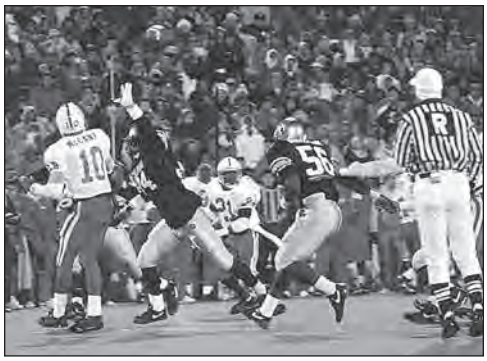

'82 CU-California

Snow: There has seldom been snowfall during a game in Boulder. In fact, only seven times since 1949 has any real snowfall of note occurred during a game. It last happened on Nov. 17, 2018 when it snowed off and on throughout in a 30-7 loss to Utah (which was ironically the 500th game in Folsom Field history). That had been the first time since Nov. 11, 2000, when it snowed the entire game in a 35-27 loss to Iowa State. On Nov. 16, 1996, there was light snowfall throughout the first half in a 12-0 win over Kansas State; on the same date in 1991, it started snowing late (though lightly) in a 30-24 win over Kansas; and there was light snowfall in a 21-6 win over Kansas State in 1979. In 1971, about two feet of snow feel the morning of a 56-13 win over Wyoming; what made that day unique is that it was Sept. 18, and was CU's first home game on artificial turf. The two most famous snow games came in 1969 (a 30-7 win over Indiana where it snowed all game, and in 1949, when it was sunny at kickoff prior to a 14-7 win over Utah. But the clouds rolled in and by halftime, there were snow flurries. By game's end, there was six inches of snow on the ground. There have been major snowstorms on Fridays but the weather cleared prior to game time (in 1986 before Kansas, in 1987 and 1991 before Nebraska, and in 1992 and 1994 before Iowa State). The last road game with snow (flurries) was at Utah in 2015.

Rainfall: Rain during a game in Boulder is about as rare as snowfall; light rain or annoying drizzle have happened on occasion. The last rainfall occurred on Oct. 3, 2015 prior to and during the Oregon game (light-to-moderate – in fact, kickoff was delayed 61 minutes due to lightning in the area); the previous time had been on Oct. 14, 2006 during the second half against Texas Tech. The last time there was heavy rain during a game in Boulder was in the fourth quarter in a 20-13 loss to Michigan in 1996; otherwise you have to go back to Sept. 11, 1982, in a 31-17 loss to California (Bill McCartney's first game). The last road games with rain were in 2019 and 2017 at Washington State, 2014 at Oregon and in 2013 at Oregon State and at Washington.

Bitter Cold: There have been only five occasions where the temperature was below 20 degrees at kickoff at Folsom Field in its history. The last time was the Iowa State game in 2000 mentioned under "snow" above. On Nov. 16, 1996, it was 16 degrees at the start of both halves in a 12-0 win over Kansas State, and the mercury reached 12 degrees with a wind-chill of minus-8 in a 19-19 tie against Nebraska on Nov. 2, 1991.

'91 CU-Nebraska

Wind: Despite the Midwest and Boulder being known to experience high winds on occasion, only four times since 1985 have winds really affected a CU game. The last time was on Nov. 12, 2011, when winds gusted from 32 to 62 miles per hour in CU's 48-29 win over Arizona; the time before that was on Nov. 11, 1995, when winds gusting from 30 to 67 mph were prevalent during most of Colorado's 21-0 victory over Missouri (winds gusted from 18-35 mph in the first half of the Sept. 18, 2018 West Virginia game but subsided for the second half). On the road, the Great Plains winds were quite common, especially later in the fall; on Nov. 12, 2005, a tornado warning/sighting delayed the start of the CU-Iowa State game in Ames; winds would gust 20-45 mph throughout after a nearly two hour delay. On Nov. 9, 1991 in Stillwater, a 16-12 CU win became known for one of the gutsiest play calls in CU history—a fake field goal with 12 seconds left in the game that produced the winning points; the call was because of the wind, blowing upward of 30 mph at the end of the game.

COLORADO'S WARMEST GAMES (*—night game)

Since 1950, Colorado is 50-35 when it has been 80 degrees or warmer at kickoff.

CU'S 242-GAME SCORING STREAK

Colorado's 242-game scoring streak from 1988 to 2008 stands as the 20th longest in Division I-A college history. In the 242-game run, CU scored on its first possession 95 times, plus another three occasions where it scored on returns on its first touch of the game. The Buffs scored in the first quarter 166 times during the streak, and had it extended by halftime 219 times. Here's that list: *—includes score on a kickoff return to start the 1998 Aloha Bowl; an interception return prior to the first offensive possession in the 2002 Alamo Bowl; and an interception return for a score on the first touch against Arizona State in 2007):

Colorado had a 154-84-4 record during the scoring streak, averaging 35.4 points in the wins and 16.4 points in the losses (and 23.5 the four tied games). The Buffs had only nine occasions where they were delayed extending the streak until the fourth quarter. The last came in 2007 in a 16-6 loss to Florida State, where it marked the latest in a game CU scored to maintain the streak; it was also the only fourth quarter touchdown in the streak that took place on fourth down. Here's a look at those occasions (*—denotes in Denver):

There were 16 occasions where Colorado scored just once to continue the streak. PK Mason Crosby by far has played the biggest individual role, personally extending the streak six times, or four more than the only other player do it even twice, WR/KR Jeremy Bloom. The 1990 edition of the University of Colorado football team accomplished two of the biggest "firsts" in its storied history. The Buffaloes played the nation's toughest schedule and posted an 11-1-1 record overall, with the win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl cementing the school's first national championship. For the second straight year, CU logged a 7-0 record in league play, marking the first time that the Buffs had claimed the Big Eight Conference title in back-to-back years.

Colorado had flirted with the national championship just one season earlier, owning an 11-0 regular season record and entering the Orange Bowl ranked as the nation's No. 1 team. A 21-6 loss to Notre Dame, however, ended CU's dream season and the Buffs finished No. 4 in the national polls. Little did anyone know at the time that the Buffaloes would have the chance to redeem themselves.

Questions prior to the start of the 1990 season included, "What do you do for an encore?" and "Is Colorado for real or was last season a fluke?" Coach Bill McCartney didn't set winning the national championship as the team goal; winning back-to-back Big Eight titles was what he wanted his men to aim for. Shooting for all the marbles includes too many variables that are out of a team's control, while one holds its own destiny in pursuit of a league title. McCartney was not the kind to set a national title as a goal, anyway.

In the Associated Press preseason poll, the Buffs were ranked No. 5; it's first opponent, Tennessee in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic, was ranked No. 8.

Colorado overcame three first-quarter turnovers against the Volunteers (that was almost one-fourth of the entire turnover total of the season before) to lead 24-10 early in the fourth quarter. The Buffs couldn't sustain the lead, and Tennessee caught CU with the game ending in a 31-31 tie.

In game two, Eric Bieniemy scored on fourth-and-goal from the one with 12 seconds remaining to give CU a 21-17 win over Stanford. This was alarming in that Stanford had the worst record in 1989 of the five non-league teams on CU's schedule, along with the fact that the Cardinal led 14-0 at halftime and had stifled the high-powered CU offense.

Illinois dealt CU what proved to be its only loss of the season on Sept. 15, as the 23-22 defeat to the Illini sent the Buffs reeling to No. 20 in the polls. A game that Colorado should have won (CU led, 17-3, in the second quarter) turned into a loss and gave CU a 1-1-1 start. Talk of 1989 being a fluke started to surface, that CU had won only because of emotion in response to the death of quarterback Sal Aunese.

The next two games put the Buffaloes back on track, and ended talk that Colorado was not for real. A 29-22 win at No. 22 Texas, with CU rallying from a 22-14 deficit early in the fourth quarter, was the game that McCartney and the team pointed to as the turning point of the season. Then a 20-14 win over No. 12 Washington a week later reinforced the national opinion of the Buffaloes, as CU took over the No. 12 spot in the polls after its defeat of the Huskies.

Colorado came through the fierce non-league portion of its schedule with a 3-1-1 record and prepared to defend its Big Eight crown earned the season before. The Buffs topped Missouri, 33-31, in their league opener amid controversy of the now famous "fifth down." CU's Charles Johnson scored the game-winning touchdown as time expired on what turned out to be fifth down. The play, created through an incredible mistake by the officiating crew, and unnoticed by Missouri game administration and virtually everyone in the stadium, tainted the CU win and hurt the Buffs' image. Even though the Buffs defeated Iowa State, 28-12, the following week, Colorado had dropped back to No. 14 in the rankings though it sported a 5-1-1 record.

Still, the Buffaloes were off to a 2-0 start in league play, and improved to 3-0 with a 41-10 drubbing of Kansas at Lawrence in week three of the Big Eight season. The win pushed CU back into the top 10 (No. 10), with the "Big Reds" next up on the schedule.

Colorado knocked off Oklahoma, ranked No. 22 nationally, 32-23 to deal the one-time fourth-ranked Sooners their third straight defeat. The Buffs trailed, 14-6, late in the first half, with OU in position to kick a field goal. Greg Thomas skied to block the attempt, and quarterback Darian Hagan took over to lead the Buffs to a touchdown right before the halftime gun. Bieniemy broke free for a 69-yard TD run in the third quarter, and the Buffs pulled away in the final 15 minutes to dispose of the first of the Big Reds.

A week later, Colorado, now No. 9, traveled to Lincoln and defeated No. 3 Nebraska, 27-12, in rainy, cold and windy conditions. Bieniemy overcame five fumbles to score four touchdowns in the fourth quarter to rally the Buffaloes to the win. The end result was that Colorado had defeated both Oklahoma and Nebraska for the second straight year, and in back-to-back weeks, no less. The Buffs, with an 8-1-1 record, zoomed to No. 4 in the nation in the polls, and needed just one win in their last two games to get back to the Orange Bowl.

The Buffs steamrolled both Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) to finish the regular season at 10-1-1. The wins also marked the second straight year that CU took the Big Eight title with an undefeated 7-0 record in league play.

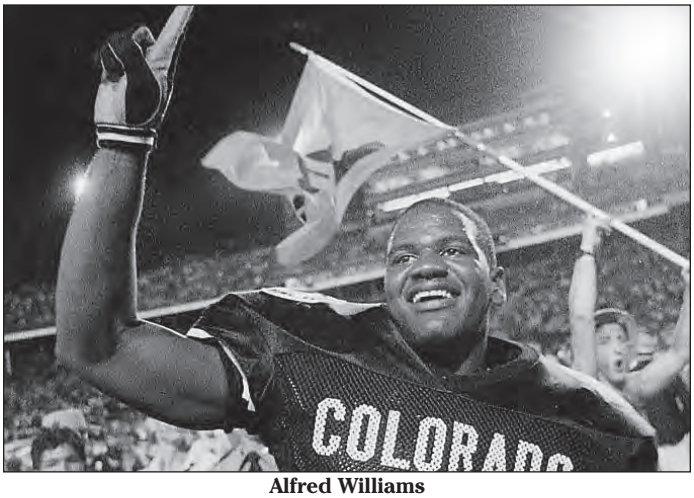

CU's National Title Display at the College Hall of Fame

When Penn State knocked off Notre Dame hours after CU's win over K-State, the Buffs became the nation's new No. 1 team. Thus, as was the case in 1989, the Buffaloes entered the Orange Bowl to defend the nation's top ranking against Notre Dame, the team that lost to hand CU the No. 1 claim.

Colorado had the rare chance to play for the national championship a second straight year, and this time around, the Buffs made the most of their opportunity. Colorado overcame the loss of Hagan and Kanavis McGhee to injuries in the first half, taking the lead for good in the third quarter in defeating the Irish, 10-9. The win kicked off a wild celebration by some 20,000-plus CU fans in Miami and hundreds of thousands back home in Colorado.

McCartney's ninth Colorado team attained its goals of claiming the Big Eight title in back-to-back years, and surpassed it by winning the national championship. In the process, CU established itself among the elite in college football.

2001 COLORADO 39, Texas 37

December 1, 2001 (Irving, Texas)

IRVING, Texas — Texas Stadium just north of Dallas was supposed to be a neutral site for the sixth annual Big 12 Championship game, but it was the 7,000 or so Colorado fans who left happy as the No. 9 Buffaloes claimed their first Big 12 crown with a 39-37 win over the No. 3 Texas Longhorns.

A hostile environment was taken up a notch before the game when it was announced that No. 2 Florida had lost to Tennessee, paving the way to the national championship game in the Rose Bowl for the 10-1 Longhorns if they could beat the Buffs. And UT came out inspired, stifling the CU offense on the game's first possession and then scoring on its first drive, marching 85 yards in just six plays to take a 7-0 lead with 9:56 left in the first quarter.

Two series later, Texas was again driving and had reached the CU 22, but linebacker Aaron Killion picked off a Chris Simms pass and raced 73 yards to the UT 12. Chris Brown scored on a 10-yard run three plays later, and it ignited a 29-3 scoring spree for the Buffaloes over the next 15 minutes as the Buffs used four Longhorn turnovers to take control of the game.

On CU's next possession, Brown got things going with a 24-yard run to get the Buffs into field goal range, enabling Jeremy Flores to make good on a 39-yard kick on the second play of the second quarter. The Buffs took a 10-7 lead, one it would never relinquish, and following a Joey Johnson interception of Simms, CU was back in business at its own 36. Bobby Purify's 51-yard run to the UT 3 set up Brown's second touchdown, but Flores' PAT kick sailed left to leave CU up, 16-7. Dusty Mangum answered for the Longhorns on the very next drive with a 50-yard field goal, but on the first play of UT's next possession, DeAndre Fluellen sacked Simms and forced a fumble that Matt McChesney recovered at the Texas 22.

Bobby Pesavento hit tight end Daniel Graham on the very next play to pad the lead to 22-10, but the two point try failed. CU finished the scoring blitz when Medford Moorer picked off his first career pass three plays later and returned it 64 yards for a touchdown and a 29-10 Colorado advantage. Major Applewhite replaced Simms at quarterback for UT and hooked up with B.J. Johnson on a 79-yard scoring play on a busted coverage to slice the Buff lead to 29-17 at halftime.

Roman Hollowell, the nation's leading punt returner, brought a short UT punt back to the Texas 40 after the Buff defense forced the Longhorns into a three-and-out to open the second half. Derek McCoy made an acrobatic 33-yard catch of a Pesavento pass to get CU to the UT 13, and two plays later, Brown used an Andre Gurode block to spring free for an 11-yard touchdown run and a 36-17 score in favor of CU.

Texas added a couple of Mangum field goals to get to within 36-23 with 13:42 left in the game, and a CU fake punt that went awry saw Roderick Babers return an interception 54 yards for a touchdown to narrow the lead to 36-30 just four minutes later. But the Buffs came back with a 16-play, 51-yard drive that produced a 43-yard field goal by Flores to again make it a two-score game, but with only 1:58 remaining. Texas didn't give up the fight, as Applewhite and Johnson hooked up a 1-yard score with 31 seconds left, but Graham recovered the onside kick try to seal the Big 12 title for the Buffaloes.

Brown was the individual star with 182 yards and three TDs to lead CU, while Johnson caught four balls for 107 yards, including the two touchdowns. CU became the fifth different school in six years at the time to win the Big 12 crown, joining Nebraska (twice), Oklahoma, Texas and Texas A& M.

2002 Oklahoma 29, COLORADO 7

December 7, 2002 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Quentin Griffin rushed for 188 yards and two touchdowns and Nate Hybl passed for two more as No. 8 Oklahoma wrestled the crown away from defending champion Colorado, as the Sooners downed the No. 12 Buffaloes, 29-7, to win the 2002 Big 12 Conference title.

Some say it's hard to beat a team twice in the same season, but Oklahoma pulled it off in defeating CU for the second time in five weeks. The first time, turnovers helped do the Buffs in, but this time around, Colorado never got untracked offensively.

It looked good for CU out of the gate, as freshman running back sensation Brian Calhoun scooted around the right side for a 37-yard gain on the first play of the game. The Buffs drove to the Sooner 23 before the drive stalled, and it ended without points when Pat Brougham's 41-yard field goal try sailed wide right.

Oklahoma answered with a 13-play, 77-yard drive with Hybl throwing a touchdown pass to Trent Smith on a 3rd-and-goal from the CU 3. OU made it 13-0 after a 21-yard TD pass from Hybl to Mark Clayton five minutes into the second quarter; it culminated a 12-play, 80-yard drive, but Phil Jackson snuck through to block Trey DiCarlo's extra point kick.

Two series later, CU used runs of 25 and 23 yards by Calhoun to work to the OU 14, but again was stopped by a buckling down Sooner defense. Brougham's 32-yard field goal matched his first in missing wide right, and the half would end with Oklahoma up by 13.

Colorado got back in the game and had momentum on its side for the first half of the third quarter, The defense came out of the lockerroom and held the Sooners to three-and-out on their first series. Blake Ferguson hit a 51-yard punt, fielded by Jeremy Bloom at the Buff 20; the freshman slash Olympian raced up the gut and sprinted 80 yards for a touchdown, his second punt return score of the year, and Brougham's extra point cut the deficit to 13-7.

The Buffs held the Sooners again, and on their next possession, Brandon Drumm's 44-yard run on a third-and-2 set CU up in the red zone. But once again the drive sputtered, and Brougham's 33-yard field goal just missed wide right. The Buffs were a bit deflated after that point, and OU seized the opportunity to drive 80 yards in 11 plays, with Griffin scoring from 36 yards out. The Sooners missed the deuce and took a 19-7 lead into the fourth quarter.

Any hopes of a comeback were all but dashed when Oklahoma drove from its 5 to the CU 5 over the course of a 16-play, seven-plus minute drive. Though CU kept OU out of the end zone, DiCarlo made a 28-yard field goal to extend the Sooner lead to 22-7. Griffin's 27-yard touchdown run late in the game closed the night's scoring.

Calhoun finished with 122 yards, a sterling effort since CU was without the services of Doak Walker finalist Chris Brown and sidekick Bobby Purify, who played a few snaps in special third down situations. The Buffs managed only 67 passing yards and 193 overall, while OU piled up 401 in the turnover free game.

2004 Oklahoma 42, COLORADO 3

December 4, 2004 (Kansas City, Mo.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Colorado came into the 9th annual Big 12 Championship with no less intention than to win the game, but No. 2 Oklahoma came in on a mission to avenge its bad memories from the year before and in the end, the Sooners' will was overwhelming as OU defeated the Buffaloes in Arrowhead Stadium, 42-3.

The Buffs, who won their third North Division title in four years, were a surprise entrant in the game to many, though several also felt CU was the best team in the division despite claiming it with only a 4-4 mark. Oklahoma, on the other hand, was the No. 2 team in the nation from wire-to-wire and was out for redemption after losing 35-7 to Kansas State in the same venue in 2003.

The Sooners methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, using the run (15 plays) and pass (10) to score touchdowns on its first three possessions in taking a 21-0 lead just seven seconds into the second quarter. Fab freshman Adrian Peterson and senior quarterback Jason White, both Heisman candidates, were the stars of the Sooner Show but both had plenty of support.

Peterson had runs of 18 and 24 yards on OU's first drive, which featured three third down conversions, with White getting Oklahoma on the board with a 5-yard TD pass to Will Peoples, the fifth time CU allowed a touchdown on the game's first possession.

The Buffs' response to the opening score likely could dictate the way the game would play out. CU picked up a first down by penalty on its second play when quarterback Joel Klatt was the victim of a late hit, but two straight penalties against Colorado linemen (holding and a false start) set up a first-and-25 that the Buffs could not get out of. A 55-yard punt by John Torp, who was one of few bright spots on the night, got the Buffs out of trouble, or so it seemed.

The Sooners countered with a quick 6-play, 63-yard effort topped off by a 22-yard pass for a score from White to Mark Clayton. After the Buffs lost 10 yards on three plays when they got the ball back, the duo repeated the feat on OU's next drive in building a 21-0 lead. Peterson scored on a 1-yard after an Antonio Perkins interception of a Klatt pass put the Sooners in business at the CU 40. The 28-0 score held at intermission, and extended to 35-0 after Peterson scored on a 3-yard run to cap a 41-yard drive that ensued following a failed fourth down punt fake by the Buffaloes.

Late in the third quarter, Colorado enjoyed its best moments of the game. Lorenzo Sims picked off his fifth pass of the season and returned it 40 yards to the Oklahoma 32. The Sooner D stiffened, but the Buffs averted a shutout when Mason Crosby made good on a 34-yard field goal. Peterson added a 32-yard TD run early in the fourth to close the game's scoring.

Oklahoma gained 498 yards on offense, though CU had 10 tackles for loss, but the Sooners limited CU to its third fewest yards in history, as the Buffs netted 46 on just 44 plays from scrimmage.

2005 Texas 70, COLORADO 3

December 3, 2005 (Houston, Texas)

HOUSTON — Three turnovers and a blocked punt fueled a 56-point scoring spree in just over 19 minutes as No. 2 Texas ran away from Colorado in defeating the Buffaloes, 70-3, to win the Big 12 Conference championship game.

The Longhorns, on a mission to win their first league title since the conference's inaugural season in 1996, scored on nine of their first 10 possessions in finishing the regular season with a 12-0 record, earning a spot against USC for the national championship in the Rose Bowl.

Colorado came out of the gates decent enough, actually outgained Texas 120-101 in the first quarter, but saw two long drives end with a fumble and a blocked field goal. The 'Horns turned that first miscue, a Hugh Charles fumble, into a quick score, marching 65 yards in seven plays (and in just 116 seconds) to set the tone for the day after a –yard run by Henry Melton. UT scored again on its next possession, a 3-yard run by Jamaal Charles, to go up 14-0 just over nine minutes into the game.

Mason Crosby scored CU's only points on the afternoon with a 25-yard field goal to open the second quarter, pulling the Buffs to within 14-3. That's when Texas countered with eight unanswered touchdowns, which included three TD passes by Heisman Trophy runner-up Vince Young, with two more Jamaal Charles' scoring runs, one each by both Youngs, Vince and Selvin and a blocked punt return for a score. When the smoke cleared, the Longhorns turned an insurmountable 42-3 halftime lead into a 70-3 advantage with 7:36 left in the third quarter.

Leading by 67 and still blitzing, the Longhorns' Drew Kelson ended CU quarterback Joel Klatt's career with an illegal vicious cheap shot to the head in the third quarter. Klatt sustained a concussion, and spent the night in a Houston hospital for observation. He would miss CU's bowl game but still set 44 school records.

Five of the Texas scoring drives fell between 16 and 46 yards, as turnovers and other miscues set the Longhorns up with a short field much of the game. Texas finished with 486 total yards, including a season-high 268 yards rushing against CU's No. 2 ranked defense against the run. Colorado could not muster much offense after the first quarter, gaining just 71 yards in the final three quarters to finish with 191 on the day.

2016 Washington 41, COLORADO 10

December 2, 2016 (Santa Clara, Calif.)

SANTA CLARA, Calif. — Colorado lost starting quarterback Sefo Liufau for almost the entire first half to injury and the Buffs never found their rhythm in dropping a 41-10 decision to Washington in the Pac-12 Championship game at Levi's Stadium.

For the first time this year, a CU opponent took the opening kickoff and scored, as Washington went 65 yards on seven plays for the game's opening touchdown. The big play on the drive was a 26-yard run from Lavon Coleman, which put the Huskies on CU's 12. Four plays later, Coleman scored from 1 yard out for a 7-0 lead. Colorado took the kickoff and drove into Washington territory before Liufau was injured on a quarterback sack. Steven Montez replaced Liufau and two plays later, threw an incompletion on fourth down.

CU's defense, however, returned the favor. The Buffs sacked Washington quarterback Jake Browning twice on the Huskies' next possession, including a fourth-down stop from Jimmie Gilbert and Timothy Coleman Jr. that gave the ball back to Colorado.

Montez then engineered a seven-play, 55-yard scoring drive to tie the game. He completed a 13-yard pass to Kyle Evans on third-and-7 to keep the drive alive and followed that with a 21-yard strike to Shay Fields to the UW 9. Two plays later, Phillip Lindsay scored from 3 yards out and Davis Price's PAT tied the game at 7-7.

The two teams then traded punts, but the Huskies came out with good field position after CU was forced to kick from deep in its own territory. UW then drove 56 yards (nine plays) for the go-ahead score with Jake Browning throwing a 15-yard pass to Darrell Daniels and the PAT gave the Huskies a 14-7 lead that held until halftime.

Liufau returned behind center for the Buffs to start the second half, but on CU's first play from scrimmage, a tipped pass ended up in the hands of Washington's Taylor Rapp, who returned it 35 yards for a touchdown. The PAT gave Washington a 21-7 lead with 14:44 still to go in the third quarter. UW's defense then struck again, with Rapp notching his second interception of Liufau and returning it to the CU 25. Colorado's defense rose to the occasion and held UW to a 24-yard Cameron Van Winkle field goal, but the Huskies still held a 24-7 lead with 11:27 still to go in the third period. And two possessions later, starting at their own 40, UW needed just four plays to go 60 yards to go up 31-7 and essentially put the game out of reach.

The Buffs were outgained 383-163, with the Huskies racking up 265 yards on the ground and winning the turnover battle, picking off three passes, while CU saw its nation-leading streak of games with at least one defensive takeaway end at 25.

"BRICKS" COLORADO'S TOP VICTORIES

"Brick" games are those that are significant in CU's history and are commemorated by simulated gold brick with the game score on a wall in the Champions Center adjacent to CU's locker room.
(This list includes a handful of other wins deemed significant but are not on the wall.)

Nov. 26, 1891 Colorado 24, Colorado Springs A.A. 4

(at Colorado Springs) After eight straight losses over two seasons, CU earned its first win in its history in the 1891 finale. Up until this game, CU had scored just two touchdowns, both by the defense, but quarterback Pat Carney ran the ball into the end zone for the Silver & Gold's first offensive score.

Oct. 8, 1904 Colorado 6, Nebraska 0

(in Boulder) Referred to at the time as the program's biggest victory at that point in history, CU upset heavily favored Nebraska on its home turf (Gamble Field). Schools from outside the state were appearing more regularly on the schedule, but thus marked the first time that Colorado defeated an established program from the nation's midlands.

Nov. 25, 1920 Colorado 40, Oklahoma A&M 7

(at Oklahoma City) Colorado capped its first season under head coach Myron Witham with its most dominant performance to date outside of the state's borders, crushing Oklahoma A & M (now Oklahoma State), 40-7 on Thanksgiving Day. The win in CU's only non-conference game of the year gave the Silver & Gold a 4-1-2 record.

Nov. 6, 1937 Colorado 17, Utah 7

(at Salt Lake City) The road win secured CU the title in the first year of the Mountain States Conference and vaulted the Buffs to their first-ever appearance in the Associated Press Top 20 (at No. 16). Byron White single-handedly beat Utah, returning a punt 95 yards for a touchdown, scored a second on a 57-yard run, and kicked a field goal and both extra points in accounting for all of CU's scoring. The win helped pave the way for CU's first-ever bowl game appearance (against Rice in the Cotton).

Oct. 9, 1948 Colorado 19, Nebraska 6

(in Boulder) Another benchmark victory for the program, as the win was both CU's first in the Big Seven Conference as well as the first for new head coach Dal Ward. Don Hagin rushed for 116 yards and a score and Harry Narcisian accounted for 206 yards of total offense while a stout Buff defense held the Cornhuskers to only 150 total yards.

Oct. 6, 1951 Colorado 35, #20 Kansas 27

(in Boulder) Lee Venzke scored touchdowns rushing and receiving in the fourth quarter to break open a one-point game to lead Colorado to the victory over the No. 20 Jayhawks, the school's first-ever win over a ranked opponent. The Buffs stormed to a 14-0 lead on a touchdown run from Zack Jordan and a 65-yard punt return by Tom Brookshier and never relinquished the lead. CU went on to finish 5-1 in league play, its second place finish its best in the four years as a member of the Big 7.

The 1891 team that recorded CU's first win

Sept. 27, 1952 Colorado 21, #4 Oklahoma 21 (tie)

(in Boulder) While not a win, but it was not just a tie, either. It would prove to be the only blemish on Oklahoma's amazing 47-0-1 record in Big 7 Conference play (1948-57). The Buffaloes were a thorn in the Sooners' side for many of their games in the run, and this day in Boulder was the closest call. CU took a 21-14 lead early in the fourth quarter on a 16-yard pass from Lee Venzke to Zack Jordan, and the Buff defense would hold OU scoreless on three straight possessions. But the No. 4 Sooners used a 13-play drive to tie the game with just 1:51 left.

Jan. 1, 1957 #20 Colorado 27, #19 Clemson 21

(Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.) The first-ever bowl victory in Colorado history came in a wild one over No. 19 Clemson. The Buffs scored 20 points in the second quarter on touchdown runs by John Bayuk, Boyd Dowler and Howard Cook, only to see the Tigers battle back to take 21-20 lead with 11:12 remaining in the game. CU recovered an onside kick attempt by the "other" CU and Bayuk scored the winning TD with 7:13 left; Bob Stransky's interception with less than three minutes to play sealed the win for Colorado.

Oct. 7, 1961 Colorado 20, Kansas 19

(in Boulder) In a key early season conference game between two title contenders, Kansas roared to a 19-0 lead and it appeared CU's championship hopes would be dashed. The Jayhawks last score came with 13:18 to play in the game, but CU finally got on the scoreboard on its next play, a 58-yard pass from Gale Weidner to Ken Blair. On the Buffs' next possession, Weidner and Blair connected on a 48-yard pass play, and CU was within 19-14 with 10:02 remaining. And to complete the rally, Weidner hit Jerry Hillebrand on a 16-yard TD pass with just 2:56 to go, with Hillebrand's extra point putting CU ahead and polishing off at the time the largest comeback in school history.

Nov. 4, 1961 #8 Colorado 7, #10 Missouri 6

(in Boulder) The win over No. 10 Missouri paved the way for CU's first Big Eight Conference title. Gale Weidner hooked up with Bill Harris on a 21-yard touchdown pass with 35 seconds left in the first half, with Jerry Hillebrand making good on the extra point. Missouri's defense then tightened (CU had just one first down in the second half), but CU's was up to the task as well. The Tigers finally scored with 6:14 left in the game, but the Buffs thwarted their two-point conversion try; MU also missed a 37-yard field goal in the final minute.

Nov. 18, 1961 #8 Colorado 7, Nebraska 0

(at Lincoln) On a cold (31 degrees at kickoff) and windy day, CU turned in one of the finest defensive performances in its history in defeating the Cornhuskers, 7-0, to clinch the Big Eight Conference crown. Gale Weidner's 1-yard run for a touchdown late in the third quarter were all the points CU needed, but to Nebraska, it might have well been 70-0. The Buff defense did not allow a first down, held NU without a pass completion (0-of-12) and to just 31 yards of total offense overall (and to a net zero in the second half). Nebraska ran 35 plays, only 13 of which gained yards (with a long play of just six).

Oct. 21, 1967 #4 Colorado 21, #13 Nebraska 16

(at Lincoln) Colorado's defense outscored its offense but that was fine by the Buffs in knocking off No. 13 Nebraska. Four interceptions, two returned for touchdowns, ignited the victory, the first coming just before halftime. Dick Anderson intercepted a pass at the CU 30 and ran 25 yards before lateraling to Mike Veeder who took it 45 yards the rest of the way for the score. Then with the Cornhuskers driving with CU ahead just 14-13, Jeff Raymond picked off another pass and ran it back 76 yards for what turned out to provide the winning points. The win vaults CU to a No. 3 national ranking, its highest in history at the time, and returns the Buffs to the national college football map.

Oct. 25, 1969 Colorado 31, #5 Missouri 24

(in Boulder) Bobby Anderson rushed for 132 yards and two touchdowns, including what turned out to be the game-winner, as CU stopped unbeaten and No. 5 Missouri. The Tigers came in with one of the nation's top defense, particularly against the rush, but Colorado put 379 yards of offense into the books in grabbing an early 7-0 lead on an Anderson run and never relinquishing the lead. Paul Arendt scored one touchdown and passed for another, a 79-yard bomb to Monte Huber, the latter giving CU a 17-7 lead five minutes into the second quarter.

Dec. 13, 1969 Colorado 47, Alabama 33

(Liberty Bowl at Memphis, Tenn.) In one of the most exciting bowl games ever at the time, the game pitted two of the nation's top coaches against each other, CU's Eddie Crowder and Alabama's Bear Bryant. The Crimson Tide were not thrilled having to play Colorado, as the Buffaloes had several black players and none had yet to play in the Alabama program; CU had to endure racist chants from the 'Bama fans early on, but they were soon silenced after the Buffs put it to the Tide. Bobby Anderson capped his All-America season by rushing for 254 yards and three touchdowns, with CU putting 563 on an Alabama defense much to the chagrin of Bryant and the Tide faithful. The win enabled CU to climb back into the final national rankings for the season (No. 16).

Sept. 26, 1970 #18 Colorado 41, #4 Penn State 13

(in Boulder) CU blows out No. 4 Penn State, ending the Nittany Lions' 31-game unbeaten streak (the last 23 of which were victories). The Buffs jumped out to a 10-0 lead in the game's first 3½ minutes on a 1-yard touchdown run by John Tarver and a Dave Haney 35-yard field goal. The CU defense held Penn State to just 290 yards and forced five turnovers, with the 41 points the most allowed by PSU in four seasons. The decisive win shocks the college football world and lands CU linebacker Phil Irwin on the cover of Sports Illustrated, the first time any sport in the CU program is featured on the magazine's famous cover.

Sept. 11, 1971 Colorado 31, #9 Louisiana State 21

(at Baton Rouge) Cliff Branch's 75-yard punt return for a touchdown early in the second half gave Colorado a 17-7 lead and No. 9 LSU never had the ball on offense trailing by one score as the Buffaloes pulled off a major upset in Cajun Country, defeating the Tigers 31-21 in the '71 season opener. The sophomore-laden Buffs debuted several star players in the game, including Charlie Davis, who rushed for 174 yards and two touchdowns, and quarterback Ken Johnson, who opened the scoring with a 7-yard TD pass to Willie Nichols. John Stearns made two interceptions on defense to set up a pair of scores.

Sept. 25, 1971 #10 Colorado 20, #6 Ohio State 14

(at Columbus) After winning on the road at LSU and whooping up on Wyoming in Boulder (in the first-ever game on Astroturf at Folsom Field), not everyone was certain that the Buffs were for real until the end of this day in Columbus when No. 10 CU left with a 20-14 win over No. 6 Ohio State. Colorado's second win on the road at a top 10 school (LSU was No. 9) gave CU instant national respect. Charlie Davis rushed for 135 yards and Ken Johnson added 84 in scoring both touchdowns on offense, while Cliff Branch's 68-yard punt return for a TD gave CU a 13-0 halftime lead that was never seriously threatened.

Dec. 31, 1971 #7 Colorado 29, #15 Houston 17

(Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston Texas) Charlie Davis rushed for 202 yards and two touchdowns and John "Bad Dude" Stearns pulled off one of the gutsiest plays in school history as the Buffs deal hometown Houston a 29-17 setback. With CU leading 23-17 and faced with a 4th-and-9 from its own 10-yardline, Stearns, a safety but also the team's punter, took off on a fake and gained 12 yards for a critical first down. CU posts its first-ever 10 win season (10-2), and the win enables the Big Eight to finish 1-2-3 in the nation (Nebraska No. 1, Oklahoma No. 2, Colorado No. 3—still the only time one conference has had the top three spots in the final poll).

Top defenders on the '69 Buffaloes: Bill Collins, Phil Irwin, Bill Brundige, Herb Orvis and Dave Capra

Oct. 21, 1972 #9 Colorado 20, #2 Oklahoma 14

(in Boulder) Colorado entered the '72 season ranked as high as No. 2 in the nation, but had stumbled in week four and came into the game against No. 2 Oklahoma ranked ninth. On an electric afternoon, the Buffs spotted the Sooners a 7-0 lead that held up at halftime, but came out in the third quarter with touchdowns from Gary Campbell (44-yard run) and Jon Keyworth (a 6-yard pass from Ken Johnson). A pair of 33-yard field goals by Fred Lima pushed the lead to 20-7, and the Sooners could just muster a cosmetic score with 1:13 left to account for the final score. It marked the highest-ranked team CU had defeated at the time.

Oct. 16, 1976 Colorado 20, Oklahoma State 10

(at Stillwater) An important win on its way to the Big Eight Conference title, as CU, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State would tie atop the standings at the end of the season, thus tiebreakers came into play. CU led 6-0 going into the fourth quarter, but the Cowboys rallied to take a 10-6 lead with 6:11 to play. In one of the more bizarre endings in CU history, the Buffs scored two touchdowns in the final minute – just 25 seconds apart – to steal a 20-10 win. Jim Kelleher scored on a 1-yard run after OSU fumbled on an interception return at its own 2, and defensive tackle Frank Patrick picked off a pass and returned it 25 yards to close the scoring.

Oct. 30, 1976 #19 Colorado 42, #13 Oklahoma 31

(in Boulder) It was a wild victory, and in the end, helped CU earn the Big Eight title and a berth in the Orange Bowl. There were four lead changes in the game, and Colorado twice rallied from 11 points down to take the lead, the second time overcoming a 31-20 third quarter deficit in scoring the game's final 21 points. Jeff Knapple hit Billy Waddy with a 70-yard scoring pass and Jim Kelleher scored on a pair of 2-yard runs to put CU ahead, 42-31, with 10:37 remaining. OU drove into CU territory on its three remaining possessions, but all ended in turnovers (two fumbles and an interception).

Nov. 20, 1976 #15 Colorado 35, Kansas State 28

(at Manhattan) Colorado simply needed a win over lowly Kansas State on the road to lock up a share of the Big Eight title and earn an invitation to the Orange Bowl by virtue of tiebreakers. But the Wildcats, 1-9 overall and winless in league play, put up a fight on a typical Midwestern windy day, working to a 14-7 lead in the first quarter. A pair of Jim Kelleher touchdown runs vaulted the Buffs ahead, 21-14, early in the second half, though KSU soon tied the game one last time. CU finally got some breathing room after scores from Jeff Knapple and Tony Reed to open the fourth. K-State scored again and was driving with under a minute to go, but an interception by Mike L. Davis clinched the game.

Oct. 28, 1978 Colorado 28, #12 Missouri 27

(at Columbia) Colorado rallied from 20 points down in the third quarter to defeat the hometown and No. 13 Tigers, the most points the Buffaloes have ever rallied from behind to post a victory. Bill Solomon scored on a 6-yard run to put CU up 7-0, but Missouri scored the next 27 points to take a 27-7 lead seven minutes into the third quarter (failing on a two-point pass after its third TD). Eddie Ford and Solomon scored touchdowns to cap drives of 63 and 80 yards respectively to cut the deficit to 27-21. The CU defense held and Ford scored on a 16-yard run to tie the game, and Pete Dadiotis' extra point provided the margin of victory.

Sept. 28, 1985 Colorado 14, Arizona 13

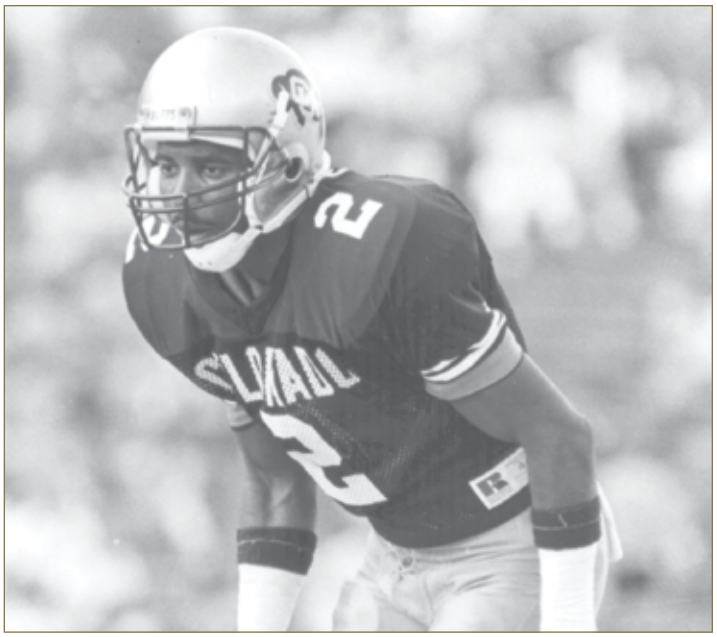

(at Tucson) Colorado converted to the wishbone offense ahead of the '85 season, and opened the year with a 2-1 mark, defeating Colorado State and Oregon while losing to Ohio State, all in Boulder. The first road test of the year and taking the wishbone on the road came against Arizona, ranked No. 20 in the coaches poll. Ron Brown scored on a 7-yard run to give CU a 7-3 halftime lead, and Mark Hatcher's 2-yard run and Larry Eckel's PAT kick made it 14-13 with 10:41 to play. The Wildcats were stifled their last three possessions, one of which was a 61-yard field goal try.

Oct. 25, 1986 Colorado 20, #3 Nebraska 10

(in Boulder) Referred to as "The Turning Point" in CU's return to national prominence. The Buffs defeated Nebraska, ranked No. 3 in the nation, for the first time since 1967, leading the Folsom Field fans to storm the field after the win, CU's first over a ranked team in eight years. A 39-yard touchdown run on a reverse by Jeff Campbell and a 57-yard field goal by Dave DeLine gave CU a 10-0 halftime lead, but NU cut the lead to 10-7 at the end of three. The Buffs pulled off some trickery to open the fourth quarter, as O.C. Oliver hooked up with Lance Carl for a 52-yard touchdown pass on the halfback option play. The Huskers never had the ball again needing one possession to tie or take the lead.

Oct. 31, 1987 Colorado 42, Iowa State 10

(at Ames) A milestone win in the program, as the 42-10 rout over the Cyclones was the 500th win in Colorado's illustrious football history, the Buffs joining a select group of schools to accomplish the feat. Quarterback Sal Aunese rushed for 127 yards and three touchdowns, with Erich Kissick adding 124 yards for a CU rushing attack that gained 413 on the afternoon. Eric McCarty (15 tackles) and Michael Jones (14) led a stout CU defense that held Iowa State to 239 yards, just 66 after intermission.

Lance Carl's TD catch sealed CU's 20-10 win over No. 3 Nebraska in 1986

Sept. 17, 1988 Colorado 24, #19 Iowa 21

(at Iowa City) On a hot and humid day in Iowa, the Buffaloes essentially dominate the Hawkeyes from the start to finish, though it needed a late to win at No. 19 Iowa, 24-21. J.J. Flannigan and Sal Aunese scored on touchdown runs to jump CU out to a 14-0 first quarter lead. Iowa tied the game by halftime, only to see CU go back ahead, 17-14, on a 28-yard field goal by Eric Hannah in the third quarter. The Hawkeyes took their first and only lead six minutes later, and held on until Aunese led Colorado on an 85-yard march, sneaking it in himself from the 1 and vaulting the Buffs back into the lead with just 1:55 remaining.

Sept. 4, 1989 #14 Colorado 27, Texas 6

(in Boulder) Expectations were high, as CU was ranked in the preseason for the first time since 1978, opening at No. 14, but a resounding 27-6 win over Texas on Labor Day night propelled the Buffaloes into the top 10 for the remainder of the season. Darian Hagan, charged with replacing Sal Aunese at quarterback, admitted he was as nervous as could be in making his first career start, but erased all the butterflies with a 75-yard run to set up a score on the game's second play. Hagan had 211 yards of total offense, scoring one touchdown and passing for another in the triumph.

Sept. 16, 1989 #8 Colorado 38, #10 Illinois 7

(in Boulder) On emotional day, and with a national over-the-air television broadcast from Folsom Field for the first time in 17 years, the Buffaloes steamrolled the No. 10 Illini, 38-7. The crowd was as raucous as could be, frustrating Illinois quarterback Jeff George several times and getting into his head. A 48-yard halfback pass from Eric Bieniemy to M.J. Nelson snapped a 7-7 tie and the Buffs never looked back, outgaining Illinois, 475-193. Sal Aunese, CU's quarterback and team leader who had been diagnosed with stomach cancer in March, looked on from the Flatirons Club, and was saluted by his teammates from the field in what would be the final game he'd ever witness (he passed away a week later).

Sept. 30, 1989 #5 Colorado 45, #21 Washington 28

(at Seattle) No. 5 Colorado wins at No. 21 Washington, but the real story is the emotional win one week after quarterback Sal Aunese died due to complications from stomach cancer. The Huskies showed real class and held a moment of silence for Aunese prior to kickoff; the entire CU team knelt and pointed to the sky in tribute. The Buffs got off to a slow start with an interception and a three-and-out on offense; trailing 3-0, Eric Bieniemy scored on a 35-yard run and the rout was on, as CU would zoom to a 38-6 third quarter lead and cruised to the win.

Oct. 28, 1989 #3 Colorado 20, Oklahoma 3

(at Norman) Ever since Colorado converted to an option offense in 1985, Oklahoma had always stifled the CU offense (an average of 199 yards in four games). But as CU matured in the offense and the Buff defense improved, CU was no longer a pushover for the Sooners. On this day, the nation found out the Buffs were for real with CU's first win in Norman since 1965. The key play came late in the first half with CU ahead, 3-0, and faced with a 2nd-and-goal at the Oklahoma 1-yard line. Darian Hagan took the snap and optioned left, tossing what became known as the "moon pitch" to J.J. Flannigan who walked into the end zone. The pitch went an estimated eight feet in the air, and by the end of the game, CU was on Cloud Nine.

Nov. 4, 1989 #2 Colorado 27, #3 Nebraska 21

(in Boulder) A total of 601 media credentials were issued for the game, a CU record at the time and an indicator of the national interest in the battle of undefeated teams, No. 2 Colorado defeated No. 3 Nebraska, 27-21, to all but clinch league title and the Orange Bowl berth that went with it. In improving to 9-0 on the season, after NU jumped ahead early 7-0, CU tied the game on a 70-yard run by J.J. Flannigan, who took a pitch from Darian Hagan some 40 yards downfield. Hagan and Flannigan added short TD runs, and Ken Culbertson made a pair of field goals, including a 49-yarder just before halftime that gave CU the lead for good at 17-14.

Sept. 22, 1990 #20 Colorado 29, #22 Texas 22

(at Austin) Called the impetus for CU's national title run after a 1-1-1 start, CU rallied from a 22-14 fourth quarter deficit for the win. With UT ahead 19-14 and deep in CU territory at the end of the third quarter, Eric Bieniemy stopped the defense walking down to the other end of the field, and with the entire offense, challenged them to stop the Longhorns from scoring a touchdown. The spirited encounter worked, as CU held Texas to a field goal; the offense then did its part, with Bieniemy scoring touchdowns on the next two possessions. Alfred Williams closed the scoring by sacking UT's Peter Gardere in the end zone for safety.

Oct. 27, 1990 #10 Colorado 32, #22 Oklahoma 23

(in Boulder) The win over the No. 22 Sooners, only the third time CU had ever beaten OU in back-to-back seasons, set up the Buffaloes for a Big Eight title showdown at Nebraska the following week. But it didn't come easy; Oklahoma led the entire first half and was up 14-12 at intermission before a 69-yard run by Eric Bieniemy in the third quarter gave CU its first lead of the game, and one it would not relinquish. Ahead 18-17 one minute into the fourth quarter, Darian Hagan connected with Rico Smith on an 85-yard touchdown pass, and Hagan's 3-yard TD run provided the Buffs insurance and their sixth straight win.

Nov. 3, 1990 #9 Colorado 27, #3 Nebraska 12

(at Lincoln) On a cold, rainy and generally miserable late afternoon, things didn't look good for the Buffaloes through three quarters. Nebraska led 12-0 and the Buffs couldn't hold on to the football, fumbling seven times (and losing three). However, CU came alive in the fourth quarter and behind four Eric Bieniemy touchdown runs, the Buffs rallied for a 27-12 win over the No. 3 Huskers. The win jumped CU from No. 9 to No. 4 in the standings and all but clinched a second straight Big Eight title, and coupled with three other top five teams losing that day, set the stage for another CU chance at winning the national championship.

Eric Bieniemy scored four fourth quarter touchdowns to rally CU over Nebraska, 27-12, in 1990.

Ronnie Bradford's blocked PAT kick was the margin of victory (10-9) over Notre Dame in the 1991 Orange Bowl

Jan. 1, 1991 #1 Colorado 10, #5 Notre Dame 9

(Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla.) A dramatic 10-9 win over Notre Dame in a rematch of the previous year's Orange Bowl (won by Notre Dame) gave Colorado its first national championship in football. There was no shortage of heroes for the Buffaloes, as CU lost two of its star players to injury, quarterback Darian Hagan and linebacker Kanavis McGhee; but their replacements came in and answered the call. Charles Johnson, voted the game's MVP, led the Buffs on their only touchdown drive of the night, capped by an Eric Bieniemy 1-yard run that put CU ahead with 4:26 left in the third quarter. It was then up to the defense, which already had a key block of an Irish extra point by Ronnie Bradford. Paul Rose, McGhee's sub, had a key fumble recovery along with two tackles inside-the-10 yardline, and Deon Figures' interception in the final seconds sealed the win.

Oct. 19, 1991 #22 Colorado 34, #12 Oklahoma 17

(at Norman) Darian Hagan threw for 151 yards and three touchdowns and became on the few quarterbacks to defeat Oklahoma in three straight years as the Buffs routed the Sooners, 34-17. All three TD passes came in the first quarter, staking CU to a 20-7 lead, with Sean Brown, Christian Fauria and Michael Westbrook on the receiving end of the scores. Scott Phillips and Lamont Warren accounted for CU's other two touchdowns on short runs, Phillips' coming with just eight seconds left in the first half to give CU a 27-17 intermission edge.

Oct. 16, 1993 #20 Colorado 27, #9 Oklahoma 10

(at Norman) Lamont Warren rushed for 182 yards and threw a touchdown pass in leading CU to its third straight win at Owens Field. Rashaan Salaam and James Hill scored touchdowns rushing with Charles E. Johnson making a pair of TD receptions to give Bill McCartney his 78th win coaching the Buffaloes, making him the program's all-time winningest coach (he was tied with Fred Folsom). Warren's 34-yard TD pass to Johnson was selected as the national play of the year, as Warren slipped on a slick artificial surface while throwing the ball, and downfield, Johnson caught the ball while practically on the ground after being interfered with.

Sept. 17, 1994 #7 Colorado 55, #10 Wisconsin 17

(in Boulder) Wisconsin made its first visit to Folsom Field in 20 years, though this time invading Folsom Field as the defending Big Ten Conference and Rose Bowl champions. An expected close, down-to-the-wire game never materialized as the Buffaloes ran away from the Badgers by the middle of the second quarter, building a 20-3 lead. Rashaan Salaam rushed for 85 yards – his only regular season game under 100 – but scored four touchdowns as Colorado routed Wisconsin in front of a national television audience on ESPN.

Sept. 24, 1994 #7 Colorado 27, #4 Michigan 26

(at Ann Arbor) In a game referred to as "The Miracle in Michigan" as well as "The Catch," Kordell Stewart's 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, via a Blake Anderson tip, wins the game for Colorado after time had expired. The see-saw game had Colorado ahead 14-3 at one point until the Wolverines scored the next 23 to take a 26-14 lead. The Buffs cut the lead to 26-21 with just over two minutes to play, and the defense got the ball back with 14 seconds on the clock to set up the last-second heroics. It was the national play-of-the-year in all of sports and won an ESPY.

Oct. 1, 1994 #5 Colorado 34, #16 Texas 31

(at Austin) Salaam rushed for 317 yards and totaled a school record 362 all-purpose yards as the Buffaloes survived the Texas heat and humidity in escaping with a 34-31 win. Colorado had 506 yards on offense, 387 on the ground, while the CU defense limited the Longhorns to just 320. Though CU led most of the afternoon, UT caught the Buffs in a 31-all tie with 4:49 left; the Buffs then ran out the clock on a 13-play, 73-yard drive, with Neil Voskeritchian booting the game-winning 24-yard field goal with just a second remaining on the clock.

Nov. 19, 1994 #7 Colorado 41, Iowa State 20

(in Boulder) The win in the regular season finale had two significant highlights: eventual Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam went over the 2,000-yard mark in rushing and quarterback Kordell Stewart became the Big Eight's all-time total offense leader. The game was never in doubt, and with Rashaan entering the game with 1,796 yards, the Folsom Field scoreboard updated his number after every carry. With just under 11 minutes left in the game, and needing just 12 yards to reach 2,000, Salaam took a handoff and went around the right side for a 67-yard touchdown to the delight of all in the stadium. Following the game, the bombshell of the day: head coach Bill McCartney announced his retirement.

Shannon Clavelle had three quarterback sacks in CU's 41-24 rout of Notre Dame in the '95 Fiesta Bowl

Jan. 2, 1995 #4 Colorado 41, Notre Dame 24

(Fiesta Bowl at Tempe, Ariz.) The Buffaloes send Bill McCartney out on a high note, as CU dismantles Notre Dame, 41-24. Kordell Stewart was the offensive most valuable player, passing for 205 yard and a touchdown while rushing for 143 yards and a score on just seven attempts). Shannon Clavelle was the defensive MVP, as he recorded three of CU's seven sacks in helping the Buffs build a 31-3 second quarter lead. Colorado finished 11-1 on the season and ranked No. 3 in the final polls, while McCartney retired as the winningest coach in CU history with a 93-55-5 record.

Sept. 2, 1995 #14 Colorado 43, #21 Wisconsin 7

(at Madison) Rick Neuheisel was hired to replace the legendary Bill McCartney as head coach, and his first game was no easy task: traveling to the midwest to take on the Badgers, who were out for revenge after getting blasted in Boulder a year earlier, 55-17. But the rematch proved worse for the hometown team, as the Buffs never trailed in building a 26-7 halftime lead. Koy Detmer threw for 267 yards and three touchdowns, with the CU defense holding Wisconsin to 297 total yards. Matt Russell had 16 tackles and Steve Rosga had 11 along with a 75-yard fumble return for the final points of the night.

Sept. 23, 1995 #7 Colorado 29, #3 Texas A&M 21

(in Boulder) CU rallied for win over No. 3 Aggies, as John Hessler comes off the bench to lead CU to the win after replaced injured quarterback Koy Detmer. Hessler rushed for two scores and passed for a third, a 20-yard throw to Tennyson McCarty that gave the Buffs the lead for good early in the fourth quarter. Colorado's defense held a potent Aggie rushing attack to just 57 net yards and 239 yards overall.

Sept. 30, 1995 #4 Colorado 38, #10 Oklahoma 17

(at Norman) Known as the "asterisk" game: the coach of the No. 10 Sooners, Howard Schnellenberger, said he wanted to beat CU with a healthy Koy Detmer at quarterback so there wouldn't be a "damn asterisk" next to the score in the record books. An injured Detmer missed the game, but his backup, John Hessler, and the Buffs took the disrespect and threw it right back at the Sooners. Hessler threw for 348 yards and a school record five touchdowns as CU rallied from a 17-7 deficit and kicked OU to the curb in their own backyard. In the process, CU became only the third school in history to win four straight times in Norman.

Dec. 30, 1996 #8 Colorado 33, #13 Washington 21

(Holiday Bowl at San Diego, Calif.) The Buffaloes are down 14-0 early, but pull off their largest rally in a bowl game to exit with the win. Koy Detmer threw for 371 yards and three touchdowns with Biletnikoff Award finalist Rae Carruth hauling in seven catches for 162 yards and two of the scores, including a 76-yard play that got Colorado on the scoreboard. Nick Ziegler then picked off a Brock Huard pass and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown to tie the game, and the Buffs took control from there. The victory gave CU its third straight 10-win season, a first in school history.

Dec. 25, 1998 Colorado 51, #21 Oregon 43

(Aloha Bowl at Honolulu, Hawaii) The win is CU's fifth straight in bowl games, the longest active streak in the nation, and comes in the program's 1,000th game. The game was nowhere near as close as the final score indicated, as the Buffaloes zoomed to a 44-14 lead five minutes into the second half. Ben Kelly returned the opening kickoff 93 yards for a touchdown, and Mike Moschetti threw four touchdown passes, including two bombs to Marcus Stiggers (58 yards) and Darrin Chiaverini (72). CU's defense forced the Ducks into six turnovers that led to 23 Buffalo points.

Dec. 31, 1999 Colorado 62, #25 Boston College 28

(Insight.com Bowl at Tucson, Ariz.) Colorado defeated the No. 25 Golden Eagles in one of its most dominant performances ever. The Buffs built a 35-0 lead in the second quarter on touchdown runs by Cortlen Johnson and Mike Moschetti, interception returns for scores by Jashon Sykes and Rashidi Barnes, and the longest punt return in NCAA bowl history, 88 yards, by Ben Kelly. It was also the sixth straight bowl win for the CU, adding to its nation's best active streak.

Derek McCoy caught TD passes of 82 and 78 yards in a 42-35 win over Colorado State in Denver in 2003

Nov. 23, 2001 #14 Colorado 62, #2 Nebraska 36

(in Boulder) Colorado's 62-36 win over No. 2 Nebraska sent shockwaves throughout the college football world. In scoring the most points ever against a Husker defense at the time, the Buffaloes matched NU's 7-1 record in the Big 12 North Division with the win and earned the right to play Texas the following week in the league title game. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and a school record six touchdowns, with Bobby Purify racing for 154 yards and one score as CU built a 35-3 lead early in the second quarter and rolled from there to the victory.

Dec. 1, 2001 #9 Colorado 39, #3 Texas 37

Sept. 21, 2002 Colorado 31, #20 UCLA 17

(at Pasadena) The Buffs, reeling with a 1-2 record, were coming off their worst home loss in 19 years and had its next game at No. 20 UCLA. Controlling the tempo from practically the start, and thanks to 188 rushing yards and three touchdowns from Chris Brown, three Patrick Brougham field goals and a solid game from quarterback Robert Hodge (117 yards), CU's 31-17 win ignited the team and started an 8-1 run over the next nine games.

Aug. 30, 2003 Colorado 42, #23 Colorado State 35

(in Denver) In a game delayed 28 minutes in the third quarter because of lightning, the Buffaloes scored 28 points in the second quarter but needed a 9-yard touchdown run from Bobby Purify to defeat their in-state rivals. CU had lightning strikes of its own, as quarterback Joel Klatt and receiver Derek McCoy hooked up on scoring passes of 82 and 78 yards, the latter coming right as a major lightning bolt was witnessed by all in the stadium forcing play to be suspended immediately. Klatt threw for 402 yards and four TDs in his first start.

Sept. 4, 2004 Colorado 27, Colorado State 24

(in Boulder) The entire program was in the midst of surviving a largely manufactured ordeal off the field, and when the season opener rolled around, the team had a lot of pent up frustration. Rival CSU was set on ruining the opener, rallying from 10 down in the final five minutes to close to within 27-24 and faced a first-and-goal from the CU 1 in the final minute of the game. But the Buffalo defense rose to the occasion, stuffing two running plays as time ran out to preserve the win.

Sept. 29, 2007 Colorado 27, #3 Oklahoma 24

(in Boulder) The win, which snapped a 14-game losing streak to ranked teams, was the first over a top 25 teams for second-year head coach Dan Hawkins as the Buffs rallied from a 24-7 deficit midway through the third quarter for a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners. Kevin Eberhart's 45-yard field goal as time expired completed the fourth biggest comeback in school history and was only the fourth such instance in school history where the Buffs won on a score as time expired.

Nov. 23, 2007 Colorado 65, Nebraska 51

(in Boulder) Colorado needed a win to become bowl-eligible and took a 17-7 lead over the rival Huskers only to fall behind 35-24 at halftime. But an offensive explosion of 41 points after halftime allowed the Buffs to roll to the victory. The outburst tied the school record for the most points in a second half and prevented Nebraska from qualifying for the postseason for just the second time in four decades. It also marked just the fifth time CU defeated both NU and Oklahoma in the same season.

Nov. 25, 2011 Colorado 17, Utah 14

(at Salt Lake City) In the season finale for both schools in their first year in the Pac-12 Conference, it was the resumption of a series which had been dormant since 1962. CU jumped up early, 10-0, and then held on for the win which would snap a school record 23-game road losing streak. It also eliminated the Utes from contention for the first Pac-12 South Division title, and was a little payback to the school which had ended CU's national championship hopes in 1961.

Sept. 1, 2013 Colorado 41, Colorado State 27

(in Denver) Paul Richardson returned in a big way from a knee injury to help new CU coach Mike MacIntyre win his first game at the reins of the Buffaloes as CU ran away from rival Colorado State, 41-27. Richardson caught 10 passes for 208 yards and two touchdowns, with Connor Wood passing for 400 yards and three TDs. Greg Henderson's 53-yard fumble return for a touchdown put CU ahead 33-24 in the fourth quarter, and a Wood-to-Richardson 75-yard pass for a score wrapped the day's scoring. It marked just the second time since 1932 that a head coach at CU won his first game.

Sept. 24, 2016 Colorado 41, Oregon 38

(at Eugene) Oregon had won six straight games in the series, the first five between the two as members of the Pac-12, but the Buffs broke through in a big way on this say. Steven Montez became the first player in CU history to throw for 300 yards and rush for 100 in the same game (333 and 135, respectively) and accounted for four touchdowns in Colorado's 41-38 win. Though CU built a 23-7 lead, the Ducks came back to lead 38-33 after three quarters; Montez threw a TD pass to Bryce Bobo with 8:43 to play with the two connecting again on the two-point conversion. In the final minute, Oregon drove to the CU 7, but Ahkello Witherspoon's interception in the end zone with 48 seconds to play sealed the win for the Buffs.

Oct. 22, 2016 Colorado 10, Stanford 5

(at Palo Alto) In a defensive battle, the Colorado defense limited Stanford to just 263 yards of offense in defeating the Cardinal, 10-5. CU spotted Stanford a 3-0 lead, but Sefo Liufau and Shay Fields connected on a 15-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter to put the Buffs ahead for good. The win improved the Buffs to 6-2 on the season, making CU bowl-eligible for the first time in nine seasons and ending a five-game winning streak by Stanford in the series.

Nov. 26, 2016 #9 Colorado 27, #21 Utah 22

(in Boulder) It all came together this Saturday night after Thanksgiving, as a national television audience and a sellout crowd at Folsom Field witnessed the Buffaloes win their first division title in 11 seasons (and their first in the Pac-12) in defeating No. 21-ranked Utah, 27-22. The win completed CU's "last to first" season as the Buffs finished 8-1 in league play, performing the largest turnaround from one season to the next in Pac-12 history after going 1-8 the year before. Sefo Liufau threw for 270 yards and a touchdown while rushing for another, with Kenneth Olugbode's 10-yard fumble return for a score clinching the win and CU's first appearance in the Pac-12 title game.

DID YOU KNOW?... That CU's records for rushing yards in a single game and season have a common link? In 1971, Charlie Davis rushed for 342 yards in a 40-6 win over Oklahoma State, and in 1994, Rashaan Salaam rushed for 2,055 yards en route to winning the Heisman Trophy. The link? Davis also went over the 1,000-yard mark for the season in the OSU game, doing so on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end. Salaam went over the 2,000-yard mark in the finale against Iowa State—on a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end.

Kenneth Olugbode scooped up a Utah fumble and returned it 10 yards for a touchdown in CU's 27-22 win.

Sept. 7, 2019 Colorado 34, #25 Nebraska 31 (OT)

(in Boulder) Nebraska was out to avenge a 33-28 loss to the Buffaloes a year before in Lincoln, and also accused CU of playing dirty. Husker fans flooded Folsom Field with anywhere from 15-18,000 fans and they were celebrating early as NU held a 17-0 lead late in the third quarter. But a monster comeback rallied the Buffs to tie the game at 31 with 46 second remaining (it featured the longest play from scrimmage in CU history, a 96-yard flea flicker TD pass from Steven Montez to K.D. Nixon, with a 26-yard TD pass from Montez to Tony Brown sending the game into overtime). CU had the ball first and James Stefanou gave CU its first lead of the game with a 34-yard field goal; Mustafa Johnson had a key quarterback sack on third down, and facing a 4th-and-16, a Husker field goal try to tie the game missed badly giving the Buffs a sweep of the home-and-home series. In the fourth quarter, the Buffs scored 24 points and piled up 258 yards on offense.

BIG PLAYS "NOT IN THE BOXSCORE"

Often a play takes place which makes the difference between winning and losing, but it gets lost in the shuffle and then forgotten as time passes by. The following is a listing of some of these moments and the players who created them in the history of Colorado football:

Zack Jordan, 1952 vs. Oklahoma

CU tailback Zack Jordan's powerful right leg was the Buffs' best weapon in a 21-21 tie which was the Sooners' only blemish in what was to become a 47-game undefeated string. Jordan's 72-yard quick kick to the OU 3 set up CU's first TD. His 77-yarder put the Buffs in position for their second score. For good measure he added a 78-yard boot in the fourth period which quickly produced the setting for CU's final score. It was the finest exhibition of kicking in the nation that year and earned Jordan a spot in the NCAA record book. To make his day even more impressive, he scored all three CU touchdowns.

Frank Bernardi, 1954 vs. Missouri

It was a relatively meaningless game but Frank Bernardi played to the end as though it was for the Big Seven championship. CU's chances had faded a week earlier in Boulder with a bitter last quarter 13-6 loss to Oklahoma. The Buffs struggled to a 19-13 advantage over Missouri as time ran out in Columbia. When the Tigers scored with 1:06 left the winning PAT kick seemed a certainty. But Bernardi lined up wide at left end and used his sprinter speed to deflect the ball. The effort cost him two black eyes and a broken nose and a place in the CU record book for unlikely heroes.

John Bayuk, 1956 vs. Missouri

The forearm, not the pounding legs, of fullback John (The Beast) Bayuk provided the impetus for a 14-14 tie at Missouri which ultimately sent CU to its first Orange Bowl appearance. Beaten at the wire by Oklahoma in Boulder a week earlier, the Buffs could clinch a bowl bid with at least a tie with a Tiger team which had made a living annually by catching CU down after a tough battle with OU. Predictably, the Buffs struggled in this one, trailing 14-0 late in the third period. CU scored, then recovered a fumble at the Tiger 37. But Bob Stransky fumbled on first down. At the bottom of the pile, Bayuk was bitten by a Missouri lineman. Getting a reprieve with the 15-yard penalty, CU drove to a tying touchdown which was good enough to send the Buffs to Miami and a 27-21 win over Clemson on New Year's Day.

Chuck Weiss, 1959 vs. Oklahoma

A mighty effort by fullback Chuck Weiss preserved CU's 7-0 victory over Oklahoma, the first victory over the Sooners since the Buffs joined the Big Seven Conference. Colorado held a precarious one-touchdown lead late in the third quarter when OU quarterback Bennett Watts broke into the open from the Sooner 14. He headed for the end zone at full speed with Weiss, a power fullback not noted for his speed, in pursuit from his linebacker post on the far side of the field. Using his angle perfectly, Weiss caught Watts at the CU 17. The Buff defense held at the four and CU had a landmark triumph.

Hale Irwin, 1965 vs. Oklahoma

It was Eddie Crowder's third season at the helm and his CU team was on the way back from the depths of three straight 2-8 campaigns. A win over his alma mater's perennial Big Eight champions would be a big step forward for the Buffs. They led 10-0 nearing the half but the Sooners were rallying, driving to a first and goal with less than a minute left. The Oklahoma quarterback spotted the hole in the line and directed a play there. But CU safety Hale Irwin, better known for his golfing prowess, alertly jumped into the breach and helped jam up the play. The Sooners failed to score and CU went on to give Crowder a homecoming victory, 13-0.

Phil Irwin, 1969 vs. Oklahoma State

En route to a furious finish which saw CU annihilate Alabama in the Liberty Bowl, the Buffs needed a clutch last-second theft by linebacker Phil Irwin to preserve a 17-14 triumph over OSU in a game which CU had to win to keep its bowl hopes alive. After the Buffs seemingly had won the game with a touchdown with 1:22 left to play, the Cowboys launched an aerial attack which moved them to the CU five in less than a minute. There were 30 seconds remaining, and a Cowboy receiver was open in the end zone. The ball was headed for him when Irwin came from nowhere to intercept it. When he downed the ball there was time for one play and the Buffs had taken a big step to Memphis.

John Stearns, 1971 Bluebonnet Bowl vs. Houston

Your team is up by six, 23-17, with seven minutes remaining in the bowl game and it's fourth-and-9 from your own 10-yard line. Punt, right? Don't tell that to John "Bad Dude" Stearns. Moments earlier, Stearns had knocked the ball out of tight end Riley Odoms' hands on fourth down in the end zone to prevent Houston from taking the lead in its home stadium. So perhaps still fired up, Stearns, who doubled as CU's punter, scooped up a bad center snap, looked around, and took off downfield for the first down. He needed nine yards, and the 12 he earned were the impetus the Buffs needed to take the ball in for the clinching score. The win gave CU its best record ever at the time, 10-2, and secured the nation's No. 3 ranking (behind Big Eight rivals Nebraska and Oklahoma).

Steve Vogel & Derek Singleton, 1981 vs. Oklahoma State

Colorado is out of time outs, is faced with second-and-14 at its own 4, there's one minute left in the game, and Oklahoma State holds a 10-3 lead in Boulder. Quarterback Steve Vogel and tailback Derek Singleton would play key roles in one of the greatest comeback drives in CU history. Vogel hits Singleton on a 10-yard pass to get CU into and fourth-and-4 at its 14, and on fourth down, the two hooked up again on a 17-yard play for a first down. From there, it took CU just five plays to get into the end zone to pull to within 10-9. Vogel then found Singleton in the end zone for the two-point conversion and CU won, 11-10. There was sadness to this story, as it would be the last game ever for Singleton. He was struck with spinal meningitis the next Friday and was hospitalized in Ames, Iowa. He passed away on New Year's night in California.

Vogel passes complete to Singleton for two-point conversion.

Mickey Pruitt, 1985 vs. Oregon

It's year No. 4 of the Bill McCartney Era, and the second game of the season against Oregon in Boulder, while early, is important. A win would double CU's win total of the previous season and could provide momentum for CU's first winning team in six years. Oregon, trailing Colorado, 21-17, drives from its own 13 to the CU 3 and is faced with a fourth-and-goal with nine seconds left. The Buffs called for relentless pressure on Duck quarterback Chris Miller, the game obviously on the line. Miller was flushed out of the pocket, and before he could get the ball off, was sacked for a loss by sophomore safety Mickey Pruitt. The Buffs went on to finish the regular season with a 7-4 mark and earn their first bowl invitation since 1976.

Barry Helton, 1985 vs. Oklahoma State

On his way to an All-America season, punter Barry Helton might have become the first and only ambidextrous punter in Colorado, if not NCAA, history. Late in the first quarter and buried deep in their own territory, Helton came in to punt CU out of a hole at its own 18 in a scoreless tie with No. 12 Oklahoma State. A heavy Cowboy rush forced Helton, a "rightie," to his left. Instead of trying to punt the ball with his natural foot or take a loss and give OSU prime field position, to the surprise of all, he got the punt off with his left foot. It was a low line drive, but it carried and rolled for a combined 51 yards. OSU failed to move the ball and CU eventually took a 3-0 lead midway in the second quarter, but the 'Pokes rallied for a 14-11 victory. Though CU didn't win this game, Helton's "feat" won't soon be forgotten as a special record was created in the CU record books: "Longest Punt (with non-kicking foot)."

Dan McMillen, 1985 vs. Kansas

On his way to setting the Colorado school record for most quarterback sacks in a game, Dan McMillen could have lost his head. Actually, it was just his helmet. As he chased down Kansas quarterback Mike Norseth for his fifth and record-setting sack, McMillen's helmet was knocked free. But that didn't stop the Buff senior outside linebacker from running down Norseth and making the tackle. CU won the game, 14-3, and went on to post its first winning season in seven years.

Darian Hagan, 1989 vs. Texas

The season opener against Texas in Boulder was filled with anticipation, as the Buffs were nationally ranked in the preseason for the first time in 12 years, and ESPN was in town to televise the game to the entire nation. On the second play of the game, quarterback Darian Hagan set all the butterflies free as he scampered 75 yards around the left side to the Texas 2, setting up CU's first touchdown as well as the tone for the game and CU's 11-0 regular season. The Buffs went on to build a 14-0 first quarter lead and a 27-6 win.

Deon Figures, 1990 vs. Washington

Colorado, at 2-1-1 on the season and riding high after an emotional 29-22 comeback win at Texas, leads No. 12 Washington, 20-14 in the final moments. The Huskies are faced with a fourth-and-goal at the CU 7 with 1:04 left, and quarterback Mark Brunell throws a lob pass in the direction of Mario Bailey in the end zone. However, CU sophomore Deon Figures is in the way, making the game-saving interception to preserve CU's victory. Later in the same season, Figures also made an interception at the end of CU's 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl, a play which prevented Notre Dame from getting into field goal range. Figures picked off the Rick Mirer pass and ran out the clock, helping CU cinch the national championship.

David Gibbs, 1990 vs. Nebraska

This game on a cold and rainy day in Lincoln had both Big Eight title and national championship implications riding on the outcome. Colorado had just taken a 13-12 lead over Nebraska, rallying from a 12-0 deficit, but the Huskers were trying to mount a comeback. Faced with a fourth-and-3 on their own 28 and seven minutes remaining, Nebraska called for a fake punt, the snap going to the upback, Tim Johnk. But the play was sniffed out by David Gibbs, who stopped Johnk for only a two-yard gain, giving possession back to the Buffs. CU scored in just five plays to take a 20-12 lead, and went on to win, 27-12, its first win in Lincoln since 1967. CU jumped from No. 9 to No. 4 in the polls, eventually going on to win the national championship.

Ron Bradford, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

Bradford, a sophomore who eventually would go on to play in the National Football League, saw action in 1990 mostly in nickel situations and on special teams. However, on this New Year's night, Bradford made one of the biggest plays in CU history. Midway through the second quarter, after Notre Dame scored a touchdown to take a 6-3 lead over the Buffs, Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Colorado rallied to win the game, 10-9, with that one-point margin, courtesy of Bradford, giving CU's its first national championship in football.

Jeff Brunner & Greg Thomas, 1991 vs. Nebraska

On a frosty night in Boulder before an ESPN national television audience, two plays stand out from a game that ended in a 19-19 tie, which would lead to Colorado and Nebraska sharing the 1991 Big Eight Conference championship. The first one is best remembered because it seemed to take five minutes for Greg Biekert to return a blocked extra point 85 yards for a defensive two-point conversion; however, the play was made possible because of Jeff Brunner's block. Then later, on the game's final play and after three CU timeouts, Greg Thomas skied high to block a Byron Bennett 41-yard field goal try to preserve the tie and CU's share of the title.

Mickey Pruitt's last-second sack against Oregon in 1985.

Chad Brown & Paul Rose, 1991 Orange Bowl vs. Notre Dame

CU took a 10-9 lead, the eventual final score, in the third quarter on an 8-play, 40-yard drive; but that game-winning drive was set up by a huge Notre Dame turnover. With 8:33 left in the quarter, the Irish had a 1st-and-10 at its own 35; Ricky Watters went over the left side for a 5-yard gain where he was met by Chad Brown, whose crushing tackle jarred the ball loose, with Paul Rose recovering at the ND 40. It was one of three straight turnovers CU forced to open the second half.

Blake Anderson, 1994 vs. Michigan

Anderson, the son of CU great and college football Hall-of-Fame member Dick Anderson, made his mark at CU primarily on special teams. In fact, he was so committed to special teams play that he earned an invitation to the Hula Bowl based on that commitment. But on Sept. 24 in Ann Arbor, and Colorado trailing Michigan 26-21 with only six seconds to go, Anderson played a huge role in what would become college football's play of the decade. As time expired, Kordell Stewart threw the ball over 70 yards downfield in the direction of a quartet of CU receivers: Anderson, Michael Westbrook, Rae Carruth and James Kidd. The play, "Rocket Jet," called for Anderson to be in position for a deflection, with the other three a few yards back to make the catch. The play, so improbable it rarely worked in practice, worked to perfection. Anderson tipped the ball to Westbrook, who landed in the end zone with 0:00 on the clock to give CU a 27-26 win.

Kory Mossoni, 2001 vs. Texas A&M

The scoring line simply reads "Johnson 52 fumble return" at the tail end of the boxscore in CU's 31-21 win over the Aggies. But a closer look at the score that came with 58 seconds left in the game shows that A&M had moved from its own 9 to the CU35 in just over a minute and was already in position to possibly tie the game. Aggie quarterback Mark Farris dropped back to pass, but was rocked by a charging Kory Mossoni, with the ball literally bouncing right into Johnson's hands to set up the easy return for six. The win was the second in as many weeks over a ranked team and helped propel the Buffs to the conference championship.

Aaron Killion, 2001 vs. Texas

Under interceptions for this game, the line does read: Killion 1-73; but the implications of this one entry were huge. In the first quarter of the Big 12 Championship game, CU was dealing with a raucous Texas crowd in Irving and a 7-0 deficit. The Longhorns drove 85 yards in six plays to open the scoring, and had the ball in position for another score at the Buff 22. But Aaron Killion snared a Chris Simms pass in the flat and took it back 73 yards to the UT12. Chris Brown scored three plays later to tie the score, the first points in a 29-3 run that put the Buffs in control of the game and on their way to their first Big 12 title.

Jordon Dizon & J.J. Billingsley, 2004 vs. Colorado State

Ahead 27-24, CSU had a first-and-goal at the CU 1-yard line with 30 seconds remaining, but had no timeouts remaining. Surprisingly, former Buff Marcus Houston tried to win the game for his new team but was shellacked for no gain by freshman linebacker Jordon Dizon. Even more surprising was that CSU went for the win without spiking the ball to stop the clock, as a pitch to Tristan Walker was sniffed out by safety J.J. Billingsley, who stopped him at the CU 3 with corner Lorenzo Sims coming over to help finish the tackle and preserve the win for the Buffs.

Chase McBride, 2007 vs. Colorado State & Oklahoma

The diminutive 5-6 return man played a key role in two come-from-behind wins that opened and closed September 2007. In the season opener, with CU down 28-25 to the rival Rams, he returned a punt 43 yards to the Ram 34-yard line with 2:08 remaining, setting up a tying field goal by Kevin Eberhart that forced overtime (the Buffs won in OT on another Eberhart kick). Against OU, he returned a punt 31 yards to midfield with 2:51 to play, which set the stage for Eberhart's 45-yard winning field goal as time ran out that gave CU a 27-24 win over the No. 3 Sooners.

B.J. Beatty & Jon Major, 2010 vs. Georgia

Just as Georgia appeared ready to spoil CU's 20th anniversary celebration of its 1990 national championship with a last-minute win, Colorado linebackers B.J. Beatty and Jon Major stepped forward and changed the script. After UGA drove to the CU 27, Beatty's strip of quarterback Aaron Murray and Major's recovery with 1:55 remaining allowed the Buffaloes to exit Folsom Field with a 29-27 victory and head into their final Big 12 Conference season with a 3-1 record.

Ahkello Witherspoon, 2016 vs. Oregon

Colorado opened conference play at Oregon, having lost six straight games against the Ducks including all five since joining the Pac-12 Conference. The Buffaloes zoomed to a 23-7 lead early in the second quarter but saw Oregon rally to take a 38-33 lead heading into the fourth quarter. Steven Montez and Bryce Bobo hooked up on a 31-yard touchdown pass and the ensuing two-point conversion to thrust CU back into the lead, 41-38, with 8:43 remaining. But all that appeared headed for naught as the Ducks drove to the CU 7 and had a first-and-goal with under a minute to play. UO quarterback Dakota Prukop attempted to hit Darren Carrington on a fade in the end zone, but Ahkello Witherspoon jumped the route and picked off the pass with 48 seconds left to preserve CU's victory.

Laviska Shenault, 2019 vs. Stanford

Stanford had rallied to take a 13-10 lead early in the fourth quarter, but the Buffs came right back and tied the game on a 23-yard field goal by Evan Price. After holding the Cardinal to a three-and-out, CU took over at its own 20 with 6:00 remaining. The Buffs methodically worked the ball into Stanford territory, but were faced with a 4th-&-1 at the Cardinal 34. Laviska Shenault took the handoff from Steven Montez on an end-around and he proceeded to break no less than four tackles in picking up five yards and the crucial first down. Three played later, Price made winning kick from 37 yards out for the 16-13 win. It was the most time CU used on a possession to win a game as time expired in school history.

Steven Montez & Dimitri Stanley, 2019 vs. Washington

The Huskies were riding a nine-game winning streak in the series and had cut a 13-point Colorado lead to 20-14 early in the fourth quarter. The teams traded two possessions without scoring and CU took over at its own 1-yard line with 5:09 remaining. The UW defense was fired up, sacking Steven Montez for an apparent safety on first down but jumped offsides. Still they forced the Buffs into a 3rd-&-16 from the CU 12 and appeared ready to take over with good field position. But Montez and Dimitri Stanley connected on a 27-yard pass play to get the Buffs some breathing room, then teamed up again on the very next play for another 18 yards and CU was able to run out the clock—the second-longest time (5:09) in school history that the Buffs ran out the clock holding a one-score lead.

Ahkello Witherspoon's interception with 48 seconds remaining preserved CU's 41-38 at Oregon.

Bill Harris finds a hole in the Air Force defense in the 1962 game.

Throughout its history, University of Colorado football fans have been treated to some special moments the last time a player or coach took the field for the Buffaloes, either in the final game of the regular season or in a bowl game. Here's a look at a few of these that stand out:

Byron White, 1937

Not a farewell game as much as it was a farewell tour for the man who would go on to become a U.S. Supreme Court Justice. In the final home game of the year, Byron White scored three second half touchdowns to defeat Colorado College, 35-6. In the final regular season game at Denver, he accounted for every CU point in a 34-7 win over the Pioneers, scoring three touchdowns, passing for two and making four extra points. Then, in the first bowl game ever for CU, he passed for one touchdown and scored another on a 47-yard interception return in a 28-14 loss to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Frank Bernardi & Carroll Hardy, 1954 vs. Kansas State

The final game of the 1954 season didn't really have anything riding on it as far as Colorado was concerned, except that it was the final game in a CU uniform for five Buffalo seniors. Kansas State, however, could have earned an Orange Bowl berth with a win and a Nebraska loss. Coach Dal Ward told the underclassmen to dedicate the final game to the quintet, and in particular, to four-year lettermen Carrol Hardy and Frank Bernardi, who had carried the team to a 6-2-1 record at that point. The Buffs would easily defeat the Wildcats, 38-14, but when Hardy and Bernardi carried the ball, they must have thought they were playing against just the clean Rocky Mountain air. The CU offensive line dominated from start to finish, as Hardy rushed for 238 yards and three touchdowns on just 10 carries, while Bernardi picked up 113 and a score on only nine tries.

John Bayuk, 1957 Orange Bowl

Known as "The Beast," John Bayuk rallied Colorado to its first-ever bowl win, a 27-21 verdict over Clemson in the Orange Bowl. He rushed for 121 yards on 23 carries and scored two touchdowns, including the game winner with 7:13 left to play.

Coach Bud Davis, 1962 vs. Air Force

Though he coached only the one season in Boulder, the transitional year between Sonny Grandelius and Eddie Crowder, the season finale in 1962 was special for Bud Davis. Heading into the rivalry game against Air Force with just a 1-8 record, CU was a 21-point underdog to the Falcons. But the Buffaloes gave Davis, who resigned the day of the game, a tremendous sendoff, convincingly defeating the "Zoomies," 34-10. Bill Harris rushed for 108 yards and Bill Symons scored twice to lead the Buffs.

Rashaan Salaam on his way to 2,000-plus yards versus Iowa State in 1994.

Bobby Anderson, 1969 Liberty Bowl

He placed 11th in the Heisman Trophy balloting, but who knows where he would have finished had the voting taken place after the Liberty Bowl. Bobby Anderson led a ground game to an explosive offensive attack, as CU defeated Bear Bryant's Alabama Crimson Tide, 47-33. Anderson rushed 254 yards on 35 carries and scored three touchdowns, including a pair in the fourth quarter to seal the win for Coach Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes. And for good measure, he completed 3-of-4 passes for another 41 yards, giving him 295 yards of total offense (over half of CU's 563 on the afternoon).

Bill Roe, 1979 vs. Kansas State

The game meant nothing, except that it would signal the end a very disappointing season for first year coach Chuck Fairbanks. But nobody told that to Bill Roe, who was a one-man wrecking crew on defense in CU's 21-6 win. He had 24 tackles in the game, the second most at the time in a game by a Buffalo, along with two interceptions.

Mike Pritchard & Others, 1990 vs. Kansas State

Colorado had already clinched the Orange Bowl, but needed to stay sharp as the Buffs moved to No. 1 in the polls after a 64-3 pasting of Kansas State in Boulder. In the final game for some 21 seniors, Mike Pritchard gained 152 yards on just four touches, scoring two touchdowns. Eric Bieniemy rushed for 115 yards in his final home game, but would lose out on the NCAA rushing title by 12 yards when he didn't play in the second half. O.C. Oliver scored for the first time since he was a freshman in 1986, and outside linebacker Alfred Williams got his wish, playing a few snaps at tight end and catching a pass for 17 yards.

Rashaan Salaam, 1994 vs. Iowa State

Only three others had accomplished what Rashaan Salaam had in front of him this November afternoon. Salaam, who went on to win Colorado's first Heisman Trophy, came into the game needing 204 yards to become the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to rush for 2,000 yards in a single season. With CU ahead, 27-13, and just under 11 minutes left in the game, Salaam had 192 in the game and 1,988 for the season, and Colorado had a first-and-10 at its own 33. He took the handoff from Kordell Stewart and sprinted around the right side, heading 67 yards down the Colorado sidelines for a touchdown and 2,055 yards. One of the most single exciting plays in CU history, with the fans jumping up-and-down holding onto yellow placards with a simple "2,000" printed on them in black. Also in this game, Kordell Stewart became the Big Eight's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards, as he passed for 196 and ran for 89, also eclipsing the mark in the fourth quarter. And to cap off the day's events, head coach Bill McCartney, announced after the game that he would retire following CU's bowl game.

Coach Bill McCartney & Kordell Stewart, 1995 Fiesta Bowl

It was the rubber game in the postseason between Colorado and Notre Dame in the 1990s, as the two split a pair of Orange Bowls to start the decade, both with national championship implications for the Buffs. CU built up a 31-3 lead over an outmatched Fighting Irish team and cruised to a 41-24 victory in Bill McCartney's final game as head coach. He would exit as CU's all-time winningest head coach with a 93-55-5 record. With all eyes on Heisman winner Rashaan Salaam, who scored three touchdowns and rushed for 85 yards, Kordell Stewart had a field day against the Irish. He rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown on just seven carries, and completed 11-of-20 passes for 205 yards and another score in being named the game's most valuable player.

Koy Detmer & Rae Carruth, 1996 Holiday Bowl

The senior duo, which hooked up for 54 completions and eight touchdowns in the regular season, obliterated almost every passing and receiving record in Colorado bowl history. Detmer completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns, while Carruth caught seven of those for 162 yards, including two touchdowns. Their first touchdown, a 76-yard bomb that got CU on the scoreboard, was the longest play from scrimmage in the Buff postseason. Colorado rallied from a 14-0 deficit to defeat Washington, 33-21.

The Class of '01, 2001 vs. Nebraska

Twenty-nine seniors suited up for the final time in their CU careers at Folsom Field. Three-and-a-half hours and nine touchdowns later, this group put a 62-36 win on the scoreboard over Nebraska, ending a nine-game losing streak to their fiercest rival.

Hugh Charles & Jordon Dizon, 2007 vs. Nebraska

Colorado needed a win to become bowl eligible, and everyone came to play, including senior tailback Hugh Charles and senior linebacker Jordon Dizon. Charles rushed 33 times for 169 yards and three touchdowns, caught one pass for 33 more, and returned five kickoffs for 125 yards; the 327 all-purpose yards were the most in 13 years and the sixth highest total in school history. Dizon closed his career at Folsom with 16 tackles, 12 solo, a third down stop and a pass deflection as CU won 65-51 and earned an invitation to the Independence Bowl.

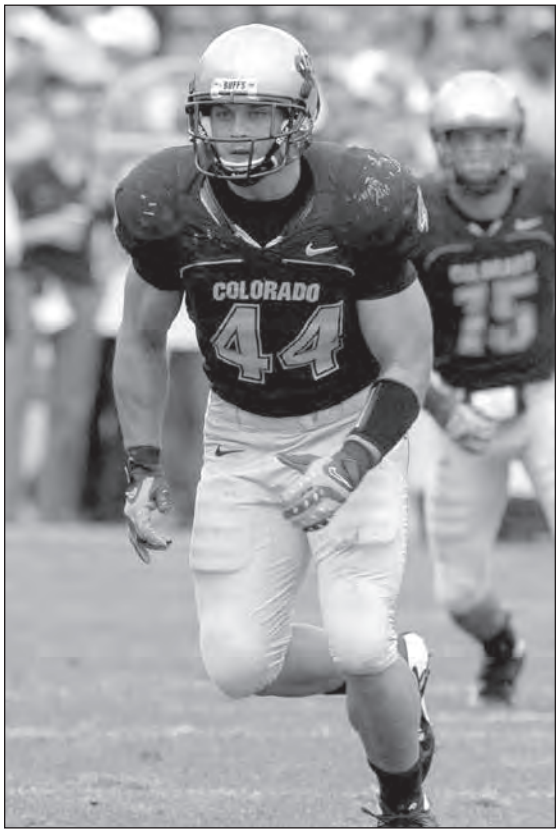

Tedric Thompson, 2016 vs. Utah

Playing in his final game at Folsom Field to cap a stellar four-year career, Tedric Thompson was a horn in the site of Utah quarterback Troy Williams. He intercepted two passes, which gave him a school record-tying seven for the season, and broke up four others in accounting for six non-completions. He also had four unassisted tackles, including one for a loss, and had four third down stops overall.

GREAT INTRODUCTIONS—The starting lineups on ABC for the game were produced by CU alums Trey Parker, Matt Stone and Eric Stough, the creators of the Comedy Central hit South Park. An instant YouTube hit, the intros were popular and selected as the best of the year for the entire ABC/ESPN series of games.

SPRING FOOTBALL HISTORY

For 40 years,spring practice traditionally ended with a game between the Colorado Varsity and Alumni. Back at the turn of the century, an Alumni team usually served as the season opener for the varsity (13 times all told, with the Varsity owning an 11-0-2 edge in those games). The Varsity held a 20-3 edge in the old format of the spring series, which started back in 1953 under then head coach Dal Ward. After a pair of games, the series became dormant until 1963 when it was revived by Eddie Crowder. There was no game between 1974 and 1976, and the 1978 game was cancelled due to a blizzard.

A new format for the Varsity-Alumni game (implemented in 1988) had the alumni playing in the first and third quarters, with the first team of the varsity playing the second and fourth quarters. They were pitted against the second- and third-team members of the varsity, resulting in a competitive and fun game. The alumni and first-team varsity always wore black. This format was discontinued following 1992 for competitive reasons.

The all-time results of the Varsity-Alumni game:

The format for the game in 1993 and 1994 was to pit the first-team offense and defense against the remainder of the squad. The results of this series:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1993 —	White, 24-13	2,500	1994 —	Black, 45-3	1,650

An intrasquad game was started in 1987 and was dubbed the "Black & White" game (which evolved into the "Black & Gold' game). The format for this has varied through the years, depending on the health of the team; most years, the team is divided by the coaching staff into two units of comparable strength. Injuries in the 2001-03 and 2005 seasons forced an offense-defense formatted game with its own unique scoring system, and in 2006-07 the team scrimmaged due to a lack of offensive linemen. In 2008, the Black team was the first-team offense, the Gold team the second and third-teamers; that year, in response to a challenge by former head coach Bill McCartney, a CU spring record crowd of 17,800 turned out for the game. In 2010, 2014 and 2015, the players drafted the teams themselves. A look at this series:

Year	Score	Attend.	Year	Score	Attend.
1987 —	Black, 6-3	—	2004 —	Gold, 17-13	4,500

One of the most emotional moments in CU football history came at halftime of the 1989 spring game, when the varsity and alumni saluted cancer-stricken quarterback Sal Aunese (center). Aunese passed away on Sept. 23 later that same year.

NOTE: Prior to 1973, as many as four radio stations originated CU football broadcasts. Stations such as KBOL, KLZ and KHOW and personalities like Jim Kithcart, Mark Schreiber, John Henry, Starr Yelland, Pete Hansen, Bob Martin, Dick Carlson, Don Cole, Mike Wolfe, Fred Casotti, Glenn Perkins, Irv Brown and many others have called the action of CU football.

ALL-TIME LETTERMEN

Throughout the years, various standards have been used to determine who has been awarded letters at CU (as well as at every school in the nation, as all set their own criteria). From the 1930s until the late 1970s, letters were awarded based on a player seeing action in at least half of the quarters played by CU in a particular season. In recent times, criteria have ranged from a minimum of 100 plays in a season or possessing a special skill (the Bill McCartney Era) to playing at least one snap in at least one game (Rick Neuheisel Era). Under Gary Barnett, and the head coaches since, the Buffs returned to the criteria that McCartney first instituted. In addition, it has been a standing policy since 1982 to award letters to all seniors in the program, regardless of playing time.

Jersey numbers, heights and weights are generally those listed in CU publications (or other sources) in the player's final letter-winning year. Positions are listed in the terminology of the era in which the letterman played; if more than one position is listed, then that player saw substantial game time at those positions. Hometowns are usually the place from which the player came to CU, followed by the high school and any previous institution, be it a junior or senior college.

There are 2,165 known football lettermen at the University of Colorado through 2019, but information prior to 1940 is limited at best and thus some holes do exist. The list below was researched and expanded with the help of the late CU athletic historian Fred Casotti in 1999; if you have additional information on yourself or someone on this list, please call the Sports Information Office at 303/492-5626.

America celebrated the 50th anniversary of Apollo 11 and man stepping foot on the moon on July 20, 1969, a reminder that one of the three men who traveled the furthest away from Earth (due to where the Moon was located during their mission) was a Colorado Buffalo. Jack Swigert, a '53 CU graduate, lettered from 1950-52 at guard (teammates included Tom Brookshier and Carroll Hardy). He was the command module pilot for the ill-fated Apollo 13, the mission dubbed a "successful failure" as the ship made it back to Earth after orbiting the moon despite an oxygen tank explosion in April 1971. Swigert's fellow astronauts were Jim Lovell (l.) and Fred Haise (r.); he was played by actor Kevin Bacon in the 1995 movie Apollo 13 depicting the journey; with Hollywood often taking liberties, it was Swigert who said the famous line, "Houston, we've had a problem," not Tom Hanks delivering it as Lovell. The three men flew 248,655 miles away from Earth, the furthest distance ever recorded by humans, putting their round trip mileage at 497,310 miles. (Swigert, who died in 1982 just after being elected to Congress from Colorado, wasn't even supposed to be on that mission; he replaced Ken Mattingly 48 hours prior when Mattingly was exposed to the measles and was removed from the flight.)

The ESPN Game Day crew has been to Boulder three times, the last in 1996.

State Prep Awards

Several Buffaloes have won the two most prestigious prep awards in the state of Colorado through the years. The Denver Post Gold Helmet Award began in 1951, and 23 of the winners to date attended CU, 19 on football scholarships. The Rocky Mountain News began the Fred Steinmark Athlete of the Year Award in 1972 (open to all sports), with 10 CU athletes, nine football and one track, bestowed that fine honor. The lists:

BYRON "WHIZZER" WHITE

Colorado's first All-American and one of the greatest students in the history of the school, Byron (Whizzer) White, retired as a justice of the Supreme Court in March, 1993, after serving 31 years on the nation's high court.

White made all the All-America teams after a brilliant 1937 season in which he led CU to an 8-0 record and Cotton Bowl bid as he set national records with 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points. Those marks, erased nationally only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules, set CU records.

White was a Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes Scholar, two-time All-Pro halfback with Pittsburgh and Detroit, leading graduate of the Yale Law School in 1946, decorated naval intelligence officer in World War II, leading Denver attorney, and deputy attorney general for the United States. White is a member of the NFL Hall-of-Fame, the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall-of-Fame, the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame, and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1998, he was the first inductee into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame. He passed away at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

JOE ROMIG

Romig, a two-time All-American selection, is a member of the Big Eight Hall-of-Fame and the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame. Now a senior research associate in radio physics in Boulder, Romig was the Buffs' 1961 team captain and the United Press International Lineman of the year. Romig had no peers as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle linebacker position behind a four-man line. Fast and strong, he was consistently in on most of CU's tackles.

Offensively, Romig developed into an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Like White, he was an inspirational leader gifted with extraordinary physical and mental abilities.

Romig was a tremendous student, logging straight A's in his last six semesters and building a 3.9 grade-point average. He was also a Danforth and Woodrow Wilson Scholar. A Rhodes Scholar, Joe received his master's degree in physics at Oxford University in England and a doctorate in physics at Colorado in 1975. He is a member of the GTE Academic Hall-of-Fame and was selected to CU's "All-Century Team." In 1999, he was part of the second class to be inducted into CU's Athletic Hall-of-Fame.

BOBBY ANDERSON

Anderson set 18 single-game, single-season and career marks during his three-season career with the Buffs along with earning All-Big Eight and All-American honors.

A professional player with Denver (the team's No. 1 draft choice), Washington and New England, Anderson started his CU career as a quarterback but switched to tailback for the third game of his senior season (1969). In his career, he rushed for 2,729 yards and had over 5,000 yards in total offense.

Anderson concluded his Colorado career with a 254-yard rushing effort in the 1969 Liberty Bowl as the Buffs beat Alabama 47-33. After his playing days, he spent several years as a Denver-area businessman and worked over two decades for KOA-Radio handling pre- and postgame shows as well as sideline reporting on the CU Football Network. He relocated to southern California in 2006 where he and his wife run a private tax business. A member of CU's "All-Century Team," in 1999, he received the prestigious University Medal, awarded to those who have performed outstanding service to or for the University. In December 2006, he became the fourth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall-of-Fame.

RASHAAN SALAAM

Salaam had a dream season as a junior in 1994, leading the nation in rushing (2,055 yards), scoring (144 points on 24 touchdowns) and all-purpose yards (2,349). In doing so, he earned unanimous first-team All-American honors and won the first (and to date the only) Heisman Trophy in Colorado history, claiming the 60th annual award, easily winning by some 248 votes and 842 points.

He became just the fourth player in college football history at the time to rush for over 2,000 yards in a single season, despite not playing in five fourth quarters and on two other occasions, he played only briefly in the third quarter; over half of the yards (1,040) came against ranked opponents. He finished his career as only the second Buff to exceed 3,000 career rushing yards (3,057), and to date only five total have done so.

He opted to turn professional following his junior season (he made the announcement minutes after CU defeated Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl), he was a first round pick by Chicago in the 1995 NFL Draft (21st overall). He played three seasons for the Bears (1995-97), winning the NFC Rookie-of-the-Year honor in 1995 when he rushed for 1,074 yards and 10 TDs. Knee and ankle injuries cur short is career (he underwent an ankle reconstruction), though he did make one final go of it with San Francisco in 2003.

He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012 and into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2018. His number was retired in October 2017 during CU's homecoming festivities. Tragically, he took his own life on Dec. 5, 2016 at the age of 42.

THE NATIONAL PLAY-OF-THE-YEAR

In 1992, Nu Skin International and CoSIDA started sponsorship of "The National Play-of-the-Year," honoring the most outstanding play annually in college football. Notre Dame won the inaugural honor in 1992, but the University of Colorado won for both the 1993 and 1994 seasons. Here's a closer look at CU's winning plays:

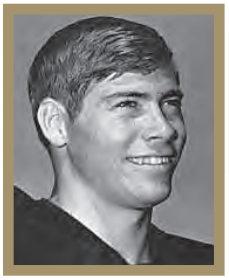

1993 (October 16; Colorado 27, Oklahoma 10)— Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson on the halfback option play. What made it special? Warren slipped on the slick artificial surface as he threw the ball, and some 40 yards later in the end zone, Johnson made the catch on the ground after he was interfered with. The play defied imagination, and is truly appreciated when looked at in slow motion.

1994 (September 24; Colorado 27, Michigan 26)— College football's play of the decade, this effort also won an "Espy" from ESPN for the play of the year in all of sports for 1994. As time expired, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael Westbrook, who made the catch after a Blake Anderson deflection. CU had trailed, 26-14, with under four minutes remaining, and trailed by five with 15 seconds left on its own 15-yard line after stopping Michigan on defense.

An artist's conception of CU's 1993 award-winning play.

WR, 6-0, 210, 2L, Beloit, Wis. (Beloit/Trinidad JC)

The first African-American varsity football player at Colorado (and the first to letter), joining the Buffaloes in September 1954 after attending Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College for two years where he had a brilliant career (he had to sit out the '54 season after transferring)… He was joined by John Wooten the following year, and what the pair often had to endure outside of Boulder before the civil rights movement was deplorable, but they had the full support of the university… He was so popular on campus that he was elected "King" of the annual CU Days festival… Also was one of the first blacks to play in the old Big 7 Conference… An honorable mention All-Big 7 performer as a junior, when he was second in the league in receiving… Colorado ran the single-wing during his career, so passing downfield was rare, but he led the team both years in receiving and averaged 26.6 yards for 20 catches in his career, seven of which went for touchdowns… He had one 100-yard receiving game, and it was a beauty, as he caught two passes for exactly 100, both for touchdowns, against Utah as a junior… Ended his career fifth at the time in receiving yards at Colorado… He also blocked two kicks in his career, of which he also handled most of the kickoff chores… He had one catch for 18 yards in CU's win over Clemson in the '57 Orange Bowl, and he played in the Copper Bowl All-Star game following his senior year… He was selected by Cleveland in the fifth round of the '56 NFL Draft (61st pick overall, he was eligible due to his age), and joined the Browns after his senior year at CU; he played three seasons in Cleveland and then eight (1960-67) with the Dallas Cowboys. He caught 291 passes for 5,426 yards and 50 touchdowns in 140 NFL games… His final game was in the '67 NFL Championship game against Green Bay and former teammate Boyd Dowler in what is known as the "Ice Bowl," won by the Packers, 21-17… He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008… He passed away at the age of 84 on July 25, 2018.

PK, 6-2, 200, 4L, Georgetown, Texas (Georgetown)

He became just the seventh two-time, first-team All-American in CU history, as well as only the seventh three-time, first-team All-Conference performer… Set 33 single-game, season and career records at Colorado, most notably becoming the school's all-time leading scorer with 307 points… He set or tied 19 of the school's 38 placekicking records, including all of the major marks: field goals made (66), field goals attempted (88), extra points made (109), extra point attempts (117), field goal percentage (75.0) and longest field goal made (60 yards)… He made 12 career kicks of 50 yards or longer (the previous record had been three), as he owned nine of the 14 longest kicks in CU history at the end of his career... He excelled in late game heroics, making a name for himself in the clutch: he was 14-of-18 in the fourth quarter, including 12-of-14 in the final 9½ minutes with nine kicks of 41 yards or longer and seven of them with the score of the game within six points; his only misses came his senior year: a 63-yard try against Montana State as CU tried to rally in the waning minutes (2 yards short) and a 65-yard try in a bid to tie the NCAA record without a tee against Iowa State (27-inches short)... He made 32-of-43 field goals outside of the state of Colorado, the average make from 36.8 yards and the average miss from 43.4 yards (included three blocked; 47.0 otherwise)… His 58-yard kick at Miami, Fla., in 2005 was the longest at sea level in NCAA history… In addition, he kicked off 203 times, with 138 going for touchbacks (88 through the end zone), all school records, with the average starting yardline of the opponent its 22 after his kicks; 20 of 61 returned against him were not brought out beyond the 20… In the postseason, he finished fourth all-time in scoring with 19 points in bowls (5-of-7 FG, 4-of-4 PAT), the second in kick scoring, trailing only Aldrich, one of the few records of his that he did not break… He also exited as the Big 12 Conference all-time leader in field goals made, attempted and percentage; he was selected the special teams player of the week by the conference nine times, a school record… He won a Super Bowl ring with the Green Bay Packers (for the 2010 season)… In 13 seasons with the Packers, he is now their all-time leading scorer in franchise history (1,575 points in 208 regular season games with 1,718 including the postseason)... In 2015, he was named as the second-team kicker on the FWAA 75th Anniversary All-America team.

QB, 6-1, 185, 4L, Mission, Texas (Mission)

An honorable mention All-American as a senior in 1996 by the Football News, as he was the unanimous first-team All-Big 12 quarterback in the conference's inaugural season… That same year, he was a finalist for the Johnny Unitas Award and a semifinalist for the Davey O'Brien Award… Set numerous passing records as a senior, when he passed for 3,156 yards and 22 touchdowns… Was off to a terrific start in '95 until he was sidelined with a torn ACL (he was such a gamer that after missing a game, he tried to comeback but a specially fitted brace couldn't supply enough support)… At the time of the injury, he was the nation's leading passer with a 189.4 rating… Redshirted in 1993… Started his career as a true freshman in 1992, playing in seven games including two starts (Oklahoma, Nebraska); he threw for 418 yards and five touchdowns against the Sooners, both highs in a debut for a CU starting quarterback; he also threw a 92-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson, which stood for 10 years as the longest pass play in school history… In 18 career starts, including bowls, he led CU to a 14-3-1 record… Second all-time at Colorado with 14 games of 200-plus yards passing; his five of 400 or more and seven 300-plus are school bests… Ended his career by being named the MVP of the '96 Holiday Bowl, when he completed 25 of 45 passes for 371 yards and three touchdowns in Colorado's 33-21 win over Washington… Older brother, Ty, won the Heisman Trophy as a junior at Brigham Young in 1990… A seventh round selection by Philadelphia in the 1997 NFL Draft, he spent his 10 years with the Eagles (1997-2006) and finished up at Minnesota. Though basically the back-up signal caller, he spot-started on occasion.

OG, 6-3, 280, 4L, Placentia, Calif. (Valencia)

One of the first three unanimous All-Americans in CU history, when the seven NCAA recognized selectors all tabbed him on their first-team his senior year in 1990 (along with TB Eric Bieniemy and OLB Alfred Williams that same year)… A consensus first-team All-American as a junior, recognized by the Associated Press, United Press International, AFCA/Kodak and the Football Writers Association of America… A two-time, unanimous first-team All-Big Eight performer as a junior and senior… He finished as the runner-up in the voting for the Outland Trophy, presented to the nation's outstanding offensive lineman as a senior… Played in East-West Shrine game… A sixth round pick by Green Bay in the 1991 NFL Draft (164th overall)… He played two seasons with Green Bay (1991-92)… Returned to play one season with the Frankfurt Galaxy of the World League of American Football (1997) after trying his hand in professional wrestling… He was selected for induction into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012… Has been on the ballot for nomination into the College Football Hall of Fame since 2012.

DANIEL GRAHAM

TE, 6-3, 245, 4L, Denver, Colo. (Thomas Jefferson)

The sixth unanimous All-America in Colorado history, as he was afforded first-team honors by the six organizations recognized by the NCAA as a senior in 2001: Associated Press, AFCA, FWAA, Walter Camp, The Sporting News and the Football News… He won the eighth postseason trophy ever by a Buffalo when he received the John Mackey Award, which cited him as the nation's best tight end… He was a unanimous first-team all-Big 12 team member (AP, Coaches) in starting all 12 games en route to catching 51 passes for 753 yards and six touchdowns and 37 first downs; he was second in the nation in receptions by a tight end, and was first in both yards and touchdowns… He tied the single-season team mark for receptions by a tight end, but set the record for the most TE receiving yards for a solo year… He had 106 career receptions for 1,543 yards, numbers that ranked him first in both categories among all tight ends ever at Colorado… He took great pride in his blocking; he had 101 dominant blocks and 138 downfield blocks as a senior… He became just the sixth player to lead CU in tight end receiving for three straight seasons… He received the John Mack Award from the staff as the most outstanding offensive performer, and the players elected him the Zack Jordan Award winner as the overall MVP… His 10 receptions against Oregon in the '02 Fiesta Bowl tied the school record for most in a game by a tight end… A first round pick in the 2002 NFL Draft by New England (21st overall), he won two Super Bowl rings with the Patriots in 2003 and 2004, and went on to play with the Denver Broncos, Tennessee and New Orleans in an 11-year professional career… Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2018.

JOHN HESSLER

QB, 6-2, 200, 3L, Brighton, Colo. (Brighton)

Hessler took over the reigns of the CU offense in the fourth game of the 1995 season after starting QB Koy Detmer was lost for the year due to injury... He responded by earning two straight Big Eight Offensive-Player-of-the-Week honors in leading CU to wins over No. 3 Texas A&M and No. 10 Oklahoma… Against OU, in his second career start, he was 24-of-34 for 348 yards and five touchdowns, earning him National Player of the Week honors… In completing 154-of-266 passes on the season for 2,136 yards, he earned honorable mention All-Big Eight honors… In his junior year, he saw action in five games and came out of the bullpen after Detmer was injured against Texas and led the Buffs to a win over the eventual Big 12 Champion Longhorns… He took over for good as CU's starting quarterback in 1997, finishing the year having completed 181-of-338 passes for 2,478 yards and 14 touchdowns. He also rushed for another 188 yards and five scores… His final game came against Nebraska when he completed 19-of-35 passes for 362 yards and three touchdowns as the Buffs nearly upset the Huskers in a 27-24 loss. Down 27-10 with just over three minutes remaining, Hessler engineered two scoring drives and nearly came up with a third before an offensive pass interference call doomed the Buffs… His 362 yards against Nebraska was his career-high and is the all-time CU best against the Huskers… He currently sits at No. 5 on the all-time CU chart with 4,788 career passing yards… Went on to pitch on the class A level of the Colorado Rockies organization for two years… Was severely injured in a hit-and-run accident on Oct. 19, 2003 but has made an amazing recovery.

E, 6-4, 230, 3L, Davenport, Iowa (Davenport)

An Associated Press and Football Writers Association of America/ Look All-American as a senior in 1961 (second-team by NEA, third-team by AFCA, The Sporting News)... A two-time All-Big Eight Conference first-team performer (1960-61)… Recorded the fifth 100-yard receiving game in school history, catching four passes for 137 yards and a score against Arizona in 1960; it set the CU single game mark for yards at the time… In addition to being a great blocker and excellent receiver on offense, he was a tough defensive end and a fine placekicker (he was known for his great hands and good speed, while being almost "unblockable" on defense)... As a kicker, he booted 54-yard field goal against Oklahoma State in 1961, the longest in school history at the time and the longest in the nation that season (he scored 29 points overall as a kicker)… His 696 career receiving yards at the time of his graduation was a school record, one that would hold for seven more seasons… An honorable mention member on CU's All-Century team… First-round draft pick by the N.Y. Giants in the 1962 National Football League draft (13th overall; selected as an outside linebacker)… Played nine years in the NFL for three teams, the Giants (1962-66), St. Louis Cardinals (1967) and Pittsburgh (1968-70)… He played in 99 career NFL career games, making 14 interceptions and scoring three touchdowns... Also a good basketball player, but CU's coach at the time, Sox Walseth, couldn't convince him to join the team... He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in its 2016 class.

S/QB, 6-0, 180, 3L, Boulder, Colo. (Boulder)

Irwin had one of the rarest two-sport combinations in college athletics, as he earned a combined six letters in football and golf… After playing quarterback as a sophomore, he became a two-time first-team all-Big Eight selection at weak side safety 1965 and 1966, making nine interceptions... He was a two-time Academic All-Big Eight team member as a junior and senior… In 1989, he was selected to CU's 25-member All-Century Football Team for CU's first 100 years of football… But he made his mark in the game of golf, first at Colorado, and then professionally: a two-time Big Eight Conference champion (1966, 1967) his CU single-season mark for stroke average he set as a junior (72.04) stood for 37 years… He capped his collegiate career by claiming medalist honors at the 1967 NCAA Championships… As a professional, he had 20 PGA Tour wins, including three U.S. Open titles (1974, 1979, 1990)… He has since become the all-time leading money winner on the Champions (Senior) PGA Tour, earning over $27 million, thanks to a Senior Tour record 45 wins (and 43 second-place finishes) through 2015… His son Steve followed in his footsteps, also lettering on the Buffalo golf team in the mid-1990s, and nephew Heath was an All-American in football… His younger brother, Phil, was the first CU athlete to grace the cover of Sports Illustrated (pictured after CU ended Penn State's 31-game unbeaten streak)… He is a member of both the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted 1986) and the Colorado Golf Hall of Fame (inducted 1974), as well as an inaugural member of the CU Golf Hall of Fame (inducted 1989)… He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2002.

QB, 6-1, 210, 3L, Arvada, Colo. (Pomona)

CU's starting quarterback for his sophomore through senior seasons, he set 44 school records in his tenure, the second most records ever set by one student-athlete at the school in any sport (Byron White set 51 between 1934 and 1937)… He earned honorable mention all-Big 12 honors as a sophomore and senior…He had 34 career starts (19-15 record), the second most CU by a signal-caller; that led to him to take over almost every major career passing record at the school: yards (7,375), touchdowns (44), completion percentage (60.8), attempts (1,095), completions (666) and interceptions (33); the only ones to escape him were total offense (second with 7,255) and passer rating, where he finished seventh (124.6)… He also set a school record with nine career fourth quarter comebacks to win or tie games, and had a host of single-game and single-season records along with all his career marks…. He had 15 career 200-yard passing games, five of which exceeded 300 yards (not including bowls)… For his career, he had a 24-to-2 ratio of touchdowns to interceptions in the red zone, taking just one sack as well… Selected as Colorado's most valuable player in a vote by his teammates… He also finished as the Big 12 Conference's fifth all-time leading passer (the league includes bowl yards, thus he had 7,708). Selected as the newcomer of the year in the state for 2003 by the Colorado Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Football Hall of Fame… He was named the 2005-06 winner of CU's Male Career Athletic Achievement Award (for all sports)… Has gone on to a career in local and national sports broadcasting on television and radio, including ROOT Sports and most recently, FOX Sports.

B, 5-9, 160, Glenrock, Wyo. (Glenrock)

The first, and to this day, the only Colorado player to lead the nation in any statistical category in back-to-back seasons, as he was the country's top rusher as a junior (906 yards in 1934) and senior (1,043 in 1935)… A two-time All-Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference performer, he just missed out on All-America honors… He also led the nation in all-around yardage as a senior with an amazing 2,225 (1,043 rushing, 364 passing, 530 punt returns and 288 kickoff returns)… He also averaged around 40 yards per kick as the team's punter… His backup in 1935, when he led the nation in rushing was none other than Byron White… The first Buff to play in a postseason All-Star game when he competed in the East-West Shrine Game on Jan. 1, 1936… He played six different instruments and conducted his own orchestra in college, leading to one of his nicknames, "The Crooning Quarterback"… He earned seven letters in three sports: football (three) and track and wrestling (two in each), and also was a local boxing champion… Served as a lieutenant in the Navy for almost three years during World War II… Upon his return, he went to work for CU for what would be the next 36 years, the majority as athletic business manager… A member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1971)… A member of CU's All-Century Team, selected in 1989… Inducted into the CU Athletic Hall of Fame in 1999, the group's second class… Full name was William C. Lam… He passed away on April 23, 1993 at the age of 81.

A unanimous first-team All-American as a senior in 1991 (Associated Press, United Press International, AFCA/Kodak, FWAA, Walter Camp, Football News and The Sporting News (only the fourth Buff to earn unanimous honors)… A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year… He was an honorable mention All-American as a junior in 1990… A two-time first-team All-Big Eight selection as a junior and senior, the first Buff center to ever be honored twice with all-league honors… One of six finalists for the 1991 Outland Trophy Award… In over 2,200 career plays, he allowed just four quarterbacks sacks and was called for a penalty only four times… Won the Derek Singleton Award as a senior (for spirit, enthusiasm and dedication)… A ninth round pick by Kansas City in the 1992 NFL Draft (244th overall)… He played in 137 career NFL games with Chicago Bears (1992-95), Indianapolis (1996-98), Cincinnati (1999) and Washington (2000)… Returned to Colorado after his retirement and is a high school teacher in Denver and spent two seasons the radio color analyst for CU football and basketball for KOA-Radio.

DID YOU KNOW…

That several others also earn letters who are associated with the University of Colorado football program, even though they never dressed for a game? Student equipment managers and trainers who put in as many hours as the players also earn varsity letters for their efforts. Perhaps the most famous letterman at CU in this category is Steve Hatchell, the current President and Chief Executive Officer of the National Football Foundation & College Hall of Fame. Hatchell earned four letters as a student manager in the 1960s, which back then included duties such as scout team quarterback, film coordinator and caring for the grass fields. After graduating from CU with a journalism degree, he went on to work full-time in the athletic department, first in the equipment office and then as co-sports information director. His travels took him to Colorado State (SID), the Big Eight Conference (assistant commissioner) the Orange Bowl (executive director), the Southwest and Big 12 conferences (commissioner of both) and the president of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association… He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2017 and the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in 2018.

TB, 5-8, 190, 4L, Aurora, Colo. (Denver South)

Largely unrecruited after tearing his ACL as a senior in high school, he proceeded to play in all 51 of CU's games in his career (including the Alamo Bowl), with 30 starts … A two-time, second-team All-Pac-12 performer, he became Colorado's all-time leader in all-purpose yards with 5,760 and yards from scrimmage 4,683 (5,926 and 4,849 including the 2016 Alamo Bowl, but CU does not include bowl stats in career numbers) … He finished as the Buffs' second all-time leading rusher with 3,707 yards and was the first player in CU history to record back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons (and just the second to have two period) … With 110 receptions for 976 yards, he also set school records for the most in each by a running back; he became the 14th player to join CU's 500/500 Club (rushing and receiving yards), narrowly missing becoming the first to hit 1,000 in both (which he did counting the bowl game, but CU does not include those numbers—for any player) ... The only running back in CU history to have two 100-yard receiving games (both during his junior year) … Also finished sixth in career kickoff return yardage (1,077; though he returned just one over his last two seasons) … He had 750 career rushing attempts, but just 92 yards lost on those carries ... He had 11 100-yard rushing games, with two over 200 … Finished fourth on the scoring chart (234 points, second to only Eric Bieniemy by non-kickers), and also earned 234 first downs (195 rushing, 39 receiving), the most in school history by a non-quarterback … Overall, he set 24 records and tied two others in his CU career … Signed as a free agent with the Denver Broncos … He recorded back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons with the Broncos (1,037; 1,011), the first Denver back to do since 2002-03.

He was a consensus first-team All-America as a senior in 2002, earning honors from the Associated Press, AFCA, Walter Camp, and The Sporting News, and was the unanimous All-Big 12 punter… He enjoyed quite a senior year, leading the nation in punting for the regular season with a 48.2 gross average and was second after the bowls (47.4); his 43.0 net average was also second nationally… Those two figures paved the way for him to win the third annual Ray Guy Award, presented to the nation's top punter… Received the team's Bill McCartney Award for outstanding special teams play as a senior… He led the NCAA in punting for three months, since the second week of the season, and averaged over 50 yards per kick well into October… Of his 61 punts overall, 16 were inside-the-20 (nine inside-the-10), with a school record 29 for 50-plus yards (10 carried 60 or more yards)… He averaged 51.5 yards per punt on CU's side of the 50, and on kicks inside the Buff 25, he averaged a gaudy 52.6 yards per punt… He set CU records for career gross (46.8) and net (41.9) average, as his season average of 48.21 bested a 52-year old school record for a single year, as he edged out Zack Jordan's 48.16 back in 1950… He earned only honorable mention all-Big 12 honors as a junior, despite the fact that he led the conference with a 44.5 average… Undrafted by the NFL (kickers rarely are in the modern 7-round draft), he signed as a free agent with New Orleans.

WR, 5-11, 185, 4L, Coto de Caza, Calif. (Tesoro)

He was the first player in school history to be named Colorado's offensive most valuable player (John Mack Award) three times, for his sophomore through senior seasons… He completed his Colorado career finishing first in receptions (215) and receiving touchdowns (22), while winding up third in all-time receiving yards (2,521; just 27 behind Michael Westbrook and 19 out of second). He tied for the fifth-most 100-yard receiving games with five (leader has 12), and of his 215 career catches, 122 earned first downs (51 on third and/or fourth down)… He became the 10th player in NCAA history to catch at least one pass in every game he appeared in, and the sixth to do so without missing any games due to injury (48 games, 49 including the postseason, the NCAA active best at the conclusion of his career; the previous CU record had been 27)... He had at least two receptions in his final 19 games, just three off the team record for that mark… The 22 TD passes he caught from Cody Hawkins was also a school record for the most for a quarterback-receiver duo… He is the first player to lead the team in receptions for four straight years, after being only the second to do it three consecutive seasons (joining Monte Huber, 1967-69)... He also finished 17th all-time in yards from scrimmage (2,525), tied for 13th in touchdowns (23), 21st in scoring (138 points) and 23rd in all-purpose yards (2,582)… Drafted in the seventh round by the New York Jets in the 2011 draft.

Is a long-time professor in engineering at Cornell University.

RYAN MILLER

OG, 6-8, 295, 5L, Littleton, Colo. (Columbine)

He set the school record for the most career games started with 47 (48 including the 2007 Independence Bowl), breaking the old marks of 45 overall (ILB Jordon Dizon) and 44 by an offensive player (held by two players); he started the last 37 games of his career… He became just the ninth player out of almost 2,000 lettermen to earn five letters in a CU uniform, as he missed the last eight games of the 2008 season with a broken fibula, but still played in four contests and more than enough plays to letter; he was just the second to do so since 1908 (Bobby Purify was the other, 2000-04)… From his redshirt sophomore through his senior seasons, he played 2,548 snaps, all but two of the team's total… In 3,320 career plays, he allowed just five sacks, allowed only nine pressures and was called for 10 penalties, only four in his last three seasons… In his career, he had three position coaches: Jeff Grimes for his first two, then Denver Johnson for two, and Steve Marshall his senior year… As a senior in 2011, he earned second-team All-America honors from Walter Camp (third-team by the Associated Press)… Selected by Cleveland in the fifth round of the 2012 NFL Draft.

TB, 6-0, 215, 5L, Colorado Springs, Colo. (Palmer)

He battled through separations to both shoulders, along with other assorted maladies, to post the 13th 1,000-yard season in school history in 2004 as he finished the year as the conference's sixth-leading running back with 1,017 yards (43rd in the NCAA) in earning honorable mention All-Big 12 honors… He finally led the team in rushing (he entered his senior year tied for the second most career yards without doing so), and his 3,016 career total placed him third on CU's all-time list. He had 10 career 100-yard games, tying him for seventh most, and his 3,524 all-purpose yards were the fourth most ever at Colorado… With 508 receiving yards, he became the first player in school history to record 2,500 and 3,000 yards rushing and 500 yards receiving, and was only the 11th to do the 3,000/500 double at a Big 12 school… All-time at Colorado, he tied for 30th in receptions (50), was 52nd in receiving yards (508) and tied for 26th in scoring (126 points) and 16th in rushing touchdowns (20)… He had five 100-yard games as a senior, including 189 in the opener against Colorado State; he had his career high of 191 against the Rams as a sophomore in 2001… Due to injuries, one of the few in school history to earn letters in five different seasons.

OG/LB, 5-10, 199, 3L, Lakewood, Colo. (Lakewood)

The first two-time, first-team All-America in CU history, a consensus selection both times, as he made nine teams as a junior in 1960 and 11 as a senior in '61 (just missing unanimous honors by one team—the Associated Press squad; it pegged him honorable mention)… As a junior, he was a second-team choice by the AP and The Sporting News (1960)… A Playboy Preseason All-American team member prior to his senior season… He finished sixth overall in the 1961 Heisman Trophy voting, when he was the UPI Lineman-of-the-Year… He had no peer in his day as a linebacker, as he ranged far and fiercely from his middle position behind a four-man front, consistently in on most of the stops before tackles were recorded as a statistic. On offense, he developed into a an excellent straight-ahead and pulling blocker. Three-time All-Big Eight team member (1959-60-61), as was CU's team captain as a senior… One of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#67)… Owned a grade point average in excess of 3.9 at Colorado, and earned the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (he posted straight A's his last six semesters)… He received masters in physics from Oxford University in England… Earned his doctorate in physics from CU in 1975… The second Buffalo, joining Byron White, to be inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1984)… One of the top vote-getters in being named to CU's All-Century team, and was inducted in 1999 into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame… Also in the Big Eight Hall of Fame (inducted 1976)… Member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (inducted in 1973) and the GTE Academic Hall of Fame (enshrined in 1989)… Has worked life-long in Boulder in the field of physics, and has also taught astronomy on UCB campus.

RB, 6-1, 215, 3L, San Diego, Calif. (La Jolla Country Day)

He won the first Heisman Trophy in Colorado history, claiming the 60th annual award as a junior in 1994, easily winning by some 248 votes and 842 points… The fifth unanimous All-American in Colorado history that season, as he became just the fourth player in college football history at the time to rush for over 2,000 yards in a single season… In setting the single-season CU rushing mark with 2,055 yards, he did not play in five fourth quarters and on two other occasions, he played only briefly in the third quarter; over half of the yards (1,040) came against ranked opponents… Set a school scoring mark that same year with 24 touchdowns for 144 total points… Reeled off nine consecutive 100-yard games in '94, including four 200-plus yard games (both school records)… Ended his career as only the second Buff to exceed 3,000 career rushing yards (3,057)… In CU's miraculous 27-26 win at Michigan in 1994 that became known as "The Catch," he accomplished two significant things: his 141 rushing yards were the most by an opponent player in the Big House in 21 seasons, and he helped Tony Berti keep a defender at bay with a key block, freeing Kordell Stewart to unload the game-winning 64-yard pass to Michael Westbrook as time expired… A week later, he rushed for 317 yards in extreme heat in a 34-31 win at Texas, the second highest single-game total in CU history (he set the mark for the most yards gained from scrimmage with 362 as he also had 45 receiving)… First-team all-Big Eight in both 1993 and 1994… Put 165 yards rushing on Nebraska as a sophomore after missing just one game with a painful orbital eye fracture… Rushed for 135 yards and three TDs in being named CU's MVP in the '93 Aloha Bowl… His father, Harold "Teddy" Washington, played freshman football for Colorado in 1963 before transferring closer to home to San Diego State… He opted to turn professional following his junior season (he made the announcement minutes after CU defeated Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl), he was a first round pick by Chicago in the 1995 NFL Draft (21st overall)… He played three seasons for the Bears (1995-97), winning the NFC Rookie-of-the-Year honor in 1995 when he rushed for 1,074 yards and 10 TDs… Had career numbers of 1,682 rushing yards, 120 receiving yards and 14 touchdowns for the Bears… He also played briefly with Cleveland and Green Bay in 1999… Knee and ankle injuries hampered his career (he underwent an ankle reconstruction), and made one final go of it with San Francisco in 2003... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2012 and was on the ballot for the College Football Hall of Fame for the first time in 2014… He passed away on Dec. 5, 2016 at the age of 42.

OT, 6-9, 315, 4L, Buena Vista, Colo. (Buena Vista)

The first offensive tackle at Colorado to earn All-America honors since 1979 (Stan Brock), he became the first-ever to garner consensus All-America honors at the position for the Buffaloes, afforded the honor from four of the five the NCAA recognizes for that status: Associated Press, Football Writers Association of America, The Sporting News and Walter Camp ... One of three finalists for the Outland Trophy as a senior in 2010, with his year starting off being named to the prestigious Playboy Preseason All-America team… A unanimous first-team All-Big 12 Conference performer as a junior and senior seasons , the league coaches selected him as the league's Offensive Lineman of the Year for the latter, when he was named the Male College Athlete of the Year by the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame… One of 16 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes for 2010 and the recipient of an $18,000 postgraduate scholarship, he was a finalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy (considered the "Academic" Heisman)… A four-time Academic All-Big 12 team member and two-time CoSIDA Academic All-District honoree… He played 2,540 out of a possible 2,542 plays on offense his sophomore through senior seasons; of those, exactly 1,400 were called passing plays, and he allowed just five sacks those three years… He allowed 21 pressures overall (14 as a sophomore), so the man he was blocking influenced a pass play 26 times in those 1,400 plays, or just 1.8 percent of his career... Drafted in the first round by the New England Patriots in the 2011 draft (the 17th overall pick)… He won Super Bowl rings with the Patriots in 2014 and 2016.

WR, 6-1, 195, 4L, Westlake Village, Calif. (Westlake)

He set 41 Colorado records (37 outright, four tied) and two Pac-12 Conference records as he exited his career as the most prolific receiver in school history... Among the top records he set were career marks for receptions (294), receiving yards (3,347) and touchdown catches (23)... He finished his career as the active NCAA leader in receptions caught at least one pass in final 38 games, the second-longest streak in CU history (he had two or more in 37 of those games); he had five or more in 25 of his last 26 games... His nine 100-yard games tied for the third-most in school annals... He also had the honor of scoring the 25,000th point in school history in the 2014 season... As a senior, he earned second-team All-Pac-12 honors from both the league coaches and the Associated Press, and was named the recipient of the Zack Jordan Award as the team's most valuable player for the second straight season... He set (or tied) 31 of those records as a junior (second-team All-Pac-12), when he was one of 10 semifinalists for the Fred Biletnikoff Award; he caught 106 passes for 1,198 yards and 12 touchdowns (the former and latter school single game records), as he became the first player in school history to have 100 receptions in a season, and the eighth in Pac-12 history to do so. Among his single-game marks were his 19 receptions at Cal (for 179 yards)... A first-team Academic All-Pac-12 team member as a junior and senior, and was a second-team Academic All-American his senior year... Signed as a free agent with the NFL's Los Angeles Rams.

S/P, 5-11, 180, 3L, Denver, Colo. (Thomas Jefferson)

A first-team All-Big Eight performer as a senior in 1972, Stearns was the team's most valuable player that same season… Known as "Bad Dude," he was one of the fiercest hitters in the old Big Eight and made a name for himself as one of the more colorful players in CU history… He set the career record for interceptions at Colorado with 16, a number that still stood some 30 years later, with his 18 pass deflections good for third at the time of his graduation… Pulled off perhaps the "gutsiest" play in school history, when he ran for a 12-yard game out of the punt formation, from the Buff 10-yard line no less, on a 4th-and-9 play with CU nursing a 23-17 lead… In baseball at CU, he was the 1972 Big Eight batting champion (.492), the 1973 NCAA home run leader (15) and an All-American as a senior in '73… Career numbers: batting (.366), hits (169), runs scored (137), home runs (26), runs batted in (101), steals (48)… He was drafted in two sports: Buffalo snared him in the 17th round of 1973 NFL Draft, late on purpose because he was going to go the baseball route; two months later, Philadelphia selected him as the second overall pick, behind David Clyde, in the June baseball draft (catcher; Oakland had drafted him in the first round and ninth overall out of high school)… He spent less than two years in the minor leagues and ascended to the majors by the end of the '74 season, playing for the first time on Sept. 22, 1974... Traded to the New York Mets during the off-season, he would spend the next 10 seasons with the Mets in becoming one of their most popular players of all-time… In 810 career big league games, he batted .260 (696 of 2,681), with 46 home runs and 312 runs batted in… He had 91 career steals and a .984 fielding percentage… After he retired from baseball, he has spent most of his time as a coach and scout in the majors, working for the Mets, the Philadelphia Phillies, the Washington Nationals and the Seattle Mariners, managing several years on the AAA and AA levels for those organizations as well.

A second-team Associated Press All-American, the highest honor ever afforded a Colorado quarterback from the wire service (along with Darian Hagan in 1989)… The Big Eight Conference's all-time total offense leader with 7,770 yards… First-team All-Big Eight as a senior… CU's career leader in both total offense and passing yards (6,481)… First-team all-Big Eight as a senior in 1994, when he was the Buffs' most valuable player… The MVP of the '95 Fiesta Bowl, as he rushed for 143 yards and a touchdown while throwing for 205 and a TD in CU's 41-24 rout of Notre Dame… That was the first and remains the only game in school history where a player threw for 200 yards and rushed for 100… Finished 13th in the Heisman balloting that year, when teammate Rashaan Salaam won… Only player in CU history to have three 2,000-yard passing seasons… His 1,289 rushing yards were the second most by a quarterback in school history… Had 19 200-yard passing games and seven 300-yard total offense games in his career… At the time, he posted the most prolific first start at quarterback in school history, throwing for 409 yards and four touchdowns in a 37-17 win over Colorado State to open his sophomore year… Key player in college football's play of the century, when he heaved a 64-yard pass to Michael Westbrook that rallied CU to a 27-26 win as time expired at Michigan in 1994 (the game became known as "The Catch")… A second round pick by Pittsburgh in the '95 NFL Draft (61st overall)… Though nicknamed "Slash" early in his professional career because he played some wide receiver (thus a QB/WR listing on the roster), he never went out for a pass in his college career… Played eight seasons with the Steelers (1995-2002) before moving on to Chicago in 2003 and Baltimore in 2004-05… He was inducted into the Greater New Orleans Sports Hall of Fame in 2016... In his post-football career, he has worked for ESPN and is now a sports personality in the Atlanta area… Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2018.

RODNEY STEWART

TB, 6-0, 215, 4L, Colorado Springs, Colo. (Palmer)

He finished his career with 3,598 rushing yards, good for second on CU's all-time list, likely winding up shy of the top spot due to missing the better part of four games with knee and ankle injuries that prevented him from catching Eric Bieniemy, his position coach as a senior… He still set nine season or career marks his senior year: most career rushing attempts (809), most career all-purpose plays (919), most career all-purpose yards (4,828—3,598 rushing, 969 receiving, 261 returns), most career yards gained from scrimmage, both overall and minimum of at least 500 yards rushing and receiving (4,567), most career receptions by a running back (93), including the mark for a single season (45), and the most season (571) and career (969) receiving yards by a running back… He also finished 10th in rushing touchdowns (25), 11th in total offense (3,635 yards) and tied for 18th in scoring (150 points)… He just missed out on becoming the 28th player in NCAA history to record 3,000 rushing and 1,000 receiving yards in a career, as he was approaching the mark before he went down with an ankle sprain early in the third quarter in the season finale at Utah… He became the first player to lead the Buffaloes in rushing for four seasons, and was just the ninth to have done it for three years in a row, one of five to have done that with at least 600 yards all three seasons…. Both career passing attempts went for touchdowns (covering 37 yards, giving him a 584.5 passer rating)… He and Lamont Warren (1991-93) are the only two players to lead the team in rushing as a freshman, sophomore and junior (Warren left after the '93 season for the NFL)… His 16 career 100-yard rushing games (season best of six in 2010) were the second most in school history (Bieniemy had 22) and were among the top six by active players in the NCAA throughout his entire senior season… His 2,744 career yards were the second most to Rashaan Salaam (3,057) through a junior year at CU… He became the first player to start a game at running back in four different seasons since Bieniemy did so from 1987-90… He was selected by his teammates as the Zack Jordan Award winner as the team's most valuable player for 2011 when he became the first player in CU history to lead the team in rushing (854 yards) and receptions (45), while finishing second with 571 receiving yards… Early in his senior year, he became just the 12th player in school history to record at least 500 yards both rushing and receiving for a career, and in 2011, was the first player at Colorado who accomplished that feat in a single season (he was the first player in the NCAA to accumulate at least 500 of each in 2011; only three other players did so for the entire year)… He signed as a free agent with his home-state Cincinnati Bengals after his CU career.

The runner-up for the 2005 Ray Guy Award and a first-team All-Big 12 Conference performer as a senior… A second-team All-American by the Walter Camp Foundation (and honorable mention from SI.com)… He finished third in the Big 12 and fifth in the NCAA in punting with a 45.2 average on 80 punts as a senior after finishing first and second, respectively, as a junior with a 46.5 mark (including bowls)… He won the gross punting battle with opponent punters 23 of 26 times in his junior and senior seasons combined (the net 24 times), as he proved equally effective on the road as in Boulder… In the 2005 Champs Sports Bowl game against Clemson, he had one of the top post-season efforts by any punter, owning a 49.7 average for nine punts, including four inside-the-20 and a CU all-time bowl best kick of 68 yards (he had four over 52 yards in the game); he had averaged 50.0 yards against UTEP in the '04 Houston Bowl… He exited with seven of the top 25 gross punting days in school history, four his junior season and three as a senior: 52.3-yard average efforts versus Colorado State (2004) and New Mexico State (2005) are tied for the 10th best all-time and were his top efforts. He also owns four of the top 20 net punting games, topped by a 50.7 net average against NMSU... He finished fifth all-time at Colorado in gross career average (44.61), first in total punts (205), first in punts inside-the-10 (20) and inside-the-20 (65) and first in punts of 50 yards or longer (64, with 17 over 60 yards); he had just 18 touchbacks in 205 punts.

MICHAEL WESTBROOK

WR, 6-4, 210, 4L, Detroit, Mich. (Chadsey)

A two-time first-team All American, as he made the AFCA and Walter Camp teams as a senior in 1994 and the NEA squad as a sophomore in 1992 (the Associated Press tabbed him a second-teamer in '92; United Press International selected him honorable mention both years)… A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year… A two-time first-team All-Big Eight performer as a sophomore and a senior, he became only the third Buffalo receiver to earn all-league honors and was the first to be named twice… Exited his career as CU's all-time leader in both receptions (167) and receiving yards (2,548)… On the receiving end, via a Blake Anderson tip, of college football's play of the decade if not the century when he hauled down a 64-yard pass from Kordell Stewart after time expired to rally CU to a 27-26 win at Michigan in 1994… That play won an ESPY as the national play of the year in all sports (he's got the actual ESPY since he caught the ball)… CU's most outstanding offensive player (John Mack Award winner) as selected by the coaches for his sophomore season, when he caught a school record 76 passes for 1,060 yards… Had eight career 100-yard game (six of 128 or more), and caught nine or more passes three times, including a school record 11 for 186 yards at Baylor as a soph… Played four snaps on defense at safety his junior year (all against Baylor)… Was named the MVP in the '95 East-West Shrine game… A first round pick by Washington in the 1995 NFL Draft (No. 4 overall; among CU players, only Bo Matthews at No. 2 in 1974 was drafted higher, with Byron White also a fourth pick to Pittsburgh in 1938)… He played in 80 games with Washington over seven seasons (catching 277 passes for 4,280 yards and 24 TDs), before moving on to Cincinnati... Inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2016, and was selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in its 2020 class.

HB, 6-1, 185, 3L, Wellington, Colo. (Wellington)

Equally as known by his nickname ("Whizzer") and more so as Justice White… Colorado's first All-American in football, as he was a consensus selection in 1937, including from Associated Press, UPI, International News Service, NEA, LIB, Colliers Magazine (Grantland Rice) and The Sporting News… Led the nation in several categories in 1937: rushing (1,121 yards), total offense (1,596), all-purpose yards (1,970) and scoring (122 points)… Finished second in the 1937 Heisman Trophy voting… The 1,121 rushing yards and 122 points were also NCAA records, and were not broken until colleges went to a 10-game schedule in 1949… Rushed for over 100 yards seven times in that '37 season, almost unheard of in those days… As the record book evolved through the years, it is estimated that at one time, he held as many as 50 individual school marks; in fact, at the time of his death in 2002, he still held 15 records some 65 years after his graduation… One that has stood the test of time is the longest punt in Buff annals, as his 83-yard kick against Missouri on Oct. 2, 1937, often carried the footnote, "without roll"… He participated in six plays of 75 yards or longer (nine 63-plus) in his CU career (runs, returns and the mammoth punt)… The first and one of three Buffs to have his jersey number retired (#24)… He was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU's basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938… The fourth overall pick in the first round by Pittsburgh in the 1938 NFL Draft, he was a two-time all-pro halfback with both the Steelers (1939) and Detroit (1940-41); in-between, he studied at Oxford… He led the NFL in rushing twice (567 yards in 1938, 514 in 1940), the first player ever to lead the NFL in rushing his first two seasons… The only player in NFL history to lead the league in rushing as a rookie (1938) for a last place team (Pittsburgh was 2-9)… Awarded the prestigious Rhodes scholarship (in 1938) after an academic career at CU where he had 180 hours of A and 6 hours of B… Hall of Fame Gold Medal Award winner in 1962… One of three inaugural members of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame (1965 induction)… Presented the Theodore Roosevelt Award at the 1969 NCAA Honors luncheon… Named to CU's All-Century Team in 1989, as he received more votes than anyone else… GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame (inducted 1996)… The first inductee into the University of Colorado Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998… Awarded the Bronze Star for service in Europe during WWII… Named deputy U.S. Attorney General by President John Kennedy in 1960… Named to U.S Supreme Court by Kennedy in 1962 and served 31 years, stepping down in 1993… Died at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

OL, 6-3, 275, 3L, Bell, Calif. (Bell)

A first-team All-American as a senior in 1977, selected to the American Football Coaches Association/Kodak team as its center (UPI made him a second-team choice)… A Playboy Preseason All-American at tackle prior to his original senior year in 1976, but after he went down with a season-ending knee injury one game into the season, the Big Eight granted him an extra year of eligibility; he moved to center for the following season… Won CU's John Mack Award as the outstanding offensive lineman as selected by his teammates as a senior… He lettered at three different positions on the offensive line: guard (1973-75), tackle (1975-76) and center (1977), and is believed to be the only player in Big Eight history to have done so… He started at least one game in each season, the only known player in CU history to start games in five different years… Owned a 465-pound bench press in college, one of the top efforts in CU history at the time; he also possessed 5.1 speed in the 40-yard dash… Played in three All-Star games after his senior campaign: the Japan Bowl, East-West Shrine Game and the Hula Bowl… A third round pick by the Los Angeles Rams in 1978 NFL Draft (80th overall), and played for the Rams as a rookie that season… Gained notoriety as a professional wrestler, first as "Baby Bull" and then under the name "Vader" (pictured at right)… He passed away on June 18, 2018 at the age of 63.

ALFRED WILLIAMS

OLB, 6-6, 240, 4L, Houston, Texas (Jesse Jones)

A unanimous first-team All-American as a senior in 1990 from all seven recognized organizations by NCAA, and a consensus first-teamer as a junior in 1989 (all but the Associated Press and The Sporting News, though AP did name him second-team)… A Playboy Preseason All-American prior to his senior year… He became the first University of Colorado player to win a postseason trophy when he was honored with the Butkus Award as the nation's most outstanding linebacker his senior season (1990)… A two-time first-team All-Big Eight Conference performer as a junior and senior, he was also the Big Eight's Defensive Player-of-the-Year both those seasons… Had 88 tackles, 21 for losses as a senior and 81 and 16, respectively, as a junior… In the final regular season game of his career against Kansas State, he lined up a couple of plays on offense and caught a pass for 17 yards in the 64-3 blasting of the Wildcats… Ended his career as and remains CU's all-time quarterback sack leader (35 for 242 yards), but only had as many as three sacks in a game just once… Also CU's all-time leader in tackles for loss (59 for 303 yards)… A two-time winner of the Dave Jones Award, given to the outstanding defensive player as voted by the coaches (1989, 1990)… The national defensive player-of-the-week as a sophomore for his mini-career in a CU win at Iowa: seven solo tackles, four for losses including two sacks, a forced fumble and a recovery, a pass deflection and a blocked punt… An honorable mention member of CU's All-Century team, selected in 1989… Joined CU's basketball team for a brief stint between his junior and senior seasons; he played in one game, but didn't want to risk his football future (he had a rebound and a steal in a loss at Kansas)… A first round selection by Cincinnati in the 1991 NFL Draft (18th overall)… He played his first four years with the Bengals (1991-94; he was in on 161 tackles including 26½ quarterback sacks)… He then moved on to San Francisco for one season (1995) before spending the last four years of his career with Denver, where he won two Super Bowl rings in 1997 and 1998… He registered 28½ sacks during his time in Denver, including 13 in 1996… An All-Pro defensive end in 1996… He played in 128 career NFL games, racking up 59½ quarterback sacks and one fumble return for a touchdown… Inducted into the CU Athletic Hall of Fame in 2008, and became the fifth Buffalo to be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 2010… Now a Denver radio personality (KOA).

JOHN WOOTEN

OG, 6-2, 230, 3L, Carlsbad, N.M. (Carlsbad)

One of the first two African-American football players at CU (with Frank Clarke)… He lettered three years at guards (1956-57-58), earning AFCA All-America honors as a senior in 1958 and was a first-team all-Big Seven performer as a junior the previous year... He was described as a quick, agile tackle who provided bone-crushing lead blocks in helping to make Colorado one of the top offensive teams of his day (and also played tackle on defense)... In 1989, he was selected as a first-team member of CU's All-Century Team... A fifth round draft pick by Cleveland in the 1959 NFL Draft, he had a stellar NFL career as he played nine seasons (136 games) with the Browns and one with Washington, attaining All-Pro status in his Cleveland days... He went on to have a long career in NFL administration with Dallas, Philadelphia and Baltimore; he was in player personnel from 1975 to 1989, and was named director of pro personnel in 1989, a position he held for three years... After one year in the NFL office, where he created player programs in continuing education and financial planning among several innovations, he returned to the front office with Philadelphia (1992-97) and the Baltimore (1998-2003) as a personnel executive; with the Eagles, he was one of the first to hold the title of Vice President of Player Personnel... He retired from the NFL in 2003, and is now president of Wooten Printing, Inc., as well as Chairman of the Fritz Pollard Alliance, which works with the NFL to increase job opportunities for minorities in the league... In 2012, he became the sixth Colorado Buffalo to be selected for induction into the College Football Hall of Fame... He was inducted into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2004 and into the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2017… He currently resides in Arlington, Texas.

LARRY ZIMMER, VOICE OF THE BUFFALOES

Larry Zimmer, the voice of University of Colorado football who spanned five decades with the program, retired following the 2015 season after calling CU sporting events for 42 seasons, all on KOA-Radio. His entire career spanned 50 years, including five at the University of Michigan and three at Colorado State.

His final home game came on November 13, 2015, which also was his 80th birthday; he was presented with a framed jersey and the crowd at Folsom Field was led in singing to him happy birthday by the co-founder of Boulder's own Firefall, Jock Bartley. His last game was CU's season finale at Utah two weeks later.

"The stars have sort of aligned," Zimmer said when announcing that 2015 would be his last season. "Fifty years… I'll be 80 years old, plus coming back from an illness. It sort of makes sense that this is the last year; it had been in the back of my mind that it would have been anyway. I am thrilled to be healthy enough to go back into the booth and do the thing that I love."

Over the course of his 42 years in the booth at Folsom Field and traveling with the team, he broadcasted some of the Buffaloes' greatest moments. He called 486 football games, including a string of 251 in a row until he fell ill in the middle of the 2014 season, along with 525 men's basketball contests.

"Zim" missed only 17 CU games overall: 11 due to illness (five in his final year as travel was still difficult at the time), three bowls (two due to contracts forbidding teams to originate broadcasts) and three regular season games due to travel conflicts; ironically, his 400th at CU was also the 1,000 of his professional career.

CU athletic director Rick George called Zimmer, "A CU institution. His voice has been synonymous with our athletic program going back to the days of the Apollo space program. Whether it has been play-by-play or analyst duties on KOA or serving as a master of ceremonies for many of our functions, Larry Zimmer is CU. He is truly a part of our overall athletic history."

In 2009, he was the recipient of the prestigious Chris Schenkel Award, named in honor the long-time play-by-play man for ABC Sports; it recognizes a sports broadcaster who enjoyed a long and distinguished career broadcasting college football at a single institution.

Larry Zimmer with CU alums Steve Hatchell and Chris Fowler at his 2009 Schenkel Award presentation.

At the time, Zimmer said of the Schenkel Award, "It is certainly the highlight of my career because it recognizes two of the things that I love the most, and that's broadcasting college football and my association with the University of Colorado through the years and all the people I've met."

In 1992, he was awarded the Honorary C" for his contribution to Colorado Athletics, and in 2005, he was the recipient of the Forever Buff Award from the Alumni C Club. He is a member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, the CU Athletic Hall of Fame, the Broadcast Professionals of Colorado Hall of Fame and the Colorado Ski & Snowboard Museum Hall of Fame.

Zimmer got his start broadcasting high school football and basketball games in Columbia, Mo., and Lawton, Okla. (1957-58, 1960-66) while also serving as the play-by-play announcer for the Missouri Tigers baseball team. The following year, he moved to Michigan and began broadcasting for the Wolverine football and basketball teams.

In 1971, he was hired by KOA sports director Bob Martin, when the Denver station both broadcasted on radio (850 am) and television (Ch. 4), assigned to do the play-by-play for CU football and the color commentary for the Denver Broncos. He would spend the next 19 seasons doing the analysis for Bronco games, and then took over for the next seven as play-by-play man following Martin's death. He also had spent time as the voice of the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association and the Colorado Caribous of the North American Soccer League.

But he became best known as the "Voice of the Buffaloes," calling every game between 1971 and 1981. In 1982, CU strayed away from KOA and signed a three-year deal with a different network, but the Buffs returned to KOA in 1985 and Zimmer was back "home" after spending three years handling the play-by-play chores for CSU. After retiring as KOA's sports director in 2004, he shifted solely into the analyst role on football broadcasts.

When including the games he called for Michigan (50) and CSU (34), it raised his total to 570 college games overall.

Born Nov. 13, 1935 in New Orleans, La., Zimmer attended Louisiana State University before transferring to the University of Missouri, where he graduated with a bachelor's degree in journalism in 1957. He then served two years on active duty in the United States Army, earning the rank of 1st Lieutenant and was awarded the Army Commendation Medal. He is married to the former Brigitte Bastian, is the father of two and grandfather of one.

Zimmer also taught a broadcast class in CU's School of Journalism for 11 years, and along with his wife has funded a scholarship at the college: the Larry & Brigitte Zimmer Sports Announcing Endowed Scholarship.

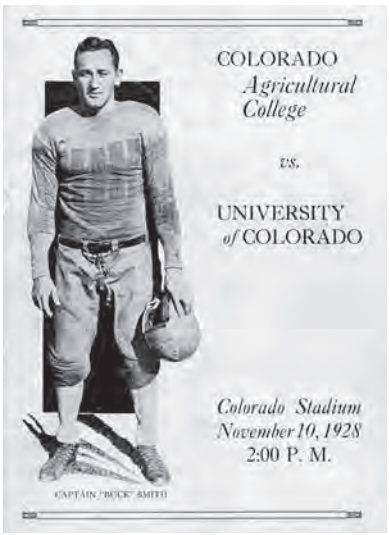

Zimmer is presented with a framed jersey recognizing his 42 seasons by CU chancellor Phil DiStefano, athletic director Rick George and CU system president Bruce Benson.

The University of Colorado selected an "All-Century Football Team," as public balloting in 1989 tabbed 11 All-Americans among the top 25 selected to the 100-year squad.

Over 6,200 ballots were received in the public selection process, with over 150,000 votes cast from those ballots. Former CU players pared a list of 881 lettermen down to 118, which were in turn presented to the public for the final team selection.

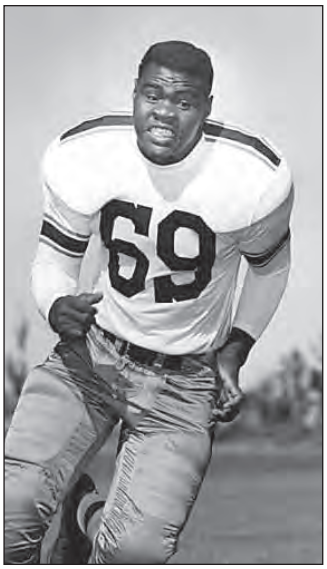

Byron "Whizzer" White, the U.S. Supreme Court Justice who was CU's first All-American (1937), received 5,812 of a possible 6,265 votes. Bobby Anderson, who starred at both quarterback and tailback between 1967 and 1969, was the second leading vote-getter with 5,636, and two-way-star Joe Romig, who led CU to its first outright Big Eight Championship in 1961, was third with 5,145. White (#24), Anderson (#11) and Romig (#67) are the only Buffs to ever have their numbers retired.

One other player topped the 5,000 vote mark, as flashy Cliff Branch, whose name still frequently appears in the CU record book and who played a big part in the Buffs' No. 3 national ranking of 1971, captured 5,111 votes. The player with the fifth most votes, 3,989, was the only active Buff at the time to make the top 25, tailback Eric Bieniemy (a junior in 1989).

Joining White, Anderson and Romig as All-Americans on the century squad were Dick Anderson ('67), Pete Brock ('75), Mark Haynes ('79), Dave Logan ('75), Herb Orvis ('71) and Bob Stransky ('57).

Four players in the early years of CU football made the team, led by Walt Franklin, who played center and end between 1917 and 1921. Back Lee Willard ('21), Judge Hatfield Chilson ('25) and guard Bill McGlone ('26) round out the quartet which represents the formative seasons of CU football, when the team was known as the "Silver and Gold."

Other familiar names on the team include Hale Irwin, who starred at defensive back in the mid-60's but gained his fame on the PGA Tour; John Stearns, another pivotal player of the 1971 team who went on to be a star catcher with the New York Mets; Dave Logan, a veteran of 10-plus NFL seasons and current sportstalk celebrity in Denver; Carroll Hardy, who played in the early 1950's and is the only man ever to pinch-hit for Ted Williams; and John Wooten, one of the first African-American players at CU who has spent several years in the scouting departments of the NFL Dallas Cowboys and Philadelphia Eagles.

The University of Colorado started an Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998, initiating the process by inducting one member, the late Justice Byron R. "Whizzer" White. Including the 2019 class, 122 individuals and one national championship team will have been inducted overall.

In conjunction with the Hall of Fame, CU also honors athletes who have been standout performers. So far, 36 such athletes have had their jerseys, and thus careers, honored and recognized. Twenty met the automatic criteria to be honored in 1998 (three-time all-conference selection, two-time All American, trophy winner and/or previously retired jersey).

All Hall of Fame members and those athletes who have been honored are recognized with a display case in the Dal Ward Athletic Center on the CU-Boulder campus.

Three of CU's star athletes of the 1930s posed for a photo at the second Hall-of-Fame event. Gil Cruter, a 1999 inductee, is on the left, flanked by Byron White and Claude Walton.

The late Byron White addresses the crowd at the inaugural Hall-of-Fame gala.

DID YOU KNOW?... Richard Johnson ('82) led the USFL in receiving in both 1984 and 1985? As a member of the Houston Gamblers, he lined up at slot back and caught 115 passes for 1,455 yards (12.7 avg.) and 15 touchdowns in 1984; the 115 catches at the time was a pro football record. In '85, he caught 103 balls for 1,384 yards (13.4 per) with 14 touchdowns. That's 218 receptions for 2,839 yards and 29 TDs; after the league folded, he went on to play in the NFL for Washington (1987) and Detroit (1989-90), where he would make 135 receptions for 1,823 yards (13.5 avg.) with 14 touchdowns.

Former Buff teammates Nate Solder and David Bakhtiari visit after their respective teams squared off in East Rutherford, N.J., on Dec. 1, 2019.

1938 COTTON BOWL

Jan. 1, 1938 at Dallas, Texas

Colorado 14

In Colorado's first bowl appearance ever, the Buffaloes fell short to Rice 28-14, in the second annual Cotton Bowl. Other than the Rose Bowl, which began in 1902, bowls were relatively new in college football, as the Orange and Sugar came on the scene in 1935 and then the Cotton in 1937, with those four games considered the cream of the crop for the next 50 years.

The Buffs, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference with an 8-0 overall record, were heavy underdogs ("4 to 1" according to newspaper articles at the time) to the Southwest Conference champion Owls, who entered the game with a 5-3-2 mark, but 5-1-1 down the stretch of the season.

It was a one-man show for both teams, as All-Americans Byron "Whizzer" White (Colorado) and Ernie Lain (Rice) dominated for their respective squads. White was involved in both Colorado scores and Lain in all four Owl touchdowns.

CU sprinted to a 14-0 advantage in the first quarter, when White threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio for the first TD, and then returned an interception 47 yards for a score five minutes later. Rice battled back and scored 21 second-quarter points to take a 21-14 lead at the half. Lain threw two touchdown passes and ran for another score.

The Owls, also called the "Feathered Flock" at the time, added the game's final score in the middle of the third quarter when Frank Steen caught an 11-yard pass from Lain. One of the major differences in the game came down to offensive style, as the passing game was much further along in the southwest and it showed in the statistics, as Rice had 158 yards passing as compared to just eight for Colorado.

Still, accounts at the time in the newspapers in both Colorado and Texas praised the CU effort, and Buff coach Bunnie Oakes blamed the outcome on CU's quick start. He told the team and reporters that things might have turned out differently had CU not gone up 14-0 and then relaxed, figuring it was easy to score. But Rice's only two turnovers had set up both Colorado scores, and the Owls didn't punt until their first series of the second half.

Lain and White were both named the outstanding players of the game.

1957 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1957 at Miami, Fla.

Clemson 21

Big Seven runner-up Colorado stormed out of the chute and had Atlantic Coast champion Clemson down 20-0 at the half as 72,552 fans yawned and went for refreshments at the 23rd Orange Bowl Classic.

But a lot of those drinks were spilled in the second half as Clemson rallied to take a 21-20 lead in the final period before the resurgent Buffs buckled up and drove for the winning score to take their first bowl triumph in history by a 27-21 score.

Fumbles, eight of them, three lost to Clemson, were a nemesis Colorado managed to overcome in the school's first national television appearance in history. One at the goal line at the end of the first half perhaps prevented CU being able to put the game away, and one on its own 27 with three minutes remaining in the game gave the Tigers one last shot to pull out the win.

Dal Ward's Buffaloes got first half touchdowns from John Bayuk, Howard Cook and Boyd Dowler to take the seemingly safe 20-point halftime lead. But Frank Howard's Tigers roared back to go ahead by 21-20 with 11:12 left in the game on a one-yard run by fullback Bob Spooner.

But the Buffs sucked it up and drove 53 yards for the winning score after a Clemson onside kick attempt following the score had failed. Eddie Dove carried four times and Bayuk three in the drive, with Bayuk getting the TD from the one-yard line with 7:13 left to play. Ellwin Indorf's kick gave CU what proved to be the winning margin.

With less than three minutes to go and facing a 2nd-and-9 on the Buff 26, Clemson's Charlie Bussey was intercepted at the 17 by Bob Stransky, nailing down the decision for the Buffs.

1962 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1962 at Miami, Fla.

Louisiana State 25
Colorado 7

Jittery Big Eight champion Colorado was out-classed by Louisiana State's smooth football hordes, and the Buffaloes lost a 25-7 decision in the 28th Orange Bowl Classic before 62,391 onlookers.

Coach Paul Dietzel's Southeast Conference champions built up a 5-0 first quarter lead on field goal and a safety scored when Gary Kinchen blocked a Charlie McBride punt out of the end zone. Colorado came back to grab a 7-5 lead on Buff defender Loren Schweninger's 59-yard pass interception return for a score early in the second quarter.

But the Tigers then methodically dismantled the Buffaloes, and though down by only four at halftime, one had the feeling that the struggling CU offense might not be able to get going in the second half. Colorado had only three plays, for as many yards, in the first quarter, and ran just 17 for 48 in the first half.

LSU took the lead for good in the second quarter, marching 82 yards for the score with Chuck Crawford going in from the one with 8:57 left in the first half to give the Tigers an 11-7 margin that held until the half. The Tigers scored twice quickly in the third quarter to put the game away, going 43 yards after a poor 18-yard punt and blocking another McBride punt for a touchdown just as the period ended.

Sonny Grandelius' Buffs managed only 129 yards in total offense against the LSU "Chinese Bandit" defense, while the Tigers earned 315 yards. CU had come into the game with a 9-1 mark, losing only to Utah and winning all seven Big Eight games to claim its first league crown.

1967 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 31, 1967 at Houston, Texas

Colorado 31
Miami, Fla. 21

Sophomore quarterback Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited Colorado's 31-21 victory over Miami, Fla. at Rice Stadium in the 9th annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

One of the more entertaining games of the '67 bowl season, there were five lead changes and neither team had a two-score lead until Wilmer Cooks put the game away with a 2-yard touchdown run with just 62 seconds to play.

Anderson, the 19-year-old Boulder-bred signal caller, led the Buffaloes on an 80-yard TD march in the third period to give the Herd a 17-14 lead. Then, after the Hurricanes recaptured the lead on the first play of the fourth quarter, Anderson sped 38 yards for a touchdown with 6:55 left in the game to put CU back ahead by 24-21. Anderson then took the Buffs 34 yards for the clinching score with 1:02 to play (Cooks' run) after Isaac Howard had picked off a Miami pass at the Hurricane 43-yard line and returned it nine yards..

The Buffs opened the scoring on a 7-yard run by Larry Plantz with just under five minutes left in the first quarter, as it took CU just two plays to capitalize on a Miami fumble. The Hurricanes answered that score on their next possession, and then took a 14-7 lead on a 77-yard interception return for a touchdown by Jimmy Dye.

Anderson was the complete player in winning game MVP honors, running for 108 yards on 17 carries, scoring two touchdowns, and completing 5-of-10 passes for 49 yards. Oddly, Anderson did not start the game, giving way to fleet Dan Kelly because of his bothersome ankle. Bobby entered the game in the second period after Miami went in front.

1969 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 13, 1969 at Memphis, Tenn.

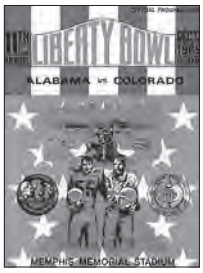

Colorado 47
Alabama 33

All-American tailback Bobby Anderson and his herd of Bison stampeded into Memphis and outslugged Alabama, 47-33, before 50,042 fans and a nationwide television audience in the 11th annual Liberty Bowl.

The 80 combined points by the teams marked the most ever scored In a major bowl game, and the second most at the time in any NCAA postseason game, surpassed only by the 91 points scored in the 1968 Tangerine Bowl (a 49-42 Richmond win over Ohio U.).

Anderson, a bullish 6-0, 208-pounder, capped his All-America campaign by rushing for a Liberty Bowl record 254 yards and scoring three touchdowns. It gave him a total of 5,017 yards in total offense for his career and enabled him to become the first Big Eight player ever to hit the 5,000-yard mark for a career, including bowl games.

Fullback Ward Walsh scored twice on short runs, Dave Haney kicked a 30-yard field goal, Anderson scored from the two, and Steve Engel and Bob Masten collaborated on a 91-yard kickoff return as CU stormed to a 31-19 halftime lead. The Crimson Tide rallied to take a 33-31 lead with two third quarter touchdowns, but CU blitzed 'Bama for 16 unanswered points in the final stanza to post the win.

Defensively, the Buffaloes harassed two Tide quarterbacks all afternoon, posting eight sacks, several knockdowns and seven pass deflections. End Bill Brundige was in on five sacks for 41 yards in losses.

It was the only match up between college coaching legends, as Eddie Crowder's Buffaloes prevailed over Paul "Bear" Bryant's Crimson Tide. It was a classic, as 'Bama stormed back from 17- and 12-point deficits, but CU's resiliency won out.

A total of 16 new Liberty bowl records were set in the long and exciting afternoon in Memphis Memorial Stadium before the ABC-TV cameras.

1970 LIBERTY BOWL

Dec. 12, 1970 at Memphis, Tenn.

Tulane 17
Colorado 3

Hungry Tulane ruined Colorado's return to the Liberty Bowl and the Green Wave walked off with a stunning 17-3 upset of the Buffs as 44,640 fans shivered in the cold at the 12th annual event at Memphis Memorial Stadium.

Colorado, playing without injured quarterback Jim Bratten, and going with sophomore Paul Arendt, mounted little offense and fell to the emotional Tulane effort. CU had come into the game with just a 6-4 record, but had upset powers Penn State and Sugar Bowl-bound Air Force during the season. Tulane used the win to improve to 8-4 on the year and added CU to the list of impressive teams it had beaten, including Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina and Miami, Fla.

CU's only points came on a 32-yard second quarter field goal from Dave Haney as the Buffs managed only 175 yards in total offense after leading the Big Eight with a per-game average of almost 425 yards. Tulane's David Abercrombie returned a second half kickoff 66 yards and scored himself on runs of two and four yards to cap drives that broke a 3-3 halftime tie and sent Tulane to its eighth win of the year. Linebacker Rick Kingrea set up the second tally with a 44-yard interception return off Arendt in the final period.

The game was a total contrast to the '69 Liberty Bowl, where CU and Alabama combined for 80 points and 930 yards. This affair saw just 20 points make it to the scoreboard on just 416 yards of offense.

1971 BLUEBONNET BOWL

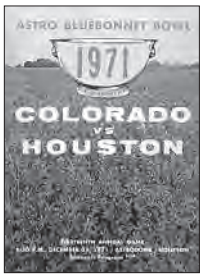

Dec. 31, 1971 at Houston, Texas

Houston 17

Colorado sophomore tailback Charlie Davis returned to his hometown and ripped host Houston for a whopping 202 yards on 37 carries as the Buffs whipped the Cougars, 29-17, in the 13th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl Classic at the Astrodome.

Davis scored twice and was a one-man show in the first half. CU took a 23-14 lead into the dressing rooms. CU marched 70 yards in nine plays on the games first possession, and thanks to a 27-yard run by Davis, took a 7-0 lead less than four minutes into the game. After a pair of Robert Newhouse runs spotted Houston a 14-7 after the first quarter, but CU answered with a 16-point second quarter. A touchdown pass of five yards from Ken Johnson to Larry Brunson, a 32-yard field goal by J. B. Dean, and another TD run by Davis enabled the Buffs to take the nine-point halftime lead.

Houston, behind the running of Newhouse, roared back to narrow the margin to 23-17 with 2:16 left in the third quarter as Mike Terrell kicked a 29-yard field goal. Newhouse, who lost out to Davis for the game's MVP Award, had 168 yards on 35 carries and also scored twice.

Safety John Stearns was a Colorado hero in the fourth period, making the gutsiest fourth down play in school history. On a fourth-and-9 from the Buff 10, he surprised everyone, including the Buff coaching staff, by sprinting 12 yards for a crucial first down after Houston had turned the momentum around and narrowed the margin to just a touchdown on the Terrell field goal. Stearns then knocked down a sure TD pass on fourth down with the Cougars at the CU nine. The Buffs turned that one around and marched for the clinching tally with 3:48 left in the game.

CU finished the season with a 10-2 mark, its only setbacks coming at the hands of national champion Nebraska and to No. 2 Oklahoma. In the Associated Press poll, the Buffs rose to No. 3 in the final balloting with the victory over No. 15 Houston (9-3), marking the first and only time one conference had three schools finish 1-2-3.

1972 GATOR BOWL

Dec. 30, 1972 at Jacksonville, Fla.

Auburn 24
Colorado 3

Auburn, an 11-point underdog to Colorado, took command in the second period and went on to beat the Buffs, 24-3, in the 28th Gator Bowl Classic before 71,114 fans.

It was 17-0 in favor of the Tigers before CU got on the board with just 7:31 left in the game on a Freddie Lima field goal. Auburn shut off the fearsome Colorado rushing attack, limiting the Buffs to just 63 yards in 29 attempts and forced CU quarterback Ken Johnson to the air.

Auburn, sixth-ranked in the nation, took it to Colorado by capitalizing on two CU fumbles and two pass thefts. Johnson, who had directed No. 13 Colorado to an 8-3 regular season coming into the game, hit on 17 of 29 passes for 169 yards, but the Buff running game was shut down.

Garner Jett's 27-yard field goal and a fumble recovery at the Colorado 16-yard line a minute later led to the 10-0 halftime lead for Auburn. Then, in the second half, wingback Mike Fuller hit tight end Rob Spivey with a 22-yard TD pass late in the third quarter. Holder Dave Beck threw a 16-yard TD pass off a fake field goal to Dan Nugent with just 1:10 left in the game to ice the win.

The Tigers managed only 233 yards on the afternoon, including only 153 on 58 rushing attempts, or just 2.6 per attempt, as the CU defense had 11 tackles for losses totaling 36 yards. But largely due to the turnovers, Auburn's four scoring drives consumed a grand total of only 116 yards.

Auburn finished 10-1 and moved up to a number five ranking for the season.

1975 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Dec. 27, 1975 at Houston, Texas

Texas 38
Colorado 21

Colorado rolled up a commanding 21-7 halftime lead over Texas, then kicked it away as the Longhorns rallied to a 38-21 win in the 17th Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in the Houston Astrodome before 52,748.

In the first half, Colorado built up sizeable advantages in first downs (16-5), total yards (225-89), total plays (48-20) and time of possession (20:50-9:10) in building the 21-7 edge. After overcoming Texas returning the opening kickoff to the CU 14, when Russell Erxleben's 25-yard field goal was low into the line, CU fullback Terry Kunz scored on a one-yard dive with 2:29 left in the first quarter for a 7-0 lead. Quarterback David Williams threw a four-yard TD pass to Dave Logan with 12:42 left in the second period, then added a 25-yard scoring aerial to huge end Don Hasselbeck with 0:24 left in the half to provide the two touchdown margin.

But Kunz opened the second half with a costly fumble at the Buff 34 and Texas halfback Jimmy Walker scored eight plays later to make it 21-13, though CU blocked the extra point. UT end Tim Campbell blocked a CU punt a minute later and roared 25 yards for the touchdown, with a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Marty Akins to fullback Earl Campbell tying the game at 21-21 with 10:56 left in the third quarter.

Erxleben booted an NCAA bowl record 55-yard field goal with 6:25 left in the third period to give the Longhorns a 24-21 lead. Fleet Johnny Jones scored from four yards out with 3:15 left in the third period that put the Horns a 31-21, and then added an insurance score on a 7-yard run with 5:05 left in the game.

Despite 59 points being put on the scoreboard, the game really wasn't an offensive showcase. The Buffs outgained Texas by 294-237, but CU struggled on offense in the second half, gaining only 69 yards.

1977 ORANGE BOWL

Jan. 1, 1977 at Miami, Fla.

Ohio State 27
Colorado 10

Colorado returned to the Orange Bowl as Big Eight tri-champions for the first time since 1961, but Ohio State's defense and an injury to CU middle guard Charlie Johnson in the first half killed CU's chances in a 27-10 Buckeye win before 65,537.

The Buffs got the Orange Bowl nod over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State by virtue of their wins over both schools as all finished with 5-2 league records. CU came into the game ranked No.12, while Ohio State, the Big 10 runner-up, was 8-2-1 and ranked No. 11.

Colorado opened with a bang, getting ahead 10-0 in the first quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Mark Zetterberg with 5:56 elapsed, then a touchdown pass of 11 yards from sophomore quarterback Jeff Knapple to wingback Emery Moorehead with 3:43 left. At that point, CU held a 114-to minus 7 edge in total offense and had run 19 plays to just 6 for OSU. But Johnson, who had a quarterback sack and a pass pressure in those six plays, went down with a broken ankle. Ohio State coach Woody Hayes substituted fleet Rod Gerald at quarterback for a harassed Tom Pacenta and the Buckeye offense came alive in the second quarter.

OSU tailback Jeff Logan rambled for a 36-yard touchdown up the middle as the first period came to an end, then the Buckeyes tied it on a 28-yard field goal by Tom Skladany with 9:29 left in the half.

Ohio State engineered a 99-yard drive, capped by fullback Pete Johnson's three-yard run, with 0:20 left in the half to take a 17-10 lead into intermission. That advantage stood up until Skladany added another 20-yard field goal with 2:30 left in the third quarter to make it 20-10 in favor of OSU.

The Buffs could not do anything offensively in the second half, and a pass interception at the Colorado 28 with 3:08 left led to the final Ohio State touchdown and the winning margin of 27-10.

1985 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 30, 1985 at Anaheim, Calif.

Washington 20

Washington staved off a pair of late Colorado rallies and held on to defeat the Buffaloes, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl at Anaheim Stadium.

It was a close game throughout, as neither team ever held a two-score advantage. Washington took a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter on a 30-yard field goal by Jeff Jaeger. The Buffs came back to take what would be their only lead of the night early in the second quarter. Fullback Anthony Weatherspoon scored from a yard out and Larry Eckel added the point after to give CU a 7-3 edge with 5:59 remaining in the first half. The Huskies' David Toy scored on a three-yard run with only 30 seconds left in the first half to put Washington up 10-7 at intermission, capping a 14-play, 80 yard drive engineering by quarterback Chris Chandler.

Eckel tied the score at 10-10 with a 33-yard field goal with 8:41 left in the third quarter, but Washington countered three minutes later with a one-yard scoring run by Tony Covington for a 17-10 lead. Jaeger added an 18-yard field goal three seconds into the fourth quarter to make it 20-10.

All-American punter Barry Helton threw out of punt formation to Jon Embree for a dazzling 31-yard touchdown pass and Eckel added the extra point with 11:05 to go to pull CU to within three. The Buffs would get no closer, but had the ball at inside the Husky 10 in the final five minutes. Halfback Mike Marquez fumbled the ball at the two ending the drive, although television replays indicated the ground may have caused the fumble.

The game capped CU's turnaround season, as the Buffs went from 1-10 the previous year to 7-5 and captured the NCAA's most-improved team honor.

Marquez led the Buffs with 80 yards on 10 carries, while Chandler led the Huskies with 72 yards on seven tries. It was a defensive game, with each team committing just a single turnover, but Washington was penalized 13 times for 88 yards on the evening.

1986 BLUEBONNET BOWL

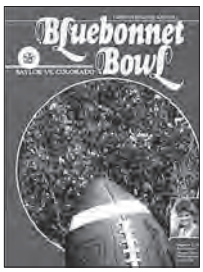

Dec. 31, 1986 at Houston, Texas

Baylor 21
Colorado 9

Baylor turned two Colorado turnovers into touchdowns and then thwarted two Buff scoring threats in the fourth quarter as the Bears defeated CU, 21-9, before 40,470 in attendance at Rice Stadium in the 28th Bluebonnet Bowl.

It was CU's fourth appearance in the Houston-based game, with its last two games here played indoors in the Astrodome (1971 and 1975). As in 1967, this one was played outdoors on natural grass.

Baylor drew first blood with 3:34 left in the first quarter on a one-yard plunge by Derrick McAdoo on a fourth-and-goal play. Colorado countered two drives later with a 36-yard field goal by Dave DeLine to slice the lead to 7-3 early in the second stanza. But the Buffs turned the ball over on their own eight and it took Baylor three plays to score to extend the lead to 14-3, which stood at intermission. Cody Carlson hooked up with Darnell Chase on a 2-yard pass play for the score.

CU turned the ball over on its second play from scrimmage in the second half and McAdoo scored again from a yard out to put Baylor up 21-3. The Buffs finally put six on the board late in the quarter on a 31-yard touchdown run by Mark Hatcher, but CU couldn't convert the two and score remained 21-9 in favor of the Bears.

The Buffs twice had the ball deep in Baylor territory in the fourth quarter, but the Bear defense held, as CU couldn't convert either time on fourth down. In a game dominated by defense, Baylor outgained Colorado 279-194. Each team had 12 first downs, and the Buff defense held the Bears to over 200 yards under its per-game average for the season.

The running game, CU's bread-and-butter the last two seasons, was held in check by a ferocious Bear defense. Baylor had 14 tackles for loss in holding Colorado to just 83 rushing yards on 47 attempts. CU's running defense wasn't too shabby either, as Baylor netted just 114 yards on 43 tries.

1988 FREEDOM BOWL

Dec. 29, 1988 at Anaheim, Calif.

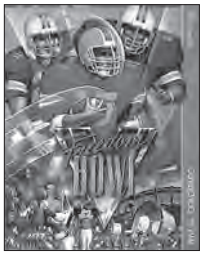

Brigham Young 20
Colorado 17

Brigham Young's only lead of the game came when it counted the most, as Jason Chaffetz' 35-yard field goal with 2:33 remaining in the fourth quarter rallied the Cougars to a 20-17 win over Colorado in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.

The Buffs turned a BYU turnover into seven points just two-and-one-half minutes into the game, as Eric Bieniemy scored from one yard out to cap a six-play, 49-yard drive. Pat Blottiaux's PAT kick put CU up 7-0, but the Cougars tied the score some seven minutes later on a 19-yard touchdown pass from Sean Covey to Mike Salido.

Bieniemy's second touchdown of the game, also from a yard out, enabled CU to forge ahead 14-7 with 1:04 left in the half, with the margin standing at halftime.

The Buffs couldn't convert on several scoring opportunities in the second half, and twice penetrated the BYU 20 and came away with just three points. In the meantime, Ty Detmer's 14-yard scoring strike to Chuck Cutler knotted the score at 14 with 4:46 left in the third quarter. Blottiaux made good on a 19-yard field goal early in the fourth to give CU its last lead (17-14), but Chaffetz countered with a 31-yarder before nailing the game winner in the final minutes.

Colorado outgained the Cougars, 337-320, on the evening, but its on mistakes and penalties (nine, the most in CU bowl history), added up to the fifth straight bowl loss by the Buffaloes. Detmer, a sophomore and future Heisman Trophy winner (1990), came off the bench to complete 11 of 17 passes for 129 yards and a touchdown.

Bieniemy rushed for 144 yards and two scores on 33 carries, the second highest rushing performance to date in CU bowl history, and he also led the team in receiving yards in the game with 30. Alfred Williams posted three sacks for 25 yards in losses for the Buffs on defense.

Jan. 1, 1990 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 21

Fullback Anthony Johnson's second touchdown run of the game late in the fourth quarter put an end to Colorado's undefeated season and national championship hopes as Notre Dame defeated the Buffaloes, 21-6, before a record 81,191 in the 56th annual Orange Bowl Classic.

Colorado came into the game with an 11-0 record and its first-ever No. 1 national ranking. The Buffs appeared headed to the national championship in the first half, as CU dominated the line of scrimmage in gaining 186 yards, but couldn't convert on three golden scoring opportunities. Instead of leading 17-0 or 21-0 at halftime, the Buffs found themselves in a scoreless deadlock and that thanks to Gary Howe's block of a Notre Dame field goal attempt at the intermission gun.

The Irish took control of the game in the third quarter, using a two-yard scoring run by Johnson and a 35-yard touchdown run on a reverse by Raghib Ismail to take a 14-0 lead midway through the period. Colorado sliced the lead to 14-6 on a spectacular 39-yard run by Darian Hagan to close the quarter, but the PAT kick sailed wide by Ken Culbertson, leaving the Buffs eight points back.

The CU defense held Notre Dame on its next possession, and then the Buffs drove to the Irish 44 where its own stalled. With 10:27 remaining, there was still plenty of time remaining for the Buffs. But Johnson's second touchdown, a seven-yard effort, culminated a mammoth 17-play, 82-yard drive that ate up almost nine minutes on the clock. The Buffs got the ball back with 1:32 left in the game, and after Mike Pritchard returned the Irish kickoff 28 yards to the CU 41, could not get anything going prior to time running out and Hagan was intercepted on the game's final play.

The win enabled Notre Dame to end the year with a 12-1 record and a No. 2 ranking, while CU ended up No. 4 in the polls, as the 11-1 Buffs were inexplicably jumped by a 10-2 Florida State that finished No. 3. Miami, Fla., was selected the national champion.

Jan. 1, 1991 at Miami, Fla.

Notre Dame 9

In an Orange Bowl where there was no shortage of heroes for Colorado, the No. 1 Buffaloes toppled No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, enabling the school to claim its first-ever national championship in football. CU overcame two key injuries in rallying in the second half for the victory.

After a scoreless first quarter, the Buffaloes drew first blood on a 22-yard field goal by Jim Harper three minutes into the second quarter. Notre Dame came right back, marching 62 yards in nine plays, with Ricky Watters scoring from two yards out. The score remained at 6-3, however, as CU's Ronnie Bradford charged through the line and blocked Craig Hentrich's extra point try. Just prior to halftime, CU lost the services of quarterback Darian Hagan (knee injury) and outside linebacker Kanavis McGhee (shoulder). Both missed the remainder of the game.

Hentrich booted a 24-yard field goal early in the second half to extend the Irish lead to 9-3. Charles S. Johnson took over at quarterback for the Buffs, with Notre Dame stopping CU cold on its first possession of the second half. On the first play of the next Notre Dame drive, Chad Brown forced Watters to fumble, with Paul Rose, subbing for McGhee, making the recovery.

Johnson, his feet now wet, coolly directed the Buffaloes to the go-ahead touchdown. Eric Bieniemy's one-yard touchdown run and Jim Harper's extra point kick late in the third quarter rallied CU into the lead. The Buffalo defense then held Notre Dame in check, as the Irish held on to the ball for only less than four minutes the rest of the game, mustering only 35 yards of total offense after CU went on top.

Colorado's road to the national championship wasn't without a couple of late scares. Notre Dame's Raghib Ismail broke loose on a punt return with less than a minute remaining, appearing to run 91 yards for a score, but CU's Tim James was clipped on the play, nullifying the gain. And with 13 seconds left in the game, the Irish still had a chance, especially with Hentrich's leg. On its own 38, a completion in the 20-25 yard range would have set up a winning field goal attempt, but Deon Figures intercepted the Rick Mirer pass at the Buff 36 and ran out the clock with a 27-yard return.

Bieniemy rushed for a game-high 86 yards on 28 carries, with Johnson earning the MVP honor, completing five of six passes for 80 yards. Defensively, the Buffs limited the "Golden Domers" to just 264 yards, and Greg Thomas picked off a pair of Mirer passes in Colorado territory. The win, which gave CU an 11-1-1 record for the season, also snapped a seven-game CU bowl-losing streak. Notre Dame finished the year with a 9-3 mark, and finished No. 6 in the nation.

1991 BLOCKBUSTER BOWL

Jay Barker threw three touchdown passes and David Palmer scored twice to lead No. 8 and SEC runner-up Alabama to a 30-25 victory over No. 15 and co-Big Eight champion Colorado in the second annual Blockbuster Bowl.

Palmer scored the game's first points on a 52-yard punt return six minutes into the first quarter. The Buffaloes tied the score at 7-7 late in the quarter on a one-yard run by Scott Phillips, which was set up a Ron Woolfork blocked punt. Ted Johnson tackled Martin Houston in the endzone for a safety early in the second quarter, and then the teams traded field goals to enable CU to take a 12-10 lead at halftime.

Barker hooked up with Siran Stacy for a 13-yard touchdown play in the third quarter, only to see the Buffs come back 18 seconds later on a 62-yard scoring strike from Darian Hagan to Michael Westbrook. Barker added a 12-yard touchdown pass to Kevin Lee later in the quarter to give the Crimson Tide a 23-19 lead after three quarters. Barker and Palmer connected on a five-yard TD pass with 8:10 left in the game to put Alabama ahead 30-19, but the Buffs cut the lead to five on a 13-yard pass from Hagan to Charles Johnson with 3:30 left.

Colorado got the ball back with 1:49 left and drove to the 'Bama 33-yard line before being stopped on a fourth-and-one play with 40 seconds left. Alabama outgained CU, 307-199, running more plays (81-60) and holding on to the ball for 38:10. The game marked the debut of CU's new one-back, pass-oriented offense, which had some success. The change took place in CU's bowl practices and was surprise for the game, but at times it appeared that Alabama had found out somehow in advance because of the Crimson Tide's uncanny success on defense.

Alabama finished the season with an 11-1 mark, along with a final No. 5 ranking, while Colorado followed its first national championship season in 1990 with an 8-3-1 record and a No. 20 final ranking.

1993 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 1993 at Tempe, Ariz.

Syracuse 26
Colorado 22

Kirby Dar Dar's 100-yard kickoff return at the end of the third quarter proved to be the winning points as the No. 6 Syracuse Orangemen defeated the No. 10 Colorado Buffaloes, 26-22, in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.

A defensive battle in the first half saw Colorado go into intermission with a 7-6 lead, as the teams combined for just 226 total yards. A pair of John Biskup field goals saw the Orangemen take a 6-0 lead, but with 10 seconds left in the half, Kordell Stewart threw a 7-yard touchdown pass to Sean Embree on fourth down, with Mitch Berger's PAT kick giving CU the slim one-point lead at the half.

The third quarter proved to be both pivotal and wild, with 29 points scored in just over a six-minute span. David Walker's13-yard run with 6:22 left in the quarter put Syracuse back on top, 12-7, with a two-point conversion pass falling incomplete.

Berger nailed a 38-yard field goal on CU's next possession to cut the lead to 12-10, but the `Cuse went back up 19-10 on a spectacular 28-yard run by quarterback Marvin Graves. Stewart led the Buffs on an 82-yard drive in just over a minute, completing the march with a 16-yard TD pass to Charles Johnson, but Berger missed the point after on the slick Arizona State Stadium surface and the score stood at 19-16. The stadium floor had problems due to too many games being played on it, between the home school, ASU, the NFL Phoenix Cardinals and high school playoffs.

Dar Dar performed his heroics on the next kickoff, rambling 100 yards as time expired in the quarter. Lamont Warren scored the day's final points on a six-yard run late in the game, with Berger again missing the PAT try. The Buffs got the ball back in the final minute, but could not muster a scoring drive.

The Buffaloes outgained the Orangemen, 370-265, including a 217-64 edge in the passing game. Syracuse neutralized the CU offensive attack by netting 178 yards on kickoff returns.

Fresno State 30

Rashaan Salaam rushed for 135 yards and three touchdowns to lead the No. 17 Colorado Buffaloes to a convincing 41-30 victory over the No. 24 Fresno State Bulldogs in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.

The Buffs zoomed to a 17-0 lead, scoring on their first three possessions of the game. Salaam and James Hill scored on short touchdown runs, sandwiched around a Mitch Berger field goal, as CU went up 17-0 with 9:18 left in the half. After trading field goals, Fresno State pulled as close as it would get at intermission on a fluke play. Berger's squib kickoff was first fumbled by the Bulldogs' Jamie Christian, then recovered by Malcolm Seabron and returned 68 yards for a touchdown. The play pulled FSU to within 20-10 at halftime.

Salaam sprinted into the endzone from 40 yards out early in the second half, putting the daylight back into the CU lead (27-10). Fresno never got closer than 10 the remainder of the game, as Colorado was seemingly always in control, but could never put the game fully out of reach, either. CU ran the ball at will, averaging 6.4 yards per rushing attempt, minus two quarterback sacks. Lamont Warren had 68 yards on just 10 carries, and quarterback Kordell Stewart 50 on only eight tries.

The Buffs held Fresno State to just three rushing yards on the day, but the Bulldogs did put an all-time best of 523 passing yards on the board against CU (though 333 came after CU took the 27-10 lead). Salaam was named Colorado's Most Valuable Player for the game, while Chris Hudson was the game's MVP on defense. Hudson had seven tackles, two forced fumbles, two recoveries, a quarterback sack and a pass deflection.

CU, the Big Eight runner-up, climbed to 8-3-1 with the win, while Fresno State, co-champions on the Western Athletic Conference, finished 8-4.

1995 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 2, 1995 at Tempe, Ariz.

Notre Dame 24

Kordell Stewart amassed 348 yards of total offense and he received plenty of help on both offense and defense as the Colorado Buffaloes easily defeated Notre Dame, 41-24, in the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl.

The game was Bill McCartney's "swan song" as CU head coach, with the win giving him a final record over 13 seasons of 93-55-5, the winningest in Colorado history.

Stewart, named the game's most valuable player, had 268 total yards in the first half alone, when the Buffs built a commanding 31-3 lead with 1:05 remaining. For the game, he rushed seven times for 143 yards and a touchdown and completed 11 of 20 passes for 205 yards and another score.

Heisman Trophy winner Rashaan Salaam rushed for 83 yards and three touchdowns, including back-to-back scores in the final five minutes of the first half that helped break the game open.

On defense, the Buffs switched from the 3-4 to the 4-3 for the game, and the result yielded relentless pressure on Irish freshman quarterback Ron Powlus. CU had seven sacks, including three by the defensive MVP in the game, Shannon Clavelle, along with 12 pressures. Butkus Award runner-up Ted Johnson led all players with 20 tackles, with two for losses and an interception.

The Buffs scored on five of their first six possessions, with Stewart the key fixture on each. He had a 29-yard run on CU's first touchdown drive, a 35-yard dash on the second, a 16-yard run and 46-yard pass to James Kidd on the third, and a 12-yard run to the 1-yard line on the fourth. And after Notre Dame had closed to within 31-17 late in the third quarter, Stewart sprinted 41 yards to set up a field goal, and threw a 37-yard pass to Kidd en route to CU's final score.

The Buffs amassed 472 yards on offense in just 23:43 of possession time, playing nearly the perfect game. CU did not commit a turnover and averaged just under eight yards per play in finishing the season with an 11-1 record and No. 3 national ranking. Notre Dame, unranked coming into the game, ended the year at 6-6.

Following the game, Salaam announced that he would forego his senior year and declared himself eligible for the NFL draft. McCartney handed the reins of the program over to new head coach Rick Neuheisel the following morning.

Jan. 1, 1996 at Dallas, Texas

Oregon 6

John Hessler threw for two touchdowns and ran for another and Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score as the No. 7 Colorado Buffaloes rallied from a sluggish start in easily defeating the No. 12 Oregon Ducks, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.

The Buffs overcame two early turnovers and a long kickoff return, holding the Ducks to just two field goals. The defense clamped down all afternoon on the potent Oregon attack, especially when the Ducks worked into CU territory; Oregon had just the six points in nine penetrations across midfield.

Trailing 6-0, Hessler directed CU on a six-play, 80-yard drive in just 97 seconds, with Hessler running the ball in himself from a yard out on the first play of the second quarter. After the teams exchanged possessions, the Ducks drove to the CU 9, where a Tony Graziani pass was intercepted by freshman Marcus Washington, who then returned the ball 95 yards for the longest interception return for a touchdown in CU bowl history.

Washington's heroics enabled the Buffs to take a 13-6 lead into the lockerroom, as the weather continued to get worse. A light rainfall increased as the game went on, with winds gusting to 20 miles per hour, making the field conditions worsen.

Though the weather was more Oregon-like, it didn't appear to bother Colorado. The Buffaloes broke open the close game in the third quarter with three touchdowns, with a six-yard run by Troutman sandwiched in the middle of two Hessler touchdown passes to Matt Lepsis and Phil Savoy. Troutman ran over right tackle for a 55-yard gain, the longest run ever by a Buff in the postseason, to set up CU's first second-half score.

Troutman was named the game's most valuable player on offense, with Washington garnering the same honor on defense, making six tackles in addition to his interception return.

Colorado owned a 313-258 edge in total offense, but the day belonged to the defense, and Oregon averaged just 3.5 yards per play and was forced into five turnovers. The win enabled Rick Neuheisel's Buffs to finish 10-2 on the season and No. 4 in the nation (USA Today/ CNN poll; No. 5 in the Associated Press).

1996 HOLIDAY BOWL

Dec. 30, 1996 at San Diego, Calif.

Colorado 33
Washington 21

Koy Detmer and Rae Carruth completed their careers in style, rallying No. 8 Colorado from an early two touchdown deficit to defeat No. 13 Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl.

Detmer, who was named the game's offensive most valuable player, hooked up with Carruth on a 76-yard touchdown pass with 2:25 left in the first quarter to get the Buffaloes on the scoreboard. Until that play, the Huskies used a pair of Corey Dillon touchdown runs to build a 14-0 lead, threatening CU's three-game bowl winning streak and a chance at a third straight 10-win season.

Colorado pulled even four minutes into the second quarter, when defensive MVP Nick Ziegler intercepted a Brock Huard pass and returned it 31 yards for the first touchdown of his collegiate career. Washington answered with a Jerome Pathon 86-yard kickoff return for a 21-14 lead, but those would be the last points CU would allow on the night. Darrin Chiaverini tied the score at 21 with a seven-yard TD pass from Detmer, and Jeremy Aldrich's 42-yard field goal gave CU its first lead at 24-21 with 1:50 left in the first half.

CU added nine second half points on a 36-yard Aldrich field goal and a four-yard touchdown pass from Detmer to Carruth. The Buff defense held the Huskies to just 129 yards and seven first downs in the second half, and Washington's only scoring chance resulted in a blocked field goal attempt by Mike Phillips.

Detmer and Carruth respectively set CU bowl records for passing yards (371) and receiving yards (162). The Buffs had a 414-341 edge in total offense in the game, but a 373-204 edge after UW took its 14-0 lead. It was the largest deficit in CU bowl game history in which the Buffs rallied to win, and the fifth largest comeback in NCAA bowl annals.

CU finished 10-2 for second straight season, and earned a final ranking of No. 8 in the nation.

1998 ALOHA BOWL

Dec. 25, 1998 at Honolulu, Hawai'i

Colorado 51
Oregon 43

Ben Kelly set the tone for the day by returning the opening kickoff for a touchdown, as the Colorado Buffaloes built a 30-point third quarter lead and then held off the No. 21 Oregon Ducks, 51-43, in the 17th annual Aloha Bowl.

Kelly raced 93 yards for a score to start a busy day at Aloha Stadium, as 164 points would be tallied in college football's first-ever bowl doubleheader (Air Force beat Washington, 45-25, in the Oahu Bowl later that afternoon).

Mike Moschetti set a CU bowl record by throwing four touchdown passes in the game, the first coming late in the first quarter after Jeremy Aldrich's 48-yard field goal had given CU a 10-0 lead. Javon Green caught the five-yard toss and the Buffs were up 17-0.

Moschetti, CU's most valuable player in the game, threw scoring passes of 58 yards to Marcus Stiggers and 72 yards to Darrin Chiaverini in the second quarter, as the Buffaloes built a 37-14 halftime edge. Aldrich added a pair of field goals in the quarter, and his three in the game also established a new CU postseason best.

Damen Wheeler gave CU its biggest lead of the day at 44-14 after he raced into the backfield and plucked off an Akili Smith pass and ran 52 yards for a touchdown; he actually swiped the ball while it was traveling backwards, so the play was classified an intercepted pitch. Oregon chipped away at the CU advantage and had cut it to 44-28 early in the fourth quarter, but a 57-yard drive ended by a 20-yard TD pass from Moschetti to Daniel Graham worked the lead back up to 51-28. The Ducks wouldn't give up, adding two more scores to pull to within the final score of 51-43, as the CU defense rose to the occasion the one time Oregon had the ball with a chance to tie the game. The Buff defense forced three incompletions and Hannibal Navies added a 13-yard sack to keep the Ducks at bay.

Oregon outgained CU, 535-397, but the Buffs averaged more yards per play (6.7-6.6), basically scoring at will, and forced the Ducks into six turnovers that led to 23 Colorado points. The win was Colorado's fifth straight in the bowls, giving the Buffs the nation's longest active streak. It would also be the final game for CU head coach Rick Neuheisel, who resigned two weeks later to take over as head coach at Washington.

1999 INSIGHT.COM BOWL

Dec. 31, 1999 at Tucson, Ariz.

Colorado 62
Boston College 28

Colorado scored six first half touchdowns from its offense, defense as well as special teams in building an insurmountable 45-7 lead en route to a 62-28 thrashing of Boston College in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl, CU's nation-best sixth bowl win in a row.

The Buffaloes took the opening kickoff and marched 65 yards in 13 plays, with Cortlen Johnson's 10-yard run capping the drive to give CU a 7-0 lead. Boston College drove to the CU 26 on its first possession, but a 43-yard field goal sailed wide to take some steam out of the Eagles. Quarterback Mike Moschetti then engineered a 12-play, 74-yard drive, and called his own number to score on a 2-yard run and CU led, 14-0, with just 1:47 left in the period.

Then a barrage of returns for touchdowns sealed BC's fate. Thirty seconds and three plays after the Moschetti score, Jashon Sykes intercepted a Tim Hasselbeck pass and returned it 29 yards for a 21-0 lead. A little over four minutes into the second quarter, Rashidi Barnes did the same, stealing a Brian St. Pierre pass and rambling 21 yards into the end zone to make it 28-0. The Buffalo defense stopped the Eagles cold on their next possession, but the elation of a Kevin McMyler 55-yard punt to the CU 12 was short-lived as Ben Kelly raced 88 yards with the ball for a touchdown, the longest in NCAA bowl history, and a 35-0 Colorado lead. After George White intercepted a Moschetti pass and ran it back for a 78-yard score, Johnson added his second touchdown on the day and Jeremy Aldrich the first of two field goals for the 45-7 lead at intermission.

There were a couple of more quirky scores in the second half, as BC recovered its own fumble in the end zone for a score and got its last touchdown on a blocked punt return, but the game was over at halftime.

Johnson ran for 201 yards on just 15 carries, and was named to Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl team. CU set numerous school records and the 62 points were the third most ever scored in any bowl. And by scoring in all four quarters, the Buffs extended another amazing streak, as CU ended the 20th century scoring in 15 consecutive bowl quarters and in 26 of its last 27.

The win also gave CU a final record of 7-5 under first-year coach Gary Barnett, and it was Barnett's first win as a head coach in a bowl in three games (he was 0-2 at Northwestern before coming to Colorado).

2002 FIESTA BOWL

Jan. 1, 2002 at Tempe, Ariz.

Oregon 38
Colorado 16

It was only the sixth postseason meeting ever between Nos. 2 and 3, but second-ranked Oregon proved to be too much for third-ranked Colorado as the Ducks defeated the Buffaloes, 38-16. The loss snapped CU's nation-best six game bowl winning streak.

The Buffs scored first—and last—but it was in-between when Oregon flashed the muscle of its powerful passing attack when is outscored CU 38-0 from late in the first quarter to early in the fourth.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead after Brandon Drumm's 1-yard plunge capped an 11-play, 65-yard drive at the 6:26 mark of the first quarter. But the complexion of the game changed over the course of remainder of the first half. UO's star quarterback, Heisman finalist Joey Harrington, threw three touchdown passes, including a 28-yard strike to Keenan Howry to tie the score late in the first. Two drives later, early in the second stanza, Harrington and Samie Parker hooked up on a 79-yard strike that put the Ducks up for good. He combined with Onterrio Smith for a 6-yard score with 2:29 left before the half that gave the Ducks a 21-7 lead.

Two bad breaks did in the Buffs in the third quarter. With Oregon getting ball first, CU needed a defensive stop, but Maurice Morris broke at least half a dozen tackles in rambling 49 yards for a touchdown and a 28-7 UO lead less than three minutes into the half. Colorado then came back and drove to the Duck 26, where Bobby Pesavento scrambled free and hit Derek McCoy for an apparent touchdown. But the SEC official, some 20 yards behind the play, ruled Pesavento had crossed the line of scrimmage, negating the play. Television replays showed Pesavento was not over, but the call stood and took what little wind was left in CU's sails at the time.

Oregon extended the lead to 38-7, with Harrington throwing a fourth scoring pass, with 9:38 left. Colorado did get back on the board with a 39-yard field goal from Jeremy Flores and ended the game's scoring with a Craig Ochs to Daniel Graham 4-yard touchdown pass in the final seconds.

Graham set a CU bowl record with 10 receptions, but Oregon allowed CU only 49 net rushing yards after a potent Buff ground game ran up 603 in their final two regular season games. Oregon finished the season with an 11-1 record but couldn't overtake Miami in the final polls; CU closed at 10-3, ending at No. 9 in both major polls.

2002 ALAMO BOWL

Dec. 28, 2002 at San Antonio, Texas

Wisconsin 31
Colorado 28 (OT)

No. 14 Colorado didn't have much luck in the Lone Star state three weeks earlier in its 29-7 loss to Oklahoma in the Big12 Championship game in Houston, and the return to Texas just after Christmas proved just as disappointing as the Buffaloes fell in overtime to Wisconsin, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Mike Allen's 37-yard field goal in overtime, after CU failed to score to open the extra session, completed a wild rally for the Badgers. Wisconsin tied the game with 51 seconds left in regulation when quarterback Brooks Bollinger scored from a yard out, which concluded a frantic 10-play, 80-yard march in 94 seconds.

Colorado took a 7-0 lead four minutes into the contest when Donald Strickland ended an early UW threat when he picked off a Bollinger pass at the CU 9 and raced 91 yards for the game's first points. The Badgers tied the game two possessions later, capitalizing on an interception of their own with Anthony Davis scoring on a 4-yard run to top off a short 19-yard drive. CU grabbed the lead back on the final play of the quarter, going up 14-7 after quarterback Robert Hodge hooked up with D.J. Hackett on a 10-yard touchdown pass that finished off an 11-play, 83-yard drive.

But Wisconsin owned the second quarter, scoring two more touchdowns on the heels of Hodge's second and third interceptions. Bollinger hit Brandon Williams with a 10-yard TD pass and Darrin Charles with a 7-yard toss, both on third down plays as the Badgers scored their three first half scores on combined drives of just 93 yards.

San Antonio native Zac Colvin replaced Hodge for the final first half series and led the Buffs to two scores in the third quarter. As Wisconsin did in converting CU interceptions, the Buffs did the same in converting Badger fumbles into third down touchdowns. Chris Brown scored on a 4-yard run midway into the period after the Badgers fumbled a Mark Mariscal punt. Davis fumbled on the first play of Wisconsin's next drive, with Kory Mossoni recovering at the UW17. Colvin found Hackett in the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown play that put CU up for the final time, 28-21. CU managed to tie the game and take the lead on two drives that totaled all of 42 yards.

A stalemate then ensued until UW took over on its own 20 with just 2:25 remaining. The game-tying drive included two conversions on fourth downs, the first on a 4th-and-18 (a 27 yards pass from Bollinger to Williams) and the next on a 4th-and-10 (Bollinger to Charles for 28 yards).

CU ran out the clock and couldn't gain any yards on three plays in the overtime; Patrick Brougham's 45-yard field goal try sailed wide right, setting the stage for Wisconsin to grab the victory on Allen's kick.

The only other overtime game in the 2002-03 bowl season was the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, where Ohio State topped Miami, Fla., in two overtimes to win the national championship.

2004 HOUSTON BOWL

Dec. 29, 2004 at Houston, Texas

UTEP 28

HOUSTON — Joel Klatt passed for 333 yards and two touchdowns, both coming in the fourth quarter, and Tom Hubbard had two interceptions in leading Colorado to a 33-28 come-from-behind victory over the Texas-El Paso Miners in the second annual EV1.Net Houston Bowl.

The Buffaloes spotted UTEP a 14-3 first quarter lead, but held the Miners to just 191 yards while outscoring them 30-14 over the last three periods. Klatt and Hubbard were respectively named the game's offensive and defensive most valuable players, though there were many stars for the Buffaloes on this afternoon.

Mason Crosby made good on 4-of-6 field goal tries, tight end Joe Klopfenstein had a record day, punter John Torp neutralized UTEP's return game and linebackers Thaddaeus Washington and Akarika Dawn combined for 16 tackles with five for losses and two quarterback sacks.

Trailing 21-19 to open the fourth quarter, UTEP answered a Buff field goal on the previous possession with a 4-play, 80-yard drive capped by a 3-yard touchdown pass from Jordan Palmer to Johnnie Higgins. That was the end of the fireworks for UTEP and it lit a fuse for the Buffaloes.

Colorado came right back on the first play of its next possession. Klatt hit a streaking Klopfenstein across the middle, with the junior breaking two tackles and outrunning a safety for a 78-yard touchdown reception. It was the longest play by a tight end in Colorado history, some 21 yards longer than the previous best. Crosby's PAT kick brought CU back to within 28-26.

The Miners then worked the ball to midfield, and on a 2nd-and-13, Palmer was intercepted by Hubbard at the Buff 28 to end the threat with 11:10 on the clock. CU immediately countered with a six play drive that covered 72 yards that had a little bit of everything.

Klatt hit Ron Monteilh for a short seven-yard gain on first down, but the next two plays yielded a zero yard rush by Bobby Purify and then an incomplete pass. On 4th-and-3, Torp faked a punt and scrambled 22 yards around the left side to give the Buffs a first down at the UTEP 43. Lawrence Vickers then rushed for four yards, and from there, Klatt hit a wide open Evan Judge on a 39-yard touchdown reception to give Colorado its first advantage since the first quarter.

UTEP went three-and-out on its next two possessions, the first of which included a sack by Washington and the second a key pass deflection by Hubbard on third down to deny the Miners a long gain. On their last drive of the game, after Torp pinned them at their own 18, the Miners earned one first down and drove the ball out to their 40, where Palmer threw four straight incompletions to turn the ball back over to CU, which ran out the clock.

CU struck first on a 26-yard Crosby field goal, with the Miners taking an 11-point edge after two touchdown runs. The Buffs pulled to within 14-13 after a Hugh Charles 1-yard run and a 54-yard field goal from Crosby. The latter was a CU postseason record, toppling the old long of 49 yards set by Mitch Berger in the 1993 Aloha Bowl. Palmer threw a TD pass that covered 17 yards to Jayson Boyd to put UTEP back up, 21-13, at halftime, but two Crosby field goals, the only third quarter scoring, pulled CU back to within two after the third.

Purify led all runners in the game with 80 yards on 22 carries, while Charles added 51 on just seven tries. Klopfenstein caught five passes for 134 yards and the score.

2005 CHAMPS SPORTS BOWL

Dec. 27, 2005 at Orlando, Fla.

Clemson 19

ORLANDO — James Davis became the first player to rush for over hundred yards against Colorado for the season as the Clemson freshman ran for 150 yards and a touchdown in the No. 23 Tigers' 19-10 win over the Buffaloes in the 16th annual Champs Sports Bowl.

The game was a defensive battle, with the two schools combining for just 489 yards of total offense, with the Buffs netting just 124 against a stifling Clemson unit. Colorado had just three first downs and 38 yards of offense in the first three periods and went three plays and out in six of its first nine possessions before getting untracked in the fourth quarter.

Despite CU's struggles on offense, the game wasn't decided until 1:38 remained, when Davis scored from 6 yards out to answer the Buffs lone touchdown of the evening. Backup quarterback Brian White had replaced starter James Cox in the fourth quarter and piloted the Buffaloes on a 69-yard drive that cut the "other" CU's lead to 13-10. White rolled right on third and goal and found tight end Quinn Sypniewski for a 2-yard touchdown pass, temporarily getting the Buffaloes back in the game.

But a worn out Colorado defense couldn't muster enough energy to stop the Tigers on their next possession, who clinched the game on the Davis score after marching 61 yards in seven plays in knocking just over four minutes off the clock. James Garee blocked the extra point attempt, and the Buffs did scoop up the ball and try to return it for a defensive two points, but the Tigers were on top of it and thwarted CU on its last-ditch attempt to remain down by a single score.

Cox and White were playing because three-year starter Joel Klatt was ruled out of the game, still suffering from the effects of a concussion in the Big12 Championship game (he suffered the injury on a vicious illegal hit by UT linebacker Drew Kelson with the Longhorns up by nine scores).

The first half produced a two-to-one lead in field goals by the runner-ups for the Lou Groza Award, as Clemson's Jad Daen opened the scoring with a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter, which was matched by Mason Crosby with a 36-yard boot on the first play of the second stanza. Dean added an 18-yard make with less than six minutes left in the half and the 6-3 Clemson lead stood at halftime.

Tiger quarterback Charlie Whitehurst capped a 67-yard drive with a 5-yard scoring run to open the second half, with the key play on the drive a 40-yard run by Davis, a bowl record and the longest against CU in two years. That put Clemson up 13-3, a score that would hold until White supplanted Cox and drove CU into the end zone for its first touchdown in 14 quarters.

White completed 7-of-12 passes for 81 yards, with Sypniewski on leading all players in the game with 50 receiving yards, including CU's longest play of the game, a 28-yard catch from White on CU's scoring drive. CU's other individual highlight came from punter John Torp, as the Ray Guy Award runner-up averaged 49.7 yards on nine kicks, including a CU bowl record long of 68, four kicks of 60-plus yards and four inside-the-20.

The only other meeting between the schools came some 49 years earlier in the 1957 Orange Bowl, with the Buffs claiming that one by 27-21.

Colorado was coached by Mike Hankwitz, who was named interim head coach after Gary Barnett stepped down on December 8 after six seasons at the reins of the program.

2007 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Dec. 30, 2007 at Shreveport, La.

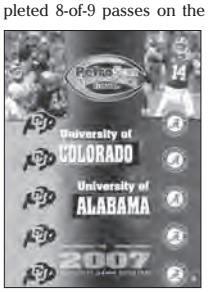

Alabama 30
Colorado 24

SHREVEPORT, La. — It was a game of two halves, or rather a game of fifths. Alabama owned a commanding 27-0 lead after the first 24 minutes of play, and though Colorado dominated the last three-fifths of the game, the Buffaloes fell short in their comeback, succumbing 30-24 to the Crimson Tide in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

A pair of Leigh Tiffin field goals and three touchdown passes to three different receivers by John Parker Wilson built a 27-0 lead for Alabama with 12:20 to play in the second quarter. At that juncture, the Crimson Tide also owned staggering edges in total yards (235-27), first downs (12-1) and total plays (27-12). CU picked up one first down on its next possession but then had to punt, followed by 'Bama moving from its 20 to the CU 44 in five plays with six minutes left in the half.

Then the play that would swing momentum to CU for the first time all game occurred. Wilson had completed 13-of-15 passes to that point, but Ryan Walters intercepted his next throw at the Buff 22 and returned it to the Alabama 43. From there, the offense finally exuded some confidence and marched into the end zone in eight plays, capped by a 4-yard pass from Cody Hawkins to Tyson DeVree.

The Buffs forced Alabama to punt and took over on their own 45 with 1:11 to play in the half. Hawkins and DeVree hooked up on three straight pass plays that picked up 29 yards and had CU in field goal range at the Tide 26-yard line. Hawkins spiked the ball to stop the clock and after a 1-yard pass to Patrick Williams, CU had a 3rd-and-9 at the 25 but the clock was running under 10 seconds. The Buffs took a chance for the end zone, and it paid off when Hawkins hit a streaking Dusty Sprague for the score with just four seconds on the clock. When the smoke cleared, Hawkins completed 8-of-9 passes on the two touchdown drives that brought the Buffs to within 27-14 at halftime.

Walters' interception and increased pressure on Wilson (one sack, four hurries) threw the Tide's offense off track. UA ran just six plays in the third quarter, but the Buffs couldn't capitalize. CU drove to the 'Bama 29 to open the half, but Kevin Eberhart missed a 48-yard field goal. He came back and made a 39-yard field goal that cut the lead to 10, though it was a bit of a letdown for the Buffs who had started the drive on their own 3 and had marched to the Tide 24 before a holding penalty helped stall the drive.

CU drove to the Alabama 30 on its next possession before a sack of Hawkins by Wallace Gilberry, the defensive player of the game, disrupted the drive. The teams wound up trading punts, and after CU regained possession, Hawkins was intercepted at the CU 22 by Darren Mustin. CU's defense stiffened and forced a third Tiffin field goal, but it put Alabama up 30-17 with 4:36 remaining.

The game was not over, however, as Colorado drove 69 yards in five plays in just 45 seconds. Hawkins hit DeVree for 27 yards to the 'Bama 42, and then Williams for 28 more to the 14. After two incomplete throws, he found DeVree in the back of the end zone for the touchdown, with Eberhart's PAT kick pulling CU to within one score, 30-24.

The Tide earned two first downs after CU kicked off deep, eventually punting into the end zone with one second left. From its own 20, the Buffs tried the 'ol "pass it and lateral it to whoever you can," picking up 25 yards in the process from Hawkins to Scotty McKnight, who pitched it to Daniel Sanders and he to Cody Crawford. But time ran out on CU.

Colorado rallied to outgain the Tide, 397-388, as Hawkins (322 yards, 3 TDs) and DeVree (9-94 receiving) were CU's offensive stars, while Walters (8 tackles, an interception, one sack and one PBU) and Butkus Award runner-up Jordon Dizon (14 tackles) led the Buff defense.

2016 ALAMO BOWL

Dec. 29, 2016 at San Antonio, Texas

Oklahoma State 38
Colorado 8

SAN ANTONIO – No. 10 Colorado couldn't get untracked in its first bowl appearance in nine seasons and fell to No. 12 Oklahoma State, 38-8, in the Valero Alamo Bowl at the Alamodome, a tough end for what was still the Buffaloes' finest season in more than a decade.

Injuries played a role in the Buffs struggling, as quarterback Sefo Liufau (ankle) and cornerbacks Chidobe Awuzie (turf toe) and Ahkello Witherspoon (shoulder) all were nursing maladies, but even if healthy, the Cowboys (10-3) were on a mission to end their season on a high note. Receiver James Washington made life miserable for the CU secondary (nine catches, 171 yards, one touchdown), while CU couldn't counter with much offensively until a late fourth quarter score.

The first quarter, though, was more or less a draw, with the teams' almost statistically even and just one score, a field goal by OSU that had it ahead, 3-0. CU had a chance to tie the score on its deepest penetration of the first half, but missed its field goal try, which turned out to be a harbinger of things to come.

The Cowboys scored a pair of touchdowns in each of the second and third quarters to methodically pull away, leading 31-0 before Colorado finally got on the board with 5:28 to play. Liufau, who was injured in the first half but returned to the game in the third quarter, drove the Buffs 77 yards in nine plays, with the senior quarterback scoring his final collegiate touchdown on a 6-yard keeper. He then hit tailback Phillip Lindsay with the two-point conversion.

Lindsay was the offensive star for CU, rushing 14 times for 63 yards with six receptions for 103 yards. OSU quarterback Mason Rudolph completed 22-of-32 passes for 314 yards and three touchdowns. OSU tailback Justice Hill carried 19 times for 100 yards and a TD, and Chris Carson ran 11 times for 61 yards and scored once. CU's leading tacklers were Rick Gamboa (11) and Kenneth Olugbode (10).

The Buffs ended the season with a 10-4 record, and a No. 15 ranking in the USA Today/Coaches poll (No. 17 by the Associated Press).

COLORADO PERSONNEL HISTORY

The University of Colorado has been blessed with a fiercely loyal athletic staff through the years, starting right at the top. CU has had only six faculty representatives since the end of World War II and has had but six athletic directors in its history. Not including coaches, 23 people have worked at least 15 years for the athletic department in various capacities. Six have worked over three decades: athletic director Harry Carlson (38 years), senior associate AD Jon Burianek (38), sports information director (SID) and assistant/associate athletic director Fred Casotti (35), SID David Plati (35), equipment manager Silver Akins (34), and business manager/assistant AD Kayo Lam (31). The most famous all-time short stint at CU? That could be Wayne Duke, who was SID for a year (1950) before eventually becoming commissioner of the Big Ten Conference. Here's a look at who's held some of the more notable managerial and support positions in the history of CU athletics:

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Nov. 15, 1890—First football game ever in the history of the University of Colorado, losing 20-0 to the Denver Athletic Club in Denver.

Dec. 13, 1890—George Darley runs 65 yards with a fumbled football for a touchdown, the first in CU history. Colorado Mines won however, 50-4.

Nov. 26, 1891—First win in CU history, a 24-4 victory on the road over the Colorado Springs Athletic Association Team.

Nov. 8, 1892—First win by Colorado in Boulder, a 46-0 win over the University of Denver.

Aug. 3, 1894—Harry Heller named first head coach in Colorado history.

Oct. 26, 1895—Fred Folsom debuts as CU head coach with a 32-0 win over the Denver Wheel Club in Boulder. He arrived in Boulder earlier that month and did not coach the first game of the season.

Nov. 17, 1898—Colorado plays first opponent from outside the state boundaries, losing to Nebraska in Boulder, 23-10.

The same year Colorado officially became a state, 1876, the University of Colorado was founded and opened with 44 students and a faculty of two, one of whom was the president.

Baseball was the first varsity sport at the U. of C. as it was then called. Football in its earlier form soon followed, though it was more like soccer when the program was born in the 1880s. But it soon evolved into a more popular form of the sport, referred to as rugby football, one which offered more physical contact and much more scoring.

In the fall of 1890, intercollegiate varsity football was born at the U. of C., in concert with the sport spreading west as many programs began that same year. Only 12 schools currently playing Division I-A football (now the Football Bowl Subdivision) started their programs before Colorado.

Football in 1890 was nothing like today's game. It used a rugby-type ball on a 110-yard long field and there were three downs instead of four. A touchdown was worth four points, a placement kick after a TD two and a field goal good for five. The games had two 45-minute halves with a running clock, just like today's soccer.

In the early 1890s, only the U. of C., the Colorado School of Mines and Denver University fielded football programs. The schedule often included Athletic Clubs, Athletic Associations, other local clubs and high schools. While playing opponents from neighboring or distant states was common back east, Colorado did not play a team from outside the state's borders until the ninth year of its existence.

The 1890 team was memorable only for its being the school's first. Tom Edmundson was the quarterback and the team captain, and for all intensive purposes, was the coach as well; it wouldn't be until the fifth year of the program a full-time coach was hired to run the program.

The first game was played in the afternoon on Saturday, November 15, 1890, in Denver against the Denver Athletic Club. The DAC scored five touchdowns and won 20-0, but it was a costly loss for Colorado as Edmundson was injured and lost for the season while four other players were also hurt. CU had used only 12 men in that first game, so by its end, almost half were banged up pretty bad.

It showed the next Saturday in the program's first home game against a veteran Colorado Mines team, considered by many to be the top team in the west. Pat Carney took over at quarterback, but he was inexperienced, and with CU practicing more like a soccer team than a rugby team, Mines had its way and won 103-0. The game was played on a campus field, more dirt than grass; only five buildings comprised the university at the time, including two which still stand today, Old Main and Woodbury.

Game three was scheduled the next Saturday (Nov. 29) against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, but was delayed a week when the train which was to take CU to the Springs was two hours late, forcing its postponement. The delay didn't help CU, as it made it to the game on time the following Saturday but lost, 44-0.

The final game of that first season was a rematch with Colorado Mines, again in Boulder. The Blasters (now called the Orediggers) won this time by a 50-4 margin, but the U. of C. scored its first touchdown. It was by the defense, however, as George Darley recovered a Mines fumble and returned it 65 yards for the score. It was still the sixth longest fumble return and eighth longest miscellaneous return in school history through the 2014 season.

Game One: The Starting Lineup

Here were the 11 starters on the field when CU lined up across from the Denver Athletic Club team on November 15, 1890:

End	Ed Ingram, Boulder
End	John Nixon, Greeley
Tackle	George Darley, Alamosa
Tackle	Delos Holden, Boulder
Guard	Howell Givens, Denver
Guard	Harry Layton, New York, N.Y.
Center	Charles McConnell, Unknown
Quarterback	Tom Edmundson, Bisbee, Ariz.
Halfback	Homer James, Estes Park
Halfback	Wesley Putman, Denver
Fullback	Bert Kennedy, Denver

So the first season in the books came to an end. Colorado has never gone winless since, and the 103-point loss to Mines still stands as the worst loss in program history. Two memories no one wants now, as well as most likely then.

Colorado was much more competitive in its second season, but still stood 0-4 and had scored just six points going into the 1891 finale on the road against the Colorado Springs Athletic Association, a club team comprised mostly of Colorado College students. Carney, now seasoned at quarterback, played brilliantly according to accounts of the game and led the way in the school's first-ever win, returning to Boulder with a 24-4 victory and a 1-4 record.

The foundation had been set. Over the next 23 years, the U. of C. would enjoy 20 winning seasons, including the school's first in 1892. Opening with a pair of wins over Denver, either both by 46-0 scores or 26-0 on the road and then 46-0 at home (historical accounts differ), Colorado dropped November games to Colorado Mines and the Denver Athletic Club to finish the "fall" season at 2-2. But there would be one more game.

Colorado A&M challenged the state's flagship university to a game, and two would meet on February 10, 1893, in Fort Collins. It was the birth of a rivalry that has seen 79 games through 2007, but the initial encounter remains one of the most lopsided in the series, as Colorado poured it on in a 70-6 win over the Aggies. The game counted on the 1892 record and officially gave the U. of C. a 3-2 mark.

Prior to the 1893 season, the Colorado Intercollegiate Athletic Association was formed, as the state's first conference included five schools: Colorado, Colorado A&M, Colorado College Colorado Mines and Denver (it was also referred to as the Colorado Football Association). The team was still primarily coached by the captains, Edmundson and John Nixon in 1890 and Carney the next three seasons. But with football becoming more prominent and conference championships now to be competed for, it was time for Colorado to get serious about the sport and hire a coach. Club sports of today are much more organized than were CU's first four football teams.

The first coach in program history was Harry Heller, who would be paid by donations from the players themselves and some of the fans. Recommended to the administration by Harry Gamble, the '94 captain, Heller did some coaching at Baker University and in fact was a still a student himself.

Heller would coach just one season, but perhaps as memorable as the team's 8-1 overall record and a 5-0 mark in conference play for the school's first title would be what he accomplished off the field. CU made improvements in facilities, mainly a new home field about a mile north of campus (carved out of an area formerly known as "Lover's Hill" and later as Panorama Heights). In addition to teaching and coaching, Heller also instituted policies on team diet, working with the cooks at the campus dining halls, and encouraged more students to join the team, expanding the roster for the first time have a full second unit.

Heller and Gamble are also credited with keeping football alive as a sport at CU, as a little-known incident almost brought an end to the program in its fifth year. In Colorado's first game of the 1894 season, a 46-0 win against East Denver High School, on the last play of the game a CU player suffered a severe head injury (in a melee, not from scrimmage). He was unconscious for quite some time but was not seriously injured. But at a time when stories across the nation detailed not only serious injury but many deaths in the sport, it spooked many members of the CU team, including most of the new second string.

The Monday following the game, only a dozen players showed up for practice, and Heller and Gamble spent the next few days tracking down the others and convinced them to rejoin the team. Colorado regrouped and in the next game, finally defeated the Denver Athletic Club for the first time in seven meetings. Though the DAC would exact some revenge with a 20-6 win in the next to last week of the season, CU outscored the opponent 198-4 in its five conference games en route to the championship.

Heller had become quite popular, but he stepped down after that one season, opting to concentrate on earning his degree. He remained on as a player, though would participate only minimally.

So the U. of C. found itself in the same situation, looking for a leader of a sport rapidly growing in popularity nationwide. Little did anyone know at the time that the resulting hire would eventually become known as "the father of CU football."

Fred Folsom arrived in Boulder after the 1895 season was underway, as CU had already easily defeated Denver's Manual High School 36-0 in its opener. His first two games produced

TIMEOUT / FRED FOLSOM

Fred Gorham Folsom was a 21-year old pre-law graduate from Dartmouth College, where he was an outstanding football and baseball player. Considered the finest end to play at Dartmouth to that point, he had led the Big Green to two straight league championships as a player-coach, a position which was common prior to the 20th century.

CU's 1895 captain, William Caley, formed a group to find CU's second coach and quickly zeroed in on Folsom. One problem, though, was the fact that Folsom was ticketed for the University of Michigan, where he planned on enrolling in law school. CU assured him that he do both, attend law school and coach the Silver & Gold (one of CU's early nicknames, though the football teams of that era actually wore red jerseys and stockings). His love for the game of football won out and he headed west.

It was one of the first turning points in CU history, as landing Folsom immediately led to the program becoming a regional power. And Folsom would put permanent roots in Colorado, sans a short time when he returned to coach his alma mater, as he became a leader in athletic, university, legal, civic and state affairs until his death in 1944. That same year, Colorado Stadium, which had been built to replace Gamble Field in 1924, was named for him.

Accounts referred to him as being a stern disciplinarian when it came to football, one who could install his schemes quickly and constantly tweaked them with innovative plays from his creative football mind. Away from football, one of his trademarks was possessing a keen sense of humor.

Folsom coached CU for 15 seasons (still a school record), and his 77 wins stood as the most in school history for 78 years, until Bill McCartney surpassed the total in his next to last season (1993). He did earn his law degree from Colorado and eventually taught at the school (earning a chair on CU's faculty), and had a distinguished career as a jurist.

wins over the Denver Wheel Club (32-0) and the University of Denver (28-0); his first loss was considered slightly controversial, as a 22-10 loss to the Denver Athletic Club came in a poorly officiated contest by a former DAC fullback and club member, Frank Spalding. Newspaper stories pointed to most of the calls going against CU. But the team rebounded to soundly defeat Colorado College (38-10) and Mines (14-0) to win a second straight CFA title.

Gamble would again be elected captain for the 1896 season, his sixth on the team (there were few eligibility rules in his day). A fan favorite and perhaps the one person who provided the most continuity in the early years of the program, when the first football field on campus property was built and dedicated in 1898, it was named Gamble Field in his honor.

It was only fitting that the '96 team was the first to go undefeated in school history, going 5-0 and outscoring all opponents by 171-6.

Folsom's tenure at Colorado actually covered three stints; the first was a five year run between 1895 and 1899, in which his teams went 28-8. He had won three conference titles, and oversaw the first intersectional game in school history, a 23-10 loss to Nebraska in 1898. But he had come west for two reasons, and after earning his law degree, he wanted to enter private practice, doing so in Denver. With the new century at hand, he resigned shortly after the 1899 season, not knowing at the time he'd return just a year later.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

July 27, 1900—T.W. Mortimer named third head coach in Colorado history, as Fred Folsom opens a law practice in Denver. Folsom returned as coach for the 1901 and 1902 seasons.

July 10, 1903—Dave Cropp named fourth head coach in Colorado history.

Oct. 8, 1904—Colorado's 6-0 win over Nebraska is the school's first intersectional win in its history.

June 26, 1905—Willis Keinholtz named fifth head coach in Colorado history.

June 19, 1906—Frank Castleman named sixth head coach in Colorado history.

May 11, 1908—Fred Folsom, who returned to Colorado the previous year, once again named head coach.

T.C. Mortimer coached CU to a 6-4 record in 1900, one of the losses to the Denver Wheel Club, which was coached by Folsom, who could not get it out of his blood. Mortimer, who played at both Simpson College in Iowa and Chicago University, did have a significant contribution in his one year in Boulder. He initiated the establishing of letter sweaters, even though at the time the players had to buy them. The concession was that they could select the colors of their choice, and most opted for maroon with a white "C" instead of using the official school colors, silver and gold.

Mortimer was set to return in 1901, but Folsom found life practically chained to a desk not for him, and he let CU know he'd be interested in returning. Mortimer gracefully stepped aside and Folsom was reunited with many of his former players. His teams went 10-2-1 over the next two seasons, claiming the CFA title both years.

In 1903, he was beckoned by his alma mater to return to the northeast, to serve as Dartmouth's head coach with an appointment on the law faculty. He would go 29-5-4 in four seasons there before returning to Colorado, which would have three different coaches over the next five years.

Dave Cropp took over and coached CU to an 8-2 mark and the conference crown his first season, in which he also served as the school's first athletic director. His second team went 6-2-1, with highlights like a 6-0 win over Nebraska, CU's first intersectional win, and a season-ending 33-0 blowout loss at Stanford which didn't sit well with all those associated with the program. He would move on after just two years.

Next up to lead the Silver and Gold was Willis Kleinholz, a University of Minnesota man who led CU to an 8-1 record in 1905. But the school had several disputes with the conference (mostly concerning loose academic requirements) and left the organization, reworking the schedule to include two high schools, the alumni and six regional teams. Nebraska avenged its loss to Colorado, but CU picked up wins against Wyoming, Kansas, Utah, Washburn and Haskell, using the opportunity to branch out a bit.

Kleinholz departed after just one season, and in came Frank Castleman, who would take over the duties of coaching both the football and basketball teams. The game drastically changed in 1906, as offensive rule changes required a lot of adjustments, which affected many teams. Forward passing was legalized to open up the offense, and while teams still had three downs to earn a first down, the requirement now called for the offense to make 10 yards on those three tries instead of just five. CU did iron out its differences with the CFA and rejoined the conference, but mustered just a 2-3-4 record that year, with all four ties of the scoreless variety.

Castleman's last CU team went 5-3 in 1907, as he was aided by a familiar face as an assistant coach—Folsom. He returned as a member of the law faculty at the school, this time staying on permanent until retiring in 1942. The conference title came down to the last game of the season, but Colorado lost to Mines by the odd score of 5-4.

With Folsom back on board, Castleman stepped aside from his football duties, remaining on as coach of the basketball, baseball and track teams in addition to serving as athletic director. Folsom signed a contract, valued at $1,000, for a dual coaching position for the teams at the university and the State Prep School (now Boulder High School). That was big money back then.

Folsom coached the next eight seasons, earning five conference titles as CU moved into the Colorado Faculty Athletic Conference for the 1909 season, with the league expanding geographically the following year, becoming the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference, of which it would remain a member through 1937.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 8, 1910—Colorado's 11-0 triumph over the Alumni is the 100th win in CU history.

Spring 1912—The value of a touchdown becomes six points, and the sport now has most of the modern point values: three for a field goal, two for a safety and one for an extra point. The two-point conversion by run or pass won't appear until 1958.

Oct. 5, 1912—Colorado tops Utah State in Boulder, 16-3, extending CU's winning streak to 21 games, the school record to this day. Colorado A&M ended the streak the following week with a 21-0 win in Fort Collins.

Jan. 10, 1916—Bob Evans named seventh head coach in Colorado history.

Jan. 17, 1918—Joe Mills named eighth head coach in Colorado history.

Folsom's 1909, 1910 and 1911 teams all went 6-0, and a 21-game winning streak from the last game of 1908 through the first two of 1912 still stands as the all-time school record. The 1909 squad was not scored on; and all three did not allow a single touchdown; Wyoming scored a field goal for the only points against CU in '10 and CU allowed a field goal and a safety in '11. In the 21-game streak, CU allowed just 11 points.

Rival Colorado A&M ended the winning streak, and the 1912 team finished 6-3 including a season-ending win over Oklahoma. But it did no better than tying for third in the RMAC to end a run of four straight championship years.

The 1913 team posted a 5-1-1 record and earned Folsom his last title, his ninth in 13 seasons, and the 1914 Silver and Gold's only loss in a 5-1 campaign came at the hands of Mines, which used a 6-2 win to steal the crown from CU. Folsom was now 40 years old and those close to him could tell he was a bit worn down physically by his long playing and coaching careers in addition to all his responsibilities outside of football.

Assorted illnesses sidelined Folsom for much of the 1915 campaign, one in which CU would finish 1-6 with all going on his record despite his coaching in less than half the games. At the end of the season, he announced his retirement, thus ending CU's first real golden period in the sport as many at the time referred. He went on to teach law, serve as acting dean of the college of law, and always remained active in athletics. He chaired the drive for a new football stadium on campus and drafted the financial plan which enabled the school to build it; he had worked closely with CU president George Norlin to accomplish the project, as Colorado Stadium opened in 1924 (it was also called Norlin Field at times).

The RMAC had many more teams than the old CFA, so winning a title had become a bit harder with more contenders. Bob Evans was named head coach, and the 1916 team, now having to deal with many young men in the service preparing to fight in World War I, did little better than the year before with a 1-5-1 record. Evans did a masterful job in 1917 though, as Colorado went 6-2; in fact, he did such a good job that he moved west to become Stanford's head coach.

Joe Mills, who had been hired as basketball coach, took over in football as well in 1918, when the war really hit home. CU's quarterback in 1915-16, Eddie Evans, was killed in France and it cast a pall over the program. Mills coached football just two seasons, his teams going 2-3 and 2-3-1, as he stepped down after 1919 to concentrate on his basketball duties.

The first 30 seasons of Colorado football were now in the books, with Folsom coaching 15 of those teams. But seven men coached a collective 11 of those other squads, not including team captains that had managed the first four. The program was in need of some stability, and with the help of Folsom who was now the chairman of the athletic board, it would find its man for the next decade and more.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Feb. 4, 1920—Myron Witham named ninth head coach in Colorado history.

Nov. 28, 1923—Colorado's 6-3 win at Colorado State gives Colorado a 9-0-0 mark for the 1923 season, its best ever at the time.

Oct. 11, 1924—Colorado defeated Regis College 39-0 in the first game at Folsom Field (then known as Colorado Stadium).

Dec. 25, 1924—The Silver & Gold play the first postseason game in school history, defeating the Hawaii-Navy All-Stars in Honolulu, 43-0.

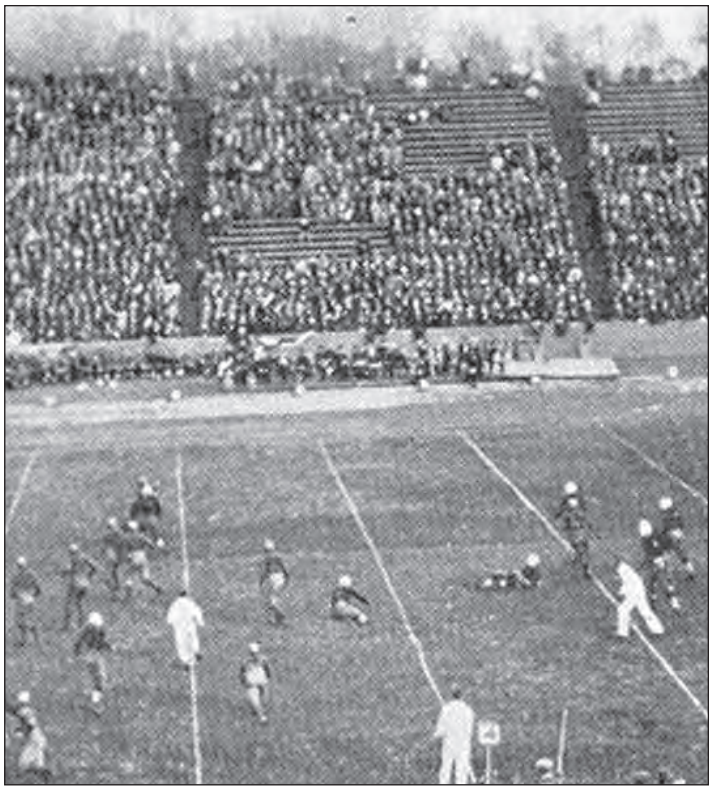

Oct. 13, 1928—Bill Smith records the first known 100-yard rushing game ever by a CU player, running for 132 yards and a touchdown in a 21-6 win at Northern Colorado.

With World War I over and colleges again stocked with young men, football took that next step in the 1920s. The emergence of the National Football League by the end of the decade would eventually lead the sport to become the nation's most popular a few decades later. But closer to home in Boulder, CU was looking to make that next great hire to return its football program to the stability and success it had enjoyed under Fred Folsom.

There was no one more qualified than Folsom to find CU's next coach, and he turned to a former player of his when he coached at Dartmouth. Myron Witham, like Folsom his mentor, was quiet, intelligent and intense. Those attributes were effective for Folsom, and they would be for Witham, despite the fact his hiring turned a few heads. He was an All-American performer for Folsom at Dartmouth his senior season in 1904, and was an assistant coach for him the following year before taking over as head coach for a single season at Purdue in 1906. He then went to work in engineering, so when the call came to lead the CU program, he had been out of coaching for 13 years. But Folsom had his man, and any reservations about his abilities would fade quickly.

History paints a very good picture of Witham. In addition to coaching 96 games, a figure that still ranks fifth most all-time through 2007, Witham's 63-26-7 record remains third best for those who coached a minimum three years at the school. But he would make many marks off the field as well.

Witham's first Colorado unit was talented, with junior center Walt Franklin the nucleus of the team. The Silver and Gold had an impressive season, rolling up a 4-1-2 record and tied for third in the conference. The lone loss was a 7-0 setback to Utah in Boulder, setting the only negative tone for what would be 12 years at the helm of the CU team for Witham.

A Hatfield Chilson pass completion in the 1924 season.

After his first season, Witham moved to organize support in several areas. He established the first training table at CU for the varsity players, though the players were themselves responsible for serving and cleaning up. He formed a campus booster club of five dozen underclassmen that helped in areas as high school relations (eventually morphed into today's recruiting), scholarship (academics and tutoring), publicity and ways and means (or anything the first three didn't cover). He would also see it that all CU home games were filmed.

In scheduling CU's biggest intersectional game ever, the 1921 opener at the University of Chicago, he installed the first preseason training camp for the team. The booster club raised the funds to cover expenses at a facility near Eldora, a mountain community about 25 miles west of Boulder. The team practiced and held meetings there for two weeks before transitioning onto campus. Upon their arrival, they moved into CU's first "athletic dorm," again with the help of the booster club. Raising $10,500, a 14-room house at 1016 14th Street featured eating, sleeping and study facilities for 30 players.

CU lost that game at Chicago, falling to legendary head coach Amos Alonzo Stagg's team 35-0. A special train brought 300 fans and the school band to the game, easily the longest such trek coordinated by the school at the time (trips by train to Denver and Colorado Springs had been the occasional norm up to that point). Colorado rebounded from the defeat, did not lose again and improved to second place in the conference, finishing the '21 season with a 4-1-1 mark.

It was in this decade that CU's first true out-of-state rivalry came to bloom, as Utah emerged as the perennial conference favorite between 1922 and 1933, claiming eight RMAC titles in that span. The Salt Lake City school would become the nemesis for Witham and his Silver and Gold squads, as CU would go just 2-9-1 against their rivals to the west during his tenure. Three of those losses and the tie cost Colorado four titles, though Witham's 1923 and 1924 teams did win back-to-back conference crowns.

CU's 1922 team was 4-4 overall and generally had a mediocre season, opening with two wins but then dropped four of its next five, starting with a 3-0 loss to… Utah. But good news was just around the corner, especially with an outstanding freshman team that regularly gave the varsity fits, often outplaying them in practice.

The season of 1923 produced one of the most dominant teams in school history, though the roster included more sophomores than from any other class. Quarterback and team captain Art Quinlan was one of the few returning veterans the single-wing offense was built around, along with fullback Earl Loser, tackle Don McLean and halfback Fred Hartshorn. Several underclassmen emerged as key players, including guard Bill McGlone, ends Dick Handy and Jack Healy, fullback Bill Bohn and quarterback Hatfield Chilson.

In compiling a 9-0 record, CU outscored its opponents by a combined 280-27, with four wins of 41 points or greater (all shutouts). In the first 100 years of Colorado football (1890-1989), only the 1971 (10-2) and 1989 (11-1) teams won more games, with only three others attaining nine wins.

Colorado rolled over its first three opponents, BYU, Western State and Colorado Teachers College (now Northern Colorado) by a combined 152-0. Game four was a rematch with Denver, which had won 16-0 the previous year, and it was the first solid test of the '23 campaign. The first three opponents did not have great teams, and CU fans wanted to know if their team was for real. The week leading up to the game was filled with miserable weather, with rain and/or snow falling on a daily basis.

After a scoreless first quarter, CU came to life behind Quinlan, who passed for 206 yards in leading CU to what was termed a "statistical slaughter." Colorado held advantages of 356-41 in total offense and 23-3 in first downs and returned to Boulder with a solid 21-7 win that made CU and Witham the "toast of the Rockies."

The following week, CU toppled Colorado College 17-7 behind the crisp passing of Quinlan (13-of-16, 162 yards). Colorado improved to 5-0, but was faced with the last four games all on the road, the second and last time that happened in school history. CU started the run with a 47-0 win at Colorado Mines, but lost Quinlan's quarterbacking services for the season with a broken right hand; he would handle placekicking and a few returns. In his place came Chilson, who would make his first career start the following week… at Utah.

Chilson was a 5-8, 130-pound sophomore from Pueblo, and had little game experience at quarterback. Despite his small stature, he had great ability to slip through the smallest of holes and had developed a vertical leap in which he would jump over onrushing defenders. Chilson called a perfect game and directed the Silver and Gold to a 17-7 win over the Red Devils. The following week, CU scored an easy 20-3 win at Wyoming, with reserves playing most of the game against the winless Cowboys.

Only the rival Aggies from Fort Collins stood in-between CU and a perfect season. A&M led 3-0 in the second half before Quinlan tied it with a field goal. He then returned a punt 63 yards to the Aggie 25-yard line with time running down, and CU worked the ball to the 3-yard line with under a minute to play. Witham called for a field goal on third down, and it turned out to save the undefeated season; the Aggies blocked the kick, but Quinlan himself recovered the ball and gave his team another chance to win fourth down. This time he split he uprights and Colorado had perfection.

While 1924 yielded another fine record (8-1-1), its best remembered for two significant firsts in program history. After the perfect '23 campaign, a movement quickly began for the team to have a stadium for its home as opposed to Gamble Field, which had served the team well since 1898. But with the program growing in stature and stadiums being built around the country, it was only logical that CU take that next step.

An attendance record of 42,480 was set in 1923 for the four home games, which was over five times the capacity of the field's bleacher seating. So with the need so obvious for new digs, it was easy to reach a unanimous agreement and the plan took off quickly.

Whitney Huntington, a professor in engineering, surveyed campus lands and came up with a location on the northeast end, a ravine near the site of the new men's gymnasium and home to the basketball team. There was good drainage and the land provided the opportunity for deep bleacher seating on both sides of the field, which would provide for a new stadium to be built both quickly and economically.

Folsom was now a full-time professor in CU's Law School and the chairman of the athletic board, which approved Huntington's location. President George Norlin asked Folsom to develop a financing plan, and in eight short months at a cost of $70,000, Colorado Stadium was completed and was state-of-the-art for its time.

The playing field wasn't quite ready for the first game, but that turned out to be okay as everyone associated with the program said goodbye to Gamble Field with a 31-0 win over Western State. A week later, on Oct. 11, 1924, the stadium was christened against Regis with Colorado easily rolling to a 39-0 win. The structure was officially dedicated Nov. 1, with a 3-0 homecoming win over Utah. Loser's 35-yard field goal was the only scoring in the game.

CU seemed to be in a bit of a slump, but came back in the next game against Colorado Mines to post a 38-0 win, the 16th in a row for the Silver and Gold. But that's where the run ended, as six lost fumbles, all in Denver territory, proved costly in a 0-0 tie with the Pioneers. Colorado was now 4-0-1 in conference play and hosted Colorado A&M (4-1) in the regular season finale, with the winner to claim sole rights to the RMAC title. It wasn't even close, as Loser scored 24 points in a variety of ways to lead CU to an easy 36-0 win.

Colorado's season turned out not to be over; an unexpected addition of two postseason games in "paradise" were added when several enthusiastic fans in Hawai'i raised the funds necessary to send an 18-man squad plus coaches to the islands for Christmas and New Year's. It marked the first post-season play in school history, and was a well-deserved reward for Witham's men, who had a 17-0-1 record over the '23 and '24 seasons.

The group left December 19, practiced a few days and handled the Hawai'i-Navy All-Stars with ease, 43-0. CU had won over several fans on Oahu and was dubbed the "Mountaineers" by a local sportswriter. But Colorado may have basked too long in the glory of the big win, not to mention the tropical sun, as an unheralded Hawai'i University team defeated the Silver and Gold on New Year's Day, 13-0. It was CU's first loss since late in the '22 season.

The 1925 team went 6-3, though opened with an embarrassing 3-0 loss to Chadron State, a small school in the Nebraska panhandle. CU tried a new offense, basically an early version of the "T-formation" and it proved disastrous. Witham returned to the single wing the following week for the remainder of the year and won six of eight games, the losses coming to CU's two main rivals, Utah and Colorado State.

That was the theme the next two years, both losing seasons with setbacks to both rivals, including two of the worst losses in Witham's tenure, a 37-3 homecoming loss at home to Utah in 1926 and a 39-7 loss at Colorado State in '27. The latter came after a 4-2 start to the season and was sandwiched in the middle of the two of the Witham's three biggest margins of defeat, a 46-7 clubbing at Southern California and a 48-0 loss Thanksgiving Day in Denver. Fans were getting restless, after all this was just three years removed from the two most glorious seasons in school history.

Amid the descent, in 1927 the university hired its first full-time director of athletics, Harry Carlson, a quiet, reserved yet wise leader who would lead the CU program for the next 38 years. His persona was one that could deliver a cool, calming influence, and he did just that after the tumultuous events that ended the '27 football season.

The '28 team avenged the losses to the Aggies and Pioneers, being on the good side of hard fought 13-7 and 7-0 wins, respectively. The record was 5-1, but the one defeat was again at the hands of Utah, and by a decisive 25-6 margin. The 1929 team would go 5-1-1, which included another close win over A&M (6-0) and a scoreless tie with Denver. The loss was a crushing 40-0 mauling at Utah, perhaps fitting in history as it was CU's last game before the stock market crash in late October of '29. One bright spot was the brilliant play of sophomore tackle Paul Sawyer, who would be selected to CU's honorable mention All-Century team decades later. A season-ending 27-7 romp at Denver on Thanksgiving Day did nothing to quell the fan's thirst for Witham's head.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Dec. 14,1930—George Carlson becomes CU's first player to be awarded the Rhodes Scholarship.

Nov. 21,1931—Colorado's 17-7 verdict over Colorado College is the 200th win in CU history.

Jan. 3,1932—William "Navy Bill" Saunders named the 10th head coach in Colorado history.

Dec. 17,1933—Clayton White, older becomes CU's second player to receive a Rhodes Scholarship.

Nov. 10,1934—Colorado officially adopts the nickname "Buffaloes" at annual Homecoming game. The "Buffs" beat Utah 7-6.

Feb. 7,1935—Bernard "Bunnie" Oakes named the 11th head coach in Colorado history.

Nov. 7,1936—Byron "Whizzer" White scores 25 points against Utah in Boulder as CU wins, 31-7. White scored four touchdowns and kicked one extra point to establish a Buff record.

Nov. 6,1937—Byron White single-handedly beats Utah at Salt Lake City, 17-7, in one of his greatest games ever. He returned a punt 95 yards, scored another touchdown on a 57-yard sprint, kicked a 15-yard field goal and kicked both extra points in accounting for all of CU's points.

Nov. 25,1937—Byron White's jersey number "24" retired at the traditional Thanksgiving Day game with Denver. Buffs won, 34-7.

Dec. 12,1937—The Pittsburgh Steelers select Byron White as the fourth pick in the first round of the NFL Draft, making White the first CU player to be drafted into the league.

Dec. 13,1937—Byron White named to the All-America team, becoming the first Colorado player to gain the honor.

Dec. 18,1937—Byron White becomes the third Colorado player to receive a Rhodes Scholarship. He will study at Oxford in 1939.

Jan. 1,1938—Colorado makes its first Bowl game appearance ever, losing to No. 18 Rice, 28-14, in the Cotton Bowl.

The 1930 season opened with a bang, as Colorado went on the road and upset Big Six school Missouri, 9-0. CU then traveled in the other direction a week later and battled Utah State to a scoreless tie, but would then reel off four straight wins to enter a Nov. 15 matchup with Utah that would decide the RMAC title. However, the result was the same, with Utah using a 34-0 whipping to claim its sixth straight league crown. As for Colorado, the Silver and Gold had gone 16-3-2 the last three seasons, 16-0-2 against all others, but 0-3 versus Utah. The sole measuring stick of CU's success had been reduced to what its outcome was against its rivals to the west, and Colorado was on the short end of the score six straight year, the last three by a combined 99-6 count. Yet Witham survived, but not for long.

After the season, the first major national honor was bestowed on the program, when end George Carlson was awarded the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship.

Colorado won three of its first five games in 1931, a roller-coaster ride that featured another upset of Missouri, this time 9-7 in Boulder, and a 25-6 throttling of DU, but included a loss at Colorado A&M. Up next was Utah, and Witham's job was likely riding on the result. A 32-0 loss, a third straight shutout by the Utes in the series, sealed his fate, despite two closing wins over Colorado College and Arizona. In January ('32), the school's Board of Regents opted not to renew his contract.

Paraphrasing what was written at the time, "winning seasons do not necessarily create longevity, they simply raise the standards." Witham's 63-26-7 record couldn't overcome the old coach's desire to not be overly engaged in recruiting, which was becoming more and more a key part of the job, and his record against Utah was the fatal blow.

Carlson was faced with hiring his first football coach, and one of the top requirements included the person being a good recruiter. It was in the late 1920s when coaches started to woo young men to pick their school over others, and a good personality was often the difference. He didn't have to look far to find his man, the popular William "Navy Bill" Saunders, who spent six years as line coach at Colorado A&M before taking over as head coach at Colorado Teachers in 1928. Carlson was impressed with how his Greeley teams, despite being winless in three tries against CU, always played tough and from start to finish.

Saunders' first team went 2-4, typical of a transition year where the upperclassmen weren't overly thrilled with the dismissal of their head coach. While the team had some good players, including backs Al Oviatt, George Grosvenor and Jim Counter along with end Clayton White, and CU won its first two games, a 7-6 home loss to Colorado A&M triggered four straight losses to end the season. It was followed by another shutout defeat (14-0) at Utah, the first of three straight games CU would record goose eggs on the scoreboard as CC and DU also whitewashed the Silver and Gold.

The 1933 team sprinted to a 5-1 start, including a 6-0 upset victory at Oklahoma State. A small sophomore rookie from Glenrock, Wyo., William "Kayo" Lam was making a name for himself in the backfield, and CU started to understand the schemes Saunders had installed. Things were looking up for the annual battle with Utah, but alas, while playing the Utes tough for the first time in several years, the result was the same. Colorado finally scored in losing 13-6, and though having advantages in offense (288-200) and first downs (16-9), three fumbled punts in the first half led to all of Utah's points. Wins over Colorado Teachers and Denver closed a very successful 7-2 season, as observers felt CU had turned the corner.

Off the field, good news included White being named a Rhodes Scholar and that the final payment of $2,491.75 was made on the stadium, completing paying off all obligations in less than 10 years. The bad news was that the season ticket price in '33 was raised to $5.50 for the five-game schedule, and during the depression years, few had that kind of money for luxuries like sporting events.

TIME OUT / THE "BUFFALOES" ARE BORN

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. During the summer of 1934, Colorado's 45th season of intercollegiate athletic competition, the Silver & Gold, the student newspaper at the time, decided to sponsor a national contest to select a permanent nickname and mascot. A $5 prize would go to the author of the winning selection; remember, this was during the Great Depression, and five dollars was a good amount of money to most people. Over 1,000 entries arrived from almost every state in the union. Athletic Director Harry Carlson, graduate manager Walter Franklin and Kenneth Bundy from the newspaper were the judges.

Local articles first reported that Claude Bates of New Madrid, Mo., and James Proffitt of Cincinnati, Ohio, were co-winners for the prize as both submitted "Buffaloes" as their entry. But 10 days later, the newspaper declared Boulder resident Andrew Dickson the winner, after a follow-up revealed his submission of "Buffaloes" had actually arrived several days before those of originally deemed to be the winners. Through the years, synonyms which quickly came into use included "Bisons," "Buffs," "Thundering Herd," "Stampeding Herd," "Golden Avalanche," and "Golden Buffaloes."

The live buffalo mascot also first appeared in 1934, three weeks after the contest that declared Buffaloes the new nickname. For the final game of the season, a group of students paid $25 to rent a buffalo calf along with a real cowboy as his keeper. The calf was the son of Killer, a famed bison at Trails End Ranch in Fort Collins. It took the cowboy and four students to keep the calf under control on the sidelines during the 7-0 win at the University of Denver on Thanksgiving Day.

Live buffaloes would make appearances at CU games on and off over the next 30 years, usually in a pen on the field or sometimes driven around in a cage. In the 1940s, the school kept a baby buffalo in a special pen at the now-defunct University Riding Academy. The first named buffalo was "Mr. Chips," who appeared for the first time at the 1957 CU Days kickoff rally, as supporter Mahlon White donated him to the school, and it was cared for by a men's honorary. Mr. Chips wasn't around for all that long, and several years would pass before one of college football's most entertaining and thrilling traditions would be born.

CU had opened the year with scoreless ties against Kansas and Missouri, and dropped to 0-1-2 with a 13-7 loss to CTC in Greeley. The latter was the first night game in Colorado history, and accounts of the game mentioned that the Teacher's team had a few tricks up their sleeve, one of which was wearing "dark gold uniforms that perfectly blended with the ball."

The new nickname, "Buffaloes," was officially bestowed on the entire athletic program at a ceremony during Homecoming on Nov. 10, when CU hosted Utah, with the newly named CU team searching for its first win since 1924 over its arch-rivals. The football Gods smiled on Colorado that day, as the "Buffs" made an early 7-0 lead stand up for a 7-6 win, with the Utes missing a point-blank field goal try at the end of the game to preserve the CU victory.

Colorado went on to win its final six games of the season to finish 6-1-2, and tied Teacher's for the league title as both had 6-1 marks. But CTC owned the head-to-head win to lay more claim to the crown.

Soon after the end of the season, Saunders abruptly resigned as head coach. He decided to return to his native Mississippi where his family had numerous land holdings and a management position for him. That's what it appeared publicly; privately, rumors had it he had asked the CU administration for more support, and when none was forthcoming, he pulled up stakes. He returned to coaching just two years after leaving CU, and would do so with bitter rival Denver.

Once again, CU was in the market for a new football coach.

Carlson had success staying in the region for his last hire, so he went to the well again. Now entrenched in his ninth year as athletic director, he had a knack for finding good coaches. Despite staying just one year before moving on to Oklahoma State where he would become a legend, Carlson had hired Hank Iba as CU's basketball coach for the 1933-34 season; his next basketball hire, Forrest "Frosty" Cox, who was also an assistant football coach, would make Colorado a western basketball power over his 13 seasons in Boulder. In short, Carlson could spot coaching talent.

Enter Bernard "Bunny" Oakes, who had been head coach at Montana University for the four previous years after serving a pair of two-year stints as an assistant at Tennessee and Nebraska. An Illinois graduate, he played his college ball with Red Grange under Bob Zuppke, one of the most innovative coaches of his day.

Oakes had the pedigree and flawless credentials, and while he led CU to new heights during his five-year tenure, his approach to coaching, deemed fanatical by many, would be the reason for his eventual demise. He had a one track mind and was totally dedicated to driving his teams to their limit. But that wore thin on his players, and following his third year in Boulder, the players reached the point where the price paid wasn't worth the results. He was fired after five seasons and a 25-15-1 record and four winning seasons, thought it included one that put the Buffaloes on the national map.

In Oakes' first season at Colorado, he inherited one of the most talented backfields in school history, with the senior Lam and a sophomore by the name of Byron White. In the '35 opener, CU dominated an Oklahoma team in Norman though losing, 3-0. The Buffs had a chance to win late, taking over at midfield in the final minutes with White and Lam leading the charge down to the 7-yard line, but the Sooner defense stopped CU cold to hang on.

Colorado went on to win the RMAC title with a 5-1 record, suffering three losses to future conference foes (OU, Missouri and Kansas). White was lost for the season with a knee injury early in league play, but Lam rushed for a then-national record 1,043 yards, had over 2,000 all-purpose yards and was the first Buffalo player ever chosen to play in a postseason All-Star game, earning an invitation to the East-West Shrine game in San Francisco.

The 1936 season served as an appetizer for what lay ahead; a modest 4-3 overall record included another tough opening loss to Oklahoma (8-0 in Boulder), but also featured a third straight win over Utah. White, who this season was nicknamed "Whizzer" by Denver Post sportswriter Leonard Cahn, accounted for every single point in a 31-7 win over the Utes. CU was 4-0 in league play at that point and appeared headed for another title, but two one-point road defeats derailed the bid: a 14-13 setback at Utah State, the eventual league champ, and then a 7-6 Thanksgiving Day defeat to former CU coach Saunders and DU before a state record crowd of 27,700.

The 1937 season would be Colorado's last in the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference. A gap between the larger and smaller institutions had been widening for some time, from the caliber of play and squad size to home attendance. The RMAC also had grown to 12 schools over the year, and scheduling was way off balance.

The seven biggest schools officially formed the Mountain States Conference, though it was also referred to at times as the Skyline League and even the Big Seven. BYU, CU, Colorado A&M, Denver, Utah, Utah State and Wyoming made the break and would begin league play in 1938; the other five remained in the RMAC which still thrives to this day in the NCAA's Division II.

The "fourth" time proved to be the charm to open the '37 season; from 1934-36, CU opened against a Big Six Conference opponent and was winless with two losses and a tie. This time around, Missouri visited Boulder and the tone was set for the entire year with a 14-6 win over Don Faurot's charges.

The Buffs would not allow a point the next four games, as CU steamrolled Utah State (33-0), Brigham Young (14-0), Colorado A&M (47-0) and Colorado Mines (54-0). Along the way, White was rolling up impressive numbers and garnering national attention, though the Buffaloes were hardly a one-man show. Fullback Erv Cheney and halfback Orville "O.T." Nuttall were dangerous runners in their own right, and when White dropped back to pass, ends Leon Lavington and Lex Quarnberg were popular targets. And it was said that center Gene Moore could play for any team in the country.

TIMEOUT / BYRON WHITE

Byron Raymond "Whizzer" White first made a name for himself while playing for the University of Colorado's undefeated 1937 football team.

The first All-American at Colorado in football and the second in any sport, he led the nation in rushing that season with a record-breaking total of 1,121 yards (in eight games) and amassed 122 points. Those marks were erased only after colleges went to 10- and 11-game schedules. He was known as a "60-minute performer," excelling on defense as well as offense.

White led that 1937 team to Colorado's first-ever bowl appearance, facing Rice in the '38 Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day in Dallas. Though Rice won, 28-14, "Whizzer" left them talking. He threw an 8-yard touchdown pass to Joe Antonio and then returned an interception 47 yards for a touchdown to put Colorado up 14-0 in the first quarter before the Owls battled back. He rushed 23 times for 54 yards in the game, and had 166 all-purpose yards including returns.

Denver sports writer, Leonard Kahn, gave White's nickname to him. Kahn labeled White with this name because "he seemed to whiz by people."

White was also a .400 hitter on the baseball team, and a standout on CU's basketball squad that made the N.I.T. in 1938. His off the field performances were just as impressive as the ones on it. In 186 hours of undergraduate work, White earned 180 hours of A, and 6 hours of B. He was the student body president, a Rhodes Scholar, and Phi Beta Kappa.

After his time at Colorado, the Wellington native went on to play professional football for the Pittsburgh Pirates (now known as the Steelers). White was Pittsburgh's first pick in the 1938 draft, and would lead the league in rushing with 567 yards that year and was named All-Pro. White left professional football to attend post-graduate school at Oxford College in England. After Oxford, White played one more season of football with Detroit, and again led the league in rushing with 514 yards and was again All-Pro. In the off-season, White attended Yale Law School.

During World War II, White was an officer in naval intelligence, serving most of his duty in the South Pacific. During his time of service, White earned a Bronze Star, and formed a friendship with John F. Kennedy.

Following the war, White returned to Yale Law School where he graduated first in his class in 1946. After a successful career as a corporation lawyer, White entered the political sphere in 1960, heading a pre-convention Kennedy movement that helped the soon-to-be president win the state of Colorado. White later served as deputy attorney general under Kennedy.

On March 30, 1962, White was appointed an associated justice of the U.S. Supreme Court at age 44. He served for 31 years, and retired in March, 1993.

The honorable Byron R. White was the first athlete inducted into the Colorado Sports Hall-Of-Fame in 1965. He was also inducted into the NFL Hall of Fame, the National Football Foundation's College Football Hall of Fame, the GTE Academic Hall of Fame, the Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference Hall of Fame, and was the inaugural inductee into CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1998. He was selected to CU's All-Century Team in 1989, marking the school's first 100 years of football, and his football number, 24, was the first retired by the university.

White left an indelible mark on the field and in the classroom at the University of Colorado. Born June 8, 1917 in Fort Collins, Colo., he died from complications of pneumonia in Denver at the age of 84 on April 15, 2002.

Next loomed the annual test with Utah, the first of two November contests that would determine the league champion. White scored all of CU's points in a 17-7 win on the road as the Buffs won their sixth in a row. The following week, CU trailed Colorado College 6-0 at halftime in the home finale, but Whizzer scored three times in the first 10 minutes of the second half and the Buffs cruised to a 35-6 win.

The final RMAC game of the season was set for Thanksgiving Day in Denver, pitting CU against DU, with the Buffs 6-0 in league play with the Pioneers 5-1. While CU was guaranteed a share of the title, it wanted it outright, and behind several long plays from White, the Buffs earned it with a 34-7 win.

White was named to every All-America team, becoming the school's first in football to earn the distinction and just the third CU athlete bestowed the honor in any sport (his good friends Gil Cruter and Claude Walton were track All-Americans in 1936). He also earned one of two regional Rhodes scholarships the same month, the third CU football player in less than 10 years to do so.

As for the team, and largely thanks to America's captivation with White, the Buffaloes were invited to their first bowl game. CU lined up across from No. 18 Rice, its first ever game against a nationally ranked opponent, in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day in Dallas. Oakes would put his team through two practices a day in Dallas, often in heavy rains. The practice gear never had a chance to dry between sessions and the players became disillusioned with the experience.

Still, behind White, CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, but the Owls rallied behind their star, Ernie Lain, for a 28-14 win. To outsiders, the season was still a huge success, but inside the program, seeds of discontent had been planted. The train ride back to Boulder was no fun.

With the '37 team laden with seniors, CU's first season in the new conference was a rebuilding project. The Buffs opened 0-3, including non-league losses to Missouri and George Washington, but after three wins and a tie the over the next month, a winning year could be salvaged with a Thanksgiving win over Denver. But the Pioneers ended that hope with a 19-12 win.

Two key players, Nuttall and Marty Brill, quit prior to the 1939 season, and a third, Lou Liley, soon joined them. They did not want to play for Oakes. After a second straight 0-3 start, and aware of the players' displeasure and the coaches demeanor, the CU athletic committee recommended he be fired immediately. Oakes was only saved by the Board of Regents, which basically gave him an unenthusiastic vote of confidence.

Sophomores dominated the '39 roster, and they pulled it together to win the last five games of the year. Players like Paul McClung, Leo Stasica and Ray Jenkins put feelings aside and played for the school, and thanks to a 27-17 win over DU in Boulder, Thanksgiving Day also brought what would be CU's only real legitimate Mountain States title.

Oakes final team posted a 5-3 record, and though he had three years remaining on a five-year contract he signed following the '37 season. Many thought the strong finish would save him, but the players delivered a 13-page complaint and petition for Oakes' removal to the Regents at the board's February meeting. Thirty-five of the 40 players signed it, and as the month neared its end, he was fired and received a severance check believed to be $10,000.

1940s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

June 11, 1940— Cross Country & Track Coach Frank Potts named the 12th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 3, 1941—Jim Yeager named the 13th head coach in Colorado history.

Mar. 11, 1944—Frank Potts takes over once again as head coach while Jim Yeager is serving his country in World War II.

Jan. 10, 1945—Jim Yeager returns to coach Buffs.

Nov. 27, 1947—A 26-20 loss at Denver is significant in several ways: it was CU's final game in the Mountain States Conference; it was the last game in CU-Denver series; it was CU's last on Thanksgiving Day; and it was the first game in 58 seasons of Colorado football where both teams scored at least 20 points.

Feb. 3, 1948—Dallas Ward named the 14th head coach in Colorado history, as it is athletic director Harry Carlson's most important hire as Ward will lead CU into the tough Big Seven Conference.

Oct. 2, 1948—Colorado's first game as a member of the Big Seven. The Buffs lost 40-7 at Kansas.

Oct. 9, 1948—Buffs' dramatic 19-6 upset of Nebraska in Boulder was Dallas Ward's first win as coach, and Colorado's first win in the Big Seven.

Track coach Frank Potts took over coaching the gridders, as the payment to Oakes depleted the salary budget for the 1940 staff. Potts had been a football assistant since he arrived at CU in 1927, was popular among the players, and knew the system. It would give Carlson time to search for a successor if Potts didn't take on the role permanently.

The '40 Buffaloes logged a 5-3-1 record, tying for second in the conference, and Carlson offered the job to Potts, who declined. In came Jim Yeager, who had been head coach at Iowa State for four years. His first CU team was 3-4-1, though opened league play with three straight wins.

Now familiar with the program and the surroundings, Yeager's 1942 Buffs stormed to a 7-2 mark, sharing the league title with Utah, but the Utes had won the head-to-head battle 13-0. The future seemed bright, but football was soon to take a back seat to the events of the world.

The United States was fully involved in World War II by the end of that season, and athletes from all schools were now members of the various armed services. Those left on campus were players too young to be drafted or were rejected for one reason or another. Yeager remained the head coach for the '43 season, but would rejoin the Navy after the season.

It was common for colleges not to travel far during the war years of 1943 through 1945, often supplementing the schedule with teams from area service bases. Quite often, schools would square off against their former players who were assigned nearby.

The conference schedule was reduced to just two games in 1943 and 1944, with CU defeating Utah twice to claim the '43 title and posted wins over the Utes and Denver to win the '44 crown. But no one really celebrated these fairly undistinguished seasons or titles. Potts took over the team in Yeager's absence for the '44 and '45 seasons, with CU denied a third straight league championship with a season-ending 14-8 loss at Denver to the eventual champ Pioneers.

Yeager returned as did many of the players for the 1946 season, as CU regained the services of such heralded players as tackle Paul Briggs and ends Ed Pudlik and John Zisch. After opening with a 13-7 win over Yeager's old team, Iowa State, CU traveled to Texas where it was dealt a 76-0 thrashing to the Longhorns. Some say the team didn't recover for two full seasons. Inconsistent play marred the last two years of Yeager's reign, often with the Buffs struggling to put two good performances back-to-back. The '46 and '47 teams combined to go 9-9-1, and Yeager had lost his love for coaching. He resigned shortly after the '47 campaign and would become one of Boulder's leading businessmen until his death in 1971.

It also signaled the end of an era on several fronts: the war was fully behind the country, a new breed of younger coaches who embraced recruiting challenges had taken over, and locally, CU's days in the Mountain States Conference had come to and end. Colorado had been accepted into the Missouri Valley Intercollegiate Athletic Association, also known as the Big Six. It was now the Big Seven.

Carlson was now faced with making the most important hire of his two decade career as athletic director. He needed someone to both lead Colorado into its new conference waters as well as to stem the tide of quick coaching regimes; four different men had piloted the football team over the previous 16 seasons, not including the Potts-Yeager multiple terms due to World War II. CU needed consistency.

Carlson had long lobbied for CU to make the move into a tougher conference, with eyes specifically on the Big Six to the east, and the move was met with quite a bit of controversy. While there was eager anticipation of CU's impending move to the highest level of college athletics, many had doubts that the school could pull it off, particularly in football. They pointed to CU's 2-8-2 record against Big Six teams in the years leading up to the move, though all but two of the defeats had been closely contested.

Thus it was a surprise that the search for the Buffs' new football coach didn't generate that much excitement, likely due to CU's nine losses over the '46 and '47 seasons, its most in a two-year span in 20 years. Two candidates for the position were head coaches in the east, Dudley DeRoot at West Virginia and Bill Glassford at New Hampshire. Both eventually headed west, DeRooy to New Mexico and Glassford to Nebraska, but neither was Colorado's man.

Carlson settled on a 42-year old assistant from the University of Minnesota who had an impressive pedigree. Dallas Ward, who played end at Oregon State in the 1920s and coached for nine seasons in the Minneapolis high school ranks, had learned under one of the best in Bernie Bierman, and when Minnesota was a national powerhouse. He had a reputation of having a great offensive mind, was extremely well organized, and was considered a great recruiter. Though possessing a gruff exterior, Ward also had one quality Carlson appreciated: those who played for him generated a lasting devotion and loyalty to the man. After nine years as an assistant under Bierman, helping contribute to the Gophers powerful single-wing offense, he was ready to run his own program.

His first game was on Sept. 25, 1948, at home against a New Mexico team coming off a 4-5-1 season with few expectations of doing much, if any better. Backs Harry Narcisian, Malcolm Miller and Don Hagin all showed some promise, but CU never really got untracked in losing 9-6 to a Lobo team that would win just once more the rest of the season.

Colorado had officially became a member of the Big Seven Conference on Dec. 1, 1947, and its winter and spring sports teams would participate in their new league before the football team. The basketball squad had an inauspicious start, losing its first six conference games, and CU's first football game as a league member was no different, as the Buffs traveled to Kansas and returned to Boulder on the wrong side of a 40-7 score.

Two games, two losses. But the Buffaloes were starting to fully understand the intricacies of the single wing offense. Once mastered, ball control would become CU's trait, so much so that in the 10-plus seasons that followed under Ward, the Buffs would lose just four games by a bigger margin than the 33-point setback at KU, two at the hands of mighty Oklahoma.

Fortunately, Colorado fans didn't have to wait any longer for Ward's first win, and it came against a future nemesis and eventual rival in Nebraska. The Cornhuskers came to Boulder a heavy favorite, but Narcisian, also nicknamed "Roaring Twenty" as that as his uniform number, threw two touchdown passes and had 195 yards of total offense to lead CU to a 19-6 win. The Buffaloes had amassed 374 yards on offense, its most in two seasons, while holding Nebraska to just 150.

The following week, the Buffs scored their quickest ever in a game (15 seconds in), a mark that would stand for 22 seasons, when Ed Pudlik recovered an Iowa State fumble in the end zone for a 7-0 CU lead. But the Cyclones stormed back for an 18-7 verdict, and the euphoria from the Nebraska win subsided and was replaced by a rollercoaster ride the rest of the year. CU bounced back with an impressive 51-7 win over Kansas State, rushing for 267 yards and six touchdowns, then split two games with old rivals from the Mountain States Conference, losing 14-12 at Utah and besting Utah State, 28-14. CU led No. 20 Missouri 7-0 at halftime in Columbia, but would succumb 27-13, and Ward's first season came to a close with a 29-25 loss to Colorado A&M.

Though CU couldn't string two wins together at any point in what amounted to a 3-6 season, the dominance over Nebraska made the rest of the conference take notice. CU won two of five league games and finished a respectable fourth in the league standings, but due to scheduling issues, CU did not play Oklahoma in its first two years of Big Seven play. That was no doubt likely a good omen at the time.

The 1948 season was a transitory one, and a senior-dominated team at that, with the '49 Buffaloes a mixture of Ward recruits and inexperienced upperclassmen trying more or less to survive the season. CU opened by exacting some revenge against Kansas, toppling the Jayhawks 13-12 in Boulder in what would be the Buffs' lone league win of the year. CU finished 1949 with a 3-7 mark, its two other wins coming against old RMAC and MSC pals Utah and Utah State. CU was in every loss but one until the end, with Colorado A&M once again polishing off the Buffs' year on a sour note with a second straight win in Boulder, this time by a 14-7 score.

Colorado had now suffered three straight losing seasons for the first time in its football history.

1950s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 21, 1950—Zack Jordan highlights Buffaloes' 28-25 win over Arizona in Boulder by setting an NCAA punting record: six punts for 343 yards, an average of 57.2 a kick.

Nov. 17, 1951—Colorado's 36-14 win at Nebraska is the first national television appearance by the Buffaloes.

Sept. 20, 1952—Buffaloes beat San Jose State, 20-14, for the 300th win in Colorado history.

Sept. 27, 1952—Colorado ties Oklahoma in Boulder, 21-21, to give Oklahoma one of only two blemishes in its 75 conference game unbeaten streak which started in 1946 and ended in 1959.

Nov. 20, 1954—Carroll Hardy sets a national record rushing for 238 yards on just 10 attempts in a 38-14 win over Kansas State.

Jan. 1, 1957—Colorado wins its first ever bowl game, a 27-21 victory over Clemson in the 1957 Orange Bowl at Miami.

Oct. 11, 1958—Howard Cook ties Byron White's record by scoring 25 points against Arizona in Tucson. Cook scored four touchdowns and kicked one extra point to lead the Buffaloes to a 65-12 rout of the Wildcats.

Feb. 9, 1959—Sonny Grandelius named the 15th head coach in CU history.

Sept. 19, 1959—Colorado dons its black jerseys for the first time in a 21-12 home loss to Washington.

Nov. 28, 1959—CU defeats Air Force in Boulder, 15-7, to close the season; spectators include Byron White and his guest, president candidate John F. Kennedy. To this day, the only game attended in Boulder by a U.S. president, prior to, during or after his term in office.

There was reason for optimism heading into 1950, as the team now spouted several savvy veterans and some ready-to-blossom underclassmen like backs Merwin Hodel, Tom Brookshier and Zack Jordan, the latter also a fine punting specialist, ends Chuck Mosher and Don Branby, tackle Dick Punches and guard Jack Swigert. But a season-opening 14-7 loss at Iowa State, in which the Cyclones scored two touchdowns late to steal the win, and a 27-21 setback at Kansas sandwiched a 34-6 triumph in the home opener over Kansas State had CU off to a 1-2 start.

What was alarming to followers is that CU was piling up losses in near-miss fashion, mostly due to the team fading in the second half and down the stretch in particular. The loss at KU epitomized that, as CU led 21-0 midway through the third quarter before watching the Jayhawks score four touchdowns in the game's final 20 minutes, the winning TD coming with 1:30 remaining.

So when Colorado led Nebraska 14-0 at halftime in the fourth game of the year, fans were still holding their breath. This time around, Punches recovered a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown that sealed a 28-19 Buff win. A week later against Arizona, CU again jumped to a 14-0 lead but needed a 77-yard Hodel scoring run in the fourth quarter to ice a 28-25 win. Colorado was now 3-2, the first time it had climbed over .500 more than one game into the season during Ward's brief tenure.

CU remained one game above even with a 20-20 tie on the road at Utah, having rallied to tie the game on a 45-yard interception return by Branby. The Buffs had a chance at winning, but Lee Venzke's 32-yard field goal sailed wide and Colorado returned home from Salt Lake City with the task of preparing to face the nation's No. 3 ranked team.

Oklahoma had long been considered one of the nation's top programs, and the Buffs and Sooners had a limited history, playing four times previous to being members of the same conference. OU had won three, but all were hard-fought battles.

The Sooners came riding high into Boulder, not only as the third-ranked team in the land, but also riding a 26-game winning streak. Ward's teams would go 0-8-1 against Oklahoma during his tenure, an era where most teams would do the same (more likely 0-9), with Bud Wilkinson's Sooners the team of the decade. But CU was a thorn in the side to the Sooner almost every one of those games, and the first encounter in 1950 was no exception.

Jordan pinned Oklahoma deep in its own territory in the opening minutes, punting the ball dead on the Sooner 2. That eventually led to CU winning the early field position battle and a Hodel run had CU ahead, 6-0, though Venzke missed the extra point (he'd miss all three on the day). Oklahoma grabbed the halftime lead, 13-6, led 20-12 after three and held off the Buffaloes in winning, 27-18. The Sooners' option game rolled up 351 yards on the ground, one of the highest totals ever against CU at the time. Still, it was the closest league game of the season for the Sooners, which won the 1950 national championship.

Missouri dealt CU a 21-19 setback in the final conference contest of the season, the first of several times in the 1950s the Tigers would face the Buffs the week following the emotional Oklahoma game. And Missouri took full advantage of that fact, going 4-0-2 versus CU on those occasions, three of the wins by eight points or less. In the first of such instances, Colorado had dominated Missouri most of the game, had a 17-2 edge in first downs at one point on the way to a season-high 405 yards of total offense, but a late TD after a questionable pass interference call on Brookshier set Mizzou up for the winning touchdown.

Now 3-4-1, with a 2-4 record in Big Seven play for a second straight sixth place league finish, CU had non-league games Oregon and Colorado A&M left to play. Wins would give Ward his first winning season at Colorado, and the school's first in four years.

Jordan led the nation in punting with a record 48.2 average, bolstered by a 55.0 average on four punts in a 21-7 win over Oregon in Boulder. Jordan, a talented halfback who threw the majority of passes in CU's single-wing offensive attack, was never honored as an All-American for his punting accomplishments, though he would make first-team All-Big Seven as a senior in 1952.

Last up was the rivalry game with the Aggies, and two years of frustration on the Buffaloes' part was obvious as CU thumped A&M, 31-6. The Buffs had 401 yards on offense, 271 on the ground, holding A&M to just 139 yards in the process. Jim Dalthorp intercepted a pitch and returned it 30 yards for a touchdown in the second half to put an exclamation point on the win, scoring in one of the more unusual ways that can be done in the sport.

Year three of the Dal Ward era was now in the books as was his first winning campaign. CU was just 11-17-1 at this point under him, but a foundation had been built. The Buffaloes had 1,162 yards on offense including just under 800 rushing yards in the final three weeks of the '50 season, both school all-time highs over a three-game span. The offense was now fully understood by the players, and improvement on defense was evident.

Starting in 1951, Colorado began an eight-year run under Ward where it would post a collective 52-24-5 record. While the Big Seven was often referred to as "Oklahoma and the six dwarfs," the Buffaloes were a tough second banana to the Sooners and were generally considered as the conference's next best team the entire decade.

It is often said that you can't judge a football coach until his fourth season, when his first recruiting class comes into full bloom. The '51 Buffaloes, Ward's fourth team, went 7-3, the most wins in almost a decade, going back to the '42 squad and its 7-2 mark. More important was the second place finish in the Big Seven, the first of seven second or third place conference finishes the remainder of Ward's tenure.

The entire starting offensive backfield returned in 1951, and by season's end, Hodel (597 yards), Ron Johnson (455), Carroll Hardy (423), Woody Shelton (417) and Ralph Curtis (233) were the main weapons in leading the Buffs to a school record 2,516 rushing yards (a figure that two other Ward teams down the road would obliterate). Players like sophomores Dick Knowlton (guard) and Gary Knafelc (end) would become entrenched as three-year starters.
But there were still concerns about the defense, and the first two games proved those valid. CU built a 14-0 lead in the opener over Colorado A&M, only to see the Aggies pull to within one in the fourth quarter before two late scores fueled a 28-13 win. Northwestern then used two long pass plays to jump to a quick 14-0 lead in the first four minutes of the next game, cruising to a 35-14 win. CU had split its first two games of the season for third straight year, and the result in all three previous game threes was a loss … and No. 20 ranked Kansas was headed into town for the first conference game of the year.

It marked just the fifth ranked opponent CU had ever played at the time, but the Buffaloes held their own in the first four, owning leads at one time in all. This time, CU would lead from start to finish. Jordan's 2-yard touchdown run just six minutes in got the Buffs on the scoreboard first, and the lead grew to 14-0 on a nifty 65-yard punt return, one which featured a reverse from Shelton to Brookshier. KU clawed back to 14-13 by halftime, but TD runs from Johnson and Venzke upped the lead to 28-20 with four minutes left in the game. Venke scored again less than minute later following a KU turnover, and CU went on to a 35-27 victory.

TIMEOUT / FRED CASOTTI

In 1952, one of the school's all-time great personalities arrived on the CU scene. Fred "The Count" Casotti was hired as sports information director, and he would begin a five-decade love affair with his alma mater. A '49 graduate in journalism, the SID job opened up in the summer and athletic director Harry Carlson took a chance on the sports editor with CU ties from a small newspaper in Iowa.

Casotti served 16 years as SID, another 20 as associate athletic director, and then 14 more as the school's historian until his death in 2001. As creative as they came, he penned poems and limericks in his weekly news releases that helped garner CU national attention; the press couldn't wait to see what prose he included in his latest mailing. Casotti wrote three books on Colorado football, including the classic Football CU* Style, the asterisk defining CU as "Casotti Uncensored."

He was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame in 1996 and posthumously into the state of Colorado Sports Hall of Fame in 2002 and CU's Athletic Hall of Fame in 2006.

He passed away the night before a big game against Texas A&M in CU's 2001 Big 12 title run, and a mysterious Aggie fumble and subsequent CU recovery and return for a score saved a 31-21 win. It prompted assistant coach John Wristen to say postgame, "You know that fumble at the end … (glances upward) … Thank you, Fred."

The KU win sparked the Buffs in their next two games. Curtis rushed for 121 yards and three touchdowns on just 14 carries, leading CU to a 34-13 romp over Missouri. The defense then played one of its finest games of the season, holding Kansas State to just 41 plays in a 20-7 win in Manhattan, Colorado's first Big Seven conference road win after eight losses.

And with a 3-0 league record, the Buffaloes were atop the standings and squarely in the title picture. An unranked, 2-2 Oklahoma team was next, though the Sooners had won their only Big Seven game.

CU was confident but not cocky heading in, though the fans were optimistic, but what transpired could have set the program back. Sooner quarterback (and future CU coach and athletic director) Eddie Crowder, an option master not known for his throwing prowess, threw three first quarter touchdown passes that covered 27, 67 and 38 yards to build a 27-0 lead. Oklahoma went on to win, 55-14, with Crowder passing for 189 yards and four scores.

A key point in Ward's career, a lesser team could have folded the tent. However, the Buffs reeled off three straight wins, one of which was a 54-0 demolishing of Utah where CU set school records for rushing yards (452) and total offense (627). The seventh win of the year came in the league finale at Nebraska, the first televised game in school history. The Buffs did not disappoint, and with 2,000 fans making the trip from Colorado, Hardy and Hodel both rushed for over 100 yards in a 36-14 win, which gave CU sole possession of second place in the conference, behind Oklahoma.

A season-ending 45-7 loss at No. 2 Michigan State didn't damper the overall optimism. Most of the '51 team was back for 1952, and Colorado had established itself as a legitimate conference contender.

A lackluster 20-14 win over San Jose State opened the '52 campaign, though the Buff ground game was as advertised, piling up 350 yards. But it was hardly the kind of game CU wanted with No. 4 Oklahoma coming to town the following week, with the Sooners riding a 26-game conference winning streak.

Jordan played one of his finest games, as the 5-11, 180-pound senior scored all three CU touchdowns as he went toe-to-toe with OU's Billy Vessels, the 1952 Heisman Trophy winner. But his real weapon was his right leg, as he averaged 56.0 yards on seven punts, including quick-kick boomers of 72, 77 and 78 yards which enabled CU to control field position.

It was a see-saw battle from the start, and neither team led by more than a single score. Oklahoma tied it at 21 with 1:51 to play. Colorado drove into OU territory in the waning seconds, but time ran out after Frank Bernardi's 22-yard run to the Sooner 21, before the Buffs could run another play or try a game winning field goal.

OU went on to win its next 45 league games, and in the 10-year history of the Big Seven (it became the Big Eight in 1958), the Sooners were 57-0-1 in conference play with just that one blemish, courtesy of Colorado.

CU then hit the road for a game at ninth-ranked Kansas. In a statistically even game it came down to defense, and the Jayhawks not once but twice stopped CU at their 1-yard line in a 21-12 win. The 1-1-1 start could have been so much more, which could have given the Buffs their first-ever national ranking. Despite a 5-1-1 finish for a 6-2-2 overall record, CU had to wait two more years for that milestone to occur.

Frustrated by a 2-2-2 mark and fourth place finish in the Big Seven, CU took out its frustration on Colorado A&M in the season finale. A 61-0 rout of the Aggies saw the Buffs rush for 422 yards and six touchdowns on offense, while the defense intercepted six passes and held A&M to just 86 total yards.

Colorado slipped to 6-4 in 1953, which included a tumble to sixth in the league with a 2-4 record, though it marked the first time under Ward that the Buffs won their first two games. Sitting at 0-3 in the conference prior to its game at ninth-ranked Oklahoma, many expected some serious OU payback for the '52 tie. The Buffs battled and with the single-wing offense producing 277 yards and three touchdowns on the ground, CU tied the game with 90 seconds remaining. But Merrill Green's 51-yard TD run with 36 seconds on the clock rallied the Sooners for a 27-20 win.

Though coming close again against OU, the Buffs became motivated for the remainder of the year, pocketing four straight wins to polish off the season. Included on the back end were road wins at Nebraska (14-10) and Colorado A&M (13-7).

That carried into 1954, as the Buffs opened with five straight wins to extend the win streak to nine, the longest since a 15-game run over the 1923-24 seasons, and opened 5-0 for the first time since 1937. Colorado did not allow a point in its first three wins (61-0 over Drake, 46-0 versus Colorado A&M and 27-0 at Kansas), and following a 40-18 win at Arizona, CU achieved a new pinnacle in program history.

Going into the next game at Iowa State, Colorado was a ranked team, appearing at No. 17, and the Buffs responded with their fourth shutout in five games, blanking the Cyclones, 20-0. CU climbed to No. 11, and had Nebraska and Oklahoma at Folsom Field up next.

But it all derailed the following week, when the Cornhuskers shocked CU, 20-6. Bowl hopes were dashed seven days later when the Sooners scored twice in the fourth quarter in rallying to a 13-6 win. CU salvaged a 19-19 tie at Missouri in the next game, the Buffs saved from a loss when Bernardi blocked a game winning extra point try literally with his face. He suffered a broken nose. Wins at Utah and versus Kansas State produced a 7-2-1 season record, but Nebraska edged the Buffs for second in the league and earned an invitation over the Buffs to the Orange Bowl with Oklahoma ineligible to return (teams could not go two seasons in a row to a bowl in the 1950s).

Behind sophomore John "The Beast" Bayuk, CU rushed for a school record 3,160 yards, topping 400 in four games. Bayuk had 824 of the yards, the most by a Buff since Byron White led the nation in 1937. In his final game, Hardy set a national record with 238 yards on just 10 attempts in CU's 38-14 thumping of Kansas State; CU as a team had 493 on 36 tries, or 13.7 yards per carry, in the rout.

Hardy would go on to the play professional football and baseball, becoming famous when he became the only player to pinch-hit for Ted Williams.

The '55 season was a near carbon copy. Colorado won its first four games, appeared in the rankings at No. 20 after the third win, and zoomed to No. 14 following the fourth. Next on the calendar, a date at No. 3 Oklahoma. CU stormed to a 14-0 lead, only to see the Sooners rally for a 21-14 halftime lead en route to a 56-21 thrashing. All told, CU lost four of its last six and finished 6-4, and once again placed third in the league.

A 35-0 loss to Oregon in the '56 season opener, on the heels of a 10-0 setback to Colorado A&M that ended the '55 campaign had Ward feeling the heat. A five-game winning streak quelled the critics, and CU was poised to enter the rankings again, but was staring No. 1 Oklahoma in the face … and coming off a 40-0 win at Notre Dame.

CU was ready and sprinted to a 19-6 halftime lead, but as often was the case, Oklahoma rallied. The Sooners scored two third quarter touchdowns, the first aided by a fourth down conversion from their own 28, and then tacked on a clinching score with 5:29 left to win 27-19. The pollsters were still impressed with the Buffaloes and ranked them No. 18. Oklahoma went on to win the national championship.

Also as usual, Missouri was CU's next foe after Oklahoma and the Tigers seized on the Buffs' OU hangover and forged a 14-0 lead. With OU ineligible again for the Orange Bowl, the winner of the CU-MU game would earn the invitation.

In 1955, CU had its first black football player make the varsity, a transfer from Trinidad (Colo.) Junior College, end Frank Clarke. He made his presence felt, leading CU in receiving in his junior and senior seasons, but especially this day against the Tigers. His 17-yard touchdown reception from Boyd Dowler shaved the Mizzou lead to 14-7 in the third quarter. Then aided by a personal foul call against Missouri for punching Bayuk, who had bit the forearm of the player after it drove inside his faceguard, a fourth quarter drive was kept alive and Dowler found Clarke again on an 18-yard TD play, with Ellwin Indorf's PAT kick giving CU a 14-14 tie.

CU earned the league's Orange Bowl bid by virtue of the tie, as CU finished 4-1-1 and Missouri 3-2-1. The Buffs tuned up for the bowl with wins over Utah and Arizona, an re-entered the polls at No. 20. A see-saw Orange Bowl against Clemson, starting with CU taking a 20-0 lead only to see the "other" CU go ahead 21-20 early in the fourth quarter, did end on a good note for the Buffs as a 1-yard TD run by Bayuk with 7:13 to go paved the way for a 27-21 win and an 8-2-1 record.

Expectations were at an all-time high, but a 6-3-1 record in 1957, with a 14-13 loss at Oklahoma thanks to a blocked PAT, and subsequent 9-6 loss to Missouri put a damper on a season which CU led the nation in rushing with 3,224 yards. Senior Bob Stransky was the school's third thousand yard rusher, finishing with 1,097 and earning All-America honors, while junior Eddie Dove was the master of the long play, with a 90-yard run and 80-yard reception for touchdowns.

Different season, same story inasmuch as 1958 was concerned. A 5-0 start, which featured a 65-12 throttling of Arizona in Tucson, had CU ranked No. 9 in the nation. The game six opponent … No. 7 Oklahoma … CU took a 7-0 lead … OU rallied to win, 23-7.

Colorado lost four of its last five games, save for only a 7-0 win at Utah. But it was the last two that sealed Ward's fate. CU led rival Colorado State (the Aggies were no longer A&M) 14-7 in the fourth quarter, but lost 15-14 when CSU scored a touchdown with 4:29 left, and then used the new two-point PAT to take the lead. Then in the finale against Air Force, in just its third year of varsity football, the Buffs thoroughly dominated the 7-0-1 Falcons. CU outgained them 420-160, but fumbled 12 times, losing seven, and a late AFA score on an intercepted pitch gave the Zoomies a 20-14 victory.

One highlight of the year was guard John Wooten earning All-America accolades, the first black CU football player to earn the distinction.

On January 23, 1959 the Regents voted 5-1 to dismiss Ward, saying only that it was "in the best interests of the university." The anti-Ward people in the minority rejoiced, but the pro-Ward faction was furious.

The Regents refused to reconsider the move and the process set forth to hire the school's 15th head football coach. The wish list includes a few head coaches and some notable assistants, with Michigan State aide Everett "Sonny" Grandelius quickly rising to the top. The 29-year old was officially named the new CU boss on February 9.

There weren't many expectations for the '59 season; the '58 team was peppered with seniors, and while CU had a solid sophomore class, the Buffs were largely inexperienced.

Grandelius brought change, jettisoning the single-wing for the T-Formation, in addition to one of the most distinctive moves in school history: the Buffaloes scrapped their old gold jerseys for black and silver uniforms. The black has remained since, sans a five year period from 1980-84 when the Regents meddled and forced all athletic teams to wear "Colorado sky blue at 9,000 feet." Whatever that meant; no move before or since had upset the alumni so.

The Buffs lost their first three games under Grandelius, a grueling opening run of Washington, Baylor and Oklahoma. As with any new coach, it takes time to figure out the new schemes and game action is the best way to learn. Colorado broke through in his fourth game with a 20-17 win over Kansas State, but took a step back the next week with a 27-0 loss to Iowa State; the irony being that the Cyclones were one of the last teams to run the single-wing.

CU won four of its final five, including a 21-20 win over Missouri. The Tigers had gone 15-1-2 against the Buffaloes since 1938 but with a reworked schedule, didn't get CU the week after the Buffs battled Oklahoma (though that format returned one year later for the next seven years). A 15-7 win over Air Force capped the season, with Colorado finishing 5-5. The Buffs finished third in the conference with a 3-3 mark, and also developed a solid quarterback in sophomore Gale Weidner, who had made the transition from 6-man football as a high schooler.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Nov. 4, 1961—Buffs edge Missouri, 7-6. SID Fred Casotti awarded the game ball, in what was the first nationally televised game from Boulder.

Nov. 18, 1961—Buffs shut out Nebraska in Lincoln, 7-0, and hold the Huskers to 31 yards total offense and no first downs.

Jan. 1, 1962—Colorado makes its second appearance in the Orange Bowl, but falls to LSU, 25-7.

Mar. 27, 1962—Bud Davis named the 16th head coach in Buff history, replacing Sonny Grandelius after NCAA violations put CU on probation.

Dec. 15, 1962—Joe Romig becomes fourth Colorado player to be awarded a Rhodes Scholarship.

Jan. 3, 1963—Eddie Crowder named the 17th head coach in Colorado history.

Nov. 22, 1963—CU and Air Force postpone their game for the following day as the country mourns the death of President John F. Kennedy. The game is played two weeks later on December 7 (Air Force won, 17-14).

July 1, 1965—Crowder assumes duties as Athletic Director as well as head coach.

May 7, 1967—Joe Romig's jersey number "67" retired at annual spring game.

Dec. 23, 1967—Colorado topples Miami, 31-21, to capture its first-ever Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston.

Oct. 4, 1969—Buffs beat Indiana in raging blizzard, 30-7, in Boulder. Bobby Anderson switched from quarterback to tailback for first time.

Oct. 11, 1969—Colorado blanks Iowa State, 14-0, to win its 400th game in history.

Dec. 13, 1969—Buffs top Alabama, 47-33, to win the Liberty Bowl at Memphis. Bobby Anderson rushes for 254 yards, and gains 295 in total offense as game's MVP.

The 1960 season started with a 26-0 loss at Baylor, but CU bounced back to win the next five, topped off by a 7-0 win over Oklahoma, finally its' first over the Sooners since becoming a fellow conference member. CU, 5-1 overall and 4-0 in the Big Eight, had set up a showdown at No. 2 ranked Missouri.

Colorado scored first, taking an early 6-0 lead on a 38-yard pass from Weidner to Gary Henson, and then drove to the Tiger 4-yard line after a turnover but could not punch it in. From that point on, Missouri showed why it was the second best team in the nation, grinding out a physical 16-6 win. The contest was a defensive battle (neither team gained 200 yards), and CU suffered several injuries in the game, most notably to All-America guard Joe Romig.
Mizzou won the Big Eight, while CU finished second with a 5-2 league record, splitting its last two encounters. The banged-up Buffs were outmanned at Kansas, dropping a 34-6 decision, but rallied for a 13-6 win over Oklahoma State, playing a league schedule in football for the first time. The final mark for the year was 6-4, as Air Force bested CU in the finale, also by a 16-6 score.

CU, Missouri and Kansas were the cream of the conference crop in 1961. Colorado had some offensive weapons to contend with, starting with Weidner, ends Jerry Hillebrand and Ken Blair, and halfbacks Teddy Woods and Bill Harris.

The Buffs got the first leg up on the other two when they rallied from a 19-0 deficit early in the fourth quarter for a 20-19 win. CU won its next three, climbing to 4-0 in league play and to No. 8 in the nation. Missouri opened 5-0-1, including three league wins, rising to No. 10; the two met in Boulder on Nov. 4, with the league title on the line.

Colorado was hungry and had been playing good defense, and an early score paved the way for a 7-6 win over the Tigers. But any chance of moving substantially higher in the rankings were dashed the following week with a 21-12 loss at old rival Utah, though the Buffs came back and won its final three games and earned a spot opposite Louisiana State in the Orange Bowl. CU had won its first Big Eight title, going undefeated in league play and finishing the year with as the sixth-ranked team in the land. Romig repeated as an All-American and earned a Rhodes Scholarship, with Hillenbrand also garnering All-American accolades.

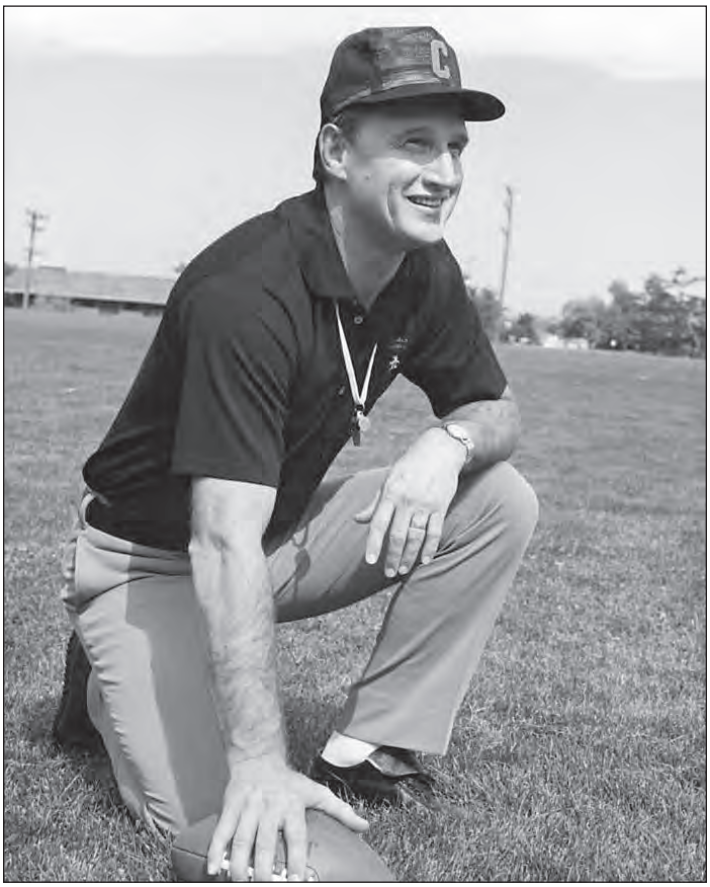

No. 4 LSU got the best of the Buffaloes in the bowl game, dominating the trenches in a 25-7 win. The New Year's Day loss was just the first in a wave of bad news over a three month stretch. NCAA sanctions rocked the school after the '61 season; the organization had began its probe into Grandelius' program the summer prior to the season, and the school was placed on two years probation and had 21 players declared ineligible.

Grandelius had been dismissed prior to the penalties, on March 17, 1962, in hopes that the NCAA would take some mercy. It did not. In a surprise hire for his replacement, alumni director William "Bud" Davis was named the new coach 10 days later. He had been a very good high school coach in South Dakota, and had been a backup quarterback on Dal Ward's first three CU teams. He immediately named Ward, who had remained at the school as a teacher, one of his assistants.

The '62 season was one of the ugliest in school history. With a depleted roster, the Buffs managed only a 2-8 record, six of the losses by 20 or more points that included horrifying defeats at Iowa State (57-19) and Missouri (57-0) and the worst home loss ever, 62-0 to Oklahoma. Only a 6-0 win over Kansas State the second week of the season, and a 34-10 romp over Air Force in the finale had CU on the good side of the scoreboard. In the latter, Davis announced his resignation to his team the night before the game and the players were fired up to send him out a winner.

But CU was left looking to for the fourth man to lead its program over a six-year period. Carlson once against would look east, though a little more to the south this time. It was quite a task in selecting Colorado's new coach, especially with three-ex head coaches still on the payroll, two in non-athletic capacities in Dal Ward and Davis, who had become dean of men, and Grandelius, terminated due to the NCAA violations. All had different-sized factions allegiant to them; had there been such a thing as 'Buff Nation' in the day, it was divided into three.

Carlson was allowed to make the decision on his own without Board of Regents interference, and the choice was easy. Eddie Crowder, of Oklahoma pedigree and a candidate for the position in 1959 until he withdrew, was hired on Jan. 2, 1963. There was no way to know at the time that the selection of the 31-year old Crowder would shape CU athletics over the next four decades.

Crowder now had the responsibility of healing the fan base, rebuilding morale and most important, rebuilding the program. Seldom had Colorado ever been in a rebuilding mode, it was fortunate enough to always more or less reload. That was not the case now, with a depleted roster and the Big Eight Conference growing in stature.

Crowder, wise beyond his years, "promised no miracles and delivered none," SID Fred Casotti used to say. Rather, he methodically assessed all aspects of the program, and improved those needing so brick by brick.

Perhaps it was only fitting that his first game as CU's coach was against defending national champion Southern California, which also opened the '63 season ranked as the nation's No. 1 team. A muddy field, one that could not be moved, aided the Buffaloes with the Trojans leaving Boulder with just a 14-0 victory.

After a 41-6 beating by Oregon State in Portland, Crowder's Buffs got him his first win at Kansas State, and then a 25-0 verdict over Oklahoma State in Boulder evened CU's mark at 2-2. But that would be it for victories his rookie season. Colorado dropped its last six, including a season-ending 17-14 loss at Air Force that was delayed two weeks following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The 1964 season yielded a third straight 2-8 record for Colorado, and the losing streak reached 10 games with an 0-4 start, but winds of change were prevalent. Unlike Crowder's first season, which featured five losses by three or more touchdowns, this time around six of the defeats were by a touchdown or less. Just one was in decisive fashion, a 21-0 loss in the opener at USC, but the Trojans ran away from the Buffs late.

CU was competitive for the first time in three years, and ended '64 on a high note with a 28-23 win over Air Force. Also ending that season was the era of platoon football; starting in 1965, free substitution was permitted, leading to different starters on both offense and defense. Colorado's most notable player to stay on the defensive side of the ball was quarterback Hale Irwin, a future professional golfing legend. He became an all-conference safety but golf was his first love. In his last college performance, he won the NCAA championship.

Recruiting had gone well for Crowder, and coupled with CU's return to respectability on the field, things were buzzing again in Boulder. His 1965 Buffaloes featured one of the most talented groups of sophomores in school history, and they proved to be the backbone in a 6-2-2 season, which included a 4-2-1 record in the Big Eight, vaulting Colorado back into the league's first division. In Crowder's third year, CU was third, ending three years of narrowly escaping the conference basement with one sixth and two seventh place finishes.

Carlson, with the football program and the department back on solid footing, announced his retirement in 1965, and Crowder was the popular choice to replace him. Even though AD-football coach dual roles were disappearing, Eddie had learned under one of the best in Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma, and he eagerly accepted the offer to become just CU's second full-time athletic director.

The '65 team opened at Wisconsin with one of the last scoreless ties in college football history, then won three and tied another in starting the year 3-0-2. The first real test in Crowder's tenure came at Nebraska, but the No. 3 Huskers used a 95-yard pass play to break open a 10-6 game in the first half en route to a 38-13 win. Irwin had two interceptions and a goal-line tackle the next game as CU rebounded, winning 13-0 over Oklahoma giving Crowder his first win over his alma mater. No. 9 Missouri toppled the Buffs, which closed the year with wins over KU and Air Force, with only Nebraska and the Tigers ahead of CU in the conference standings. Colorado wasn't all the way back, but was well on the road to creating some memorable moments as well as team history over the next seven seasons.

Thirty lettermen returned in 1966, and Crowder's recruiting had gone so well that only three sophomores would make the starting lineup. The prospects for a banner season all seemed to line up in Colorado' favor, but Miami, Fla., socked the Buffs in the mouth in the opener, coming into Boulder and shutting down the CU offense and exiting with a 24-3 win.

CU righted things in game two, bouncing No. 10 Baylor in Waco 13-7 after the Bears had knocked off seventh-ranked Syracuse in their opener. Reserve linebacker Steve Graves' diving interception in the end zone in the final minute of play preserved the win. Several black players on the CU team (Baylor had none) were subject to racist taunts, and insults were even piped into the Colorado lockerroom over a speaker, infuriating the team and making this victory extra special for the Buffaloes.

The conference season produced some great moments and would confirm CU was all the way back as a school to be reckoned with. The Buffs posted four decisive wins over Kansas State, Iowa State, Missouri and Kansas, and rallied to beat Oklahoma (24-21), their second straight win over the Sooners. The two losses hurt, as CU wound up on the losing end by a combined three points. After the KSU win, even though Colorado was now 2-1 on the year, it has scored just 26 points in the three games.

Those troubles continued against Oklahoma State, though CU led 10-3 late in the game. The Cowboys drove 69 yards against a prevent defense, scored a touchdown and then won it with a 2-point conversion, 11-10. Crowder's staff decided to tinker with the offense, and the infusion of Dan Kelly was the answer. He ran the option to perfection in a 41-21 win at Iowa State, rushing for 156 yards and three scores and passing for 86 more. CU had two confident quarterbacks with distinct differences that caused opponents trouble the rest of the year.

CU returned home and had Nebraska on the ropes and owned a 19-6 lead with 13 minutes remaining, but the "prevent" did the Buffs in again, the Cornhuskers rallying for a 21-19 win. Colorado didn't tank it, however, won the last three league games convincingly to finish 5-2 for second place in the league, and then polished off a 7-3 season with a 10-9 win over Air Force. Junior Dick Anderson, who led the Buffs in interceptions (five) and was also the team's punter, aided the win by blocking a Falcon field goal try midway through the fourth quarter, which led to John Farler's 34-yard kick for the winning points.

Colorado had come "oh so close" to returning to the top of the conference mountain, and with all those '65 sophomores set to be seniors and a great freshman team graduating a new batch of rookies, 1967 shaped up to be a season to remember.

TIMEOUT / RALPHIE

A live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, leads the Colorado football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exist anywhere in college or professional sports, and is oft recognized as such. Its beginning is traced to 1966, when John Lowery, the father of a CU freshman from Lubbock, Texas, donated to the school a six-month old buffalo calf.

For a while, she was billed as "Rraalph," but the origin of the name remains in doubt. Some say it was given by the student body after sounds she allegedly made while running and snorting; others say it was named for Ralph Jay Wallace, the junior class president at the time; and the original handlers will tell a third version. Regardless, an astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

The initial tradition was for CU's five sophomore class officers to run the buffalo around the stadium in a full loop. They would run her for two hours to tire her a bit to help keep her under control by the time the game started. At the conclusion of the run, the fans would break into the "Buffalo Stomp," which would literally shake the stadium in deafening fashion as the team took the field. But CU officials soon had the tradition stopped because of the actual physical damage it was causing.

Around that same time, head coach Eddie Crowder was approached with the idea the charging buffalo running out on the field before the game with the team behind right her. Crowder thought it was a great idea, and the debut of this great tradition took place on October 28, 1967, CU's homecoming game against Oklahoma State. Though OSU won the game, 10-7, the tradition was here to stay, though those who had some training in such an endeavor as working with a wild animal eventually replaced the sophomores.

Ralphie achieved nationally celebrity status, and was even kidnapped in 1970 by some Air Force Academy students as well as being named the school's 1971 Homecoming Queen at the height of the anti-establishment era.

Ralphie II replaced the original Ralphie following the 1978 season, and Ralphies III and IV served the school well; Ralphie V was CU's latest live buffalo, debuting in 2008 at the annual spring game and retired after the 2019 season.

Something always foiled the Buffaloes from getting to the top, though. From 1965 through 1972, CU posted eight straight first division finishes in the Big Eight, finishing second twice, third four times and fourth on two occasions.

Nebraska had established itself as a national power, after a slight lull, Oklahoma returned to prominence, and both Kansas and Missouri ended the decade with good, if not great teams. Colorado was always in the mix, but never won or shared the title between its last in 1961 or its next in 1976. Other than KU and Mizzou sharing one title each, the top rung was owned exclusively by the Sooners or Huskers.

In '67, CU was so well thought of that it was the only Big Eight school in the Associated Press preseason poll, opening the year at No. 10. And the Buffs would live up to the billing, blitzing to a 5-0 start and zooming up to No. 3, trailing only Pacific 8 powers USC and UCLA. Colorado had never sniffed the top five before, so climbing to number three was a feather in Crowder's cap.

The Andersons, Dick and younger brother, sophomore quarterback Bobby, were just two of many stellar performers on the team; both would eventually be inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. Monte Huber blossomed at receiver, emerging as the favorite target of Anderson. William Harris, William Cooks and Larry Plantz were able ball carriers. Mike Montler, Bart Bortles, Bruce Heath, Kirk Tracy, Bill Csikos and Kile Morgan formed a great offensive line. Mike Schnitker, Ron Scott, Bill Brundige, Rocky Martin, Frank Bosch, Mike Veeder, Dave Bartelt and Kerry Mottl formed the defensive front. Charles Greer, Isaac Howard and Mike Bynum teamed with Anderson that produced a secondary that allowed 113 or fewer yards passing seven times.

Riding into Boulder for homecoming was Oklahoma State, essentially the same team that derailed the Buffs in '66. The Cowboys did it again (and would complete the hat trick in 1972). CU never got untracked, spotted OSU a 10-0 lead, and could only carve out a single score after Boulder's notorious winds picked up. The 'Pokes left town with a 10-7 win, and the Buffs dropped to ninth in the polls.

CU still had title aspirations, but those were wiped away in Norman when the Sooners shut down and shut out the Buffs, 23-0. Oklahoma used the win as a springboard to a final No. 3 ranking, while CU regrouped and had to rally to beat heavy underdog Kansas, 12-8. Colorado was 6-2, and this was the "hey day" of bowls extending invitations whenever they pleased after the November came around.

The Buffs accepted a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, opposite the same Miami team that upset them in Boulder in the '66 opener. Colorado steamrolled its final two opponents in the regular season, Kansas State (40-6) and Air Force (33-0), setting out to match the 1923 for the most wins in a single year in school history.

In the bowl, Bobby Anderson ignored a painful ankle injury and ignited a 31-21 win over the Hurricanes. He had missed the team bus to the stadium and had to hail a cab, with Crowder inserting him in place of Kelly to start the second half; he rushed for 108 yards and two scores. A see-saw affair with four lead changes, Anderson provided the go-ahead score on a 38-yard run with 6:55 remaining. But the win wasn't secure until Howard picked off a Miami pass at the UM 43, with Anderson then directing a 34-yard drive that ended with a Cooks 2-yard run with 1:02 left to play.

Despite the graduation of 24 seniors, good things were still expected in 1968. Colorado opened 4-2, capped off by a wild 41-27 win over Oklahoma; CU sprinted to a 34-6 halftime lead then held on for dear life after the Sooners scored three quick touchdowns in 10 minutes to make a game of it.

Unfortunately, the Buffs didn't grace the win column again the remainder of the season, losing the final four games starting with a 27-14 setback at third-ranked Kansas, the eventual conference champ. The year came to an end with a humiliating 58-35 loss to Air Force, as the Falcons dropped the Buffs to 4-6 for the season in rushing for 381 yards and amassing 530 overall. The two ceased playing following the 1974 season, and this would be the last win by AFA in the series.

CU opened 1969 with a resounding 35-14 win over Tulsa, with Bobby Anderson, now a senior and considered to be the best quarterback in the Big Eight, accounting for four touchdowns. But the Buffs were humbled the next game, falling at No. 2 Penn State, 27-3, though not a total shame since the Nittany Lions went on to have an undefeated season and held the second spot in the polls.

Big changes were in store for game three; with juniors Paul Arendt and Jimmy Bratten primed to play quarterback, and Anderson also being one of the nation's top runners, Crowder moved him to tailback. The move was unannounced until game time, and Anderson responded with 161 yards and three touchdowns in a 30-7 drubbing of Indiana. The Buffs then shutout Iowa State, getting great defensive efforts from Brundige and sophomore Herb Orvis. The pair combined for 36 tackles for loss with 22 quarterback sacks for the season, and was making a habit of living in opponent backfields.

A tough stretch of games loomed against Oklahoma, Missouri and Nebraska. The 12th-ranked Sooners won a shootout in Norman, 42-30, but the Buffs returned home and got the best of No. 5 Missouri, 31-24. Anderson scored three touchdowns and a timely interception by Phil Irwin thwarted the Tigers, but the win was costly with Anderson suffering a hip-pointer. The injury limited him in a 20-7 loss at Nebraska, paving the way for Missouri and Nebraska to be league co-champs.

Colorado won its last three league games to take third, and the Buffs accepted an invitation to play Alabama and its legendary coach, Bear Bryant, in the Liberty Bowl.

Anderson rushed for 954 yards during the regular season, and finished 11th in the Heisman Trophy race. He polished off his career by running for 254 more and three scores in leading CU to a 47-33 win over the Crimson Tide, with the Liberty one of the most exciting bowl games of the decade. Colorado sprinted to a 17-0 lead, but fell behind 33-31 before Anderson scored twice in the fourth quarter, sandwiched around a Brundige and Orvis sack of 'Bama QB Ned Hayden for a safety. CU finished the season 8-3 and ranked No. 16.

1970s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

May 9, 1970— Bobby Anderson's jersey number "11" is retired at annual spring game.

Sept. 26, 1970—Colorado pulls big upset in routing Penn State, 41-13, in Boulder, on national television. The win snapped a 23-game winning streak and 31-game unbeaten streak by the Nittany Lions.

Dec. 13, 1970—Buffs make return trip to Liberty Bowl but lose to Tulane, 17-3.

Sept. 11, 1971—Colorado opens season with dramatic upset of LSU at Baton Rouge, 31-21.

Sept. 25, 1971—Buffs keep rolling in '71, upset Ohio State at Columbus, 20-14.

Nov. 13, 1971—Charlie Davis sets a Colorado and Big Eight record by rushing for 342 yards in a 40-6 rout of Oklahoma State in Boulder.

Dec. 31, 1971—Colorado completes its best season ever with a 29-17 victory over the University of Houston in the 13th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl. Charlie Davis rushed for 202 yards in helping the Buffs to finish a 10-2-0 for the '71 season.

Jan. 3, 1972—Buffs voted the number three team in the country for the '71 season by Associated Press. It was the highest a Colorado team had ever ranked at the end of the season, United Press International tabbed Colorado seventh for the same season.

Oct. 21, 1972—Buffs upset No. 2 Oklahoma in Boulder, 20-14, before a national TV audience on ABC.

Dec. 30, 1972—Colorado loses to Auburn, 24-3, in its first Gator Bowl appearance.

Jan. 12, 1974—Bill Mallory named the 18th head coach in Colorado history.

Jan. 29, 1974—San Diego selects fullback Bo Matthews as the second overall pick in the NFL Draft, the highest a CU player has ever been selected.

Dec. 27, 1975—Texas rallies to defeat Colorado, 38-21, in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl.

Nov. 20, 1976—Colorado beats Kansas State at Manhattan, 35-28, to tie for Big Eight championship. Buffs go to Orange Bowl, however, by virtue of their wins over Oklahoma and Oklahoma State.

Jan. 1, 1977—Buffs make third trip to Orange Bowl, start strong with a 10-0 lead, but lose to Ohio State, 27-10.

May 1, 1977—The largest crowd in Folsom Field history for any event fills the stadium: 61,500 for the "Sun Day (No. 1)" concert series, featuring Fleetwood Mac, Bob Seger, Firefall and John Sebastian.

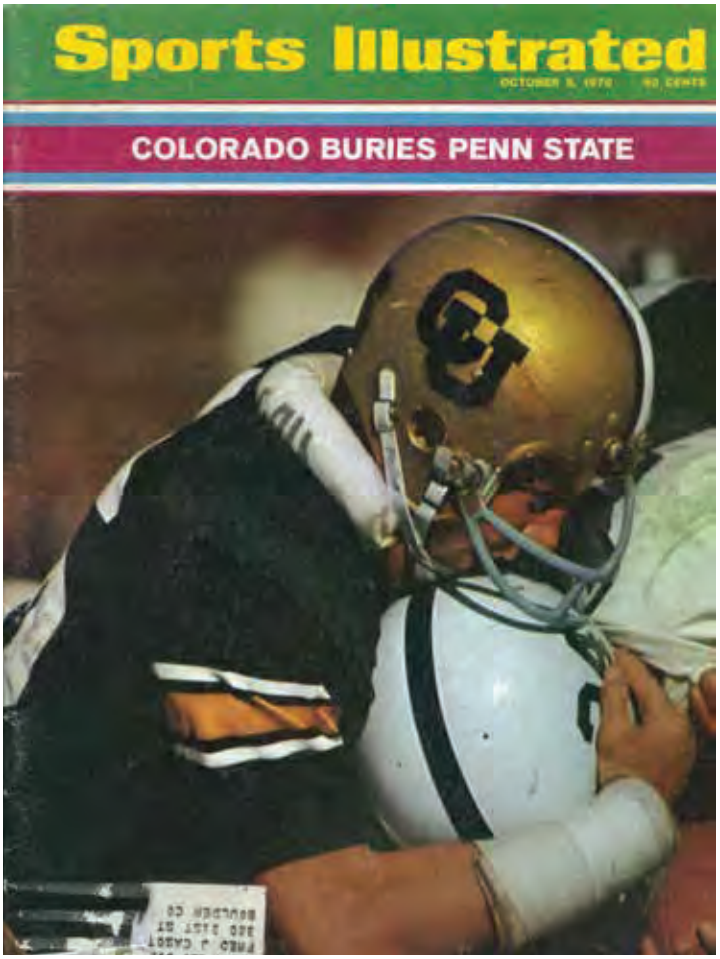

Nov. 4, 1978—Largest crowd at the time in Colorado home history, 53,553, see the Buffs fall short to No. 1 Oklahoma, 28-7.

Apr. 4, 1979—After months of legal wrangling, Chuck Fairbanks named the 19th head coach in Colorado history.

With 40 lettermen returning for 1970 plus the addition of one of the nation's top junior college players, Cliff Branch, now eligible, optimism was high and CU was a legitimate challenger for the Big Eight title. The Buffs opened on the road with a 16-9 win at Indiana, setting the stage for a nationally televised rematch on ABC with Penn State.

The Buffs entered the polls after the Indiana win at No. 18; Penn State was a top 10 regular, coming in at No. 4 and riding a 23-game winning streak and a 31-game unbeaten run. Pat Murphy made an interception for CU on the first play of the game, and the Buffs were off and running. Branch returned the second half kickoff 97 yards for a touchdown, and when the smoke cleared, Colorado had routed the Nittany Lions, 41-13, and had shocked the football world.

Linebacker Phil Irwin's battered helmet graced the cover of Sports Illustrated (above), the first time any Colorado Buffalo in any sport made the front page. And in a span of three games, Crowder defeated two future Hall of Fame coaches in Alabama's Bear Bryant and Penn State's Joe Paterno.

CU jumped 10 spots in the polls to No. 8, its largest gain in a single week in school history, but the celebration was short lived. Kansas State dealt the Buffs a 21-20 setback, with a solid Wildcat effort combined with some freak plays did the Buffs in, the last coming after CU pulled to within one late in the game only to have its reliable placekicker miss the game-tying PAT. Iowa State paid the price the next week, as Branch returned two punts for touchdowns (and had a third one called back) in a 61-10 rout.

The next three games frustration sank in, as an unranked Oklahoma team came into Boulder and won 23-15, with Missouri then knocking CU out of the top 20 with a 30-16 win. No. 4 Nebraska scored twice late and escaped Folsom with a 29-13 win, leaving CU 3-4 on the year and 1-4 in the league.

The Buffs came back to smack Kansas and Oklahoma State to finish fourth in the league standings, and smashed Air Force 49-19. The Falcons, bound for the Sugar Bowl, took an early 7-0 lead but the Buffaloes answered with the next 35, piling up an astonishing 438 yards … by halftime.

The finish earned CU a return invitation to the Liberty Bowl, but the Buffs accepted the bid on the assumption the opponent would be Arkansas or Mississippi. Instead, Tulane bartered its way into the game with a promise to buy 10,000 tickets, but the problem was that the Buffs took the Green Wave lightly. When that happens, the result usually isn't good and Tulane came away with a 17-3 win. Colorado ended the season with a 6-5 record, but Crowder had another fine crop of sophomores ready for their debut in '71.

And what a debut it would be. Veterans like Branch, Orvis, John Stearns, Cullen Bryant, Billie Drake, Carl Taibi and John Stavely were joined by sophomore stars-to-be Charlie Davis, Ken Johnson, J.V. Cain, Bo Matthews and Randy Geist among others. Nineteen seniors were the nucleus, 49 sophomores filled in the gaps. They had to meld quickly, because in CU's first three games of 1971, road contests lurked at No. 9 Louisiana State and No. 6 Ohio State.

Colorado started the season unranked; but after a 31-21 win at LSU and a 20-14 stunner in Columbus, sandwiched around the first game ever at Folsom Field on Astroturf, a 56-13 drubbing of Wyoming, the Buffs were 3-0 and ranked No. 6.

The Buffs improved to 5-0, with road games against No. 2 Oklahoma and No. 1 Nebraska ahead, and an always tough Missouri team in-between. The Sooners and Huskers got the best of the Buffs, but CU snared a win against The Tigers. Blowout wins over Kansas, Oklahoma State and Air Force improved the Buffs to 9-2, tying the school's season record for wins, and slotted CU at No. 7 in the polls.

How dominate was Colorado down the stretch? CU had 1,592 yards of offense, including 512 in the first half against Oklahoma State in a game where Davis rushed for a school record 342 yards, and allowed a paltry 637. The finish earned CU a berth in the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl against hometown and No. 15 Houston.

CU kept rolling, overpowering the Cougars 29-17 to post the school's first 10-win season. When the final votes were tabulated, a first in college football occurred that hasn't come close to being matched: the same conference produced the nation's top three teams: Nebraska, Oklahoma and Colorado. Davis finished seventh in the nation in rushing, Taibi led a defense that made 37 sacks, and Branch electrified all with 11 touchdowns, four via punt return.

All that returning talent had Colorado open the '72 season with its highest ranking ever: No. 2. Boulder was in the throes of a football frenzy. The question was if the old saying would rear its ugly head again, that being, "Colorado is most dangerous when it is underestimated and most likely to fail when rated highly." Unfortunately for CU, over the years it had panned out … and would again in 1972.

CU opened strong enough, steamrolling its first three opponents before opening Big 8 play at Oklahoma State. The stars were anything but aligned, as CU was without an injured Johnson while fullback Jon Keyworth went out early and the Buffs fumbled 10 times in a 31-6 loss. OSU had once again sidetracked Colorado's season, repeating its feat from 1967.

The Buffs went on to an 8-4 record in '72, far below expectations, though defeating second-ranked Oklahoma along the way, the highest rated team CU has ever beaten in its 118-year football history (matched a few times later on). CU was lackluster in a 24-3 Gator Bowl loss to Auburn, and those close to the program felt the overtime put in by Crowder as both football coach and athletic director was taking its toll.

The Buffs still had a deep team in 1973, the sophomore stars of two years prior were now seniors, and with freshman now eligible to play again, current sophs like Dave Logan had seen some playing time in '72 and a true freshman star named Billy Waddy could excite fans almost to a Cliff Branch like level. Colorado was still respected nationally, opening the year ranked 10th, and would again open the season at No. 15 LSU.

But the magic of '71 wasn't there, as LSU captured this one, 17-6. CU reeled off four straight wins before succumbing at No. 3 Oklahoma, but returned home to beat No. 7 Missouri. Despite coming off two straight third place finishes, the 5-2 Buffaloes were still in position to contend for the league title if OU slipped up as well as a prestigious bowl bid. But four straight losses, including close setbacks to Kansas and Kansas State dropped CU to 5-6.

Crowder had coached the Buffaloes for 11 seasons, and when omitting his first two years with identical 2-8 records when CU was rebuilding after the NCAA decimation, he owned a stellar 63-33-2 record which he had compiled against all-comers. He took time off and went on a quiet mountain retreat, and upon his return, announced his resignation as coach in mid-December. He would remain as athletic director for the next 11 years.

The program was in good shape, well stocked with talent and players like Logan, Williams, Don Hasselbeck, Pete Brock, Leon White and Emery Moorehead ready to blossom. The CU job was both a plumb and a concern. Whoever took the job might fear Crowder would be constantly looking over his shoulder, a concern that never materialized. Several names were bandied about, but Crowder settled on a man from the "Cradle of Coaches," Miami of Ohio. Bill Mallory had led the Redskins to an undefeated season and a win over Florida in the Tangerine Bowl, and his next destination was Boulder.

Mallory's first team in '74 finished the same as Crowder's last, 5-6, though posted a couple of nice wins over No. 11 Wisconsin and No. 18 Oklahoma State. And in the last game to date played between CU and Air Force, the Buffs escaped with a 28-27 win, its sixth straight over the Falcons.

Mallory's recruiting couldn't match Crowder's, though he did bring in some talented junior college players in Terry Kunz, Troy Archer and Tony Reed. He also landed a talented prep running back in James Mayberry.

The 1975 season was another one of those that could have been. After opening with three straight wins, Colorado reappeared in the national rankings (No. 19). The opponent first up with CU back on the national scene was top ranked Oklahoma in Norman. The Buffs went toe-to-toe with the superior Sooners, featuring the Selmon brothers, and a 68-yard march in the game's waning minutes pulled CU to within 21-20. The players wanted to go for two and the win, but Mallory knew a tie could mean the league title and the Orange Bowl berth down the road. CU went for the tie, but Tom Mackenzie's kick hooked it far to the left.

To CU's credit, it went on to win five of the next six games, close the regular season at 9-2 with another third place finish in the conference, and enter the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl ranked No. 10. CU faced No. 9 Texas, which more or less was playing a home game, and the Longhorns used a dominant second half to topple the Buffs, 38-21.

The 1976 season was one of the wackiest ever in Big 8 history, with five schools in the hunt for the title down to the last weekend. CU won three of its four non-conference games, but dropped the league opener to No. 6 Nebraska. Undaunted, the Buffs picked themselves up off the ground, won a wacky one with two late touchdowns at Oklahoma State the next week, a key victory it would turn out later on. Wins over Iowa State and Oklahoma at home, the latter also proving to be important, improved CU to 6-2, 3-1 in the league and to No. 14 in the nation. Colorado was in control of its own destiny at that point, but it was short-lived after losing at No. 16 Missouri in week nine.

A big win over Kansas in the Folsom finale, coupled with other events, had the Buffs facing a must win situation at Kansas State to close the regular season. Colorado won a shootout, 35-28, and was tied atop the standings with OSU at 5-2. But Oklahoma and Nebraska were both 4-2 and played several days later on Thanksgiving; CU would sweat it out, but an OU win gave the Buffs the edge with head-to-head wins over both the Sooners and Cowboys. The share of the league title earned Colorado the Orange Bowl berth.

No one knew at the time it would be CU's last bowl appearance for nine seasons, and after taking a 10-0 lead over Ohio State, the Buckeyes scored the game's final 27 points. The season was still deemed a success.

Mallory didn't know it at the time, but he had two years left in Boulder. Both his '77 and '78 teams opened 5-0, one climbing to No. 3 and the other to No. 13. But poor finishes led to 7-3-1 and 6-5 marks, and he was fired days after the '78 season came to a close.

Crowder wanted a big name this time, and Nebraska's Tom Osborne took a courtesy visit to Boulder, likely to better his own situation back in Lincoln. Names were thrown around, but no one had the inside word on who was Crowder's next man.

On Dec. 18, during the NFL's Monday Night Football game featuring New England at Miami, the legendary Howard Cosell broke in with an announcement that Patriot coach Chuck Fairbanks, Oklahoma's old boss from 1967-72, had accepted CU's offer to be its next head coach. Miami went on to rout the Patriots, tying New England for the division crown, and the Pats lost in the first round of the playoffs. The owners were furious, and took Fairbanks and CU to court, claiming breach of contract. After New England won some preliminary hearings, an out of court settlement was reached, with Fairbanks giving up deferred income to the tune of $100,000, while CU had to pay the Patriots twice that amount.

Fairbanks finally was cleared to take over the program on April 4, 1979, after Bob Cortese did a masterful job of coordinating recruiting and keeping things intact while CU awaited the court's ruling. Trying to instill pro schemes on the college kids never clicked, however, and CU lost eight of its first nine en route to a 3-8 season. Somehow, Mark Haynes and Stan Brock were still able to be recognized as All-Americans, a credit to their talents. And though hardly a big deal at the time, the season opener against Oregon was the first college football game televised on an all sports cable network called ESPN.

The debts were piling up; season ticket sales never came close to what was expected, as CU was in a $1 million hole after capital improvements were made based on income that never materialized, combined with the new debt from a $7.7 million basketball arena. Many in CU's constituency were offended, some lost forever, when on June 11, 1980, Crowder was forced by President Arnold Weber and the Board of Regents to cut seven sports, including the traditional long-time programs of baseball, swimming and wrestling.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 4, 1980—In one of the wildest games ever played at Folsom Field, Oklahoma defeats CU 82-42. Several NCAA and Big Eight records were smashed.

June 9, 1982—Bill McCartney named the 20th head coach in Colorado history.

Sept. 15, 1984—Tight end Ed Reinhardt undergoes brain surgery to save his life less than two hours after Colorado's 27-20 loss at Oregon. Reinhardt had a blood clot removed from the left side of his brain.

Mar. 25, 1985—Bill McCartney announces that the Buffs have switched to the wishbone, CU's "offense of the future."

Nov. 23, 1985—Colorado's 30-0 win over Kansas State gives CU a 7-4 regular season record, which also enables the Buffs to win the NCAA's most improved team honor for 1985.

Dec. 30, 1985—Colorado loses to Washington, 20-17, in the second annual Freedom Bowl.

Oct. 25, 1986—Colorado defeats Nebraska (20-10), the first Buff win over the Huskers since 1967.

Nov. 22, 1986—Buffs destroy Kansas State, 49-3, to finish second in the Big Eight. CU's 6-1 league record is its second best ever.

Dec. 31, 1986—Baylor defeats Colorado, 21-9, in the 28th annual Bluebonnet Bowl.

Oct. 17, 1987—Colorado defeats Kansas, 35-10, for its 200th win at Folsom Field.

Oct. 31, 1987—Buffs roll over Iowa State at Ames, 42-10, for CU's 500th win in its history.

Nov. 28, 1987—Buffs lose to Nebraska, 24-7, in first game at Folsom Field with lights (mid-afternoon kickoff).

Oct. 22, 1988—Oklahoma edges CU, 17-14, in the first night game ever played at Folsom Field.

Dec. 29, 1988—Colorado loses to Brigham Young, 20-17, in the fifth annual Freedom Bowl.

Aug. 23, 1989—Colorado's No. 14 ranking in both the AP and UPI polls marks the first time the Buffs are ranked in the preseason since 1977.

Nov. 18, 1989—The Buffs' 59-11 win at Kansas State gives CU its first undefeated regular season since 1937, and clinches the Big Eight Conference Championship (CU's first outright title since 1961). In the game, sophomore quarterback Darian Hagan goes over the 1,000-yard mark for the season in both rushing and passing, becoming only the sixth player to accomplish that feat in NCAA history.

Nov. 27, 1989—Colorado ascends to the nation's No. 1 ranking, the first time in its 100-year history that CU earns the wire service top spot.

Jan. 1, 1990—Colorado loses its bid for its first-ever national championship, losing 21-6 to Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl.

Jan. 2, 1990—The Buffs finish the year ranked No. 4 in the polls, the second-highest final ranking by any Colorado team.

Jan. 18, 1990—Bill McCartney is named the Bear Bryant Coach-of-the-Year, giving him a sweep of the national coach-of-the-year honors.

A 1-10 record in 1980, the lone win over Iowa State, followed the disastrous '79 campaign but featured a change considered even worse by fans and alumni. The Regents imposed CU's athletic teams to do away with the popular black uniform color and replace it with "Colorado Sky Blue at 9,000 feet." Down through years, people blamed Fairbanks for this, but he had nothing to do with it.

The school also adopted a new logo in the summer of 1981, not overly accepted at first but one that in due time won most everyone over. Some staffers dubbed it the "piggalo" after Fairbanks saw the design, took one of his famous long drags on a cigarette and uttered, "That thing looks like a ------- pig."

A 3-8 season lay ahead in '81, though the Buffs won the games many want most, the season opener (45-27 over Texas Tech), homecoming (11-10 over Oklahoma State) and the finale (24-21 over Kansas State). But the story of the year was a sad one. In late October, tailback Derek Singleton, who had caught the 2-point conversion pass the previous Saturday to beat OSU, fell ill in his Ames hotel room. Spinal meningitis was the diagnosis, and on New Year's Day '82, the Buff sophomore passed away.

On June 1, 1982, Fairbanks informed Crowder that he was resigning to take the head coaching job with the New Jersey Generals of the fledgling United States Football League. His era thus came to an end after just three seasons and a 7-26 record, though CU did escape finishing in the conference cellar all three years.

Things would eventually change, and a novelty t-shirt later would confirm it, but not for several years.

Crowder needed to act quickly to fill the vacant head coaching role; fall camp was only two months away. But the program was deep in debt, after paying off Mallory, settling with the New England Patriots to secure Fairbanks, and the cost of women's sports under Title IX guidelines, programs that provided practically no revenue, among other capital expenses accrued.

Crowder had vowed to get the department financially viable again, so this would be the most important hire of his 20-year career as athletic director. CU had to invigorate the season ticket base, but could not afford a exasperating strung out, or messy, search.

Drake coach Chuck Shelton surfaced as a top candidate; after all, his Bulldogs had beaten the Buffaloes not once but twice, the second time being a good old fashion whooping. He interviewed two days after Fairbanks resigned and was generally well received, though there were doubters because of his lack of big-time football experience, one of those being President Weber.

Long-time BYU head coach LaVelle Edwards was flown to Boulder for a day-long interview, but he generally wasn't interested in leaving Provo, where he would win a national championship two years later.

Legendary Michigan coach Bo Schembechler phoned Crowder and gave a glowing recommendation of his defensive coordinator, Bill McCartney. It was June 7 when McCartney came in for his interview, and Crowder assigned Fred Casotti to usher him about.

The story on how McCartney surfaced to the top and was named CU's 20th head coach is best told by, well, McCartney.

"There were about 15 people representing all kind of factions on campus and the alumni," McCartney recalled in a 2007 interview for CUBuffs.com. "About 15 minutes before I was going to go before them for the interview, I said to Fred, 'What do you think my chances are?' He said, 'Coach, it's third and long. You'd better make a big play.'

"That was the best thing he could have said, otherwise I might have tip-toed into the interview. After Fred told me that, I threw caution to the wind, decided to get aggressive and put my best foot forward. The format was for them to ask me questions, or that's what they had in mind. But I stood up, and I said before I take any questions, I want to make a statement. I spoke for about 15, 20 minutes and told them who I was, my background, what I had done at the University of Michigan, my philosophies and values, and what I would bring to the University of Colorado if I was to get the job. I was the only one talking, and after I was done speaking, nobody asked me a question.

"I went from there to meet the president, and he had already gotten a phone call following the first interview. He was energized and anxious to see me, and was warm and welcoming. Later that night, they took me to meet the Board of Regents, as by chance they were having their monthly meeting in Denver. I was waiting with Casotti in the car, waiting for a break in their meeting to be introduced, and I asked Fred again, 'What do you think my chances are?' And Fred said, 'Coach, fourth and short. You just need to make a first down.' So I just needed to move the chains. That Tuesday night, Eddie offered me the job. It all happened so fast."

McCartney was officially named head coach on June 9. In less than eight weeks, he had to assemble a staff and prepare for the season, and do some of the obligatory head coach things around town with the fans and public. And he would not have a chance to meet his team until they reported in August.

In looking back at his first interviews, one would have thought the media was interviewing a prophet. A sampling of Mac's comments:

> "I promise you a program based on integrity and honesty, with the top priority on graduating students. That's how we're going to measure success."
>
> "I see Colorado as being a lot like Michigan in being able to attract the superior student-athlete. Our standards are better here than most, but that has to be looked at as an advantage."
>
> "You achieve what you emphasize. Until you set specific goals, you're liable to miss opportunities that come up along the way."
> "I can only predict how Colorado will play, with enthusiasm, togetherness and tenacity. Every single squad that I coach here will be team-oriented."
>
> "We need to enhance our reputation here (in Colorado). You make your living at home first. We want the high school players and coaches to develop their loyalties to us, not out of state schools."
> "My family and I want to sink roots in this place. We plan on being here as long as you want us."

He said all seven of those statements in the first few days after being hired, and all seven eventually came true: over 80 percent of his seniors graduated; many goals were reached if not surpassed, as evidenced by a national title and three Big 8 crowns; his CU squads were team-first, individuals second; Buff football returned to prominence in the state, largely due to his first recruiting class snaring most of the top local preps; and once the McCartney's arrived in Colorado, they were here for good.

The road was rocky at first, to be expected when one takes over a depleted program 94 days before the season opener. His opening day roster had 77 players total, 73 on scholarship, some 22 under the maximum at the time; Fairbanks' last recruiting class included 15 junior college transfers, but only four who ever made it to campus due to a variety of reasons, though it did at least have 10 state high schoolers, many of which played key roles early in Mac's tenure, most notably linebacker Barry Remington.

What most remember about his 1982 season is not the 2-8-1 record, but Mac's designation of Nebraska as Colorado's rival. Now the Huskers had won 14 straight in the series, the last four by an average of 41 points. The Buffs gave Nebraska a brief scare in the first encounter under McCartney, trailing 20-14 entering the fourth quarter before losing by 40-14, but a tone had been set for the future.

There were many ups and downs the next two seasons. There was modest improvement in 1983, with CU finishing with a 4-7 record. The signature win was a 31-3 drubbing of Colorado State in the resumption of the in-state rivalry that had been dormant for 25 years. Off the field, he landed 11 high school players from the state in his first recruiting class, including Eric McCarty, the local kid from Boulder High who many considered the prize of the class, and signed 32 players from Colorado high schools in his first three classes.

The 1984 season was filled with anger, sadness and disappointment. Colorado designed a two-tight end scheme on offense and had two stellar players at the position in Jon Embree and Ed Reinhardt. The new offense was not made public until the Denver Post beat writer revealed it days before the season opener against Michigan State, using the typical over-used media line of it was the public's right to know. The disclosure of what CU planned to do infuriated McCartney, saying his team lost its edge for the opener (MSU won, 24-21).

Wins and losses became academic the following week, when Reinhardt, who caught 10 passes for 142 yards in the opener, suffered a life-threatening head injury in a 27-20 loss at Oregon. He spent a month in a coma after having a blood clot removed from the surface of his brain. The burden of a teammate battling against death was a lot for a young Buffalo team to bear, and was a factor in CU's 1-10 record. Redshirt freshmen were also all over the two-deep, and their inexperience showed as they simply were no ready for the grind of the Big 8. Four of the losses were by 10 points or less.

Reinhardt did not fully recover from the injury. He suffered some partial paralysis that also affected his speech and his cranial functions, but has some remarkable accomplishments thanks to the support of his family, particularly his parents, Ed Sr., and Pat.

Regardless, fans were getting restless. To compound the issue, Crowder achieved his goal of making the department financially sound again and retired as athletic director, effective Sept. 1, with former CU ski coach Bill Marolt, who had coached the U.S. Ski Team to its best performance ever in the '84 Winter Olympics, taking over. Five games into the season, Marolt had seen enough of how McCartney was running his program and extended his contract, not an overly popular move at the time, but it was something that stabilized the program. That despite the slightest possible improvement in the schools' record over Mac's first three years, 7-25-1, compared to that of the Fairbanks Era (7-26). The extension allowed him to "work with a net" of sorts.

Mac had won the fans over on one controversial issue. In home games against Nebraska and Oklahoma, CU donned the old, favorite black jerseys in lieu of the blue it had worn since 1980. There was widespread approval, and CU would junk the blue the next season. Besides, the team definitely played better in black, evidenced by leading No. 5 Nebraska 7-3 entering the fourth quarter, the first time CU held a lead that late in a game against the Huskers in 17 years, before losing 24-7. CU was tied with No. 9 Sooners at halftime before succumbing as well.

"A lot of the alums had told me they hated the powder blue … they wanted the black jerseys back," McCartney said. "We timed it up so we could get the maximum impact from it. So that really came from guys who had played there who had worn the black and gold. We had warmed up in blue, and then came out in black, and the players were ecstatic. It jacked them up."

His first three teams had passed for over 6,700 yards, but the running game was non-existent and CU was soft on defense, nowhere near Mac's standards in defending the run.

In March 1985, McCartney announced perhaps the boldest move in Colorado football history: the Buffaloes were switching to the wishbone formation on offense. Reaction was mixed. Was McCartney doing the right thing, or was this a desperate move of a crazed coach out of options?

It was the former. CU was the nation's most improved team in '85, its 7-5 record the first winning mark at the school since 1978, and the Buffs earned their first bowl invitation in nine years. The team produced two of the most staggering statistical turnarounds in NCAA history, going from last to ninth in rushing and from last to first in net punting, the latter largely due to the leg of All-American Barry Helton. CU also moved up from 102nd to 37th against the run. CU's 4-3 mark in league play helped McCartney earn Coach of the Year honors in the Big 8.

The wishbone was the reason for the turnaround, but not so much on offense, though quarterback Mark Hatcher usually ran it to perfection. As the running game improved, the defense saw it every day in practice and that was the area where CU made its greatest strides.

CU posted big non-league wins over Oregon and Arizona, and beat up everyone but the big three of the day in league play, though CU battled Nebraska, Oklahoma and Oklahoma State as well as anyone. The season ended with a disappointing 20-17 loss to Washington in the Freedom Bowl, though if instant replay was in existence at the time, a Mike Marquez fumble near the goal line would have showed he was down and the ground caused it instead of the Huskies gaining possession.

The Buffs were 6-6 in 1986, rebounding after an 0-4 start that included three losses by a combined 10 points. CU began to roll in league play, gaining momentum with a 20-10 win over No. 3 Nebraska, its first win over the Huskers in 19 years. There were several stars in the game, and CU thoroughly dominated; when Remington made an interception with six seconds remaining, the stands emptied and what many referred to as "The Turning Point" in Mac's tenure, had occurred. School officials did not turn off the scoreboard until Monday afternoon.

"It was our ability to defense them is what won that game," McCartney noted of holding the Huskers to just 123 rushing yards. "The wishbone toughened up our defense. Guys were pounding off the line of scrimmage because it's an attack offense that creates a new line of scrimmage. The achievement that day was not how prolific on offense we were, but how we controlled the game on defense."

Lo and behold, in the next to last game of the season, Colorado and Oklahoma, both 5-0 in the conference, played for the title and the Orange Bowl berth that came with it. Now the Sooners were experts at the wishbone, and had dismantled CU in '85 by 31-0; this game was a bit more competitive, but OU never threw a single pass in pulling away for a 28-0 win. The Buffs routed Kansas State in Manhattan in the finale, and earned a bid to the Bluebonnet Bowl, where Baylor got the best of CU, 21-9.

The Buffaloes went 7-4 in 1987, but were surprisingly shutout of the bowls. A new tradition was born this season, the team donning all black uniforms for games the players thought were special; the first time occurred in the season-ending loss to Nebraska.

CU opened 1988 with an easy 45-3 win over Fresno State, a tune-up for one of the first real non-conference road tests in the McCartney Era, No. 19 Iowa in Iowa City. It was a typical hot, humid Midwestern Saturday, but Colorado's offense clicked and after a great defensive stand late, CU rallied for a 24-21 win.

"That Iowa game was key, they had an outstanding team, so for us to go in there and beat them, it was one of those milestone games," Mac recalled. "It put us in another category, it identified us as a team that could go on the road and beat a great team. I look back on that with great fondness."

Nail-biters against Oregon State and Colorado State followed, the Buffs rallying in the fourth quarter to win both, completing the four-game non-conference sweep for the first time since 1978. The winning streak came to an end the following Saturday, when eventual Heisman Trophy winner Barry Sanders led Oklahoma State to a 41-21 win in Boulder. The Buff "D" did a decent job containing him at first, but a 65-yard run in the third quarter broke open a 24-14 game and the diminutive back would finish with 174 yards.

Colorado went on to win four of its next six, finish fourth in the conference a second straight year and post an 8-4 record after dropping a 20-17 decision to BYU in the Freedom Bowl. Wins were coming more frequently for the program, but the Buffs couldn't crack the conference nut, secure a bowl victory or earn a final poll ranking. CU did crack the AP poll once, at No. 19, but fell out after a 7-0 loss at Nebraska (the last time anyone had shut out the Buffs through 2007, as CU started the next week what would grow into the ninth longest scoring streak, and counting, of all-time).

Tragedy struck the program again when it was announced in late March that quarterback Sal Aunese was diagnosed with stomach cancer. Aunese battled the disease for six months before succumbing on Sept. 23, 1989. A team player to the end, he passed away on CU's bye date after attending CU's first three games, all at home, with an emotional reception from the Folsom Field crowd for him as he watched from the press box as his Buffs dismantled No. 10 Illinois, 38-7, a week before he died. His replacement/protégé, Darian Hagan, led the Buffs in his absence to wins in those first three; in fact, his first play of the season was a 75-yard run to the Texas 2-yard line, igniting a 27-6 win.

The team had dedicated the season to Sal, and it was a very emotional week leading up to the fourth game at Washington.

There was a memorial service Monday afternoon at Macky Auditorium on the Boulder campus,, and prior to the game in Seattle, the team knelt, pointed skyward, and went on to whip the Huskies. Afterwards, it was revealed that Sal had written a letter to the team, closing with the phrase, "Bring Home The Orange Bowl."

This very talented team was now on a mission, and rolled to easy victories in the first three league games by scores national powerhouses regularly won with, 49-3 (over Missouri), 52-17 (at Iowa State) and 49-17 (versus Kansas). The offense had evolved into the "I-Bone" from its wishbone roots, with over 400 rushing yards in each of the games as CU raised its record to 7-0 with the "Big Reds" up next.

The first test was at Oklahoma on Oct. 28; the Sooners had won 12 straight in the series, and the Buffs had come as close to beating OU in '88 as they had in seven meetings under McCartney. Known for inspiring his team with T-shirt slogans, Mac's most notable ever was produced for this game, which the players wore on the team plane to Oklahoma. "Things Have Changed," they broadly declared, and the slogan would gain national acclaim after the Buffs left Norman with a 20-3 win.

"That was a milestone victory," McCartney said. "That was a big, big thing to do, to go to Norman and win. That came within a two-year window where we won at Iowa, at Oklahoma, at Washington, at Texas, at Nebraska. Those established us as a national power, because those were hard things to do. From there, we were able to sustain things for a while. Oklahoma wasn't able to beat CU for 11 years; they had put 82 points on the board when Fairbanks was here. So for them not to beat us between 1989 and 1999 was a phenomenal achievement by this program."

The atmosphere in Boulder on Nov. 4, 1989, was like nothing that had preceded it, or has been since. It was that rare confluence where both teams were undefeated (each 8-0), with CU ranked No. 2 and Nebraska No. 3 in the Associated Press poll, with the positions reversed on the UPI ballot. Colorado was the national darling, with interest high as people watched how this team was reacting after the death of one of its leaders. Over 600 media credentials were issued for the game, and at halftime, CU honored its "All Century" team, recognizing the top players in the school's first 100 years of football.

The Huskers tried to take the crowd right out of it. After holding CU to a quick three plays and out and returning a punt to its 49-yard line, NU scored on its first offensive play with Gerry Gdowski throwing a 51-yard touchdown pass to Bryan Carpenter for a 7-0 lead just 90 seconds in.

But CU settled down and tied the game on what many consider one of the program's signature plays in the McCartney Era. Running he option to perfection, Hagan sprinted some 30-plus yards downfield, with J.J. Flannigan in his sights to his left the entire way. When an NU defender committed to Hagan, he delivered one of his classic pitches to Flannigan who took it the rest of the way, the play covering 70 yards. The crowd was back into it, if they were ever really out of it, and the Buffs worked to an eventual 27-21 win.

A desperation pass by Gdowski to the end zone as time ran out was batted down by Dave McCloughan, and the fans rushed the Folsom Field floor for just the second time ever. As with the '86 Nebraska game, the scoreboard remained on all weekend with the final score and "Things Have Changed" scrolled atop it.

The Buffs finished off an 11-0 regular season with blowout wins over Oklahoma State (41-17) and Kansas State (59-11), rushing for 518 yards against the Wildcats. After things shook out nationally, the Buffs entered the Orange Bowl and a date with No. 4 Notre Dame ranked as the No. 1 team in country, playing for its first national championship in the sport (CU had 12 in skiing at the time).

But the dream of an undefeated season ended with a 21-6 loss to the Fighting Irish. CU had its chances in the first half and could have led by 17-0 or 21-0, but instead were in a scoreless tie. Notre Dame scored twice quick in the third quarter, and salted the game away with a nine-minute, 17-play drive in the fourth.

Guard Joe Garten, linebacker Alfred Williams (27 tackles for loss, 11 sacks) and punter Tom Rouen (43.8 net average) all were named consensus first-team All-Americans, with 10 players All-Big 8 performers.

McCartney, the unanimous choice for national coach of the year honors for 1989, viewed that season as a "magical year. When we discovered Sal was terminally ill, that brought our team together in a way that nobody could orchestrate or facilitate. It happened in a way that all of us who were a part of that saw a group of players and coaches that put the team before being an individual. It was a team that was together, motivated, bonded together, driven and hitting on all cylinders most of the time. It was just unfortunate we couldn't bookend it with a win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl."

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

July 26, 1990—Bill McCartney signs a 15-year contract to continue as head coach at Colorado, the longest contract extension in CU's athletic history.

Aug. 26, 1990—Colorado and Tennessee battle to a 31-31 tie in the inaugural Disneyland Pigskin Classic at Anaheim, Calif.

Oct. 6, 1990—Eric Bieniemy rushes for 217 yards in a 33-31 win at Missouri, in the process passing Charlie Davis as the school's all-time leading rusher. The game is best remembered for Colorado being awarded five downs at the end, though no fault of CU's.

Nov. 17, 1990—Colorado crushes Kansas State, 64-3, as the Buffs roll to the first back-to-back titles in Big Eight Conference play. The following Monday, CU is ranked No. 1 in the nation, the second straight year the Buffaloes end the regular season as college football's number one team.

Dec. 4, 1990—Senior outside linebacker Alfred Williams is named the recipient of the Butkus Award, the first CU player to win one of college football's big-time trophies.

Dec. 10, 1990—With the announcement of the UPI All-America team, tailback Eric Bieniemy, guard Joe Garten and outside linebacker Alfred Williams become the first three unanimous All-Americans in CU history.

Jan. 1, 1991—A 10-9 win over Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl ends a seven-game CU bowl game losing streak and positions the Buffaloes for the national title.

Jan. 2, 1991—Colorado is named the national champion by both the Associated Press and USA Today/CNN, the first national championship in football in the school's history. United Press International tabbed CU second, one point behind Georgia Tech, in its poll.

Jan. 8, 1991—Quarterback Charles Johnson, the most valuable player in the Orange Bowl, appears on NBC's "Tonight Show," the first CU athlete to ever appear on the program.

Dec. 9, 1991—Jay Leeuwenburg becomes the fourth player in CU history to earn unanimous All-America honors when he is selected to the AP and UPI teams.

Dec. 28, 1991—Alabama defeats Colorado, 30-25, in the second Blockbuster Bowl. It is later confirmed that the Crimson Tide spied on CU's bowl practices and knew the Buffs were changing offenses.

Dec. 5, 1992—Jim Hansen becomes the fifth CU football player to earn the prestigious Rhodes Scholarship. He was the 19th University of Colorado student to be afforded the honor. The senior offensive tackle became CU's first three-time Academic All-American three days later (and CU's first "Academic All-American-of-the-Year.")

Dec. 6, 1992—Senior cornerback Deon Figures is named the recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award, given to the nation's top defensive back.

Jan. 1, 1993—Syracuse defeats Colorado, 26-22, in the 22nd annual Fiesta Bowl.

Oct. 16, 1993—Colorado defeats Oklahoma, 27-10, as Bill McCartney wins his 78th game as head coach, thus passing Fred Folsom and becoming the all-time winningest coach in school history. In that game, Lamont Warren throws a 34-yard touchdown pass to Charles Johnson; Warren slipped on the turf as he threw it and Johnson was interfered with but still made the catch lying on the ground in a play that was selected as the national play-of-the-year.

Nov. 30, 1993—Charles Johnson is named offensive player-of-the-year in the Big Eight, the first wide receiver to ever win the award.

Dec. 25, 1993—Colorado defeats Fresno State, 41-30, in the 12th annual Aloha Bowl.

Sept. 24, 1994—In what would eventually be selected as the national play-of-the-year and one of the top plays of all-time, Kordell Stewart throws a 64-yard touchdown pass to Michael West-brook, via a Blake Anderson tip, as Colorado rallies to beat Michigan at Ann Arbor as time expired, 27-26.

Nov. 19, 1994—One of the most eventful days in CU football history: tailback Rashaan Salaam becomes just the fourth player ever in the NCAA to rush for over 2,000 yards in a season; quarterback Kordell Stewart becomes the Big Eight Conference's all-time total offense leader; and following CU's 41-20 win over Iowa State in Boulder, head coach Bill McCartney announces that he will retire following CU's bowl game.

Nov. 28, 1994—Rick Neuheisel named the 21st head coach in Colorado history (took over program on Jan. 3, 1995).

Dec. 1, 1994—Junior tailback Rashaan Salaam wins the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back. The previous day, Salaam won the Walter Camp Player-of-the-Year Award.

Jay Leeuwenburg and Darian Hagan, 1990

Dec. 8, 1994—Senior cornerback Chris Hudson wins the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back.

Dec. 10, 1994—Junior tailback Rashaan Salaam becomes the first player in University of Colorado history to win the Heisman Trophy. The announcement is made at New York's Downtown Athletic Club and televised nationally on ESPN.

Jan. 2, 1995—In Bill McCartney's final game as head coach, the Buffs defeat Notre Dame, 41-24, the 24th annual Fiesta Bowl. Quarterback Kordell Stewart and defensive tackle Shannon Clavelle are named the game's most valuable players.

Apr. 22, 1995—Seven Buffs are selected among the first 71 picks of the annual NFL draft.

Sept. 2, 1995—Rick Neuheisel becomes the first coach at CU since 1932 to win his first game, as the Buffaloes defeat Wisconsin in Madison, 43-7.

Sept. 30, 1995—John Hessler sets a school record with five touchdown passes in CU's 38-17 win at Oklahoma, which was his first career start. He duplicated the feat a little more than a month later (Nov. 4) in a 45-32 win at Oklahoma State.

Jan. 1, 1996—Colorado defeats Oregon, 38-6, in the 60th annual Cotton Bowl.

Nov. 29, 1996—Koy Detmer becomes the first player in school history to pass for over 3,000 yards in a season in CU's 17-12 loss at Nebraska.

Dec. 14, 1996—Matt Russell is named the winner of the Butkus Award as the nation's best linebacker, the second CU player to win the trophy.

Dec. 30, 1996—CU defeats Washington, 33-21, in the 19th annual Holiday Bowl, securing a third straight 10-win season for the Buffaloes and a four-game bowl winning streak, the first of both in school history.

Nov. 14, 1998—CU's 37-8 win over Iowa State is the 600th in the program's history.

Dec. 25, 1998—In the 1,000th game in its history, Colorado defeats Oregon, 51-43, in the 17th annual Aloha Bowl. Mike Moschetti throws four touchdown passes and Ben Kelly returned the opening kickoff for a touchdown as the Buffs built a 44-14 third quarter lead.

Jan. 22, 1999—Gary Barnett named the 22nd head coach in Colorado history.

Oct. 9, 1999—Colorado plays the first overtime game in its history, with Mike Moschetti's 24-yard touchdown pass to Marcus Stiggers paving the way for a 46-39 win over Missouri in Boulder. (The NCAA added overtime in 1996.)

Nov. 26, 1999—The Buffs play their second overtime game ever, losing to Nebraska, 33-30 in Boulder. However, CU rallies from its largest deficit ever to tie the game, coming back after trailing 27-3 with a 24-point, 284-yard fourth quarter against the No. 3 Cornhuskers.

Dec. 31, 1999—CU defeats Boston College, 62-28, in the 11th annual Insight.com Bowl at Tucson. The Buffs race to a 45-7 halftime lead and set numerous records in their sixth straight bowl win, adding to the nation's longest active streak.

The 1990 team, with 44 lettermen overall and 13 starters returning quite naturally was the favorite to win the Big 8 and be among the contenders for the national championship. But a 1-1-1 start had knocked CU from No. 5 to No. 20 in the polls, and CU was staring a road trip to Austin right in the face. Texas led 19-14 when the third quarter came to a close, in position to score a touchdown, as the teams switched to the other end of the field. McCartney:

"Eric Bieniemy, this fireball, all five-foot-six of him, had huddled the offense together on the sidelines, and he has these huge lineman around him he's trying to fire up and challenge. We got a break and the quarter ended. Texas took off running to the other end of the field. And then something happened that I had never seen before and never since. Our defensive guys starting walking slowly to the other end, but our offense walked on to the field and intercepted them at our own 20. So there were 22 guys on the field, and the offense, at Bieniemy's urging, was challenging the defense to hold them. The defense then charged down to the other end of the stadium and held them to a field goal. The offense got the ball, marched down and scored right away, and we held them on defense to three plays and out for the first time in the game. We then drove for the go-ahead and winning score. The significance of this is that one guy can make a difference. The morale is to the physical as is four is to one; one guy like that can change things, and our entire season turned around because of this one kid being ignited and sparking and inspiring the others."

The 29-22 win was the first of 10 in a row, but there was some controversy along the way. Charles S. Johnson, subbing for an injured Hagan at quarterback, scored from a yard out as time ran out to give CU a 33-31 win at Missouri. However, the officials erred and had given CU five downs. Though no one knew it, not the teams, the scoreboard operators or Missouri's chain crew at Faurot Field, all the ill will was aimed at Colorado, even though Johnson had spiked the ball on fourth down.

If anyone cheated that day, it was Missouri. Faurot had a terrible Omni-Turf field that required a different sort of cleat, and the Tigers made zero effort to tell the opponent about it. CU coaches documented 92 slips in the open field, otherwise Colorado would have won over an inferior Tiger team in a cakewalk. The voters didn't penalized CU until a week later after a win over Iowa State, dropping the Buffs two notches to No. 14.

Missouri fans have never seemed to grasp the fact that if CU had known it was fourth down, which MU didn't either, Johnson never would have spiked the ball to stop the clock; he would have run a play. And in the years since, any borderline calls in Columbia, and on occasion in Boulder, have always gone Missouri's way.

The Buffs used a lot of the frustration building up to whip Kansas (41-10) and Oklahoma (32-23), setting up a rematch with Nebraska for the inside track to the Big 8 title. CU was now No. 9 and the Huskers No. 2; there were a lot of key games in the top 10 that Saturday, Nov. 3, and leading up to the game, Nebraska AD Bob Devaney issued a plea to the league coaches who voted in the UPI poll to stick together and support the conference in their polls. Of course, he meant just Nebraska.

CU throttled the Huskers, 27-12, on a cold, wet and generally nasty day in Lincoln. Four others in the top 10 lost, and the Buffs zoomed to No. 4. And just as in '89, Colorado demolished Oklahoma State (41-22) and Kansas State (64-3) and after other results Thanksgiving weekend, CU again was headed to the Orange Bowl as the nation's No. 1 team. The opponent would be Notre Dame … again.

Eric Bieniemy, who the previous year was the only active Buff voted on CU's All-Century team (Williams was honorable mention), finished second in the nation in rushing. Bienemy, Garten and Williams were unanimous All-America selections, while a record 12 Buffaloes garnered first-team All-Big 8 honors. Williams won CU's first postseason individual honor when he received the Butkus Award as the nation's top linebacker, while Garten was the runner-up for the Outland Trophy and Bieniemy third in the Heisman race.

There was no shortage of heroes for Colorado in the Orange Bowl. The No. 1 Buffaloes got the best of No. 5 Notre Dame, 10-9, and CU claimed its first-ever national championship in football. Those included Johnson, who played the entire second half after Hagan suffered a torn ACL late in the first; Paul Rose, who subbed for an injured Kanavis McGhee (shoulder) at outside linebacker; Ronnie Bradford, who charged through the line and blocked the Irish's extra point try, which would turn out to be the margin of victory; Chad Brown, who forced the fumble that Rose recovered that led to CU's go-ahead touchdown by Bieniemy; Jim Harper, who had a field goal and the game winning PAT kick; and Deon Figures, who made an interception in the final seconds, ending any chance for a Notre Dame win as he ran out the clock.

CU, 11-1-1 for the season, was the consensus national champion, but lost to Georgia Tech by a single point. Remember Devaney's pitch? Nebraska coach Tom Osborne voted Georgia Tech first and Colorado second, or as some have said, even as low as fourth.

Colorado repeated as co-champs of the Big 8 in 1991, as the Buffaloes were reloading but it's never easy replacing nine players drafted into the NFL and 14 starters. CU opened the season against Wyoming, dedicating the just-completed Dal Ward Athletic Center at the north end of Folsom Field. A $14.3 million, 92,000 square foot state-of-the-art facility, it houses primarily the football program and the support departments for all of CU's athletic programs. CU won the game as well, 30-13, adding to the nation's best 11-game winning streak, also the 15th consecutive win at home.

But Baylor ended both streaks the following weekend, and the Buffs would go 2-2 in non-league play ahead of a 6-0-1 record in the conference. The tie came against Nebraska, a 19-19 affair to this day the coldest known game in CU history. It was 12 degrees at kickoff, down to zero by game's end, with the wind chill minus-8 at the start and well below that by the time Greg Thomas blocked a game winning field goal try by the Huskers as time ran out.

Two victories CU did take great satisfaction of this season were against Missouri and Oklahoma. Tired of all the Fifth Down talk perpetuated by a whining Tiger fan base and their homer media, the Buffs donned all black and did their talking on the field, smothering Mizzou 55-7 in a game that just as easily could have been 91-7. CU coaches joked that they should punt on a third down to give the extra down back. And against the Sooners, OU had climbed to No. 12 in the nation, but the Buffs won for a second straight time in Norman, and convincingly, 34-17.

Hagan ended his career undefeated in Big 8 play, leading CU to a 18-0-1 mark in his three years as starting quarterback; the Buffs won the other two games he couldn't start due to injury. Center Jay Leeuwenburg, a three-year starter, was a unanimous All-America choice, and was joined by five defensive players on the All-Big 8 team.

Opponents had started to figure out the "I-Bone," and in the Blockbuster Bowl game against Alabama, CU made its initial move to a multiple offense featuring much more passing. 'Bama won, 30-25, but not without controversy: rumors that the Crimson Tide had spied on CU's practices were later confirmed. Still, an 8-3-1 year was considered a success.

The 1992 season was a transitional year of sorts, as CU shifted away from it's two- and three-back I-bone on offense to a one-back set. Kordell Stewart took over at starting quarterback, and his favorite targets were Michael Westbrook (76 catches, 1,060 yards) and Charles E. Johnson (57 and 1,149). CU had never had a 1,000-yard receiver in a single season, and now it had two. Stewart also became the first to pass for 2,000 yards.

Colorado opened the year 5-0, though Stewart would suffer an ankle injury in a win at Baylor, and it led to playing freshman Koy Detmer, who sparkled in rallying CU to a 21-20 win at Minnesota. Stewart reinjured the ankle and couldn't play against Oklahoma, with Detmer getting the nod. It was an inauspicious start for the lanky lad from Mission, Texas, whose brother, Ty, was the 1990 Heisman Trophy winner. He threw for a school record 418 yards, including a record 92-yard TD pass to Johnson, but was intercepted five times. Only a line drive, 53-yard field goal by Mitch Berger as time expired salvaged a 24-24 tie, keeping CU's 24-game unbeaten streak in Big 8 play alive.

That run grew to 23-0-2 with a 54-7 pasting of Kansas State in the next game, but that's where it was halted, as Nebraska ended the streak by dealing CU a 52-7 loss in Lincoln, another game where the young Detmer had to start in place of an injured Stewart. The Huskers took back the league title, though CU won out to finish 5-1-1 in league play and earn a Fiesta Bowl berth opposite No. 6 Syracuse. The Orangemen were only the second team to beat CU all year with a 26-22 verdict in the bowl, as CU ended '92 with a 9-2-1 mark.

Figures was a consensus All-American cornerback and was the recipient of the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. CU's talented linebackers, Brown and Greg Biekert, probably kept one another from garnered similar honors, though both earned All-Big 8 status. Offensive tackle Jim Hansen, another all-conference performer, earned the "academic" Heisman in winning the Draddy Award, in addition to being named a Rhodes Scholar and Academic All-American.

The Buffs went 8-3-1 in 1993, finishing second in the Big 8 again with a 5-1-1 mark, again. While Lamont Warren had an outstanding year with 900 rushing yards, another CU tailback was asserting himself. His name was Rashaan Salaam.

CU spent the entire 1994 season in the top 10 (actually the top eight to be exact). After warming up with a win over Northeast Louisiana, Colorado plastered the defending Big 10 Conference and Rose Bowl champion Wisconsin Badgers, 55-17. The Buffs were then faced with one the more grueling three-game sequences on the road in school history, as they headed to Michigan, Texas and Missouri.

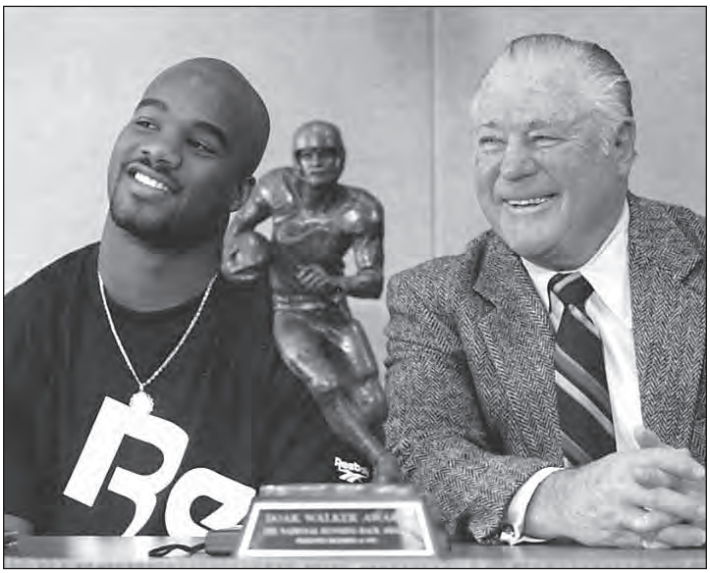

Quieting the 106,000-plus fans at Michigan Stadium is never easy, but the Buffs drove a stake through the heart of all with a 27-26 victory. "The Miracle in Michigan," one of many names for the game or play, came down to six seconds remaining and CU on its own 36. The Buffs had dominated Michigan all game, sans a third quarter lapse, and it appeared the Wolverines would get off the hook. Stewart took the snap, drifted back and heaved the ball some 72 yards in the air, where Blake Anderson tipped it into the waiting grasp of Westbrook. Game over.

"This is another game I point to, because I personally knew how hard I was to go in there and win, and this is easily among the great victories in the history of Colorado," McCartney recalled in 2006. "There are many things that went into that. Kordell (Stewart) was special. Not that many guys can throw the ball that high or that far, plus you have to have the trajectory on it to buy the receivers time to get under the ball. (Assistant coach) Rick Neuheisel deserves a lot of credit for that play because he had the wherewithal and understanding of the play to make it have a chance. It really came from him more than anybody else. That was another thing about Rick that I liked so much. He coached that game all the way, because he really believed we could win it. He communicated that. Even though the clock was against us, he never gave up. I credit his attitude and perspective as much as anything in keeping us going right to the buzzer."

The euphoria did not get to the Buffs, who went down to Austin and in searing 100 degree heat, beat the Longhorns, 34-31. Salaam rushed for 317 yards and had a school record 362 all-purpose to lead CU, which won on a 24-yard Neil Voskeritchian field goal with one second left on the clock. A 38-23 win followed at Missouri, a relative breather compared to what CU had been through.

CU mauled Oklahoma, 45-7, and beat an ever-improving Kansas State team 35-21, setting up a showdown with Nebraska in Lincoln. As was the case in '89, CU was No. 2, NU was No. 3, but the Buffs offensive game plan left a little to be desired that day, with Nebraska snaring a 24-7 win. CU, with all its talented receivers, never threw more than 15 yards downfield, playing into the Huskers' defense strong suit. The Buffs picked themselves up off the floor and beat Oklahoma State, Kansas and Iowa State to finish the regular season at 10-1, accepting a bid to face Notre Dame in the Fiesta Bowl.

But no one could have scripted the events of Nov. 19, though nothing stands out at first glance at the 41-20 win over Iowa State. Salaam went over 2,000 yards for the season, just the fourth player in NCAA history at the time to do so, doing it in style with a 67-yard touchdown run around the right end and down the CU sideline in the fourth quarter. On the next series, Stewart became the all-time total offense leader in the Big 8. And postgame, practically trumping both, McCartney announced to his team and then the world that he was retiring.

"I didn't do that without a lot of forethought, without a lot of prayer and without a lot of counsel," he said later on. "I did not want or mean to steal Rashaan's or Kordell's thunder, but I had to do it then due to recruiting. If I had waited, it would have compromised the integrity of the recruiting season, of which the whole process was still in front of us."

Salaam won the Heisman Trophy and the Doak Walker Award and was a unanimous All-American; cornerback Chris Hudson earned consensus honors and was the Thorpe Award winner, with linebacker Ted Johnson the runner-up for the Butkus Award.

The Buffs sent McCartney out a winner with a resounding 41-24 win over Notre Dame, basically calling off the dogs after building a 31-3 second quarter lead. Mac was carried off the field, and the program was turned over to Rick Neuheisel, who Marolt hired in late November to succeed him.

McCartney cited what his teams did in 1989 and 1990 as the biggest accomplishment during his tenure, if not since. "I'll tell you this, to beat Nebraska and Oklahoma in back-to-back weeks, both home and away in consecutive years, established us. That had never happened before ... by anyone."

Neuheisel was the surprise choice by Marolt to replace McCartney. The search was internal; four candidates emerged from Mac's last staff. In addition to Neuheisel, who coached the quarterbacks and receivers, offensive coordinator Elliot Uzelac, defensive coordinator Mike Hankwitz and assistant head coach Bob Simmons were all interviewed and considered.

When it came down to it, Neuheisel simply interviewed the best and had a great vision for the program, though the others were certainly qualified. Some felt he was too young at 33, but Eddie Crowder had been handed the keys to the program at 31, and Marolt himself took over the CU ski team when he was 26. But Neuheisel had a solid pedigree, serving as an assistant for six years at his alma mater, UCLA, under Terry Donahue, his college coach, and one year under McCartney in Boulder.

The transition was the perfect scenario. McCartney's last game was the Fiesta Bowl, and he worried about most of the game planning without having to be concerned with recruiting; Neuheisel could concentrate on organizing recruiting and help when needed with the game plan as part of his duties as quarterbacks and receivers coach. His first class was ranked anywhere from seventh to 12th by the major prep services.

No one knew what to expect in 1995, the cupboard certainly wasn't bare with 37 lettermen and 12 starters back, but the 10 starters lost were all drafted into the NFL. Seven of those players were selected among the first 71 picks, meaning the Buffs were losing some serious talent. There were but seven seniors on the team.

CU opened on the road for the first time in 12 seasons, traveling to No. 21 Wisconsin. No Colorado coach had won his first game since William Saunders in 1932, but the Buffaloes said to heck with that fact and blitzed the Badgers, 43-7. Detmer had a successful game as the heir apparent to Stewart, the defense had several players shine and all was generally good. CU added two more blowouts over Colorado State and Northeast Louisiana and had the first big test of the Neuheisel Era ahead, No. 3 Texas A&M.

Detmer went down with a torn ACL early in the game with an inexperienced John Hessler summoned to rally the Buffs from a 7-0 deficit. Hessler answered the challenge, threw the winning TD pass to Tennyson McCarty, and with great support from the defense, CU gave Neuheisel his first signature win. Detmer would try and make a gallant comeback two weeks later against Kansas, but the knee just wouldn't hold up and he underwent surgery to end his season. Hessler, who led CU to a 38-17 win at Oklahoma in his first career start in the interim, took over for the remainder of the year.

Only Kansas and Nebraska defeated the Buffs on the way to a 9-2 record, with CU tying for second in the Big 8. Colorado drew No. 12 Oregon for the Cotton Bowl, and it was a miserable day weather-wise in Dallas with light-to-heavy rain, gusting winds and temperatures in the 40s. The Buffs weren't phased; Hessler threw two touchdown passes, Herchell Troutman rushed for 100 yards and a score and Marcus Washington had an NCAA-record 95 yard interception return for a TD in CU's 38-6 rout of the Ducks. Oregon fans were upset at a fake punt CU ran in the fourth quarter ahead by 25, but they had no way of knowing the Buffs had found out the niece of one of the Duck coaches took pictures at a CU practice. Sometimes, payback is sweet.

Safe to say, a 10-2 mark in Neuheisel's first season was quite the accomplishment after what had graduated into the NFL and losing the starting quarterback. Perhaps too good of one as it turned out; it may have raised expectations too high, especially after his second team posted an identical mark.

It was CU's swan song in the Big 8 Conference; all eight schools merged with four from the dying Southwest Conference, Baylor, Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech to form the Big 12 Conference. It was considered a brand new league, not an expansion of the old Big 8, and was set up with two divisions. The Buffs were assigned to the North with old rivals Iowa State, Kansas, Kansas State, Missouri and Nebraska; Oklahoma and Oklahoma State joined the four old SWC schools in the South.

CU opened 2-0 in 1996, setting up a rematch of "The Miracle in Michigan" from two years earlier in Boulder. Michigan, ranked No. 11, got the best of the No. 5 Buffs 20-13. Terrible clock management by the Wolverines actually gave the ball back to CU at the Michigan 37 with five seconds left, and a Detmer pass tipped by Darrin Chiaverini fell harmlessly to the ground, about two feet away from a diving Rae Carruth ... or just 24 inches from miracle number two.

Colorado bounced back to win the next seven, including the Big 12 opener at Texas A&M. The Buffs dominated most of the games, though the running game was not what it used to be. Against tougher defenses, the Buffs couldn't pound the ball when it needed to. That was evident in the finale at Nebraska, which with the new league was now the signature North match-up and moved to the Friday after Thanksgiving.

ABC was happy with the first match-up, as both were 7-0 in league play and ranked in the top five (CU at No.5, NU No. 4). The Huskers were the better team this rotten day in Lincoln, as freezing rain fell throughout in their 17-12 conquest. The weather exposed CU's inability to run the ball, with the Buffs netting 51 yards on 32 tries; and Detmer was able to complete just 12-of-38 throws. Jeremy Aldrich was "activated" for the game and kicked four field goals to account for all of CU's points.

Guard Chris Naeole and linebacker Matt Russell were consensus All-Americans, with Russell the second Buffalo to win the Butkus Award. The Buffs led the way on the inaugural All-Big 12 team with six first-team performers.

A come-from-behind 33-21 win over Washington in the Holiday Bowl polished off a 10-2 season, as Detmer went out in style, throwing for 371 yards and three touchdowns. Carruth hauled in seven of those passes for a CU-bowl record 162 yards and two scores, and the pair hooked up on a 76-yard TD play, the longest in school bowl history.

The Colorado program was in uncharted waters, having won 31 games over the three previous seasons, a claim only Florida, Florida State and Nebraska could also make. Neuheisel's first two teams had gone 20-4, the fifth most wins in the first two years by a Division I-A coach. He was also just the fourth to guide his team to a pair of top 10 finishes in his first two seasons (No. 5 in '95, No. 8 in '96).

CU had 53 lettermen, with 13 starters, back for 1997, and there was no reason to think it couldn't continue, especially since Neuheisel landed what many considered to be the fifth best recruiting class in the nation.

But a 5-6 record in '97 brought an end to an incredible eight-season run where the Buffs had posted the fourth best record overall in the nation at 78-15-4. A loss at Michigan in the second game started the downward spiral, and CU had to defeat Wyoming the next week on a late field goal. Two close losses against Texas A&M and Oklahoma State got CU off on the wrong foot in league play, and the 2-3 start also ended CU's consecutive weeks ranked streak at 143, the 10th longest of all time.

The Buffaloes had also been to nine consecutive bowls, but at 5-5, needed a win to become bowl eligible against No. 2 Nebraska. The Huskers stormed to a 27-3 lead and then held off a Hessler-charged comeback to win 27-24, and CU stayed at home for the postseason for the first time since 1987.

No one knew it at the time, but the 1998 season would be Neuheisel's last at Colorado. Marolt had stepped down as AD in the summer of 1996, and was replaced by long-time university counsel Dick Tharp, who was thisclose at one time to being named commissioner of the Big Ten. While the two got along, Neuheisel never felt he had the same kind of support from his new boss.

The year opened with the Colorado State game, except that the contest had been moved to Denver's Mile High Stadium, a popular move for some but not for many of CU's season ticket holders, four times in size to CSU's, and many Buff fans were displaced. That didn't matter come postgame after a 42-14 Colorado rout, led by new quarterback Mike Moschetti, a fiery junior college transfer from Mount San Antonio. He passed for 257 yards and three touchdowns as the unranked Buffs used the win over the No. 15 Rams to enter the polls themselves. It was the impetus for a 5-0 start and a No. 14 national ranking.

A 16-9 loss to No. 5 Kansas State was the first of four setbacks in the last six regular season games, sending the Buffs to a second straight fourth place finish in the North Division. But a wild 51-43 win over No. 21 Oregon in the Aloha Bowl ended the year on a good note.

The afternoon after CU played Oregon in the Aloha Bowl, Washington and Air Force squared off in the Oahu Bowl in the same stadium (the only bowl doubleheader in history). Washington AD Barbara Hedges fired coach Jim Lambright after the game and started to pursue Neuheisel. She liked what she had seen of CU both on and off the field in Honolulu. Despite media reports to the contrary, the two never talked until after she fired Lambright days after the bowl.
Neuheisel at first rebuffed the offer, but told her that the Washington job was a plumb and what kind of package a school of that caliber should offer. She came up with exactly what he designed, including a $1 million salary, and called to offer him a second time. With Tharp apparently unwilling to give Neuheisel one of three contracts the state of Colorado allowed CU to give its coaches, the move was a no-brainer for Rick and his family.

But the timing outright stunk, and decimated what would have been a fifth straight top 20 recruiting class for the Buffs. After flirting with Denver Bronco offensive coordinator Gary Kubiak, Tharp turned to former CU assistant Gary Barnett, who had performed one of the miracle turnarounds of all-time in college football at Northwestern. He led the Wildcats to their first bowl game in 47 years when his '95 team came out of nowhere to win the Big Ten Conference, named the national coach of the year in the process. He had spent eight years as a McCartney assistant (1984-91) and knew the CU program and Boulder inside and out.

His opener was nothing short of a nightmare, as CSU paid back the Buffs for the '98 blowout at Mile High with a 41-14 win. It was a complete reversal, as the Rams were unranked and knocked No. 14 Colorado out of the polls for what would be two seasons. The Buffs never won more than two games in a row all season, but there were memorable moments along the way during the 7-5 campaign. Cornerback Ben Kelly electrified the fans with his returns, twice returning kickoffs for touchdowns as well as two fumbles, including a 96-yard jaunt for six against Kansas, the longest in CU history.

A 62-28 blasting of Boston College in the Insight.com Bowl capped the year and the millennium. In one of the most dominant performances in postseason history, CU led 45-7 at halftime, had 523 total yards and 29 first downs, and had three return TDs, including an 88-yard punt return by Kelly, the longest in NCAA bowl annals.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Oct. 28, 2000—Craig Ochs joins an elite group in college football history as he becomes the first Buffalo to score touchdowns via rushing and receiving while also throwing one in the same game in CU's 37-21 win over Oklahoma State. In the second quarter, Javon Green had become the first Buff to ever throw and catch a touchdown pass in the same game, and was later joined by Ochs in the fourth quarter. It was Green who threw the TD pass to Ochs; Ochs threw his to Roman Hollowell, Green caught his from Zac Colvin.

Aug. 26, 2001—Colorado had the honor of hosting and playing in the inaugural Jim Thorpe Association Football Classic, but the Buffaloes fall, 24-22, to Fresno State.

Sept. 13, 2001—Due to the terrorist attacks two days earlier on the east coast, CU's game at Washington State on Sept. 15 is cancelled. It was the first time in school history an out-of-state game is not played as Colorado joined the rest of the nation in honoring those who died doing their every day jobs.

Nov. 23, 2001—Sophomore Chris Brown scores a school record six touchdowns in leading Colorado to a 62-36 win over Nebraska in Boulder, earning CU its first North Division title since the Big 12 started play in 1996. A record setting day on many fronts, it was also the most points ever allowed by a Nebraska team at the time as CU sprinted out to a 35-3 lead over the BCS No. 1-ranked Huskers.

Dec. 1, 2001—The Buffaloes win their first Big 12 Conference title with a 39-37 win over Texas at Irving, basically coming in a road game environment. Despite UT knowing a win would put it into the national title game against Miami, CU spotted the Longhorns a 7-0 lead before scoring 29 points in less than a 15-minute span to take the lead for good. Chris Brown rushed for 198 yards and three touchdowns with the Buffs also coming up big on defense and special teams.

Dec. 12, 2001—Daniel Graham is named the recipient of the second annual John Mackey Award, presented to the nation's best tight end.

Jan. 1, 2002—In only the sixth-ever match-up in the postseason of the Nos. 2 and 3 teams in the country, second-ranked Oregon toppled No. 3 Colorado, 38-16, in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. CU led 7-0 early but the Ducks used a late second quarter score to take a 21-7 lead into halftime and held the Buffs at bay the rest of the game.

Dec. 7, 2002—After winning its second straight Big 12 North Division title outright the previous week with a win at Nebraska, CU fell short in its bid to become the first back-to-back champion in Big 12 history when it fell 29-7 to Oklahoma in Houston in the league's title game.

Dec. 12, 2002—Mark Mariscal is named the recipient of the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter.

Dec. 28, 2002—Wisconsin rallies to defeat the Buffaloes in overtime, 31-28, in the Alamo Bowl presented by MasterCard.

Oct. 16, 2004—Mason Crosby connects on a school record 60-yard field goal, the first made from that distance in the NCAA in five seasons.

Dec. 4, 2004—CU won its third Big 12 North Division title the previous week when it defeated Nebraska and Iowa State lost to Missouri, but the Buffs lost to Oklahoma 42-3 in the league championship game in Kansas City.

Dec. 29, 2004—Colorado defeated Texas-El Paso, 33-28, in the Houston Bowl behind the passing of Joel Klatt, who was named the offensive MVP in the game with 333 yards passing.

Dec. 3, 2005—After the Buffs win their fourth division title in five seasons, CU drops the Big 12 championship game to Texas, 70-3. Gary Barnett steps down as head coach five days later.

Dec. 16, 2005—Dan Hawkins named the 23rd head coach in Colorado history.

Dec. 27, 2005—Mike Hankwitz, named interim head coach for the bowl game, leads CU into the Champs Sports Bowl in Orlando. The Buffs, nursing several injuries on offense, including quarterback Joel Klatt who missed the game, have a gritty effort but fall to No. 23 Clemson, 19-10.

Dec. 7, 2006—Mason Crosby named first-team All-American, becoming the fifth Buff to earn the distinction in back-to-back seasons.

Sept. 1, 2007—CU and Colorado State play the first overtime game in series history, with Kevin Eberhart tying the game with a 22-yard field goal with 13 seconds left in regulation and then winning it with a 35-yard effort in OT as CU won, 31-28.

Sept. 29, 2007—Kevin Eberhart makes just the second game winning field goal as time expired in school history, with his 45-yard kick propelling CU to a 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma.

Dec. 30, 2007—Alabama sprinted to a 27-0 lead over Colorado and then held off a furious Buff rally, as the Crimson Tide tops CU, 30-24, in the 32nd Annual PetroSun Independence Bowl.

The Buffs got off to a rough start in the 21st Century, losing their first three games in 2000 by a combined 10 points. The last of the trio was a nail-biting setback to Neuheisel and Washington for a second straight year. The Buffs rallied to win three league games, including a 26-19 win at Texas A&M where Craig Ochs became just the second true freshman quarterback in his first start to lead CU to victory and a 28-18 triumph at Missouri, where CU had a school-record 14 quarterback sacks.

CU's 2001 squad was a senior dominated team, led by tight end Daniel Graham and center Andre Gurode, both All-Americans, with eight first-team All-Big 12 performers, including Thorpe Award semifinalist Michael Lewis at safety. Graham also won the Mackey Award as the nation's top tight end. These guys blended perfectly with several others to create the best season in the Barnett Era, notably a "three-headed monster" at tailback in senior Cortlen Johnson, junior Chris Brown and sophomore Bobby Purify.

In short, the team was loaded, all the more reason a 24-22 season opening loss to Fresno State was one of the early season shockers in college football, though FSU would eventually crack the top 10 by midseason. Still, the Buffs were mad, and after a players-only meeting regrouped to take it out on Colorado State in Denver to start a five-game winning streak. In the midst of this run came the events of September 11, which forced the cancellation of a game at Washington State that was never made up.

Texas ended the streak in Austin by hammering the Buffs, 41-7, but CU picked itself right up and reeled off five in a row again. It started with a 22-19 come-from-behind triumph at Oklahoma State where Bobby Pesavento came off the bench to replace Ochs, who suffered a nasty ankle sprain. Ochs never returned to the lineup and Pesavento led CU to easy wins over Missouri and Iowa State. In the latter, a 40-27 win, Johnson became the first Colorado player to have at least 100 yards both rushing and receiving in the same game.

CU was now 8-2 on the season and was set to host No. 2 Nebraska, with the Huskers actually the top team in the BCS Standings. The Buffs unleashed a running attack that day Nebraska was used to inflicting, not accepting. Brown had 198 yards and six touchdowns, Purify added 154 and a score to pace a 380-yard, eight-touchdown ground assault that helped Colorado build a 35-3 second quarter en route to a 62-36 win, which earned the Buffs their first North Division title and a rematch with Texas in the championship game.

Perhaps it was overconfidence from the earlier rout of CU, or the fact that the game was in the Dallas suburbs and it was essentially a home game, or an early score had them up 7-0, but the No. 2 Longhorns, third in the BCS Standings but guaranteed a spot in the BCS title game with a win after Florida had lost earlier in the day, were in for a long evening. Brown ran for 182 yards and three scores, and three interceptions of UT's Chris Simms paved the way for a 36-10 run over a 22-minute span that put CU in command on its way to a 39-37 win and its first conference title since 1991.

The Buffs missed qualifying for the national championship game by .05 in the BCS Standings, Nebraska still getting the nod over CU and three other schools who could have supplanted the Huskers, including No. 2 Oregon, Colorado's opponent in the Fiesta Bowl. The Ducks played with a bigger chip on their shoulder than CU did, scoring 38 straight points after the Buffs took an early 7-0 lead and walked away with a 38-16 win.

Colorado finished 2001 with a 10-3 record and a No. 9 ranking, so the year was still a success. But a tumultuous four years lied ahead in the Barnett Era, though three of those four teams still captured division titles.

The Buffs were 9-5 in 2002 as after a 1-2 start, CU won eight of the next nine. Ochs quit the team early in the season, and inexperienced Robert Hodge stepped in and did an admirable job in taking over the offense. He wasn't flashy, but he made very few mistakes. Brown was in the Heisman hunt until a late season ankle injury forced him to the sidelines, but still finished third in the nation in rushing. Jeremy Bloom excited all with his knack for the long play, returning a punt 75 yards for a touchdown against CSU the first time he touched the ball, and Mark Mariscal won the Ray Guy Award as the nation's best punter. CU closed the year with losses to Oklahoma in the Big 12 title game and to Wisconsin in overtime in the Alamo Bowl.

Colorado suffered through a 5-7 season in 2003, though opened with two down-to-the-wire wins over Colorado State and UCLA and rose to No. 17 in the rankings. Joel Klatt, a walk-on and former minor league baseball infielder, made his debut as starting quarterback, and had a monster game, throwing for 402 yards and four touchdowns against CSU, earning national player of the week honors. However, the Buffs dropped six of the next seven, any hopes for the postseason seemed lost. But a win over No. 22 Missouri followed by a blowout at Iowa State had CU needing just one more victory to become bowl eligible, and the Buffs had an average Nebraska team at home. The Huskers, just like in '97, ended CU's season, this time with a 31-22 verdict.

There were a lot of off the field distractions in 2004, resulting from an off-campus party that involved a handful of players on the team and some visiting high school recruits in 2001. This ordeal, centered on a lawsuit, perpetuated several untruths about the football program, many manufactured and accelerated by the news-side media and a hired public relations firm by the plaintiffs. At one point, CU president Betsy Hoffman suspended Barnett for three months, with assistant head coach Brian Cabral taking over the team for spring ball. It also led to audits of the athletic department and the CU Foundation, and another casualty was the forced resignation of AD Tharp in November.

Chris Brown breaks free for one of his CU record six touchdowns in the 62-36 win over Nebraska.

If there ever was an "us versus the world" mentality, the 2004 Colorado Buffaloes epitomized it. An emotional 27-24 win over Colorado State in Boulder led to a 3-0 start, but eight weeks later, the Buffs found themselves at 4-4, 1-4 in league play. The one win would be an important tiebreaker later on, a 19-14 conquest of Iowa State that included Mason Crosby making a school record 60-yard field goal, the first of that distance in college football in six seasons.

If no less than five things happened, first and foremost CU winning out, the Buffs still could win the division. And all did, including a season-ending 26-20 win at Nebraska that ended the Huskers' run of 35 consecutive bowl appearances. The Buffs were back in the Big 12 title game; that was the good news. The not-so-good was that No. 2 Oklahoma lit up the Buffs, 42-3, outgaining CU 498-46 in the game.

Mike Bohn was named the new AD in April 2005, and was open to evaluating the football situation. Recruiting had suffered due to the bad publicity the program had received, but CU opened with seven wins in the first nine games, including five by lopsided margins. Barnett was offered an extension in early November, but declined it at the time. When the Buffs dropped their next four, the last two of which came by a combined score of 100-6 to Nebraska and Texas in the Big 12 title game, Barnett was dismissed in early December.

It took less than 10 days for Bohn to find his man. Dan Hawkins had compiled a 53-11 record in five seasons at Boise State, the fourth most wins by a Division I-A coach in his first five years, and had won or shared four Western Athletic Conference titles. Long-time observers of the program likened him part Bill McCartney and part Eddie Crowder, two former coaches he immediately turned to for some counsel and history of the program. Bohn and most others thought him to be the perfect fit for Colorado, as he was the hot national coach at the time of his hire.

His first Buffalo team mustered just a 2-10 record, with four near-misses, the most frustrating when the Buffs squandered a late 13-0 lead at ninth-ranked Georgia in losing 14-13. He got his first win against Texas Tech in convincing fashion (30-6).

The improvement was substantial his second year, with CU posting a 6-6 record in the regular season, becoming bowl-eligible in the finale with a 65-51 win over Nebraska. Along the way, Hawkins earned his first signature win of his Colorado tenure, defeating No. 3 Oklahoma 27-24 on a Kevin Eberhart field goal as time ran out. Jordan Dizon earned consensus All-America honors and was the Big 12's defensive player of the year in finishing as the runner-up for the Butkus Award. In the Independence Bowl against Alabama, CU couldn't recover from an early 27-0 deficit, but once the Buffs settled down, they pulled to within 30-24 but time ran out before the season could end on a good note.

Unfortunately, things never took off from there as expected; despite some other exciting wins, including a 29-27 win over Georgia in 2010 when the Buffs hosted the 1990 team in a 20th anniversary celebration of their national championship, Hawkins was 19-39 and was let go with three games left in the season. Long-time assistant Brian Cabral was named interim head coach, and CU responded with two straight wins, but a loss at Nebraska ended the season and the Buffs would stay home for the holidays a third straight year.

On December 6, 2010, Bohn brought former CU standout Jon Embree back to Boulder as the school's 24th full-time head coach. Embree is just the third alum to be named to the position; the first was Harry Heller way back in 1895, with the second Bud Davis, who took the position for the 1962 season as CU righted its ship after NCAA issues. Embree was also the school's first African-American head coach for football, and brings an impressive pedigree in addition to his performance as a tight end for the Buffaloes from 1983-86; he also coached as an assistant under three different CU head coaches and then added four years of NFL experience to his resume before returning to his alma mater.

Embree helped to usher in the Pac-12 Conference Era in CU football annals, as after 15 years in the Big 12, the Buffaloes bolted west and joined the 10 members of the old Pac-12, along with former long-time rival Utah. He got his first win over Colorado State in Denver, a 28-14 verdict, but had to wait until November to pick up his first conference win, a 48-29 rout of Arizona in Boulder on Senior Day. The season finale gave the program so long awaited revenge against Utah, as the schools had not met in nearly half a century; not only did the 17-14 win snap a school record 23-game losing streak on the road, it came 50 years after the Utes knocked CU out of the 1961 national championship chase.
Embree was relieved of his duties after just two seasons after the Buffaloes won only four of 25 games. Bohn turned to Mike MacIntyre as the school's 25th football coach; MacIntyre resuscitated a down San Jose State program and hopes to work the same magic in Boulder.

MacIntyre's first team in 2012 finished 4-8, improving on the team's 1-11 record the previous year as well as in 29 major statistical categories. Junior Paul Richardson, who would declare for the NFL draft following the season, became CUs first first-team all-conference receiver since 1997 and exited holding 44 school records. His second team went 2-10, but was actually much improved from his first season; the squad set 107 records (mostly offensive), and continued its rapid improvement in over two dozen statistical categories. The 2015 Buffaloes improved again to 4-9 and were a much better defensive team, but injuries wreaked havoc on offense and while competitive in most games, a second straight season of numerous close losses kept CU out of the postseason. Senior Nelson Spruce completed a record-setting career by becoming the Pac-12's all-time leader in receptions.

MacIntyre's fourth team was the darling of college football in 2016, as the Buffs finished with a 10-4 record, claimed their first Pac-12 South Division title and returned to a bowl for the first time since 2007. For the third time in its history, CU was the most improved team in the nation (+5½ games), with the Buffaloes going from 1-8 to 8-1 in Pac-12 league play, the largest turnaround from one season to the next in conference history. Colorado opened the year with a 44-7 win over Colorado State in Denver (the largest margin of victory in the series in 60 years), and defeated Oregon, Arizona State, Stanford and UCLA for the first time as a member of the Pac-12.

MacIntyre's final two CU teams went 5-7, and he was replaced after the 2018 season by Mel Tucker. His first and only team went 5-7 in 2019, but did manage to come back from 17 points down to defeat Nebraska in overtime. The following week, the team lost to Air Force, also in overtime, in the first meeting between the schools since 1974. The Buffs did beat Washington for the first time as a member of the Pac-12, ending a nine-game losing streak to the Huskies. Less than a week after the February signing day, Tucker resigned from CU for the head coaching position at Michigan State, leading athletic director Rick George to turn to a familiar face to the program, Karl Dorrell, as the school's 27th head football coach. Dorrell was hired on Feb. 23 (2020), but by the time spring football was schedule to start, all activities were suspended due to the COVID-19 virus.

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

June 10, 2010—Colorado officials announce they are leaving the Big 12 to join the Pac-12 Conference, effective July 1, 2011.

Nov. 9, 2010—Dan Hawkins is dismissed as head coach, with long-time assistant coach Brian Cabral named as interim head coach to finish out the 2010 season.

Dec. 6, 2010—Jon Embree named the 24th full-time head coach in Colorado history, the first alum to take over the program since Bud Davis in 1962. On the same date, Eric Bieniemy, CU's all-time leading rusher, returns as the school's offensive coordinator.

Nov. 25, 2011—Colorado ends its first year in the Pac-12 on a high note, its 17-14 win at Utah ending a school record 23-game road losing streak.

Dec. 10, 2012—Mike MacIntyre named the 25th head coach in school history.

Sept. 1, 2013—CU's 41-27 win over Colorado State in the season opener enables Mike MacIntyre to become just the second CU head coach since 1932 to win his first game, joining Rick Neuheisel (1995).

Sept. 14, 2013—A home game against Fresno State is cancelled due to record rainfall and flooding in Boulder; it is just the second game postponed or cancelled in school history (the Nov. 23, 1963 game against Air Force was delayed two weeks due to the assassination of JFK).

May 12, 2014—The date groundbreaking took place on CU's massive $156 million Athletics Complex Expansion project, which was completed in February 2016. New state-of-the-art offices, locker rooms, training facilities and a long-awaited indoor practice facility gave the Buffaloes some of, if not the finest facilities in the country.

Nov. 26, 2016—Colorado defeats Utah, 27-22, to win its first Pac-12 South Division title; the Buffs finish 8-1 in league play, improving from 1-8 the year before to record the biggest turnaround in conference history.

Dec. 2, 2016—The Buffs appear in their first Pac-12 title game, but fall to Washington, 41-10.

Dec. 29, 2016—Playing in their second Alamo Bowl, the Buffaloes drop a 38-8 decision to Oklahoma State.

Oct. 29, 2017—CU's 44-28 win over California is the school's 700th all-time victory (the 25th school to reach that milestone). During the game, the late Rashaan Salaam's jersey (#19) is retired.

Dec. 5, 2018—Mel Tucker named the 26th head coach in CU history.

2020s

IMPORTANT DATES & MILESTONES

Feb. 23, 2020—Karl Dorrell named the 27th head coach in CU history.

Mar. 11, 2020—All athletic activities suspended due to coronavirus pandemic; spring football is cancelled in its entirety for the first time in school history.

TIMEOUT / FROM 1 TO 25,000 (Darley to Spruce)

It took exactly 125 seasons for Colorado to go from scoring its first point on the gridiron to its 25,000th … over the course of 1,190 games.

The first were hard to come by, and came on defense in the fourth game of the school's history. Sophomore tackle George Darley recovered a Colorado Mines fumble and returned it 65 yards for a touchdown – worth four points at the time – but Mines prevailed, 50-4 on December 13. They were the only points scored in 1890 by the Silver & Gold, as CU finished its inaugural season with an 0-4 record, outscored 217-4. The first points on offense wouldn't come until the season finale in 1891 (CU's second touchdown also came on a fumble return by Harry Layton in the '91 opener against Mines in Boulder). After three straight shutout defeats, CU scored its first points on offense, a touchdown by quarterback Pat Carney, in what was also its first win, a 24-4 verdict at the Colorado Springs Athletic Association on November 26.

The Darley name is peppered throughout campus, Boulder and state history. George graduated from CU in 1893, and his nephew, Ward Darley, would eventually serve as CU's president from 1952-56. The tallest residential buildings in Boulder bear the family name, the Darley North and South towers at Williams Village, as does a major side street in south Boulder. George's father, George Marshall Darley, and his uncle Alexander were the first non-Catholic ministers to hold a service on then Pacific Slope of Colorado (now referred to as the Western Slope), and built the Presbyterian Church in Lake City (about 25 miles east of Telluride).

Fast-forward 12-plus decades (or 45,214 days) to September 27, 2014, and scoring wasn't a problem that day. The Buffaloes entered its Pac-12 Conference opener at California with 24,964 points, with the 36th point that day scored by junior wide receiver Nelson Spruce, who caught a 6-yard touchdown pass from Sefo Liufau with 3:23 left in the game. It gave CU a 42-35 lead at the time, but the Buffs would succumb in double overtime, 59-56.

Logo & Color Scheme Evolution

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." But no changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

1934—The school nickname and mascot is officially designated "Buffaloes." The Silver & Gold newspaper sponsored a contest, as the school had no steadfast nickname or symbol; other newspapers at the time picked up the story and entries were coming in from all over the nation. Teams were often called the Silver and Gold, Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen. Boulder resident Andrew Dickson submitted the winning entry. Golden Buffaloes also emerges as a reference, along with the Thundering Herd.

1940s—The logo that appeared more than anything else was quite detailed, and virtually disappeared from most publications by the early 1950s. However, the logo was a popular automobile decal sold by the campus bookstore up until the introduction of a standard campus-wide logo adopted in 1981 (see next column).

1946—The football team opens the year with navy blue jerseys; they last one game (a 76-0 loss at Texas) and CU returns to silver and gold uniforms, often sometimes wearing an all-solid gold look.

1950s—With no real standard mark, logos often changed annually if not by season depending on the artwork for media guides and game programs. Basketball teams wore white tops with silver or gold shorts at home.

1959—Football coach Sonny Grandelius changes the prominent jersey color to black with silver numbers from old gold with black or white numbers that had been prevalent since the 1930s. Silver helmets with black horns completed the look to match the school's official silver and gold colors.

1962—Bud Davis, to try and distance the program from NCAA sanctions levied against the previous coaching regime, does away with the black jerseys for those with a silverish hue.

1963—Eddie Crowder takes over as coach of the football team and changed the jerseys back to black and the numbers to gold. The helmets remained silver but eventually switched to gold in 1967.

Mid-1960s—The most common logo that emerged was that of an artist's conception of a running buffalo, one that resembled a painting and was next-to-impossible to reproduce for clothing. This emblem was the standard for department stationery and note cards and hung around until 1979.

1966—Though live buffaloes made appearances on and off through the years, usually calves, CU's fully grown, live buffalo mascot, Ralphie, made its first appearance at all home games during the 1966 season.

October 28, 1967—Crowder is approached with the idea of his team taking the field behind a charging buffalo. Thus, this day in the annual homecoming game against Oklahoma State, one of college football's most awesome traditions begins as the team takes the field behind Ralphie and five handlers. All subsequent live buffaloes are also named Ralphie.

1968—Horns once again adorn the football helmet, replacing player numbers that had appeared annually since 1962.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers) with the logo spreading to basketball pants as well as popping up on other sport uniforms. This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1970s—With women's athletics attaining varsity status, other logos appear for women's teams, including more feminine looking buffaloes. All women's teams are referred to as the Lady Buffs.

1979—A futuristic buffalo design is used sparingly in football for the '79 and '80 seasons, commissioned (at a cost of $1,600) by football coach Chuck Fairbanks who liked the Seattle Seahawks helmet logo. It brings the total to six different logos/symbols, facing in different directions, in use by various departments and sports. The block CU is the most recognizable of the lot.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals were silver or yellow-gold, depending on the sport, and outlined in white. The football pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. Other programs switched to blue, ranging from road basketball jerseys to golf bags. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966.

July 1, 1981—What would become the longest running logo in school history (24 years) is officially registered as CU's primary mark. Keystone Resort vice president Jerry Jones helped arrange the design, at a bargain cost of $1,000, by Terry Heckler Associates in Seattle (Craig Marocco was the artist). Heckler's firm did the Keystone logo, along with many others; because Heckler and Jones are friends, CU gets the $12,000 project for just one grand. Athletic director Eddie Crowder and associate AD Fred Casotti make the final decision on the logo from several mock-ups; CU Insiders dub it the "pigalo" after Fairbanks said publicly, "It looks like a pig." The logo catches on and eventually turns into one of the most recognizable logos in college athletics, if not sports, that incorporated the school/team ID (CU) and the mascot/nickname all in one.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue; football goes with gold, borderless numbers and complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands. Black and white photos and game films appear as if players wore no numbers at all. Bill McCartney had the football team twice wear black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988.

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears white for a road game at Southern California.

1993—All university teams are now known solely as the Buffaloes, as women's teams drop the "Lady" moniker. Use of Golden Buffaloes becomes rare though still officially accepted.

May 10, 2005—The first change of any kind to the logo in a quarter century is made when the popular buffalo logo with the interlocking CU is tweaked. The buffalo is slightly tilted to the right to give it an "in-motion" appearance, and the interlocked letters are altered a bit for a cleaner look. Also included for the first time is a mark for bilingual use (Spanish). NIKE and CU work together on the changes, as NIKE design director Chris McClure updates the buffalo logo and CU licensing director Bruce Fletcher coordinates accompanying fonts for the first time.

Uniform Evolution

Here's a chronological look at the evolution of University of Colorado football uniforms:

1921—A student newspaper editorial decries CU's uniform colors of silver and gold as, "unsatisfactory. Our teams always look poorer than the other conference schools." CU wears what is tantamount to a gold sweater with black numbers at home and a white with black numerals on the road, as no real changes are made until 1946 (for one game) and then until 1959.

The one game? CU wore navy blue uniforms for a Sept. 28, 1946 game at Texas. The Longhorns won, 76-0, and those uniforms were never seen again.

During this period, number colors often changed, and as uniforms improved, there were naturally several modifications. But the color schemes for home and road remained consistent.

1959—The basic look for the next several decades is born, as CU wears black jerseys for the first time in its history, with white numbers and a gold pant at home; white jerseys with a black number are worn on the road. Over the next 10 seasons, the helmets go through changes from silver to gold and with horns to numbers.

1969—The first appearance of an interlocking CU on gold helmets (replacing player numbers). This particular mark proved to have staying power and would be incorporated into future logo artwork, both for athletics and the university overall. It was a solid block CU, reminiscent of the one that appeared under the logo born in the 1940s.

1979—The numbers at home are enlarged and are now in gold with a white border.

May 28, 1981—Blue officially adopted as the primary uniform color in place of black after a Board of Regents mandate at its January meeting and subsequent follow-up recommendation by a campus committee. Originally suggested to be "the deep blue Colorado of Colorado's sky at 9,000 feet" by then-Regent Jack Anderson, jerseys were officially an "Air Force Blue" though different than the blue the Air Force Academy's sports teams wore. Numerals are silver and outlined in white, and the pant remained gold, but with a blue stripe, for both home and road. Football helmets remained gold but with blue logos. CU's trademark south end zone is painted blue, the first color change since it was created after the track was removed in 1966. CU's coach at the time, Chuck Fairbanks, has been routinely, and falsely, credited for the color switch through the years, which was not overly popular with Buff fans.

1982—The numerals switch from silver to gold, with the trim remaining in white.

1984—The colors are altered slightly, as the blue is enhanced to a darker hue, with the numbers in a yellow-gold, but borderless; complaints rain in from many, as players can't be identified from stands and in black and white photos and game films it appears as if players wore no numbers at all. The pant remained a similar yellow-gold with a blue stripe and white trim. Bill McCartney had the football team twice don black jerseys (against Oklahoma and Nebraska) in a similar way that Notre Dame broke out its green jersey for big games. There actually had been talk about CU doing it first for its 1983 home game against the Fighting Irish.

April 24, 1985—"Black is Back" read the release announcing that athletic director Bill Marolt would allow head coaches of all CU sports teams (then 14 in number) the option of returning to black as the primary jersey color. The pant moves toward a metallic gold with no stripes (though in 1991, the road black pant had a gold stripe). McCartney's throwback efforts the previous season were the impetus for the change; the football jersey had a blue stripe on the arm for the 1985, 1986 and 1987 seasons before it was dropped altogether in 1988. The Big 8 logo graced one sleeve. The south area behind the end zone with COLORADO is once again painted black (for '85).

December 30, 1985—A standard in basketball, the football jersey has COLORADO emblazoned across the front for the first time for the Freedom Bowl versus Washington. Other than switching to italics in the current machine style font in 1997, it becomes the signature look on the uniform for the next 21 seasons and one that several other schools also replicate.

November 28, 1987—Football wears all black (jersey and pant) for the first time in a 24-7 loss to Nebraska.

1988—Football switches to the black pant for road games. It remains standard for well over a decade, until the 2000 team wears all white for a road game at Southern California.

1996—The first real tweaking of the uniform since the blue stripe came off in 1988 as the font changes for the COLORADO as well as the numerals, with the stripes eliminated from the sleeves. Numbers are white with gold trim at home and black with gold trim on the road. In subsequent years (1997, 1998), some silver is utilized as trim within the number.

September 26, 1998—For the Baylor home game, the Buffaloes don a sort of "throw-back" jersey that is gold in color with black numbers (with silver trim), along with black helmets (silver logo) and a black pant. It's the only time any of the components of the look (other than the pant) are used.

November 1, 2003—Against Texas Tech, the Buffs don gold pants for a road game for the first time since 1987; the team proceeds to wear all three selections (black, white, gold) through 2006, though white disappeared following 2005.

September 18, 2004—A one-time look, thankfully to many, the Buffaloes wear the black jersey but with the white road pant against North Texas. The look is shelved pretty quick and not used again.

June 2, 2007—Silver is reintroduced into the color scheme, as both the jersey and pant are overhauled. The black home jersey has silver numbers and gold trim in a new design never before incorporated in CU's look, while the white road top has black numbers with silver trim and additional gold trim elsewhere. Pant colors are black and gold; the black pant has gold trim, the gold pant silver trim. New fabrics also improve issues from heat management and uniform weight to making it increasingly hard for the opponent to grab various points.

2010—The uniforms revert back to what the Buffaloes wore from the late 1980s well into the 1990s.

May 1, 2015—CU and NIKE debut four new uniform looks: black, white and silver (gray) jerseys; gold, black, silver and white pants; and gold, black, silver and white helmets. The font for the numbers reverts back to what was introduced in 1999 and was standard through 2006.

AC Joint — Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process of the scapula and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct — Movement of any extremity away from the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an abductor muscle.

Abrasion — Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess — An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Adduct — Movement of an extremity toward the midline of the body. This action is achieved by an adductor muscle.

Adhesion — Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic — Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired and is required for sustained periods of vigorous exercise with a continually high pulse rate.

Anabolic Steroids — Steroids that promote tissue growth by creating protein in an attempt to enhance muscle growth. The main anabolic steroid is testosterone (male sex hormone).

Anaerobic — Exercise without use of oxygen as an energy source; short bursts of vigorous exercises.

Anaphylactic Shock — Shock that is caused by an allergic reaction.

Anterior Compartment Syndrome — Condition in which swelling within the anterior compartment of the lower leg jeopardizes the viability of muscles, nerves and arteries that serve the foot. In severe cases, emergency surgery is necessary to relieve the swelling and pressure.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) — A primary stabilizing ligament within the center of the knee joint that prevents hyperextension and excessive rotation of the joint. A complete tear of the ACL necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Anterior Talofibular Ligament — A ligament of the ankle that connects the fibula (lateral ankle bone) to the talus. This ligament is often subject to sprain.

Anti-Inflammatory — Any agent which prevents inflammation, such as aspirin or ibuprofen.

Anteriogram — A film demonstrating arteries after injection of a dye.

Arthrogram — X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected into the affected area; useful in diagnosing meniscus tears of the knee and rotator cuff tears of the shoulder.

Anthroscope — An instrument used to visualize the interior of a joint cavity.

Arthroscopy — A surgical examination of the internal structures of a joint by means for viewing through an arthroscope. An arthroscopic procedure can be used to remove or repair damaged tissue or as a diagnostic procedure in order to inspect the extent of any damage or confirm a diagnosis.

Aspiration — The withdrawal of fluid from a body cavity by means of a suction or siphonage apparatus, such as a syringe.

Atrophy — To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Avascular Necrosis — Death of a part due to lack of circulation.

Avulsion — The tearing away, forcibly, of a part or structure.

Baker's Cyst — Localized swelling of a bursa sac in the posterior knee as a result of fluid that has escaped from the knee capsule. A Baker's cyst indicates that there is a trauma inside the knee joint that leads to excessive fluid production.

Bone Scan — An imaging procedure in which a radioactive-labeled substance is injected into the body to determine the status of a bony injury. If the radioactive substance is taken up the bone at the injury site, the injury will show as a "hot spot" on the scan image. The bone scan is particularly useful in the diagnosis of stress fractures.

Brachial Plexus — Network of nerves originating from the cervical vertebrae and running down to the shoulder, arm, hand, and fingers.

Bruise — A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of blood into the underlying tissues.

Bursa — A fluid-filled sac that is located in areas where friction is likely to occur, then minimizes the friction; for example between a tendon and bone.

Capsule — An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage — Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

CAT Scan — Use of a computer to produce a cross sectional view of the anatomical part being investigated from X-ray data.

Cellulitis — Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Cervical Vertebrae — Group of seven vertebrae located in the neck.

Charley Horse — A contusion or bruise to any muscle resulting in intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Colles' Fracture — A fracture of the distal end of the radium with the lower end being displaced backward.

Concentric Muscle Contraction — A shortening of the muscle as it develops tension and contracts to move a resistance.

Concussion — Jarring injury of the brain resulting in dysfunction. It can be graded as mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Contusion — An injury to a muscle and tissues caused by a blow from a blunt object

Cortical Steroids — Used to suppress joint inflammation.

Costochondral — Cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cryokinetics — Treatment with cold and movement.

Cryotherapy — A treatment with the use of cold.

Cyst — Abnormal sac containing liquid or semi-solid matter.

Degenerative Joint Disease — Changes in the joint surface as a result of repetitive trauma.

Deltoid Ligament — Ligament that connects the tibia to bones of the medial aspect of the foot and is primarily responsible for stability of the ankle on the medial side. Is sprained less frequently than other ankle ligaments.

Deltoid Muscle — Muscles at top of the arm, just below the shoulder, responsible for shoulder motions to the front, side and back.

Disc, Intervertebral — A flat, rounded plate between each vertebrae of the spine. This disc consists of a thick fiber ring which surrounds a soft gel-like interior. It functions as a cushion and shock absorber for the spinal column.

Dislocation — Complete displacement of joint surfaces.

Eccentric Muscle Contraction — An overall lengthening of the muscles as it develops tension and contracts to control motion performed by an outside force; oft times referred to a "negative" contraction in weight training.

Eccymosis — Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Edema — Accumulation of fluid in organs and tissues of the body (swelling).

Effusion — Accumulation of fluid, in various spaces in the body, or the knee itself. Commonly, the knee has an effusion after an injury.

Electrical Galvanic Stimulation (EGS) — An electrical therapeutic modality that sends a current to the body at select voltages and frequencies in order to stimulate pain receptors, disperse edema, or neutralize muscle spasms among other functional applications.

Electromyogran (EMG) — Test to determine nerve function.

Epicondylitis — Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse.

Ethyl Chloride — "Cold splay," a chemical coolant sprayed onto an injury site to produce a local, mild anesthesia.

Fat Percentage — The amount of body weight that is adipose, fat tissue. Fat percentages can be calculated by underwater weighing, measuring select skinfold thickness, or by analyzing electrical impedance.

Femur — Thigh bone; longest bone in the body.

Fibula — Smaller of the two bones in the lower leg; runs from knee to the ankle along the outside of the lower leg.

Flexibility — The ability of muscle to relax and yield to stretch forces.

Flexibility Exercise — General term used to describe exercise performed by a player to passively or actively elongate soft tissue without the assistance of an athletic trainer.

Fracture — Breach of continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.

Gamekeeper's Thumb — Tear of the ulnar collateral ligament of the metacarpophalangeal joint of the thumb.

Glycogen — Form in which foods are stored in the body as energy.

Grade One Injury — A mild injury in which ligament, tendon, or other musculoskeletal tissue may have been stretched or contused, but not torn of otherwise disrupted.

Grade Two Injury — A moderate injury when musculoskeletal tissue has been partially, but not totally, torn which causes appreciable limitation in function of the injured tissue.

Grade Three Injury — A severe injury in which tissue has been significantly, and in some cases totally, torn or otherwise disrupted causing a virtual total loss of function.

Hamstring — Category of muscle that runs from the buttocks to the knee along the back of the thigh. It functions to flex the knee, and is often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle flexibility.

Heat Cramps — Painful muscle spasms of the arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Heat Exhaustion — Mild form of shock due to dehydration because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat and humidity.

Heat Stroke — Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat and could result in death if not cared for appropriately.

Heel Cup — Orthotic device that is inserted into the shoe and fit under the heel to give support to the Achilles tendon and help absorb impacts at the heel.

Hematoma — Tumor-like mass produced by an accumulation of coagulated blood in a cavity.

Hot Pack — Chemical pack that rests in water, approximately 160 degrees, and retains its heat for 15-20 minutes when placed in a towel for general therapeutic application.

Humerus — Bone of the upper arm that runs from the shoulder to the elbow.

Hydrotherapy — Treatment using water.

Hyperextension — Extreme extension of a limb or body part.

Iliotibial Band — A thick, wide fascial layer that runs from the iliac crest to the knee joint and is occasionally inflamed as a result of excessive running.

Inflammation — The body's natural response to injury in which the injury site might display various degrees of pain, sweating, heat, redness, and/or loss of function.

Internal Rotation — Rotation of a joint or extremity medially, to the inside.

Lesion — Wound, injury or tumor.

Ligament — Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Lumbar Vertebrae — Five vertebrae of the lower back that articulate with the sacrum to form the lumbosacral joint Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) — Imaging procedure in which a radio frequency pulse causes certain electrical elements of the injured tissue to react to this pulse and through this process a computer display and permanent film establish a visual image. MRI does not require radiation and is very useful in the diagnosis of soft tissue, disc, and meniscus injuries.

Meniscectomy — An intra-articular surgical procedure of the knee by which all or part of the damaged meniscus is removed.

Meniscus — Crescent shaped cartilage, usually pertaining to the knee joint; also known as "cartilage." There are two menisci in the knee, medial and lateral. These work to absorb weight within the knee and provide stability.

Metacarpals — Five long bones of the hand, running from the wrist to the fingers.

Metatarsals — Five long bones of the foot, running from the ankle to the toes.

Myositis — Inflammation of a muscle.

Necrotic — Relating to death of a portion of tissue.

Neoprene — Lightweight rubber used in joint and muscle sleeves designed to provide support and/or insulation and heat retention to the area.

Neuritis — Inflammation of a nerve.

Orthotic — Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Parasthesia — Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella — The kneecap. The patella functions to protect the distal end of the femur as well as increase the mechanical advantage and force generating capacities of the quadriceps muscle group.

Patella Tendinitis — Inflammation of the patella ligament; also known as "jumpers knee."

Patellofemoral Joint — Articulation of the knee cap and femur. Inflammation of this joint can occur through: 1) acute injury to the patella, 2) overuse from excessive running particularly if there is an associated knee weakness, 3) chronic wear and tear of the knee, 4) as a result of poor foot mechanics. Patellofemoral irritation can lead to chondromalancia, which in its most chronic condition, could require surgery.

Peroneal Muscles — Group of muscles of the lateral lower leg that are responsible for everting the knee. Tendons of these three muscles are vital to the stability of the ankle and foot.

Phalanx — Any bone of the fingers or toes; plural is phalanges.

Phlebitis — Inflammation of a vein.

Plica — Fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) — A primary stabilizing ligament of the knee that provides significant stability and prevents displacement of the tibia backward within the knee joint. A complete tear of this ligament necessitating reconstruction could require up to 12 months of rehabilitation.

Quadricep Muscles "Quads" — A group of four muscles of the front thigh that run from the hip and form a common tendon at the patella; they are responsible for knee extension.

Radiography — Taking of X-rays.

Radius — Forearm bone on the thumb side.

Reconstruction — Surgical rebuilding of a joint using natural, artificial or transplanted materials.

Referred Pain — Pain felt in an undamaged area of body away from the actual injury.

Retraction — The moving of tissue to expose a part or structure of the body.

Rotator Cuff — Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area that can be irritated by over use. The muscles are the supraspinatus(most commonly injured), infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis.

Rotator Cuff Impingement Syndrome — A microtrauma or overuse injury caused by stress, and the four stages are: 1) Tendentious with temporary thickening of the bursa and rotator cuff; 2) Fiber dissociation in the tendon with permanent thickening of the bursa and scar formation; 3) A partial rotator cuff tear of less than one centimeter; and 4) A complete tear of one centimeter or more.

Sacrum — Group of five fused vertebrae located just below the lumbar vertebrae of the low back.

Scapula — Shoulder blade.

Sciatica — Irritation of the sciatic nerve resulting in pain or tingling running down the inside of the leg.

Sciatic Nerve — Major nerve that carries impulses for muscular action and sensations between the low back and thigh and lower leg; it is the longest nerve in the body.

Shin Splint — A catch-all syndrome describing pain in the skin that is not a fracture or tumor and cannot be defined otherwise.

Sorbothane — An energy absorbing polyurethane utilized in some foot orthotics to absorb shock forces of the foot.

Spasm (Theory) — Muscle soreness induced by exercise; is the result of reduced muscle blood flow, which results in pain.

Spleen — Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Spondylitis — Inflammation of one or more vertebrae.

Spondylolisthesis — Forward displacement of one vertebrae over another below it due to a developmental defect in the vertebrae.

Spondylosis — Abnormal vertebral fixation or immobility.

Sprain — Injury resulting from a stretch or twist of the joint and causes various degrees of stretch or tear of a ligament or other soft tissue at the joint.

Sternum — The breast bone.

Steroids — Any one of a large number of hormone-like substances. See Anabolic steroids and cortical steroids.

Strain — Injury resulting from a pull or torsion to the muscle or tendon that causes various degrees of stretch or tear to the muscle or tendon tissue.

Stress Fracture — A hair-line type of break in a bone caused by overuse.

Stress X-ray — A continual X-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum in order to determine joint stability. This is a test utilized in some ankle injuries.

Stretching — Any therapeutic maneuver designed to elongate shortened soft tissue structures and thereby increase flexibility.

Subluxation — Partial dislocation of a joint. The term usually implies that the joint can return to its normal position without formal reduction.

Talus — The ankle bone that articulates with the tibia and fibula to form the ankle joint.

Target Heart Rate — A pre-determined pulse to be obtained during exercise when circulation is working at full efficient capacities.

Tarsals — Group of seven bones of the foot consisting of the calnavicular, talus, cuboid and three cuneiform bones.

Temporomandibular Joint (TMJ) — The articulation of the jaw and skull; considered by some to be vital in resolution of injuries throughout the body.

Tendinities — Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, caused by chronic overuse or sudden injury.

Tendon — Tissue that connects muscle to bone.

Tennis Elbow -- General term for lateral elbow pain.

Thoracic — Group of twelve vertebrae located in the thorax and articulate with the twelve ribs.

Thoracic Outlet Compression Syndrome — A neuro-vascular disorder of the upper extremity common in throwing.

Tibia — Larger of the two bones of the lower leg and is the weight-bearing bone of the shin.

Tomograph — A special type of X-ray apparatus that demonstrates an organ or tissue at a particular depth.

Trachea — The windpipe.

Trascutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (TENS) — An electrical modality that sends a mild current through pads at the injury site which stimulates the brain to release the natural analgesic, endorphin.

Transverse Process — Small lateral projection off the right side and left side of each vertebrae that functions as an attachment site for muscles and ligaments of the spine.

Trapezius — Flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Triceps — Muscle of the back of the upper arm, primarily responsible for extending the elbow.

Turf Toe — Sprain of the metatarsophalangeal (MTP) joint of the great toe.

Ulna — Forearm bone that runs from the tip of the elbow to the little finger side of the wrist.

Ulnar Nerve — Nerve in elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing.

Ultrasound — An electrical modality that transmits a sound wave through an applicator into the skin to the soft tissue in order to heat the local area for relaxing the injured tissue and/or disperse edema.

Valgus — Angulation outward and away from the midline of the body.

Varus -- Angulation inward and toward the midline of the body.

Vasoconstriction — Decrease of local blood flow.

Vasodilation — Increase of local blood flow.

"Wind Knocked Out" — Syndrome describing a contraction of the abdominal nerve truck, the solar plexus, as a result of an abdominal contusion.

Wrist — The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetral, lunate and scaphoid).

Zygoma — The cheekbone.

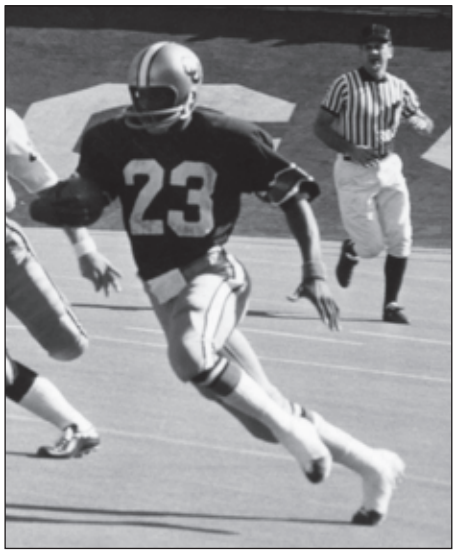

Over the last year, CU has lost four Hall of Famers and a "Hall of Fame" Super Fan. Three players, receiver Cliff Branch, defensive end Herb Orvis, and running back Carroll Hardy all are members of CU's Athletic Hall of Fame (Orvis was also inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame; Hardy lettered 10 times in three different sports; Branch also was a world class sprinter). Mike Moran was CU's sports information director (1968-79) and was inducted into the CoSIDA Hall of Fame; and Betty Hoover along with her twin sister (Peggy Coppom) held season tickets since 1958 and were CU fans beginning in the 1940's.
